

Miwafesto

By SnifferRiffle

This isn't about me, but forgive me if I take a paragraph for myself. I used to watch Miwa constantly and adored her. I joined her streams, took part in chat, sent maros, engaged in her Discord, and supported her financially—everything a devoted Miwuv could do. Over time I accepted that she clearly favors certain people more than others; if you're not part of her inner circle, you'll feel like a second-class fan. Newer followers might not realize this yet, and I hope to spare them that hurt. I've been revising this document since Miwa excluded me in August 2024. This is one Miwuv's effort to fall in love with vtubing again and heal the gap left in my heart.

If you have been on /vt/ long enough, I'm sure that you've seen this image of Miwa where she participated in the #vtubersvirl trend on X in 2022. She quickly deleted the image off X after this.

This post appears shortly after the initial post in /asmr/. It's another photo of her that I hadn't seen before. I had to find it.

I knew about the first photo she posted on her Miwa account and even messaged her with maros asking if she might remove it, but she never did. Other older posts remain visible now but will likely be deleted once she or her inner circle sees this document, since they reveal more about her. While investigating that photo, I reviewed her X account for clues and searched /vt/ for answers. A few weeks later I found a post in /asmr/.

I did plenty of searching for these usernames but “WhereWishesCome” was the most promising. The handle on X came up with a private account but I used the Internet Archive’s Wayback Machine to see if it was ever unlocked. After combing through all the links, there were dozens of instances of him retweeting some of Miwa’s earliest artwork so I knew I was on the right track. Eventually, I was able to find her personal account.

That picture appears to be exactly the same as the one in the /asmr/ thread. The @slightlybloo account was also locked. I then applied the same technique to see if Olivia had also unlocked her account at some point.

The first image in the previous post is exactly the same as the one she used in her #vtubersvsirl post in 2022. The following image where she posted about her character in Final Fantasy XIV proved to be more useful than I initially thought.

I kept searching for more using “WhereWishesCome” after finding Olivia’s account. Seeing how many times they interacted on Miwa’s vtuber and personal accounts on top of how early it all was convinced me that this was only part of the story. Needless to say, I was starting to believe that the poster in /asmr/ that said one of the people in the image “groomed the fuck out of her” based on what I had found so far. I joined quite a few Discord servers looking for more clues but this what I eventually uncovered.

A screenshot of a Discord user profile for 'WhereWishesCome' (@wherewishescome). The profile shows 1 invite and 1 server. Below the profile is a table of 'User Invites' with columns for Invite Code, Server ID, Channel, Expires, and Last Checked. The table contains one entry with invite code 'fvbutcx', server ID '207674895969157120', channel '#rules', and expires 'Never'. To the right is 'User Information' showing User ID '177977978393722881' and account creation date '5/6/2016, 3:00:56 AM'. Below this is a server profile for 'Toradora!' (discord.gg/toradora-207674895969157120) with 4.3K members, 850 online, and 0.00 trending. The server tags are 'Toradora', 'Anime', 'Taiga', 'Aoi', and 'Minori'. Below the server profile is an 'About' section with the text 'If you like Toradora or talking about anime, manga, vtubers and games. Come and say hi!' and a 'Server Information' section showing Server ID '207674895969157120' and creation date 'July 27, 2016'.

The Toradora! server was one of many that I joined but this one ended up being what I was looking for. WhereWishesCome is one of the admins in this server, hence the invite on Disdex. My approach was to join servers, search for keywords like Miwa or Miwapeito, and stay in them in case anything appeared. Toradora! searches did return matches, but those messages were later deleted from the server. For context, I joined that server near the end of 2024 and have remained dormant there using a burner account.

I should've saved copies when I first found them, but I was burning out on it. I was moving on. I was watching other vtubers like Jelly and Runie from Phase Connect, Chikafuji Lisa, and Ekkomori — but none of them sparked what Miwa did. Her hiatus drove me back to finish this. I noted the name the Miwaposting led to: blooicon. She hadn't scrubbed her traces completely; enough remained to link her to Miwa. Deleting the whole account would have been smarter, but she didn't even remove the #vtubersvirl post I warned her about.

As you can see in the images above, she posts nearly exactly the same image on the same day both in the Toradora! server and on her @slightlybloo X account. The necklace and beauty mark are identical and the pose is very close. The second photo shows her Final Fantasy XIV username, Pia Iteya, which is the same on both her slightlybloo and blooicon accounts. Her user ID is 324301126973521940 and a dump of her messages on the server is available here. It includes media for some of the channels where relevant, while others are text. In all, she has over 50k messages in the server. The message dump excludes a channel where people used a bot called Mudae to play a game. The channel appeared to be limited to invoking commands for said bot. Below are a few lowlights after briefly searching the server.

Vtuber fans once again making themselves known as the worst of society
Rushia debuting as being 16 years old then changing ages to 1600 is weird as fuck
These viewers deserve to cry 🤔 (edited) id rather they act like an adult version of an incest AV than a kid one lmfao

the vtuber industry needs more people behaving like adults

 Nil 🧑🏻 06/11/2021, 17:25
decent chunk of the characters act around the age of 20 though.
especially in nijisanji it's pretty common.

 bloo 🧑🏻 06/11/2021, 17:27
yeah nijisanji is wayyyyyyy better than hololive ive noticed not as good as youd hope theyd be tho id be way more inclined to watch vtubers if the majority didnt put on kiddy accents

 bloo 🧑🏻 21/10/2020, 15:14

This was found within less than 5 minutes of searching. The moral of the story is that I believe Miwa is a misandrist who will do whatever she needs to get popular. Even with just the above images, she's shown disgust for loli vtubers and their voices. However, she eventually realized that it was good for her personal brand to not only lie about her age but also put on fake loli voice. She sneers at men on paper but flirts with attention on stream, sings and does ASMR as the numbers climb. Here's her actual voice in these Twitch clips and the math puts her well into her mid-twenties if she left England for Norway to work in 2021. The whole thing smells orchestrated, like a puppet show where she's laughing from both sides of the stage.

I should stop here. I half-expected a smoking-gun in that server, some obvious groomer to point at, but it was all too public and too clean. I still suspect someone groomed her though not WhereWishesCome, not with the evidence I found. Those things happen in DMs and private servers, so who knows. As for further study, I never chased her Final Fantasy handle. There are character trackers out there like the WoW sites, and it would've been another rabbit hole. Truth is, I'm exhausted and I don't care enough to dig deeper. I've got a little more I never shared and even a hard doxx though it's almost surely years out of date. The truth is that my SnifferRiffle persona is dead and soon Miwa's vtuber persona will be too. My soul wants to rest now. Let the audience be the judge as we're just the jesters.
