

Parasitic STD List:

Intestinal Parasites

Intestinal parasites are microscopic, one-cell animals called protozoa. They infect the intestines.

Intestinal parasites are often transmitted by contaminated food and water and during nonsexual, intimate contact. They may also be transmitted sexually.

Vaginitis (BV, Yeast, Etc.) – Can also be viral and bacterial

Vaginitis can affect women of all ages and is extremely common.

It can be caused by bacteria, yeasts, viruses, and other parasites.

Some sexually transmitted infections (STIs) can also cause vaginitis, as can various chemicals found in bubble baths, soaps, and perfumes. Environmental factors such as poor hygiene and allergens may also cause this condition.
