

Why is the APP language garbled? How to set the language?

EZAudioCut internal support English, Simplified Chinese, Traditional Chinese, Japanese, Korean, French, German, Spanish, Italian, Russian, Swedish. The iOS system automatically selects the language within the app based on your phone's language settings and locale settings. If the language set by your phone does not include the above language, then one of the above languages may appear.

Settings -> General -> Language & Region

Please set the language of your phone's system settings to set the internals of the app closer to your usual language. The language is set according to the preferred language option.

If the language supported above does not include your local language, please set the second language you need.
