

The Block and Dial

VII Ars Amatoria

July 31st 2022

EDITION VII

1 Stray

2 Kirby Power Hour

3 Powerwash Simulator

4 Special Guest Ouro Krono

5 Clips of the Week!

6 Last Call

1 | Stray

Kronichinya! Debuting Stray with cat ear accessories on her model, Kronii quickly jumps into Stray, a pretty new game that Kronii didn't play until a couple weeks later. After fiddling with some button mapping, Kronii pounces into the post apocalyptic setting of the world and the nekoronii adventures begin! After the intense cat on cat playing/teasing, Kronii followed the only road available and learned to jump on ledges, scratch at trees and drink water! $60 all day bros. The journey would really open up after Kronii got isekai'd by falling into a giant pit. Does getting isekai'd count as dying? Or is an extra life? Would a cat have 8 lives or 10 lives...

After big braining some puzzles, knocking things over, and breaking stuff, she discovered the full immersive nature of the game. Being a cat. Shortly after, she would run into headcrabs. They're bad dudes so shake them off if they jump on you.

"You guys are just a bunch of doomeronies, I think he's gonna find his way back home." Kronii keeping true to the spirit of the game, HOPE always finds a way. Slowly but surely, unraveling the secrets of the game bit by bit, Kronii gets a robot companion that has amnesia. She had 9 hours, there were 9...After getting her new fren the world further opened up. Bits and pieces of the remnants of civilization through keys and letters that last saw use many, many moons ago. And the more the world opened up, the more Kronii got to interact with various things. The world is now run by robots, they act kinda human but are still obviously machines. "Don't be sad. I'm here. I'm cute." You can envelop yourself in the mysterious world of Stray, with the comfort of the Warden at your side. Until she's not, sorry, Canadian internet. But you know Canada has other great things like uh.....

2 | Kirby Power Hour

A surprise sprung in the scrolls of fate left our beloved Warden a bit late but that's no problem! Letting everyone know that things would be pushed back, Kronies patiently waited for the stream. And for our patience we were rewarded with a sultry Kroniichiwa!

After giving a polar bear one too many DON DONS, Kronii finished it off and the level. Among the puzzles of the lethal lava land, Kronii would actually get hung up on a few. As a joke of course. No way Kronii, the perfect Warden of Time, would actually mess up simple Kirby puzzles. In fact, it seems her training at Juilliard was finally paying off as she acted her socks off, pretending to mess up easy puzzles to further increase the chat's enjoyment of the game. This is a whole other level of entertainment and we should be delighted Kronii shared with us!

Kronii continued through the final* world, smashing the levels left and right. Nothing would be spared from her wrath. ~~Unless it was a puzzle that required quick thinking.~~ And soon her victories would turn into a huge source of confidence. Casually strolling through levels, destroying everything in her wake. Kronii is now in control. Something about Kronii when she gets that air of confidence...

The real meat of the stream was the Kirby Tilt-and-Roll minigame, where Kronii would have to gently and precisely tilt her controller to get Kirby into the goal. This minigame is similar to a puzzle in several shrines in the Breath of the Wild, as well as Twilight Princess. Kronii's assortment of cries and whines while playing were pretty funny. "If you have one more game I'm going to kill you." As you can see, Kronii also had a delightful time!

Stick around for the last boss as well. The build up and creepy nature of its multiple forms had Kronii very engaged. Sheer focus and determination led her to the very end. From the simplicity of la lion to the gross, slimy noises of the second boss, and to the biblically accurate angel that was the final boss. It was an intense ride start to finish as Kronii raced down to the very end of the game. And you know that through the power of god and anime, Kronii runs that truck into that angel and saves the world.

After isekaing the final boss with her truck, Kronii learned that there was a post game and that her title was no longer correct. Rejoice shounen! There is yet more Kirby to be played. Plus, a bunch of other extra stuff unlocked like the arena and more gachapon. Kronii will have plentiful opportunity to continue the pink gumball's adventure!

3 | Powerwash Simulator 1.0

In a pleasantly early, or horribly early stream depending on your timezone, Kronii's on the tele again. A bad sleep schedule is pretty much expected for Kronii as she talked about how she went to bed and it was really bright out. Not that it kept her from fulfilling any of her work. With Powerwash, Kronii showed off the hot tech, clipping out of bounds in the desert monument level. Outside of the play area are several cats that you can check out, as well as the rest of the map.

Although some spots force reset your character model back to the start. Kronii seemed particularly proud of her discovery and it's always delightful seeing Kronii so passionate about something she enjoys. She also showed off her gold nozzle, proud of being able to flex her insane completion of things in the game with her fat stacks of cash. And the flexing didn't end there as she whipped out the TRIPLE NOZZLE!

“Sounds like you’re just trying to sell us a powerwasher.” “What? Nooo...Am I doing a good job?” In her element, Kronii is totally at home, being able to play the game with her brain focused on chat. Kronii telling everyone about how she wanted to be an astronaut when she was younger. And expressing interest in one day going to Mars. Among various topics, Kronii finished the first map quick. So this is the power of the Warden of Time..I kneel...After hopping OOB again, Kronii takes another look at the cats, hoping the devs don't fix the exploit.

Quickly moving on to the next level, Kronii takes on a whole ship to clean. Another level to just relax in, listen to Kronii go on about video game logic, swimming in lava, the ambience. Powerwash always brings out that cozy zatsudan-esq, podcasty Kronii that makes for fantastic background noise while working and a great opportunity to get read in chat.

READER DISCRETION IS ADVISED FOR THE FOLLOWING FEATURE

YOU HAVE BEEN WARNED

Seriously. If you have any ounce of respect left for our writer, please do not scroll do-you're scrolling down aren't you..

4 | MY BOY IS BACK

CLIPS OF THE WEEK

Kronyawn

@King In Yellow

Kronii drops some fire bars

@Lamboide

Krono speaks Korean

@Zenya_3d

Convention Appearances!

Kronii will be appearing at Crunchyroll Expo in California, details are up now. Crunchyroll Expo will also be featuring all of the EN and ID talents as well as a few JP members. She also attended Anirevo in Vancouver this week on the 29th!

Sananara

As you've most likely heard by now, our Speaker of Space, our cheerful, delightful cinnamon roll Sana graduated on July 31st. All the girls, including us, will miss Sana very much. Where ever Sana goes, she's still a council member! At the end of Sana's heartfelt stream were a series of song covers by Sana with all the other EN girls. Give it a watch!

The Clock and Dial's Latest Issues

If you missed last week's issue and are interested in giving it a read, you can conveniently find a link here!

We also had the privilege of interviewing Gabe to gain insight on their writing style. Link here!

We are also out of writers to interview...if someone wants to come forward...or not it's cool.

Our Staff

Lead Writer and Editor

Kami

Creative Director

Kami

Art, Design & Editing

Reconciliation. Elidibus.

Other ∞ Resources

Fic Archive

Fanart

Kronii Links

Youtube

Twitter

Birthday Merch \(legacy\)