

To My Stalker/Harasser

A documentation of the harassment and stalking committed by user ComfyLenox aka LenoxKupo towards myself over the past year.

To begin this document I would like to firstly state and request all those who read this document to not harass anyone brought up which includes victims, perpetrators, etc. Harassment in response to harassment does not help victims heal, it doesn't help recover from the trauma caused and defeats the purpose of this document which is to inform and warn people of this user's behaviour. Please be respectful and empathetic to those impacted.

About a year ago, I started dealing with a stalker and for the past year now despite me not engaging them in the slightest and even having them blocked they continue to post about me, accusing me of harassment despite themselves being the harasser. The stalker's name is ComfyLenox, now going by LenoxKupo. This stalking has resulted in me having to deal with an insane amount of anxiety, stress and snowballing into my mental health. I will be doing my best to block out names, as I do not feel like it should distract from the focus of this document which is on Lenox's history of harassment, stalking, slander and lying.

2 subjects that are relevant however will be censored with BLACK and PINK (sometimes magenta because Windows Image Editor doesn't have a normal pink) respectfully and several others have censored names that are colour coded. So if I refer to someone censored I will say their colour and not their name instead. I hope that makes sense. All screenshots will be available here on Imgur:

I guess I should start back when it all started that somehow led to their harassment/stalking beginning. That's how beginners work right? About over a year ago now, Lenox had been making several vague tweets about a friend of mine for about nearly a month straight. Honestly that in itself should've been a red flag but one night on the 4th of November they had made the tweet here:

This tweet was in response to my friend thanking her followers for letting her have a stream to talk about her son, and planning out Christmas presents for him. Lenox had been blocked by her on Twitch already at this point and at this point this tweet was nothing more than harassment and in my opinion targeting her child in a way that made me feel uncomfortable. I decided, against my better judgement, to reach out directly to Lenox:

Ignore me typing Activism and Activist in these screenshots, I hadn't realized what my autocorrect was changing it to. In this conversation it spoke about a wide variety of topic which eventually landed on me asking Lenox about a specific example of Black's ableism as I wanted to hear what they had to say:

I can tell you firsthand her AND [redacted] have a lot of abelism to unpack.

it happened time and time again, i was OUTCAST for literally just trying to help them help me and others im not saying she doesnt and hasnt tried, but in the group environment her want for money was more imporant

Nov 4, 2023, 6:10 PM

Can I ask you if you think that it's intentional abelism, or merely something that's a bi-product of other factors?

Nov 4, 2023, 6:10 PM

i think its both. but there were 100% times where it was intentionally downplaying shit out of pure lack of regard keep in mind i asked very little, i was MOST of the time asking to be ALLOWED to make shit more accessible [redacted] was just straight up abelist tho ...

Nov 4, 2023, 6:12 PM

Can I have an example of the times it was 100%?

Was it for accommodations or just general support?

Nov 4, 2023, 6:13 PM

Can I have an example of the times it was 100%?

Was it for accommodations or just general support?

Nov 4, 2023, 6:13 PM

when i asked for the questions for the panel at offkai in advance and i was told "we are all neurodivergent in some way" and essentially told "no because you didnt make questions up yourself"

when i was told in private by [redacted] that "my asking for accommodations made people not like me" when i 9 times out of 10 was OFFERING to help others when [redacted] and [redacted] said they "dont wanna hold peoples hands and babysit" when i was looking for ways to include quieter memebtrs, members with anxiety and neurodivergencies when i said in a meeting that we cant be expected to show up at a panel with no questions or any idea about whats going on and [redacted] said we should just cope because we're all streamers

this is BARELY scratching the surface

i was told id have a target on my back because im too loud too loud about helping others>

i was ALWAYS kind

*kind

i was patient

and time and time again i did free labour to the point of throwing up and it still wasnt enough

Nov 4, 2023, 6:16 PM

Nov 4, 2023, 6:16 PM

If you don't mind me asking: who said this? "we are all neurodivergent in some way" Was it [redacted] or a member of Offkai staff?

Nov 4, 2023, 6:17 PM

>i was told id have a target on my back because im too loud

Too loud with your activism or too loud about your disabilities or just in general?

Forgive me for asking questions, I just wanna better understand and get more context if possible

Nov 4, 2023, 6:19 PM

[redacted] for no.1

and not activism, too loud at trying to include everyone, set things up, include alt text and accessible font, have info in advance for autistic ppl

Nov 4, 2023, 6:21 PM

>"essentially told "no because you didnt make questions up yourself"

Was this [REDACTED] then?

Nov 4, 2023, 6:22 PM

yes

and please keep in mind this is just SOME stuff, this doesnt account for the weeks and months of being treated like an outcast, having my work cast aside for no reason and just... the attitude towards me was VERY unpleasant

i never wanted to hate [REDACTED] but she hurt me in our call and i just cant bare to see others hurt any more i wish she tried to improve, i wish she never did that statement. she could have just carried on and nothing would have blown up, but the statement was offensive to ex memebers and just not fair.

and thats it really. thats all im comfortable saying

Nov 4, 2023, 6:26 PM

Hmmm, I feel like there's something either missing or there's some sorta disconnect. Like the jump to "No because you didn't make questions up yourself" to me feels weird. Not to say you are leaving out stuff, but moreso that there might've been miscommunication.

Nov 4, 2023, 6:26 PM

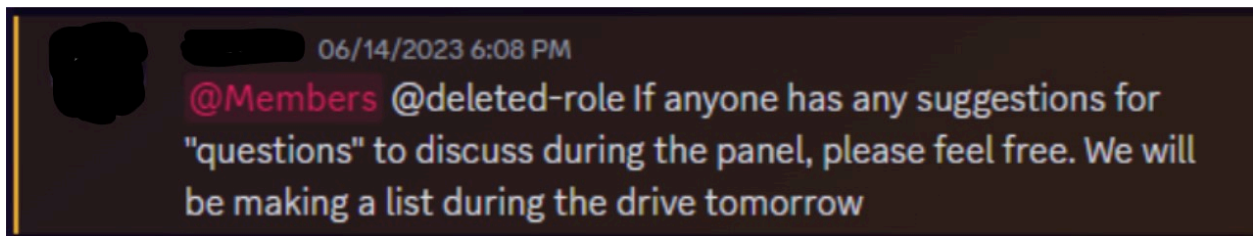

i asked for the questions many times silvy, it was just the excuse as to why only some people got to see them is becasue she often said if we wanted shit we had to do it ourselves even tho i didnt have question ideas i didnt even understand the panel i just needed them in advance

Nov 4, 2023, 6:27 PM

Now, as someone who is an evidence first kind of guy. I was disappointed at the lack of evidence Lenox was providing. However, that's when I decided to fact check the claims Lenox was making. The YELLOW GROUP servers (Both the public and members one) were still up and so was the group chat, so I decided to see if there was anything there. Now note how Lenox claims events went down, because what I ended up stumbling upon was basically the exact opposite.

2 Days prior to the con, Black tagged all members and panel participants:

Day of the panel, Lenox pulls out of the panel and proceeds to engage in an unhinged rant about how much better the panel would've been (it hadn't happened yet) if they were in charge of it.

06/16/2023 1:57 AM

@everyone Anyone available for a test call?

Lenox 06/16/2023 4:19 AM

yeah so was asleep at that time, sorry

06/16/2023 7:32 AM

Yeah unfortunately it was like pre 7am for us.

Lenox 06/16/2023 7:35 AM

a little earlier would def hav been better 🙄 at this rate i dont even feel comfortable doing the panel, due to the audio thing alongside just being very unsure of what to expect. i may speak somewhat eloquently, and i am good at asserting my boundaries and needs, but they are still boundaries and needs even if i can communicate well and i cant ignore them & cause myself this much discomfort and stress :(

@Lenox at this rate i dont even feel comfortable doing the panel, due

06/16/2023 12:26 PM

You don't have to participate if you don't want to. No problem there. I have been juggling a million things on my end, I already said that as a baseline the panel will be:

- Member Intros
- a few questions from our MC (just confirmed to be VIL)
- Q&A from audience.

It's only an hour, but we have some wiggle room as the last panel to go longer a bit. Generally everyone should be able to chime in once, and should be mindful of time.

I did a ping for any suggestions for questions or discussion topics and I don't think I've seen any, so everything has been on me to plan. I'm doing my best, and if that doesn't meet anyone's boundaries, they can step away from the panel. People should do whatever is best for their mental health. Unfortunately since we're a collective and not an agency, that means work has to be split to volunteers, or ultimately falls on me. Again, I'm doing my best, and I'm stressed beyond words.

i have been consistently expressing my concerns, anxieties and asking questions that have been missed, sadly. i do understand you have a lot to do; i have also been mostly on my own micro managing trying to get people up to speed with things and making sure things are done. which is hard as my pings dont seem to be respected as much as others are.

15 people on one panel is a lot, and when asking for some sort of gameplan or layed out structure we have sadly not had anything, which on top of the sound balancing concerns has left me even struggling to sleep as i fear letting people down & having a multitude of issues last minute/during the panel.

its not a case of not wanting to, its sadly just a case of things not being as streamlined as they could have been along with maybe not enough understanding of the needs for those that would need/want more than a "lets wing it" mindset 🙄

i also dont recall a ping relating do our panel in terms of suggestions, but maybe thats one me? i would have pushed for more input from everyone had i seen it?

update i do see it now, i think for people like myself at least, thats a really vague question. but we are a collective and more input should be encouraged. im not sure how we fell so short there. some of us have never done a panel, this is new and unknown to us. (edited) we didnt even know what our panel was about until the public announcement, along with many a meeting not going in depth on the panel itself. its obviously too late now, but for the sake of wanting things to be better for us; i feel it important to share my thoughts.

i will need to see how i feel, and more importantly; what i am capable of - i am disabled. i hope we make progress on this kind of thing in the future 🙏 (edited)

i'd also like to add, this isnt a direct critique of any one person, but as a group i hope things can be done AS A GROUP more in the future!

06/16/2023 2:10 PM

i think at the end of the day too we need to understand that we are all neurodivergent in some way, and everyone can try and be accommodating to that as much as possible but sometimes that may not always happen and we just have to try and roll with the punches, we all have stresses, were all trying our best etc.

and when it comes to certain things, it's not realistic to have every single member involved. We cant have 16 cooks in the kitchen making one pie no one is going to happy in some way or another, so we have to have someone making decisions for certain things (edited) some things will have all our input sure, but other things will just make it harder

Lenox 06/16/2023 2:13 PM

i would hope in future we can improve on this, i never ask for impossible things. i would also hope there is a willingness to accomodate considering the main ask is more organization and communication! something that i can say at least i have been very forthcoming about.

there is way too much pushback when people are politely expressing their needs imo. i say this with genuine good intent, i care about this group but i can only do so much 🙄 its also worth noting, everyones disabilities are different; if they are disabled.

i really dont want this to be a big thing, i dont have the spoons, but i hope we can do better in the future to work together and understand each other

06/16/2023 2:26 PM

@Lenox I know you mean well Lenox but there are battles and conversations that can be have another time , right now [redacted] is doing the world she got us this spot she organized everyone spots did all the contacts drove us 7 h we spent all night setting up the booth thinking of everything . She is doing the world constantly , there is always things we can improve on and get better at but for now let's focus on working together now with what we have instead of picking apart everything ❤️ we cannot have any added stress right now

We have too much on our plate

i was simply just expressing my own anxieties, discomfort surrounding the panel due to my own stress and anxiety, i didnt not intent to harm anyone here :(

06/16/2023 2:27 PM

After the con we can always brainstorm About what we can fix I understand and I get that you are stressed but we are also trying are best here We have a million things to keep track of and in mind off right now and so Lets just focus on the good and what we can do now

i have been trying my best to help yall from here this whole time... i am sorry :(

06/16/2023 2:27 PM

After the con we can always discuss what we can improve on ❤️ Don't be sorry we are all stressed

Lenox 06/16/2023 2:29 PM

i just wanted to find a way to be able to make the panel... i hope in future people can be heard more so this doesnt need to happen again 🙏

06/16/2023 7:58 PM

I know I can't participate this weekend but thank you everyone for the hard work-- and to folks there in person please stay safe 🙏

im gonna do my first stream in almost a year today (if all goes to plan)

What these screenshots don't show is how Black, after Lenox stated they were pulling out, spent half an hour in the bathroom of the con center having her own mental breakdown. She had literally been the one doing a lot of the work and yet Lenox felt like now was the time to go into a rant. I say this is vaguely ableist on Lenox's part because they are completely disregarding other people's needs or accommodations to make way for their own. This is absolutely NOT Lenox asking for other members, nor were they denied their accommodation.

Now prior to me discovering this, I had told Lenox I would be fact checking their claims to be transparent with them. This likely caused them to panic because 4 days later they dm'd me this, accusing me of poking them on my "alt", stating nothing I said in the conversation was credible (Ironic considering the above) and they again attempted to play victim.

Now I do have an alt, my UnMaskedSilvy account, which I'm fully transparent about. At the account I hadn't been really too active with the account as it has not become my personal one. I mostly talk about hockey there or IRL topics that don't entirely fit on my main. Anyways, I felt like addressing this directly to Lenox so I reached out to them on said alt to set the record straight. At the same time I had noticed Lenox openly engaging with transphobes and rather than denouncing them for actively misgendering Black, they just... continued to engage with em. I took the opportunity to also point out the hypocrisy with such action as they claimed allowed them to be consistently misgendered.

Hi Lenox, I just wanted to reach out to let you know that *THIS* is my alt account. I haven't done too much with it because I've mostly been busy on my main or not found the motivation to balance using two accounts. So instead of going around accusing people of stuff that isn't real and sounding absolutely paranoid, focus on yourself. However as I've learned, through fact checking some of your own statements I've now caught up on, you seem to like accusing people of stuff without evidence or integrity. I didn't even need to talk to [REDACTED] to fact check your claims about Offkai, I just read the chat messages myself as an admin and saw [REDACTED] ACTIVELY asked people for suggestions on questions for panels, and even tagged everyone. So the fact you willing lied about what happened to me shows you have no honesty when it comes to this topic.

Also engaging with transphobes casually like you have been in your replies to me shows your true nature. An activist would've stood up for what's right, and not let some transphobe openly misgender people, then try to whine about [redacted] misgendering you which, after reading the chat, she never once did.

I proceeded to block Lenox afterwards. I thought it was done after that. I left it at that and moved on because honestly what else was I supposed to do? However I was wrong. Very wrong. December 15th was when the harassment from Lenox genuinely began as Lenox for seemingly no reason decided to tweet about me, claiming I was harassing them and "those around them".

Lenox 🇧🇪 🐼 @comfyLenox · 3h

Replying to @comfyLenox

i want this to stop everything i have claimed is either backed up by physical evidence, or has been backed up by MULTIPLE witnesses expecting me to have recorded every interaction is INSANE. @SilvySpark leave me, those around me, & the strangers you are dming ALONE.

please...

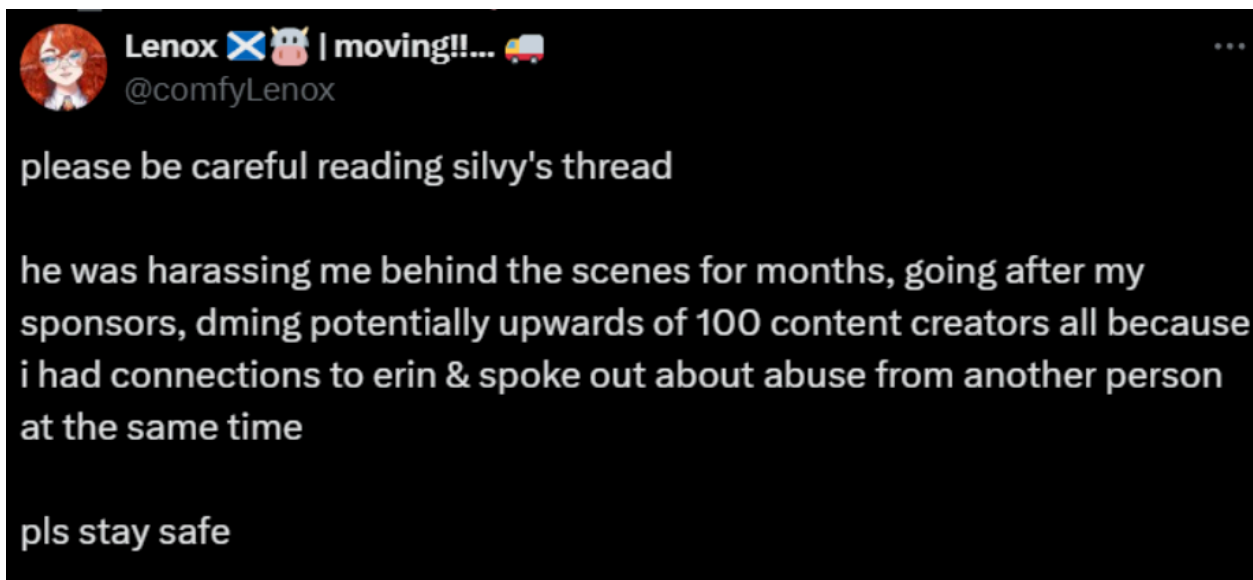

I genuinely have no idea what Lenox is referring to here as at this point I was prepping for some end of the year videos I wanted to work on. However, sadly, because of this one vague tweet, it resulted in me losing friends, people who I'd known for years up to that point. Even without evidence they still acted upon what they felt they had to distance themselves from me. A lot of this all happened on the same day and it was a lot of stress to process. I believe this vague tweet unintentionally was given a boost of credibility because one of the people who made the decision to distance themselves from me is very respected in the community.

I wish I could say the harassment ended there, but sadly Lenox was STILL not done. A couple of weeks later, my previous manager EvilBunny (Erin), was outed as a manipulative person who stole thousands of dollars from clients. A document surfaced by two of her vtubers outing her for what she did, and I took it as the chance to talk about my own experiences with her as she, along with her main client Adora_Bunny, took advantage of me by making me do free work and constant lying and manipulative.

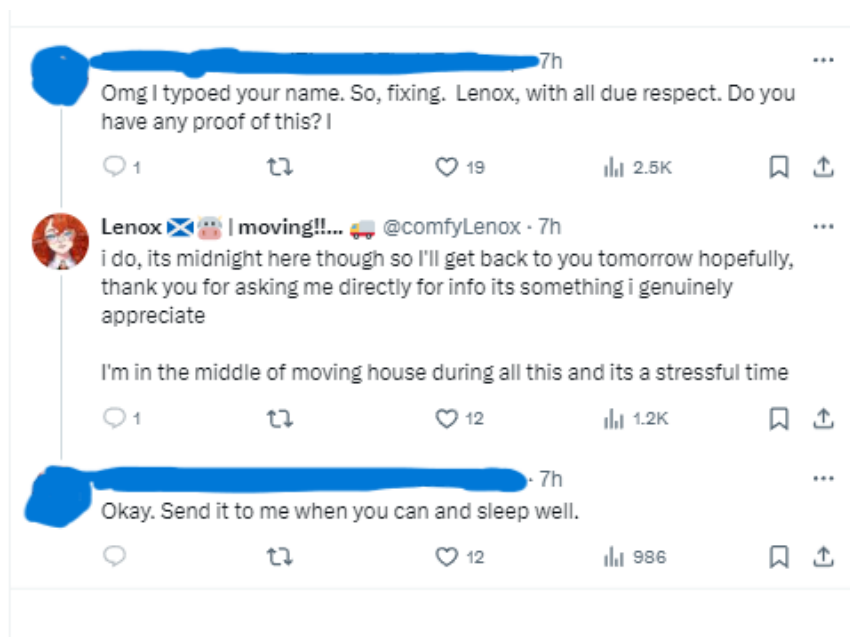

The thread went into great detail about my time with Erin and Adora, and I emphasize Adora then and now because often she downplays her knowledge of what was happening as if she didn't actively take part in the toxic environment she created. However it seems like Lenox decided I was not allowed to be a victim because again, without evidence they posted this:

Side note, I find it funny they claim I've been dming "potentially upwards of 100 creators" about them. Mostly because I don't even know 100 creators on a dming basis, let alone 100 creators who'd even know Lenox.

I ignored this tweet of theirs despite being sent it by friends who were confused by what they were saying. Some of which did not even know who Lenox was and were asking me why they were tweeting about me. One of which actually reached out to Lenox to ask for proof, Lenox responded with:

12 hours later, they deleted the tweets.

They posted this instead:

Then I think maybe a week or two later this tweet was also deleted.

I will note again I haven't acknowledged Lenox's existence on my account at all. Despite the fact they were so eager to talk about me. This would continue for *months*. During April I made a thread about an attempted failed group takeover by 2 people who failed because their plans were leaked to the original group creators. For context, the trend at the time was wildest vtuber community stories. The thread itself mentioned no names, I kept it vague intentionally to focus more so on the absurdity of attempting to take over a vtuber group itself. Yet Lenox felt the need to comment on it, claiming I was talking about them.

Only problem? If I was referring to them I'd still respect their pronouns and call them by they/them. Like I have through this entire document. Because unlike Lenox, even if it's someone I don't like I'll still respect their pronouns. Also Lenox if this didn't happen... Why are you reacting to it like it did then? Wouldn't you just ignore it like most people would with stuff that's so clearly false?

Anywho...

During the month of June 2024, as I was preparing for my first panel that I had spent days prepping for, apparently Lenox decided to drag my name on their locked twitter. I think out of all the things they've claimed I've done to them this is the wildest. Claiming that Black and I somehow called their British government to get them off benefit cheques or something? Or us calling their care center? I genuinely was so confused when I was first informed about a month after.

Kootooloo Crayoni @Kootooloo_t · 2h ...

I apologize if this causes undue stress but something about this strikes me as someone from online that wanted revenge/doxxed It's the only way them getting that information makes any sense

I'm sorry bad things keep piling up like this one after another ;;

trust me i know who it likely was and they're relying on my carers having zero media literacy

Seemingly after either realizing I was at a con, thus resulting in me calling whoever they claim I did impossible, or maybe they genuinely realized how crazy they were sounding, they deleted the thread and posted this tweet:

Again, no apology for baselessly accusing me and Black of doing borderline illegal stuff. And again adding to a trend Lenox seems to do a lot of when they wanna avoid drama or when potentially caught in a lie, they delete tweets. Again, I wish this was the end of it but sadly Lenox seems to be a stalker of not just my own account, but my alt as well.

Over the course of these last few months I'd get Lenox fans or people harassing me in replies accusing me of harassing Lenox, using my Unmasked account I'd reply engaging in conversation to defend myself. However I'd do my best to not name drop or even tag Lenox at all because I wanted to see if Lenox was actively watching my pages, or if they were doing something like name searches on twitter. Turns out, they watch both like a hawk.

So... this is more to showcase what seems to be another trait of Lenox to avoid providing any proof? They seemingly just come up with excuses every time. First it was because they were moving, now it's them not understanding what one party consent means because they are getting advice from people who don't understand the law on twitter. Not only that but we know Lenox is lying because if these were their genuine beliefs, then why were they perfectly okay with sharing private DMs between them and Erin in their own callout document?:

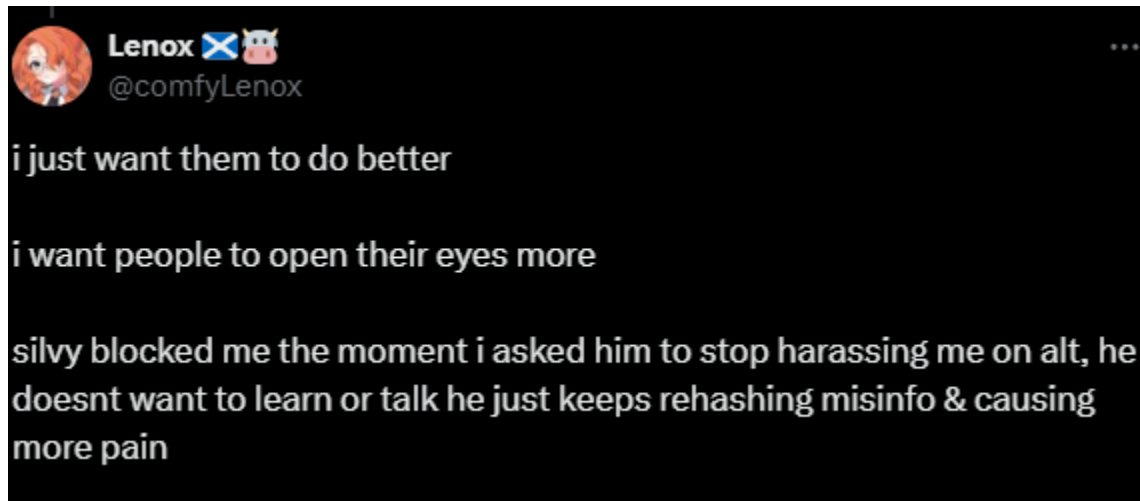

would then come to her because myself & others were being harassed in regards to her past actions & she would just hit me with her trauma (as she does regularly, & has a history of doing) a normal way despite my many boundary assertions).

I think it's pretty clear at this point Lenox doesn't actually have any evidence, if they did they'd showcase it by this point. They can't though, not because of their poor understanding of consent-to-record laws, but rather because the evidence doesn't exist. It is also really weird to claim you are being "very smart and careful" when you've spent nearly a year tweeting about me.

Again, here's them lying about what happened. You can tell by my screenshots it was Lenox who blocked first, and I blocked them back after catching them in their first lie.

And again they claim to be "smart and careful" but they have a very obvious trend of vague tweeting me whenever I announce something. For example here's my post announcing I was added to the Twitch creator club:

And less than 12 hours later, they did also try and deleted it later:

Here's when I joined Glytch Energy:

3 days later, apparently Lenox is a big fan of Glytch Energy:

I think the most BLATANT example of how much they stalk my profiles is this one here. I again was responding to yet another one of Lenox's fans trying to say I was harassing Lenox (Note how I haven't even whiffed anything related to Lenox at all during these months). I responded to the guy basically asking at this point I wanna be left alone, and again I did not name drop Lenox at all.

On the 26th of January 2025, just to further illustrate that in fact Lenox can't leave me alone and is either scanning my twitters for any time I mention their name or one of their followers replies to me about them. I started to be hold back less in regards to posting evidence, such as here in this example.

While discussing with a complete rando, they were the ones to bring up Lenox. I wanted to point out inconsistencies with statements made by Lenox in the past which were used to try and harm myself, and then when challenged upon said statements they retracted them and in some cases not issuing an apology for dragging my name down. Less than 24 hours later it seems Lenox decided to comment on it:

Lenox
@LenoxKupo

SilvySpark wont keep my name out of his mouth STILL every fucking month im being told hes still talking about me. i need help so please read.

i deleted tweets about you because your friends pressured me to, for your sake, out of empathy as another autistic person & then you villainised me for doing so. its fucked up.

now you're posting screenshots from when i privated because of an actual irl threat, tweets that were meant to STAY private. tweets that can PUT MY HOME AND CARE AT RISK.
DO YOU NOT SEE THE ISSUE WITH THAT?

barely knew the dude, he just gets way too involved in shit that doesnt concern him; probably because he thinks hes helping but enough is enough

i think he has good intentions with a lot of things but its clear we will never see eye to eye and i cannot forgive the harm hes caused me its clear his bias ends up with him causing harm to others whether he means it or not Silvy. please. leave me alone. stop talking about me. we will never see eye to eye but i do not talk about you & i wish you'd do the same for me. leave me alone. just leave me out of your mouth PLEASE.

if anyone who knows him can kindly ask him to stop PLEASE i understand its hard if people are bothering you but just draw the line in the sand. thats what i do when people ask me about him. its not hard. my issue was never with him it was with  he just kept making shit worse, his main crime was not believing me because things happened in VCs... with witnesses. but for fucks sake man have some humanity

i am disabled, you're now putting my home and care at risk and i need you to stop. this is borderlining evil. i just want it to stop.

I know there's a lot here but I'd like to go through every single section piece by piece because it is genuinely insane to go to this length over a reply. Let's start off by saying no Lenox, I have actually been doing my best to keep your name out of my mouth because even if I said something anything suggesting you, you have a pattern of making lengthy tweets trying to paint me as the bad guy when even in your own examples what I'd be saying was nothing close to the nature of which your tweets suggested.

i deleted tweets about you because your friends pressured me to, for your sake, out of empathy as another autistic person & then you villainised me for doing so. its fucked up.

Who's pressuring you to do these things? Because even in the tweets I shared you stated that the reasons you deleted them was because of a misunderstanding on your behalf with your building's staff, or you were asked to provide evidence which you never did, if you showed me who was pressuring you to do anything or delete anything I'd step in to ask them to stop. I do not like harassment, I do not like people thinking that harassment is a good tool to be used to get even or punish anyone as the harassment you've sent me over the past year has shown me. Show the evidence Lenox. I do not trust you without solid evidence. You've showcased yourself to not be a trustworthy person on word alone.

Do you not see the issue with baselessly slandering me and others you dislike because, in your own words, there was a misunderstanding with your own staff and instead of holding back and waiting to process what was happening you decided to blame me? Around the same time I was working on my panel? Were they meant to stay private so you could get around sending more people to harass me or what? Because again you have showcased yourself to NOT be a trustworthy person.

If there was something happening IRL, I had no clue because I was off doing my own thing. However I would never showcase tweets that would genuinely put anyone in danger and I stand by that.

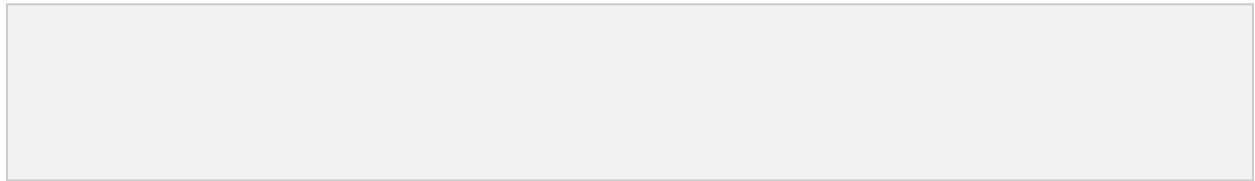

What kinda shit Lenox? Was it the shit where you, Adora, and Erin were spreading rumours about various creators? Hell even some I believed for a while until I decided to actually fact check. Here's Adora stating you were spreading rumours about another creator, while also admitting to starting said rumour themselves.

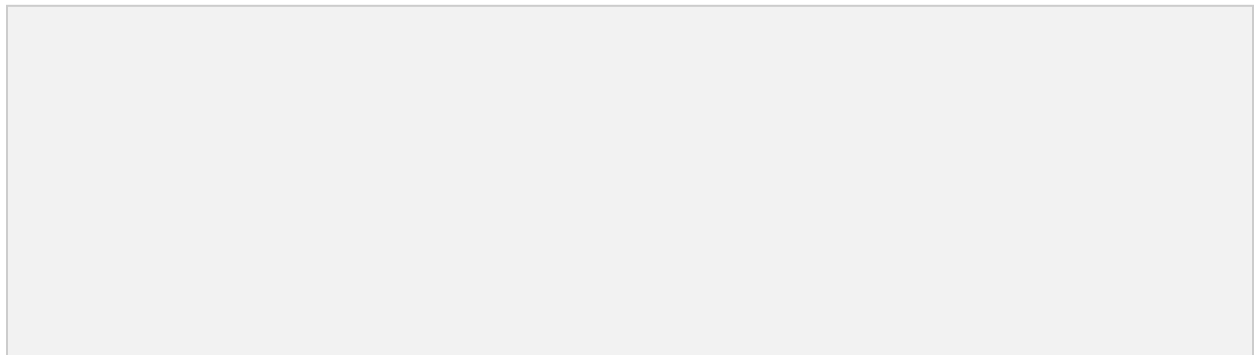

The harm I caused YOU? Lenox. You have subjected me to over a YEAR of harassment. Whether it be from your fans, dramaturbers, cloutchasers and such. You made me lose friends who thought you were trustworthy enough to not make up such baseless accusations. All I ever did was try to stop the spread of harmful rumours yet, you couldn't leave me alone. You saw me as a possible liability to your reputation and so you went for the first strike. I held my tongue for so long because I didn't want to make it into a messy situation, however considering you still won't leave me alone I will not be holding back any further.

As this document showcases, you clearly love to talk about me whenever you get the chance to do so, even when I'm talking about something that you think you're the main subject of.

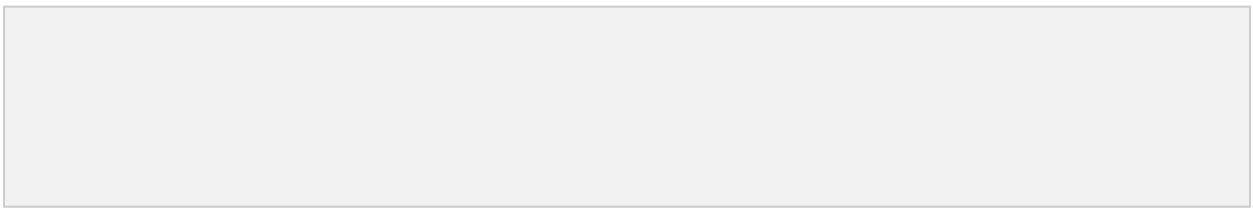

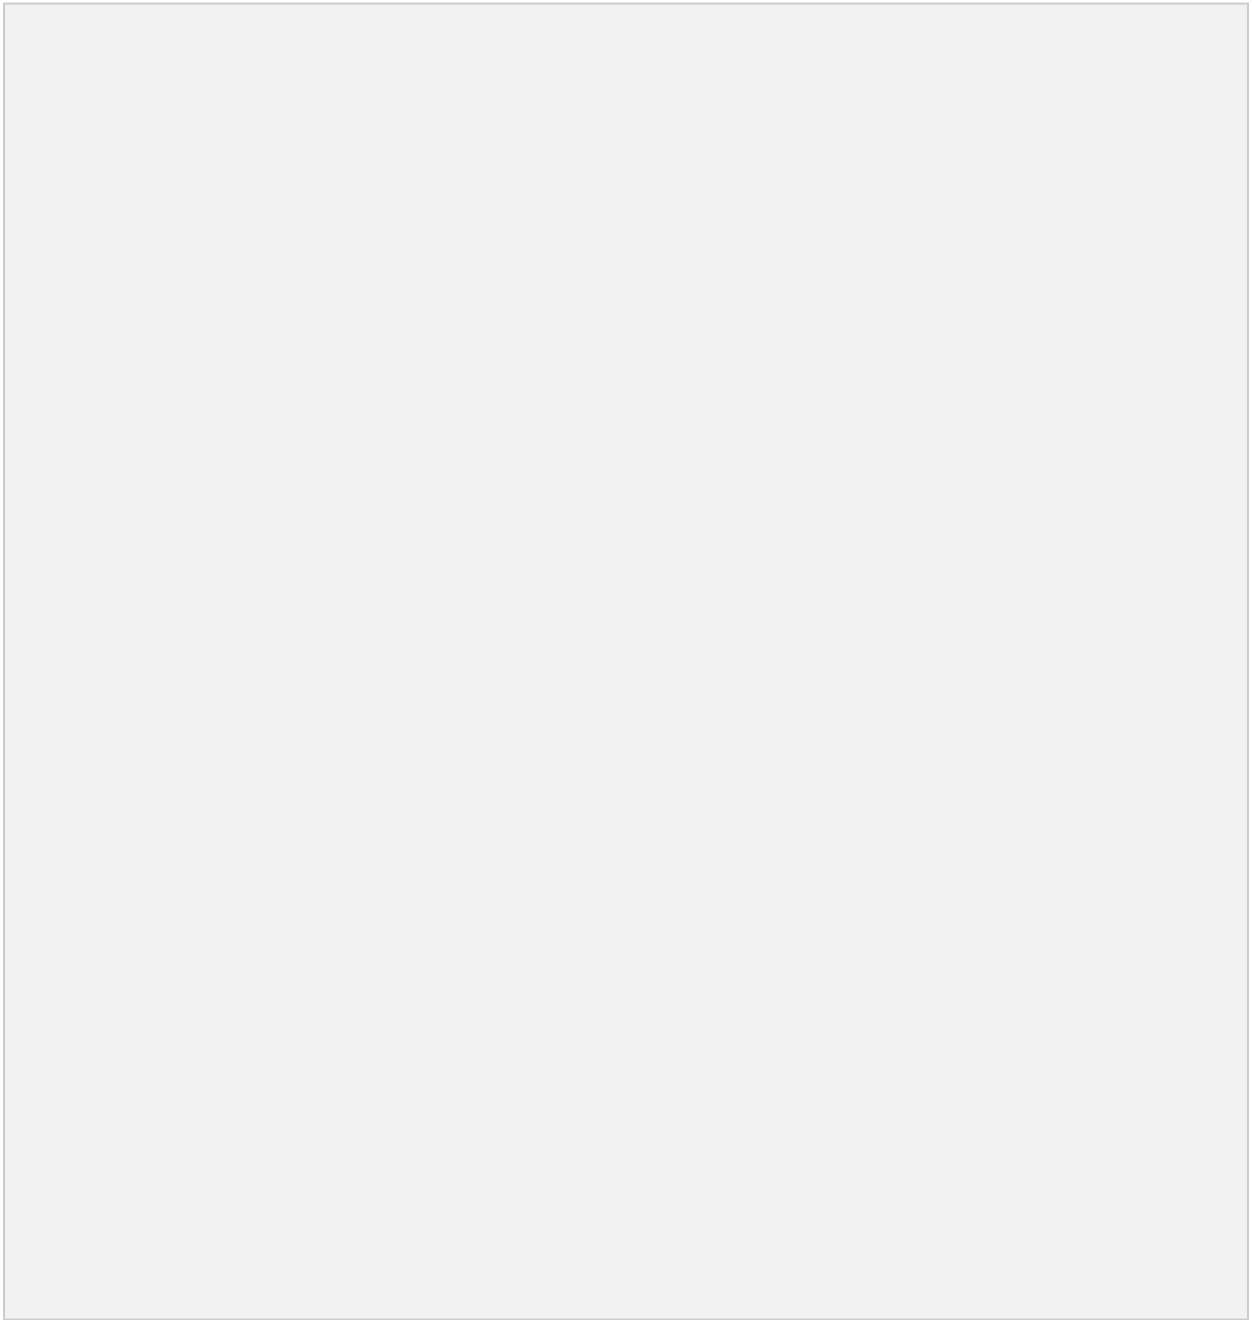

Where's your humanity when you weren't the center of attention? Where's your humanity when you had to be considerate towards others? Where was your humanity when you decided it was a great idea to sell the values you claimed to have when you saw a quick clout bag to grab? The worst crime you've committed here is that you are a harasser, a stalker, a liar, and a sellout. You claim to be one of the most outspoken disabilities activists in the community, yet the moment you have to show some consideration towards OTHER creators with their own accommodations and disabilities you throw a massive temper tantrum. Drop this act Lenox.

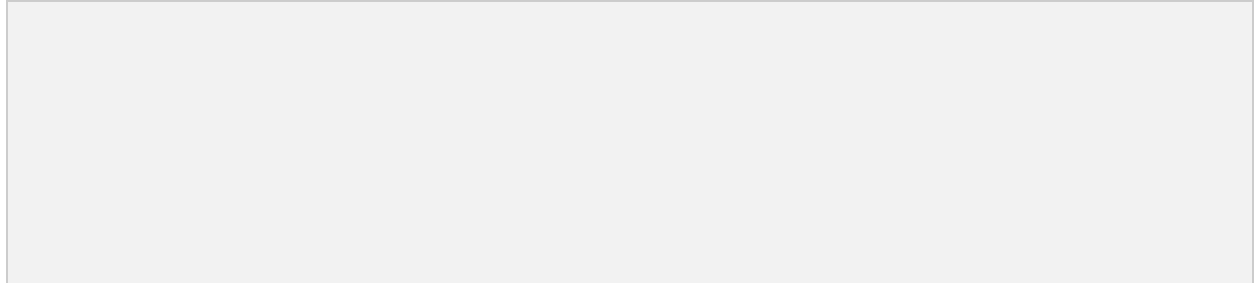

You literally put my CAREER at risk because you needed me to stay silent. I've never put your home at risk Lenox, you know that more than anyone. Hence why you didn't even bother showing the screenshots I posted because it didn't fit your narrative.

Shortly after, Lenox posted another thing here:

I've showcased the messages here, I did criticize you for your decision to bring up Black's child yes because I felt it was not warranted and offputting. However as our messages show, I wasn't forcing you into any sorta corner nor were you forced to even engage with the messages at all. However you were also very hostile towards me, seemingly at random.

I did not share those messages until you decided to start slandering my name publicly. That promise was made before you decided to publicly slander me. Trust goes both ways Lenox, why should I keep the promise I made when you can't even show me the same in response?

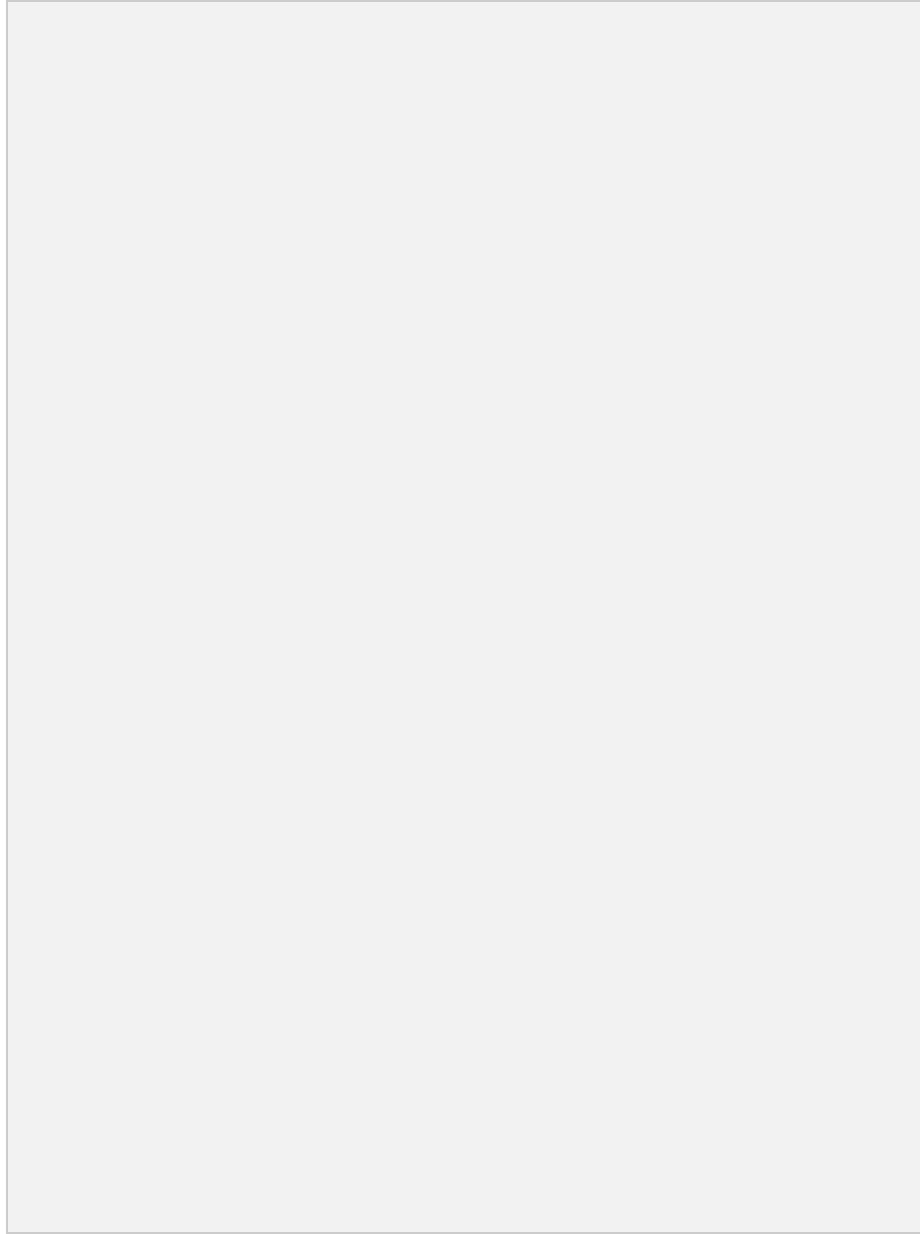

silvy, leave me alone. stop. talking. about. me.
you are being vile & disgusting to me soley bc i spoke up about [REDACTED] this is unhinged. x.com/LenoxKupo/stat...

Lenox the only person here who's honestly vile is you. You acted out of line, you slandered someone for a whole MONTH, you've been slandering ME for over a year, you engage with white supremacists, transphobes, racist folks because you see them as useful tools to push down those who see right through you. You've sent fans to harass me for over a year, you've attempted to ruin my career, my friendships, because I decided to not sit by when I saw something wrong happening. It takes a lot of courage to speak up to people like you, and I've held back for so long hoping you'd finally move on and the harassment would stop. Sadly, even when I never said your name you still jumped at it.

Despite the fact I haven't tweeted about you at all on my main twitter, and the only times I have done so on my Unmasked account was in response to your fans harassing me, you STILL are tweeting about me. At the time of writing this update it is March 13th 2025. Lenox is still tweeting about me, such as this email without any sorta evidence. I only know about it now because one of your fans went to my bluesky to tell me.

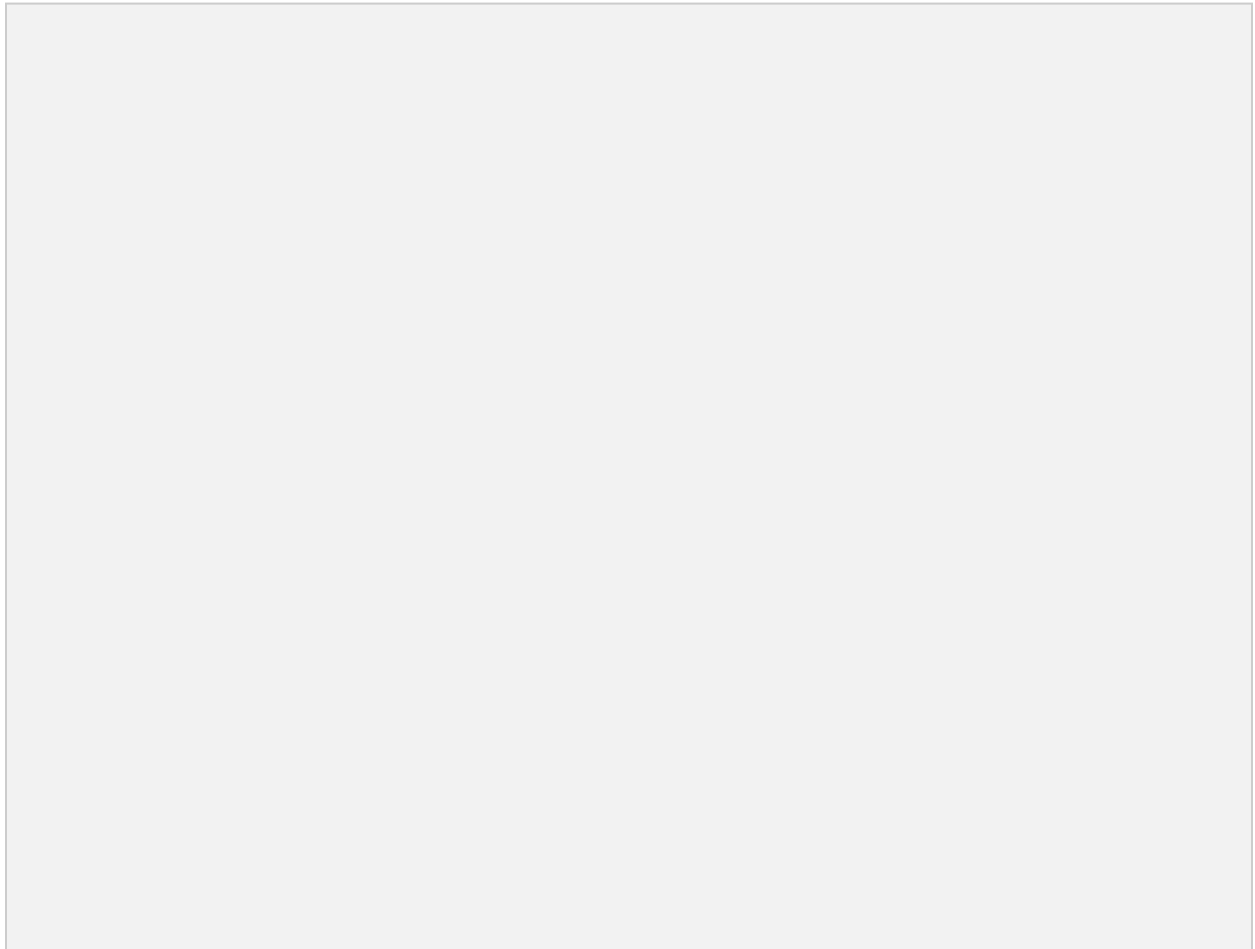

Let me make this perfectly clear, ever since November 8th 2023 I have not spoken about you on any of my socials. The very few times I've had to it was because one of your fans/friends came to my account to bring you up. Since November 8th, you have been tweeting about me consistently, half the time claiming to be a victim of "hundreds of alts" and the other half of the time seemingly bragging about how smart you are and how it "infuriates me". I've never seen a victim of such levels of harassment tweet like that.

I think if there's one example I could make for how Lenox manipulates and spreads disinformation. Look no further than this example here:

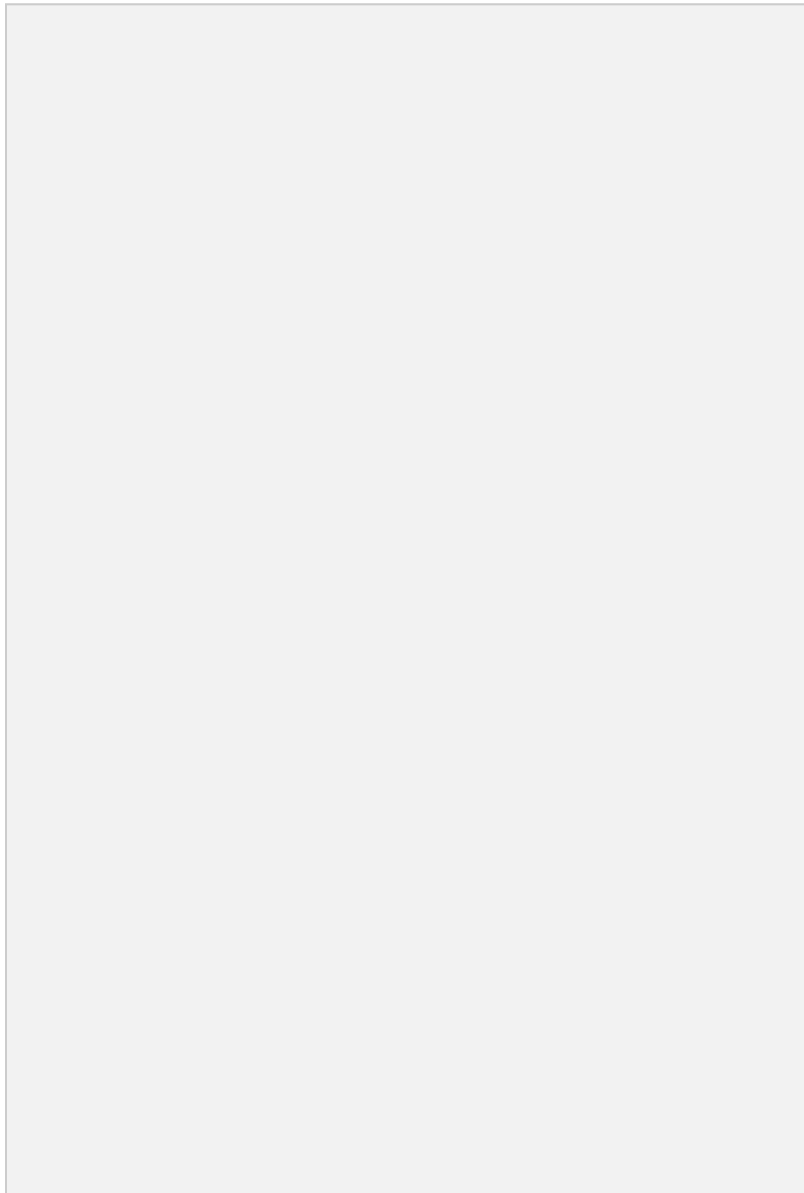

On it's own it looks bad, but they can't avoid the last line which indicates evidence being posted. The post can be found here: <https://bsky.app/profile/silvyspark.bsky.social/post/3lkccm2mnb22n>

It comes from a thread where I am showing off some clear evidence of Lenox's active harassment. However they can't show the full thing because there's evidence of their harassment present. Now what I say here, is it great? Not entirely, however I didn't even say it in a malicious way. If you are offended by that Lenox then I do apologize, it was not meant to be an insult or malicious comment towards yourself. It was purely about how Lenox's obsessive stalking/harassment was unhealthy. Again, never once denied Lenox's disabilities because that's not my call to make. However in my opinion this behaviour Lenox is doing by misrepresenting my post to be as awful as possible is more disgusting.

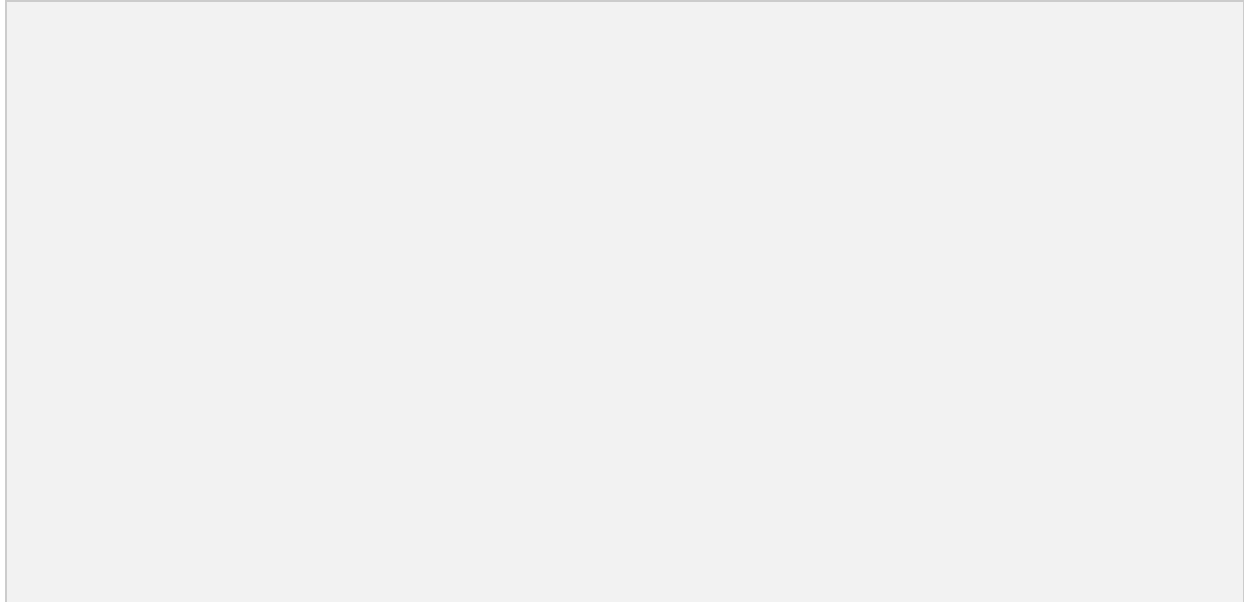

Again, you have a history of refusing to post evidence of the things you claim I do to you. Yet here's you Lenox having a meltdown over the idea of actually documenting any sort of harassment you alleged I do to you. Calling people who ask for evidence ignorant and blind is certainly a tactic but I think your last tweet speaks volumes, people don't like being faced with the truth, and one of those people is Lenox. This was back in February 2025:

For example, during the month you were talking about Black non-stop, you were nearly a guest on the UnderTheTea podcast, willingly mind you until me and a friend actually managed to speak with Adora to convince you to NOT make a disastrous mistake.

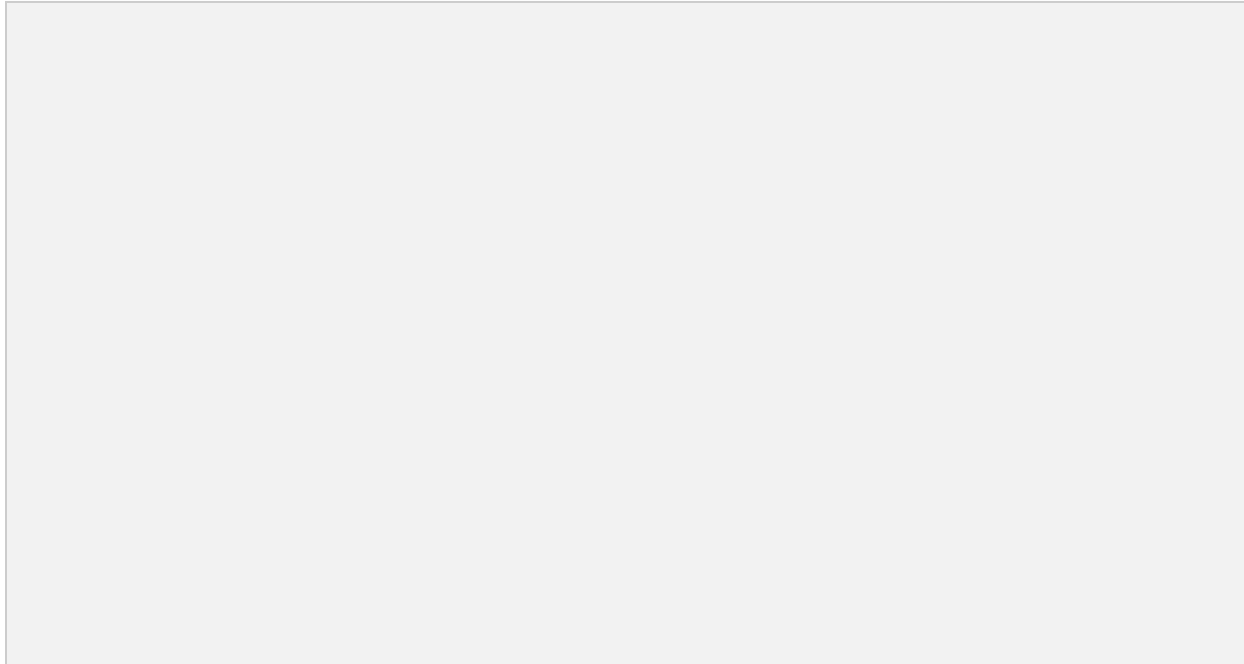

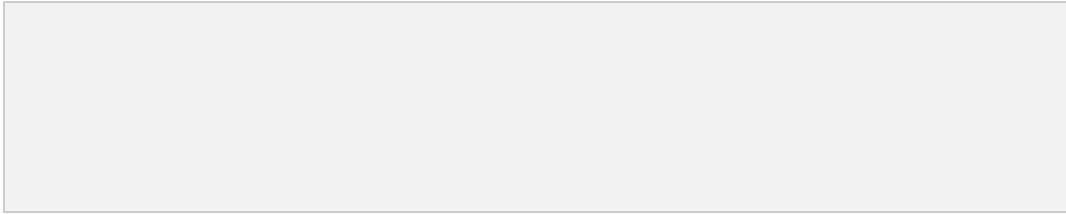

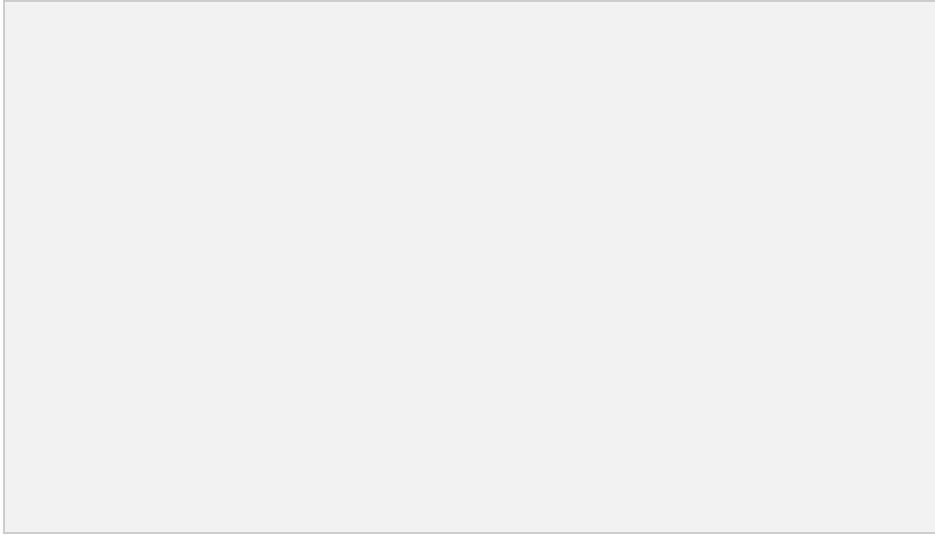

Nowadays you just say that you chose not to do it because you had better judgement or something like that. However despite this being the same podcast who DEFENDED A RAPIST, and one of the hosts was exposed for DEFENDING PEDOPHILIA, and has a lengthy history of racism and transphobia, and another host being apart of another podcast... a WHITE SUPRMACIST PODCAST... You STILL interact with these people. Hell during the weird 2 week period in March when Mizu's main twitter was unsuspended, YOU INSTANTLY FOLLOWED IT? What better judgement do you have here Lenox? Because to me, you actively are interacting with some of the most awful people on this platform.

As a Norwegian i say. They should be forced to offer their services to the US navy by the Norwegian government.

So I ask you, Lenox, why do you still engage with these extremely problematic people? I thought you were “one of the most spoken activists for disabilities” yet you are chill with people who regularly use slurs specifically geared towards people with special needs?

As an Autistic Person I give everyone of my followers a Retard Pass as long as you don't use it towards actually disabled people. Use it to call out stupid people

With this all being said. I think it is very clear that the stalking and harassment has been done by the very person who's been crying victim for the last year. While I wanted to call it out far earlier, I was afraid that the people I cared about would be harassed, or that I would be doxed again. I still feel trauma about getting sent a photo of my last dog on a noose. Better late than never, because this genuinely needs to stop.

I was informed by someone who is apparently close to you that you were only doing this out of fear? I'm sorry but I find that hard to believe now because of how much you've targeted me for merely existing, for me having any form of success or happiness. You aren't the victim Lenox, you are the very thing you claim I am. Leave me alone Lenox, and be better.

For this section I want to just have some final words, despite all this hell I want to say thank you to those who not only stood by me, but also checked in on me, people who know what kind of person I am and were able to see through the bs, the people who I have the privilege to call friends. Even those who looked out for me while I was busy with IRL stuff. You were the light piercing the darkness and kept me motivated to keep going and being true to myself. To not compromise and give up and to remind me that tomorrow is always a new day.

For those who might've fallen to the bs and are only realizing that now, it's okay. While I do suggest waiting for evidence or even just communicating with people before dropping them, I understand in this world of social networking and optics sometimes decisions have to be made on the fly and they aren't always the best. That's sadly the gamble of social media.

I also understand that despite all the evidence in this document, there will still be people who will not take this as anything more than a justification to continue their own harassment or bitterness. I can already imagine certain people who mask their venting towards people they don't like as valued content to be consumed misrepresenting this doc. Whether that's not even reading it fully, or even just cropping out details to mislead others who aren't even bothered to look for themselves into thinking what they have said is factual. The reasons for such doesn't matter that much, nor does evidence for that fact. Rather they only seek a scapegoat or justification for their own pre-existing feelings. You can't please everyone, and stubborn people will always keep their boots in the mud if they've sunk too much already.

This document is to help get a weight off my shoulders, to clear the air and actually set the record straight backed with documented evidence rather than emotional rhetoric. Why endure for over a year before addressing? After seeing how seemingly unstable Lenox was, I let them essentially out themselves on their own. I do not wish to return to this issue anymore in the future because frankly everyone has much more important things to do than dwell on rumours spread around on a dying platform.

To Lenox who might be reading this, it's time to stop this. I'm done, you're stating that you're done. Let's just move on at this point. I doubt I'll get an apology, nor do I want one at this point. I just want to do what I love to do without having to carry the extra baggage from the rumours you've created and been spreading. No one deserves that.
