

CRAZY CHAT

By LEMURIA

Chat is crazy again. I wonder if it will be 100x as crazy on April 11. Some select chat phenomena we observed today:

A user, id 4381, named "Starianna is your queen", went off the rails in chat, petitioning for the chat to be kept on March 10. Also, they left behind links to Soyjak Party, suggesting a potential raid.

4381 spammed numerous things in the chat too, dropping the N-Word a couple times.

4381 also told numerous people to kill themselves, but thankfully by 22:02 UTC, Feb. 28, they had stopped.

Fernozzle reacted negatively to this, sending screenshots of the messages and pinging FP, alongside other users with names similar to FP demanding the early removal of chat ahead of the originally scheduled March 10.

Suffice to say some insanely crazy things happened in chat.

By about 23:45 UTC though, chat had returned to normal and things were more calm. Well, for a short time, because by 00:23 they were back again under id 9473.

And they sent a flag that a country in Europe used back in the 1930s to 1940s, at 00:23, their last message thankfully.

In other news, Chromic-Quanta really wants multiple colors in their nickname. Not sure how one would implement that.

INFINITE CRAFT STILL ADDICTIVE

By LEMURIA

Infinite Craft, one of Neal.fun's games, has made a resurgence again in #trash, being mentioned once by scar17off, who pinged Dimka with an image of a "Super Squirt Hitler", one of his First Discoveries.

Lemuria had tried out Infinite Craft a few weeks ago, but was not strongly addicted to it. There were threads created for the game in the #trash channel, with activity from Feb. 25.

Is Infinite Craft making a resurgence in the OWOT community again, or will it just remain a dead trend?

Group of Umbrella Worshipers Discovered Southeast of Spawn

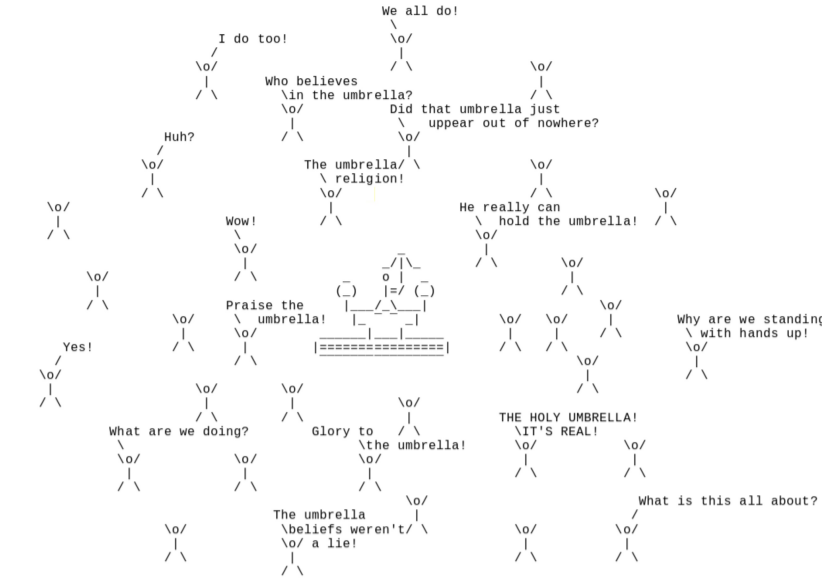

By LEMURIA

At 08:08 UTC on Feb. 28, KKosty4ka announced the discovery of a group of "umbrella worshippers", stating the coordinates were -15, 118.

The umbrella worshippers appear to be a group of people centered on a person, on some unknown throne holding an umbrella. "THE HOLY UMBRELLA! IT'S REAL!", said one person, while two skeptics in the crowd asked "What is this all about?" and "Why are we standing with hands up!".

How long they have been standing there worshipping the umbrella holder is unknown, but clearly they have been standing for what may have been days, weeks, or even months - something truly divine.

OWON would have attempted to interview the umbrella holder, but our journalists do not have fast enough transportation to get there in time for the release of this issue, so we must rely on this image provided to us by Kkosty4ka, the brave explorer who found it.

plorer who found it.

We'll calculate the costs of transportation out to -15, 118 and see if it's worth the effort to get there. Writing a special report could be within the realm of possibility once we get the opportunity to interview them.

We're just happy that they're worshipping something harmless, like an umbrella, instead of spreading religious bullshit (looking at you, /jesusisking from issue 4, Feb. 26, 2024).

Remember, if you set off for the umbrella worship area on your own, please remember to leave no trace. May wiper abusers be ratelimited to oblivion by FP's mighty admin tools.

Again, they're on the front page, southeast of spawn, x -15, and y 118. Have fun!

MENTULA IS BACK

By LEMURIA

Some knuckleheads clearly haven't learned their lessons yet. Our Chief Editor recently encountered two more Mentula pastes on the canvas, which he wiped mercilessly in mere seconds.

If you paste Mentula, fuck you. Get a life and find something more productive to do, because everyone on OWOT is sick and tired of having to see that disgusting character tarnish the beauty of the Great Canvas we all know and love.

ADMIN IS PINGED IN OWOT SERVER

By LEMURIA

A Discord user, yyhu6t-gyh76, was briefly in the OWOT Discord server on Feb. 28, 2024. They pinged Sammich, one of OWOT's admins, to ask them if pinging was allowed, before attempting to ping @everyone asking that someone tell d9eoad that /biology was "up and running" as soon as d9 went online.

We do not know if they left on their own will or if Sammich dropped the banhammer, but they do not seem to be in the server anymore, as of 05:19 UTC, Feb. 28.

Their last message was sent 04:54 UTC. Aside from pinging Sammich, the user claimed in #scripting that they had a "64 zettabyte website" (a zettabyte is 909.49 million terabytes, way beyond the storage capacity of the average person and beyond even the richest computer enthusiast's wildest dreams).

OWON is pretty confident that this user's claims to having a 64-zettabyte website (they later corrected themselves to say it was 256 zettabytes) are complete bullshit.

This user was never going to contribute constructively to the OWOT Discord anyway.

What will we read today?

IMPERSONATORS ON THE LOOSE

By LEMURIA

OWON is cautioning readers to be wary of OWON impersonators. At 08:09 UTC, on Feb. 28, 2024, A.M.O sent a message in chat saying "Im Making OWON Our World Of News". A.M.O, if you are reading this, knock it off, and stop impersonating us.

This impersonation however does not appear to be persistent. OWON has lasted for five days so far and only today on Feb. 28 did we notice this impersonator.

As a message to our impersonator: Either make news under a different name, contribute to OWON, or contribute to our primary competitor OWOT Today. Yes, OWON is open to submissions from other people. If you'd like to write an article, go ahead! Lemuria's DMs are open and ready to receive.

Could FP Make Chat Invite-Only?

By LEMURIA

At 15:44 UTC on Feb. 28, 2024, andreixyz posted a screenshot of a message by FP from Feb. 6, 2024, where FP said that the only way to fix the chat would either be removing it (already well-publicized and scheduled for March 10), or limiting chat to a select few.

Will FP make the chat invite-only or will he proceed with removing it March 10?

Well, making chat invite-only would certainly create an elitist atmosphere and likely alienate many. And if a troll ever infiltrates that group, well then we have the same problems all over again.

Removing chat for everyone is the way to go. It puts us all on equal footing.

And remember, when March comes, clean up your act and show the admins that we do deserve the chat.

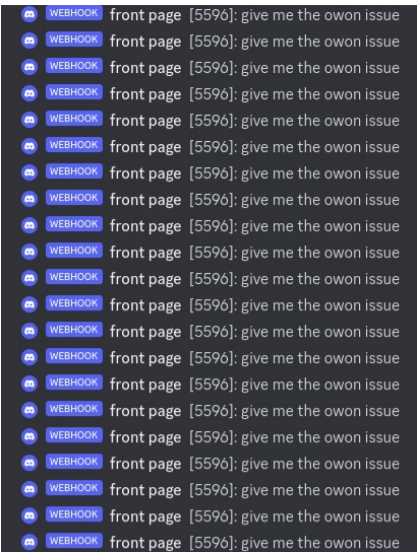

IMPATIENT CHATTER DEMANDS OWON ISSUE

By LEMURIA

Some people need to learn how to be more patient. Some crazy in chat with the id 5596 spammed on and on asking for the OWON issue.

We have half a mind right now to send a journalist to 5596's house to tell him to wait the fuck for the issue, which usually releases at 02:00 UTC / 10:00 Manila / 21:00 New York.

I almost feel like delaying today's issue by one hour for the sole purpose of spiting this guy, but I know that the needs of the many for reliable news outweigh this guy's needs for a hard lesson taught in patience, so I moved forward with releasing at the usual 02:00 UTC.

Be patient. Oh my.

But mark my words, if this bullshit happens again where people demand OWON issues early, I might as well stop making this paper, skip a day, or reduce frequency to once-a-week out of pure spite for these entitled people.

OWON is a free newspaper. If you were paying me $100 every week to make this, it'd be a different story, but I make this with my own free time and I'm not getting paid so learn how to be more patient. Or else.

Strip-mining Christa

By LEMURIA

As it becomes more and more apparent that the Christa spammer won't give up anytime soon, people are finding creative ways to deal with his pastes. Recently, someone drew stick figures just mining the Christa paste for resources.

Well, more creative than using a wiper. I think I'll let it stay. It is good ASCII art to enjoy while we wait for the Christa spammer to get a life.

ANDREI FINDS PINK SHEEP

By LEMURIA

AndreiXYZ has encountered a pink sheep while playing the game, in one of the screenshots he posted. The discovery came at 20:54 UTC, Feb. 28 (22:54 in Andrei's timezone.)

Pink sheep are one of the rarest animals in the game, making this discovery one-of-a-kind, only four days into the server's existence.

Andrei, from your newspaper's main competitor, congratulations on the find.

ECONOMY IS ENABLED FOR NEWCOMERS

By LEMURIA

The server economy has been enabled for new "meowers" (Slaska's term for a player on their Minecraft server), Slaska announced, in an update sent to the #trash channel at 00:05 UTC, Feb. 29, 2024.

People can now sell one diamond for ten in-game dollars, which players can use to purchase from the auction house, or convert the in-game dollars back to diamonds (though as I don't play Minecraft, let alone on the server, the exchange rate for dollars to diamonds is unknown).

And for anyone interested, Slaska listed a free brown mushroom.

Chat

Perhaps a userscript or something, but not everyone knows how to install one.

Then, at 00:26, a user with id 33 started spamming the same line in chat, "GET READY TO BE IN LEGAL TROUBLE FP".

uOh boy, is OWOT getting a fucking lawsuit?

Then, came ominous warnings to "GET IN YOUR BUNKERS NOW" as Starianna was "on her way to fuck you all", alongside a "public service announcement" that Starianna was "back in this", all spammed multiple times.

Rikki, hopefully uninvolved with Starianna, called on people to "get in the bunker 30 chunks north of the northwest TP limit", though our journalists couldn't get there.

Anyways, we have 10 days left to go absolutely wild in chat before FP removes it for the next month.

So treat every second in chat like your last, because soon it will go away. Hopefully to return April 10.

And maybe, build your own bunker that's significantly easier to access (and hopefully more secure) compared to that bunker Rikki talked about.

If you do get into a bunker,

Caioz Installs Linux

By LEMURIA

At 00:08 UTC on Feb. 28, 2024, Caioz sent a message in the #questions channel showing a screenshot of a drive with 24.6 GB of space. They called it a G drive (no, it was not Google Drive, but rather a regular drive with the Windows prefix letter G:).

They offered three options - Linux, Windows, and "other" (asking for either a different OS, a specific Linux distro, or an edition of Windows). People overwhelmingly reacted with the penguin emoji, signifying that Caioz should install Linux. Caioz decided to do so.

When asked by FP whether it was an external drive or a partition, Caioz replied that it was a partition and that they had two disks. FP also remarked that Windows "would easily take up half that partition's space."

The next day, at 00:08 UTC on Feb. 29, Caioz sent a set your calendar for April 10. Though if chat never comes back by then, guess you'll just have to live there forever. Good luck, and take care, dear readers.

Long live our Great Canvas! Long may people visit and recognize its beauty.

screenshot of themselves in Linux Mint, from a live CD saying "Install Linux Mint". Though, it was in a virtual machine in preparation for the real thing.

Caioz continued to send screenshots of them making progress with the installation of Linux Mint.

At 00:23 UTC Lemuria jokingly suggested that Caioz install Arch Linux, which got Slaska pissed off and telling Lemuria to shut up. (I would have removed the Slaska Survival Server Stories section out of spite, but I didn't because I need to fill this front page before 02:00 UTC.)

Lemuria reacted by simply just "going back to the OWON newsroom" (written in italics, like a roleplay.)

Anyways, where Caioz will end up next on their journey is unknown, but OWON would sincerely like to extend them a warm welcome to Linux. Long live the Penguin!

Long Doge

By LEMURIA

Well, there's this interesting long Doge southwest of spawn. This should be the last article for today's issue, as of 01:32 UTC, on Feb. 29, 2024.

It sure is quite lighthearted and fun to look at.

I wonder who made it.

Anyways, thank you for reading today's issue of Our World of News. We hope to see you again tomorrow for the next issue, if I do decide to make one tomorrow.
