1. THREAD: The Twitter Files
THE REMOVAL OF DONALD TRUMP
Part One: October 2020-January 6th

2. The world knows much of the story of what happened between riots at the Capitol on January 6th, and the removal of President Donald Trump from Twitter on January 8th…

3. We'll show you what hasn't been revealed: the erosion of standards within the company in months before J6, decisions by high-ranking executives to violate their own policies, and more, against the backdrop of ongoing, documented interaction with federal agencies.

4. This first installment covers the period before the election through January 6th. Tomorrow, @ShellenbergerMD will detail the chaos inside Twitter on January 7th. On Sunday, @bariweiss will reveal the secret internal communications from the key date of January 8th.
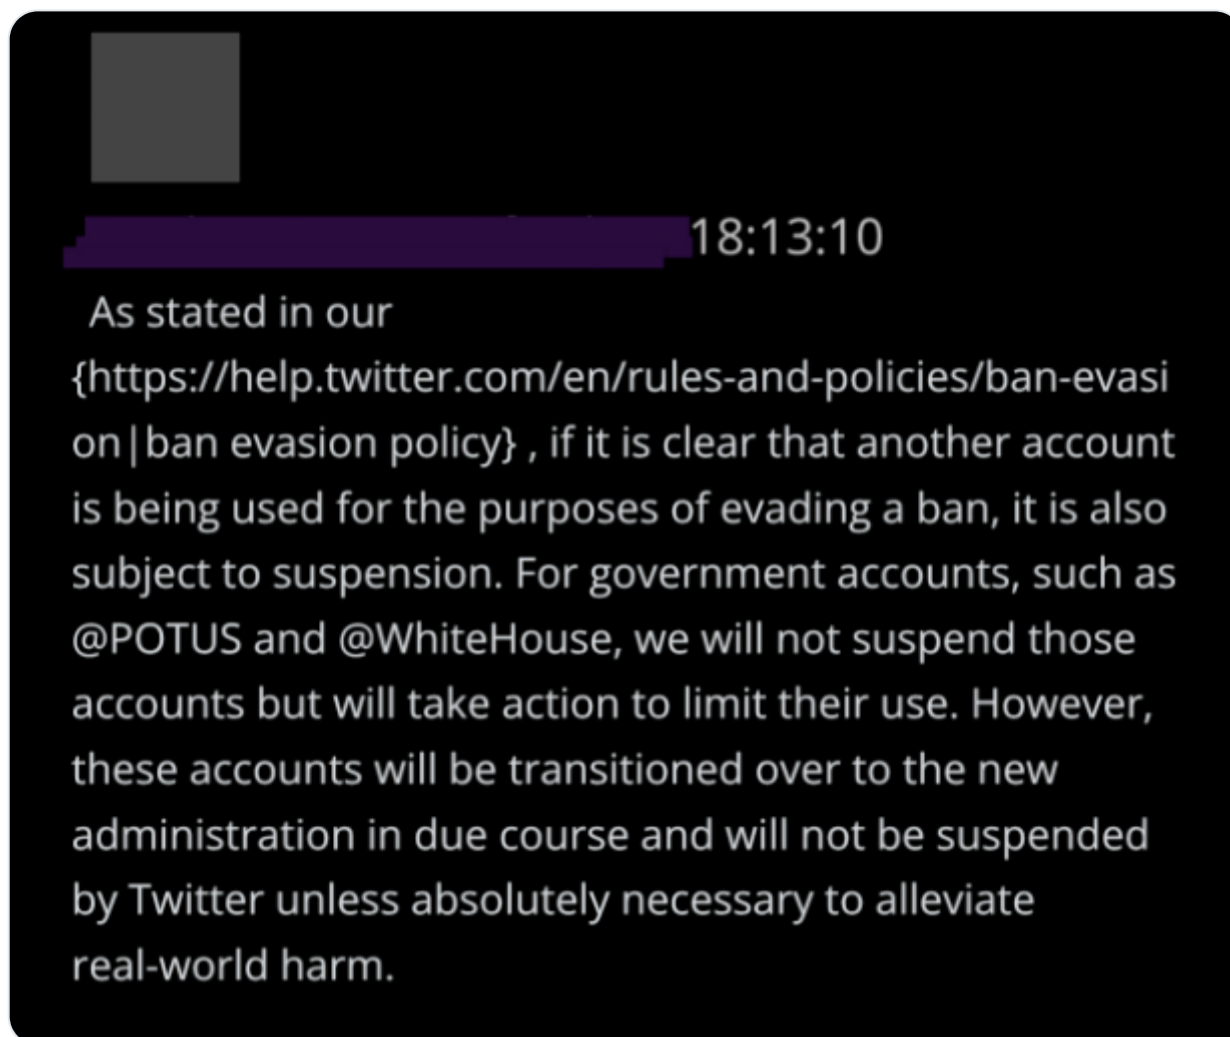

@mentions

5. Whatever your opinion on the decision to remove Trump that day, the internal communications at Twitter between January 6th-January 8th have clear historical import. Even Twitter's employees understood in the moment it was a landmark moment in the annals of speech.
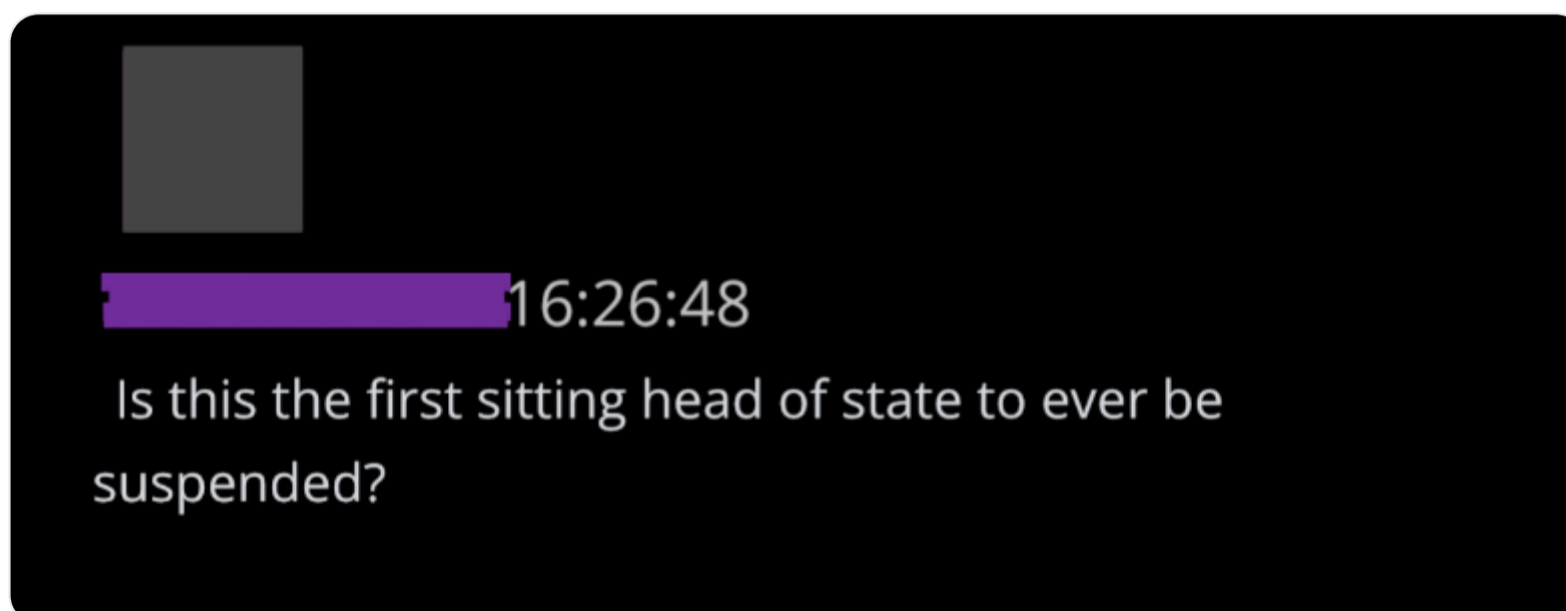

@mentions

6. As soon as they finished banning Trump, Twitter execs started processing new power. They prepared to ban future presidents and White Houses – perhaps even Joe Biden. The "new administration," says one exec, "will not be suspended by Twitter unless absolutely necessary."

> 18:13:10
>
> As stated in our {https://help.twitter.com/en/rules-and-policies/ban-evasion|ban evasion policy} , if it is clear that another account is being used for the purposes of evading a ban, it is also subject to suspension. For government accounts, such as @POTUS and @WhiteHouse, we will not suspend those accounts but will take action to limit their use. However, these accounts will be transitioned over to the new administration in due course and will not be suspended by Twitter unless absolutely necessary to alleviate real-world harm.

@mentions

7. Twitter executives removed Trump in part over what one executive called the "context surrounding": actions by Trump and supporters "over the course of the election and frankly last 4+ years." In the end, they looked at a broad picture. But that approach can cut both ways.

@mentions

8. The bulk of the internal debate leading to Trump's ban took place in those three January days. However, the intellectual framework was laid in the months preceding the Capitol riots.

@mentions

9. Before J6, Twitter was a unique mix of automated, rules-based enforcement, and more subjective moderation by senior executives. As reported, the firm had a vast array of tools for manipulating visibility, most all of which were thrown at Trump (and others) pre-J6.

@mentions

10. As the election approached, senior executives – perhaps under pressure from federal agencies, with whom they met more as time progressed – increasingly struggled with rules, and began to speak of "vios" as pretexts to do what they'd likely have done anyway.

@mentions

11. After J6, internal Slacks show Twitter executives getting a kick out of intensified relationships with federal agencies. Here's Trust and Safety head Yoel Roth, lamenting a lack of "generic enough" calendar descriptions to concealing his "very interesting" meeting partners.

@mentions

12. These initial reports are based on searches for docs linked to prominent executives, whose names are already public. They include Roth, former trust and policy chief Vijaya Gadde, and recently plank-walked Deputy General Counsel (and former top FBI lawyer) Jim Baker.

@mentions

13. One particular slack channel offers an unique window into the evolving thinking of top officials in late 2020 and early 2021.

@mentions

14. On October 8th, 2020, executives opened a channel called "us2020_xfn_enforcement." Through J6, this would be home for discussions about election-related removals, especially ones that involved "high-profile" accounts (often called "VITs" or "Very Important Tweeters").
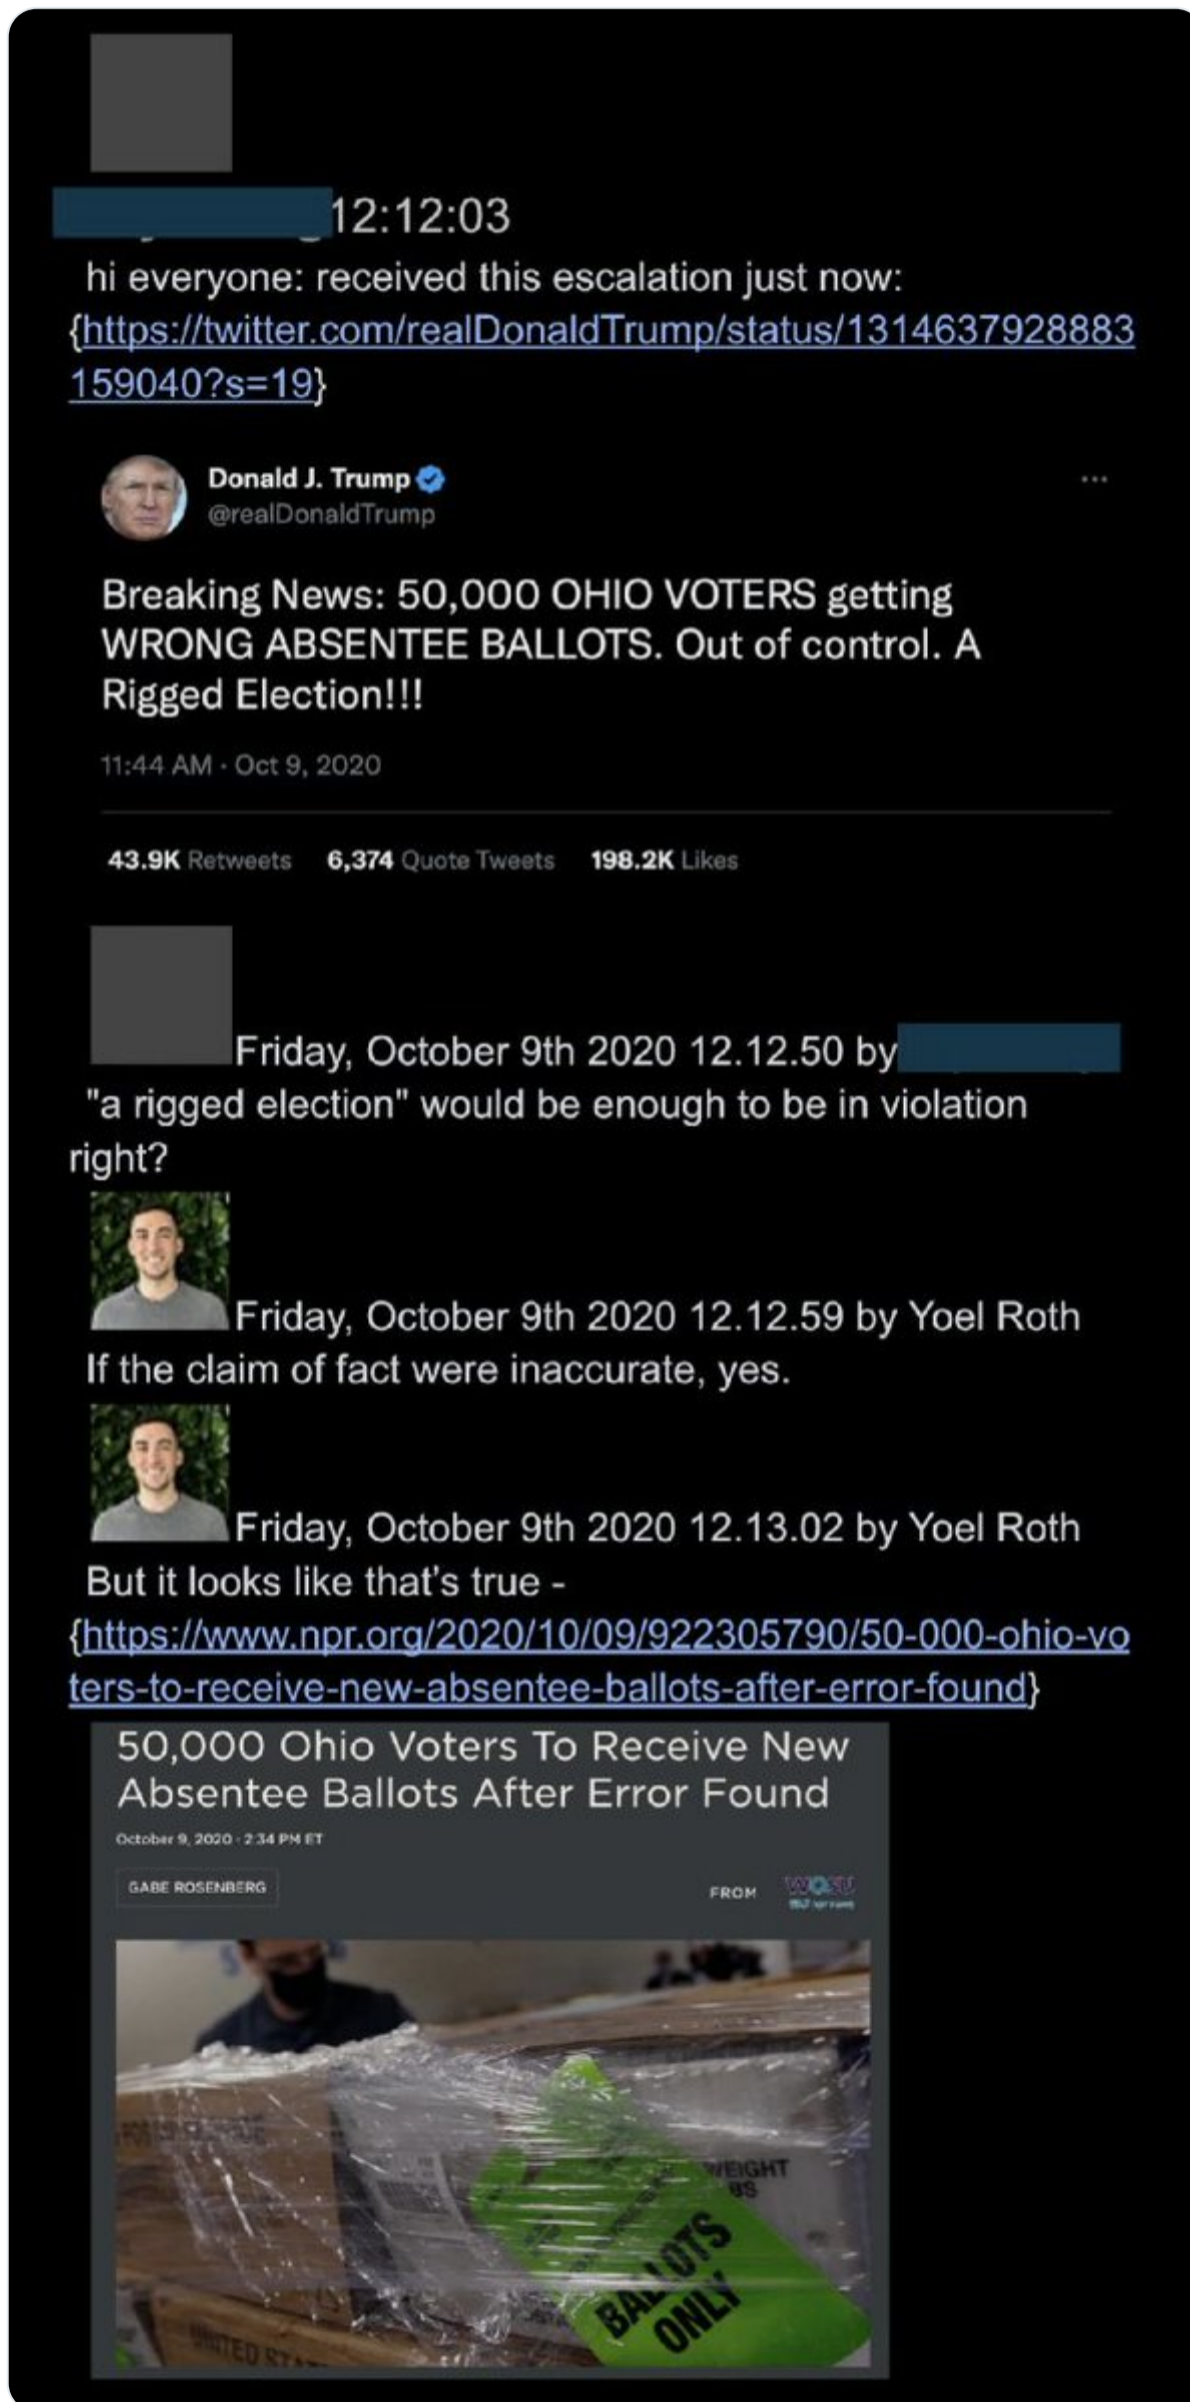

@mentions

15. There was at least some tension between Safety Operations – a larger department whose staffers used a more rules-based process for addressing issues like porn, scams, and threats – and a smaller, more powerful cadre of senior policy execs like Roth and Gadde.

@mentions

16. The latter group were a high-speed Supreme Court of moderation, issuing content rulings on the fly, often in minutes and based on guesses, gut calls, even Google searches, even in cases involving the President.

@mentions

17. During this time, executives were also clearly liaising with federal enforcement and intelligence agencies about moderation of election-related content. While we're still at the start of reviewing the #TwitterFiles, we're finding out more about these interactions every day.

@mentions

18. Policy Director Nick Pickles is asked if they should say Twitter detects "misinfo" through "ML, human review, and partnerships with outside experts?*" The employee asks, "I know that's been a slippery process… not sure if you want our public explanation to hang on that."
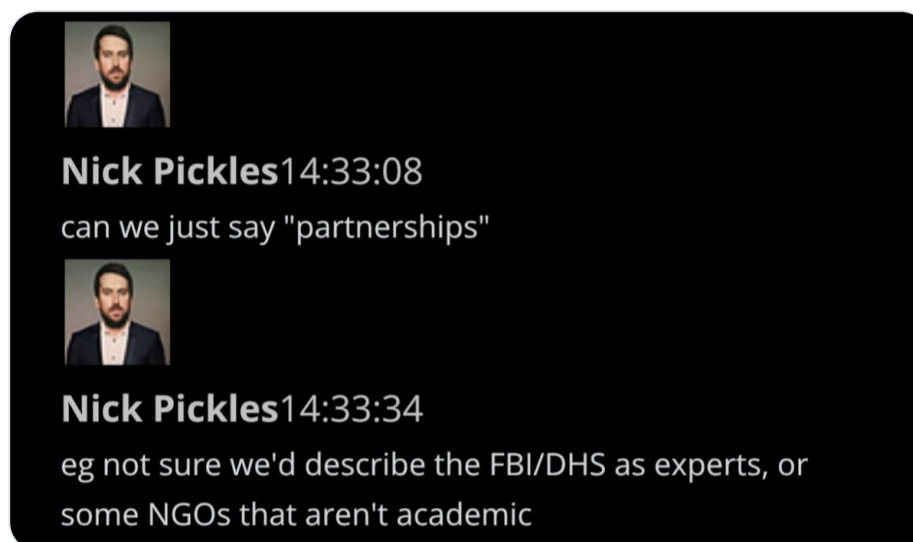

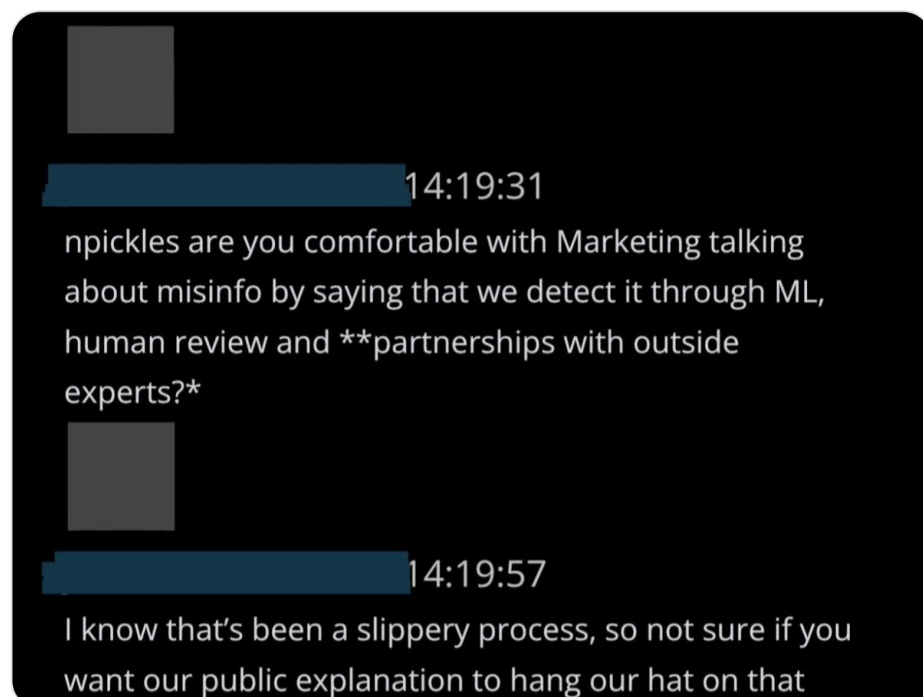

@mentions

19. Pickles quickly asks if they could "just say "partnerships." After a pause, he says, "e.g. not sure we'd describe the FBI/DHS as experts."
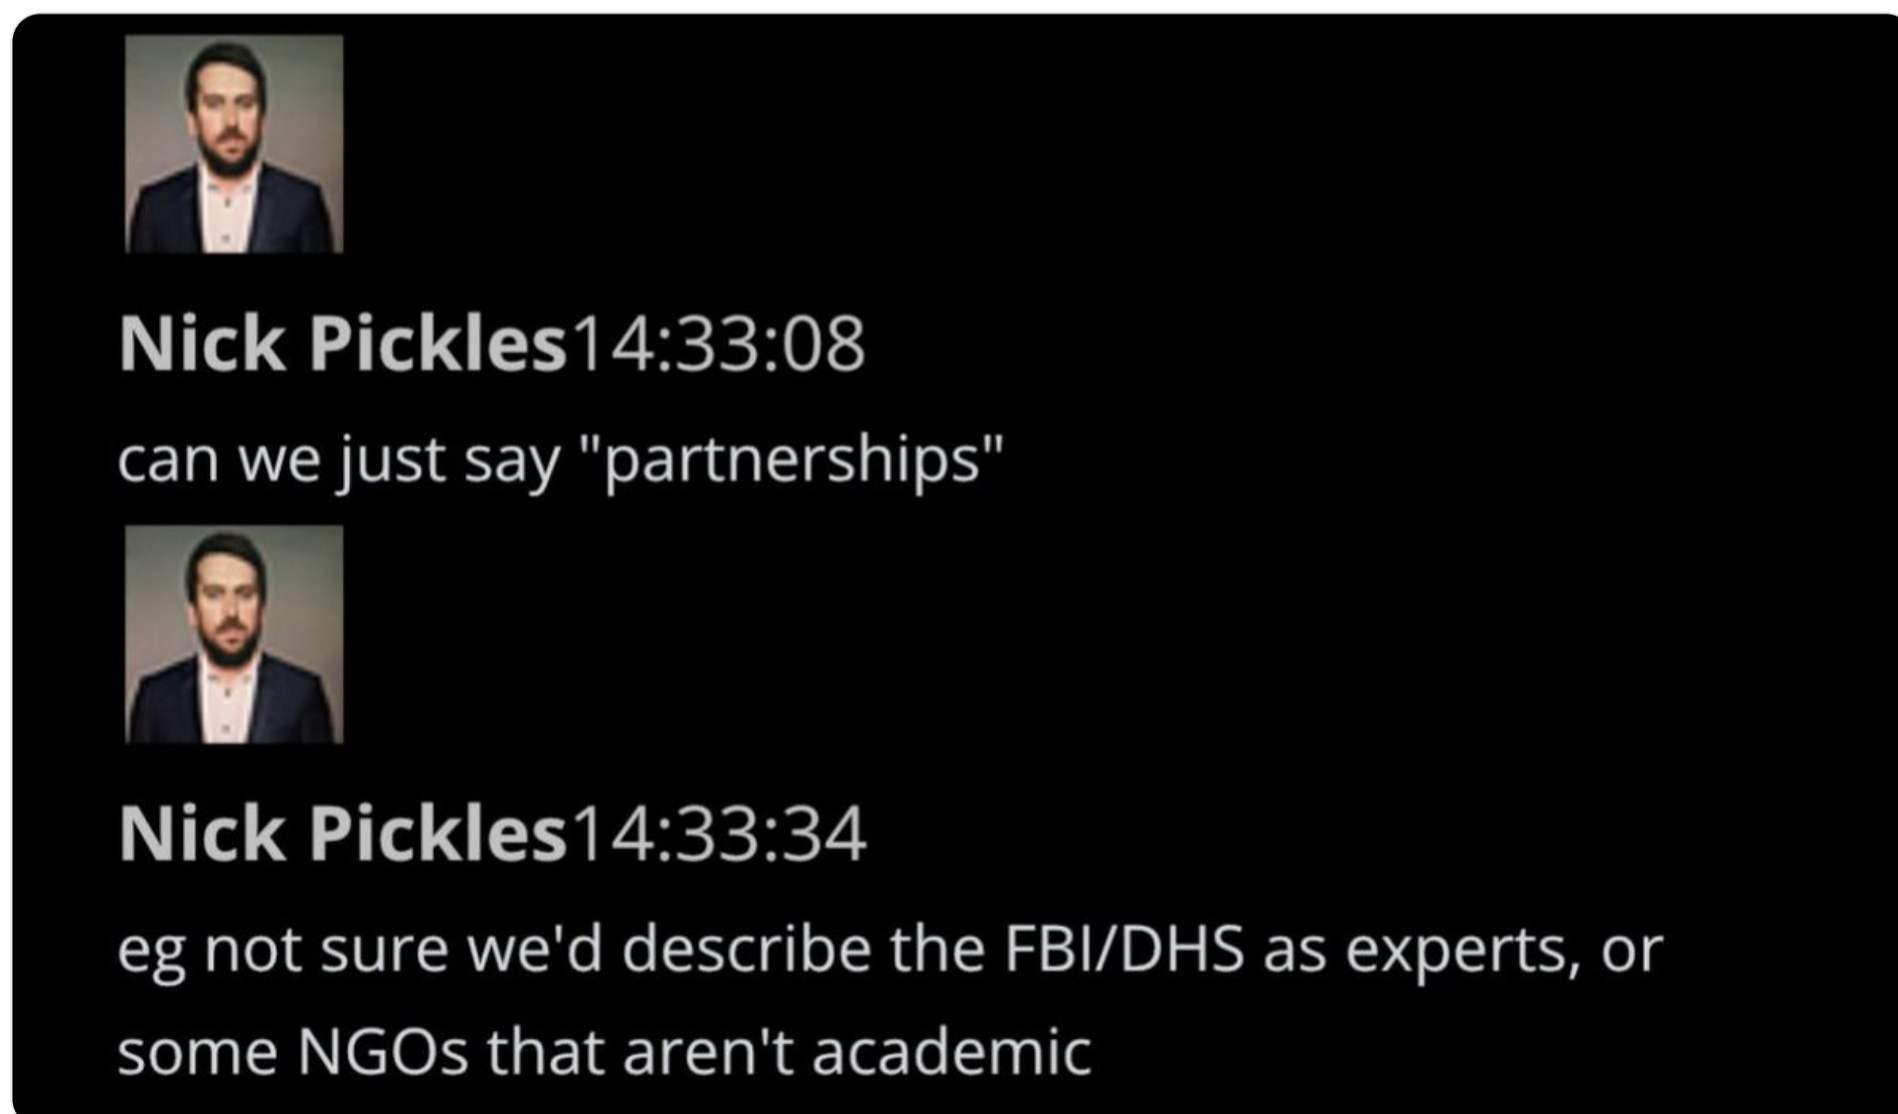

@mentions

20. This post about the Hunter Biden laptop situation shows that Roth not only met weekly with the FBI and DHS, but with the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (DNI):

Bot Application B01AXN4KL0M 16:19:26

yoelr has checked in! Here's what they said. What's new for you since our last check-in? - Hacked Materials exploded. We blocked the NYP story, then we unblocked it (but said the opposite), then said we unblocked it... and now we're in a messy situation where our policy is in shambles, comms is angry, reporters think we're idiots, and we're refactoring an exceedingly complex policy 18 days out from the election. In short, FML. - Weekly sync with FBI/DHS/DNI re: election security. The meeting happened about 15 minutes after the aforementioned Hacked Materials implosion; the government declined to share anything useful when asked. - Monthly meeting with FBI FITF. Briefed on several ongoing investigations

@mentions

21. Roth's report to FBI/DHS/DNI is almost farcical in its self-flagellating tone:

"We blocked the NYP story, then unblocked it (but said the opposite)… comms is angry, reporters think we're idiots… in short, FML" (fuck my life).

Bot Application B01AXN4KL0M16:19:26

yoelr has checked in! Here's what they said. What's new for you since our last check-in? - Hacked Materials exploded. We blocked the NYP story, then we unblocked it (but said the opposite), then said we unblocked it... and now we're in a messy situation where our policy is in shambles, comms is angry, reporters think we're idiots, and we're refactoring an exceedingly complex policy 18 days out from the election. In short, FML. - Weekly sync with FBI/DHS/DNI re: election security. The meeting happened about 15 minutes after the aforementioned Hacked Materials implosion; the government declined to share anything useful when asked. - Monthly meeting with FBI FITF. Briefed on several ongoing investigations

@mentions

23. Some of Roth's later Slacks indicate his weekly confabs with federal law enforcement involved separate meetings. Here, he ghosts the FBI and DHS, respectively, to go first to an "Aspen Institute thing," then take a call with Apple.

Yoel Roth 08:03:33

Hey there - I have to miss the FBI and DHS meetings today, unfortunately. I saw you're on the invites for both (as are Site Policy). Can you give me a quick readout if there's anything interesting that comes up?

Patrick Conlon ▮▮▮▮▮▮▮ 08:04:00

Sure thing! I hope that everything's OK.

Yoel Roth 08:04:27

Yeah - just have conflicts at both times. An Aspen Institute thing this morning on vaccines that I have to present at, and then a call with Apple to avoid us getting kicked out of the App Store during the DHS one.

Patrick Conlon ▮▮▮▮▮▮▮ 08:04:58

Ah. Those both seem very important.

Yoel Roth 08:06:13

Indeed.

@mentions

24. Here, the FBI sends reports about a pair of tweets, the second of which involves a former Tippecanoe County, Indiana Councilor and Republican named claiming "Between 2% and 25% of Ballots by Mail are Being Rejected for Errors."

07:04:23

<!here> we just got a report from the FBI concerning 2 tweets, 1. 1314479095401521154 related to the "shredding" of mail in ballot's, this is proven to be false via this: {https://www.politifact.com/factchecks/2020/oct/08/blog-posting/social-posters-spread-election-misinformation-abou/} do we have a moment ready for this one?

2. 1314328227423420416, I believe was deemed no vio on numerous occasions

@mentions

The FBI's second report concerned this tweet by :

John Basham 🇺🇸
@JohnBasham

EDITORIAL: @TheDemocrats Are In Complete Panic As Their Massive Push For #VoteByMail Is Backfiring On Them!
Two Things Are Unfolding:
1) An Unexpected Number Of Registered #Republicans Are Returning Ballots.
2) Between 2% & 25% Of Ballots By Mail Are Being REJECTED For Errors!

@mentions

25. The FBI-flagged tweet then got circulated in the enforcement Slack. Twitter cited Politifact to say the first story was "proven to be false," then noted the second was already deemed "no vio on numerous occasions."

@mentions

26. The group then decides to apply a "Learn how voting is safe and secure" label because one commenter says, "it's totally normal to have a 2% error rate." Roth then gives the final go-ahead to the process initiated by the FBI:

@mentions

27. Examining the entire election enforcement Slack, we didn't see one reference to moderation requests from the Trump campaign, the Trump White House, or Republicans generally. We looked. They may exist: we were told they do. However, they were absent here.

@mentions

31. In one case, former Arkansas governor Mike Huckabee joke-tweets about mailing in ballots for his "deceased parents and grandparents."
32. This inspires a long Slack that reads like an parody. "I agree it's a joke," concedes a Twitter employee, "but he's also literally admitting in a tweet a crime."

@mentions

The group declares Huck's an "edge case," and though one notes, "we don't make exceptions for jokes or satire," they ultimately decide to leave him be, because "we've poked enough bears."

@mentions

33. "Could still mislead people... could still mislead people," the humor-averse group declares, before moving on from Huckabee

07:44:11

Hello <!here> putting this tweet on everyone's radar. This appears to be a joke but other people might believe it. Can I get your weigh in this? {https://twitter.com/GovMikeHuckabee/status/13201041124 20212739}

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.12.23 by Yoel Roth
Ugh. Yeah, I saw this one last night. Agree it's a joke... but he's also literally admitting in a tweet to a crime.
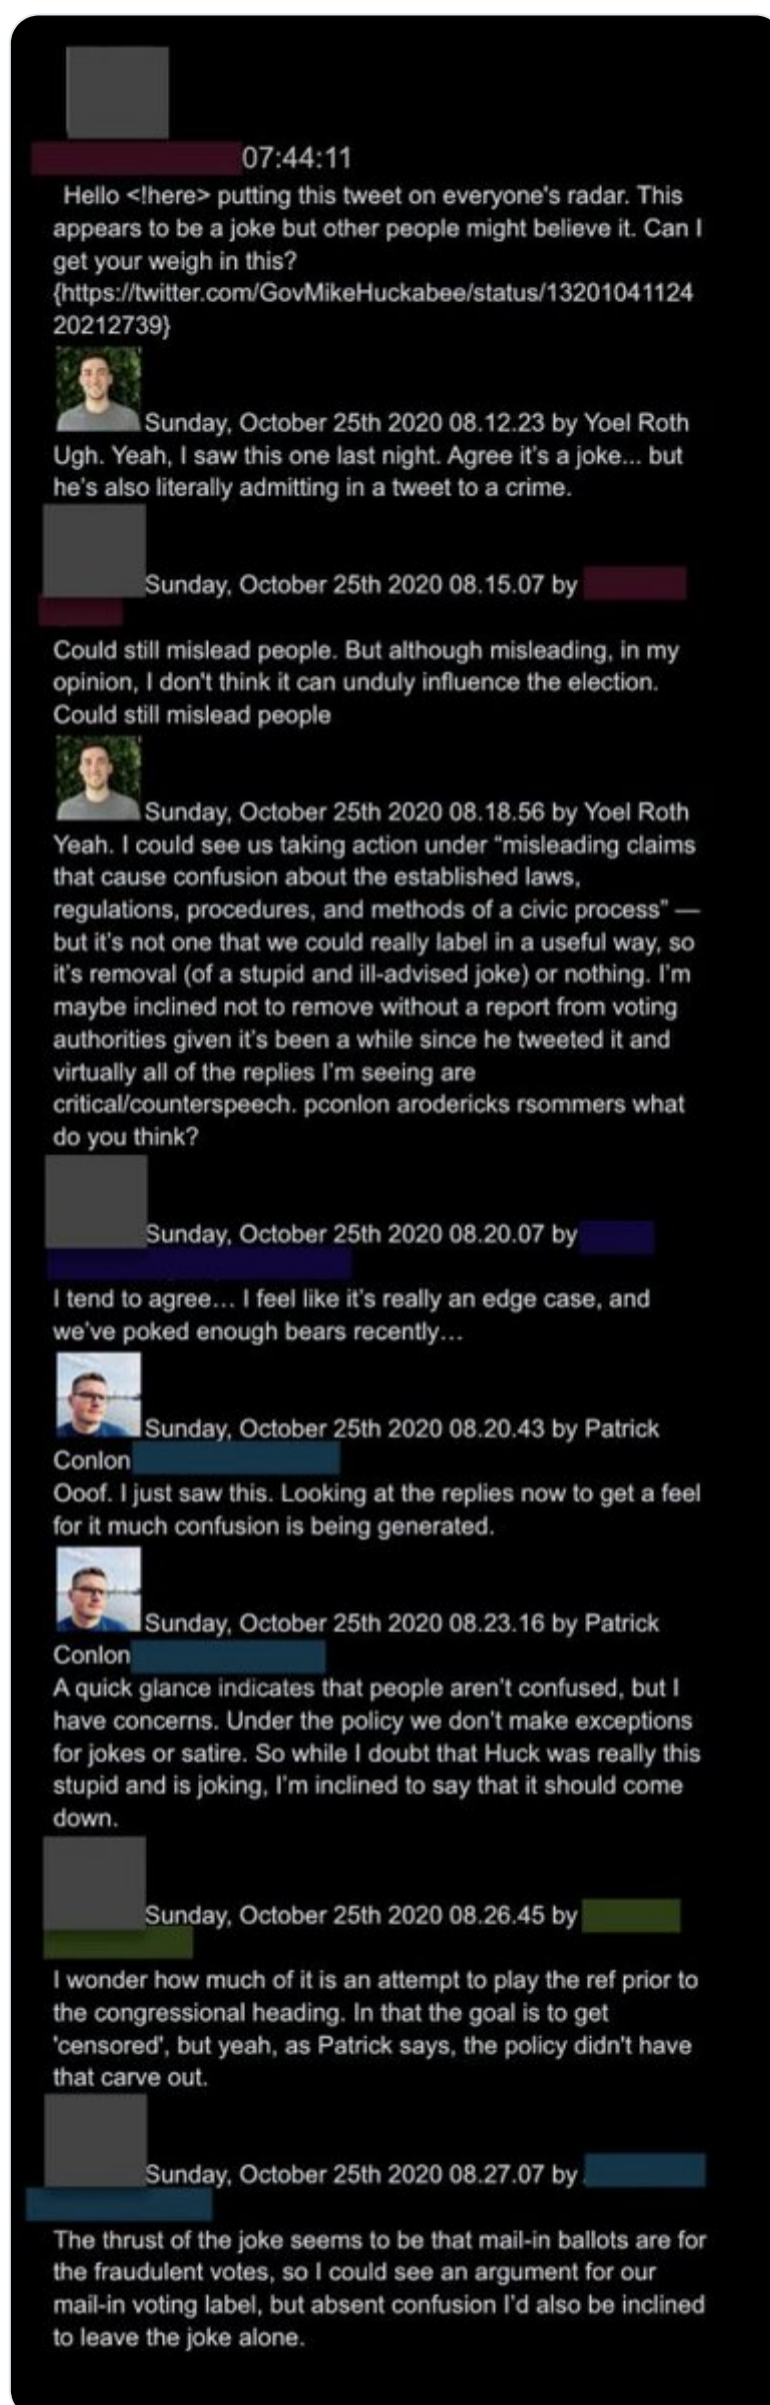

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.15.07 by

Could still mislead people. But although misleading, in my opinion, I don't think it can unduly influence the election. Could still mislead people

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.18.56 by Yoel Roth
Yeah. I could see us taking action under "misleading claims that cause confusion about the established laws, regulations, procedures, and methods of a civic process" — but it's not one that we could really label in a useful way, so it's removal (of a stupid and ill-advised joke) or nothing. I'm maybe inclined not to remove without a report from voting authorities given it's been a while since he tweeted it and virtually all of the replies I'm seeing are critical/counterspeech. pconlon arodericks rsommers what do you think?

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.20.07 by

I tend to agree… I feel like it's really an edge case, and we've poked enough bears recently…

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.20.43 by Patrick Conlon
Ooof. I just saw this. Looking at the replies now to get a feel for it much confusion is being generated.

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.23.16 by Patrick Conlon
A quick glance indicates that people aren't confused, but I have concerns. Under the policy we don't make exceptions for jokes or satire. So while I doubt that Huck was really this stupid and is joking, I'm inclined to say that it should come down.

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.26.45 by

I wonder how much of it is an attempt to play the ref prior to the congressional heading. In that the goal is to get 'censored', but yeah, as Patrick says, the policy didn't have that carve out.

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.27.07 by

The thrust of the joke seems to be that mail-in ballots are for the fraudulent votes, so I could see an argument for our mail-in voting label, but absent confusion I'd also be inclined to leave the joke alone.

@mentions

33. Roth suggests moderation even in this absurd case could depend on whether or not the joke results in "confusion." This seemingly silly case actually foreshadows serious later issues:

Sunday, October 25th 2020 08.18.56 by Yoel Roth
Yeah. I could see us taking action under "misleading claims that cause confusion about the established laws, regulations, procedures, and methods of a civic process" — but it's not one that we could really label in a useful way, so it's removal (of a stupid and ill-advised joke) or nothing. I'm maybe inclined not to remove without a report from voting authorities given it's been a while since he tweeted it and virtually all of the replies I'm seeing are critical/counterspeech. pconlon arodericks rsommers what do you think?

@mentions

34. In the docs, execs often expand criteria to subjective issues like intent (yes, a video is authentic, but why was it shown?), orientation (was a banned tweet shown to condemn, or support?), or reception (did a joke cause "confusion"?). This reflex will become key in J6.

@mentions

35. In another example, Twitter employees prepare to slap a "mail-in voting is safe" warning label on a Trump tweet about a postal screwup in Ohio, before realizing "the events took place," which meant the tweet was "factually accurate":

Donald J. Trump ✔
@realDonaldTrump

No. A Rigged Election!

🅐 ABC 13 News - WSET ✔ @ABC13News · Oct 9, 2020
⊘ Official

Nearly 50,000 voters received wrong ballots in Ohio!
Does you feel safe mailing in your ballot?

READ MORE: bit.ly/2GKD8E1

ENTRANCE
EARLY VOTE CENTER

5:03 AM · Oct 12, 2020

5,976 Retweets 529 Quote Tweets 24.1K Likes

6:19:52
 <!here> cc: yoelr Trump just posted these two Tweets
://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/13156242267375779
87> and : _*`Learn how voting by mail is safe and secure`*_
Not sure what the process is for GET, are we expected to do the policy comm's write up for this?{https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/131562431
1558934536} cc: yoelr Trump just posted these two Tweets
<https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/131562422673
7577987> and
<https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/131562431155
8934536> that are candidates for labelling: _*`Learn how voting by mail is safe and secure`*_ Not sure what the process is for GET, are we expected to do the policy comm's write up for this?

Monday, October 12th 2020 06.28.36 by

cc   until Yoel wakes up

Monday, October 12th 2020 06.34.06 by

I've been on PTO, so not 100% up to speed. My understanding in both cases is that the events took place, and that the commentary by POTUS is his opinion related to these real events so that there wouldn't be any labelling action/violation on our side.

Monday, October 12th 2020 07.01.35 by Yoel Roth
Yeah... those are factually accurate...

Monday, October 12th 2020 07.06.27 by
Thanks for clarifying

@mentions

36. "VERY WELL DONE ON SPEED" Trump was being "visibility filtered" as late as a week before the election. Here, senior execs didn't appear to have a particular violation, but still worked fast to make sure a fairly anodyne Trump tweet couldn't be "replied to, shared, or liked":

Donald J. Trump ✓
@realDonaldTrump

Some or all of the content shared in this Tweet is disputed and might be misleading about an election or other civic process. Learn more

Big problems and discrepancies with Mail In Ballots all over the USA. Must have final total on November 3rd.

⚠ Stay informed
Learn how voting by mail is safe and secure   Find out more

This Tweet can't be replied to, shared or liked.

4:43 PM · Oct 26, 2020

replies to thread:

Monday, October 26th 2020 16.57.17 by Yoel Roth
What's the team's recommendation?

Monday, October 26th 2020 16.57.25 by

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1rgrmMLGyAXYKIRA vKgsuvHPcHaKAPXVZsTFO6g3X8_Y/edit

Monday, October 26th 2020 16.58.53 by Yoel Roth
Thank you. Agree with the recommendation. Flagging right now with leadership given it's POTUS

Monday, October 26th 2020 16.59.05 by

will set up a call

Monday, October 26th 2020 16.59.05 by Yoel Roth
Can we use a new doc per PII review?

Monday, October 26th 2020 16.59.20 by ah, okay. (will also include that in our playbook after!)

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.00.26 by

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1zDEXeAvqDZn5aAf
BCnU26YZhBYtqAZLGquU1AnioQi8/edit?usp=sharing

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.00.38 by Yoel Roth
EDI approved

@mentions

"VERY WELL DONE ON SPEED": the group is pleased the Trump tweet is dealt with quickly

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.00.54 by Yoel Roth
Let's inform stakeholders and move forward

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.01.15 by

did you still wanna do a call?

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.01.21 by Yoel Roth
N, can skip pagerduty too

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.01.27 by Yoel Roth
Happened to already be talking to everyone involved.

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.03.03 by Yoel Roth
Going to apply the EDI now

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.03.12 by Yoel Roth
Is there a thread already w comms etc?

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.03.45 by

drafting it up now

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.11.38 by email sent

Monday, October 26th 2020 17.15.51 by

Very well done on speed folks, what this is all designed for and a huge positive for the platform

@mentions

37. A seemingly innocuous follow-up involved a tweet from actor , whose ubiquitous presence in argued-over Twitter data sets is already a #TwitterFiles in-joke.

James Woods ✔
@RealJamesWoods _

consequences   ∨

Twitter is suppressing this tweet by the President. Here's a screen grab.

> Donald J. Trump ✔
> @realDonaldTrump   ⚬⚬⚬
>
> Some or all of the content shared in this Tweet is disputed and might be misleading about how to participate in an election or another civic process. Learn more
>
> Big problems and discrepancies with Mail In Ballots all over the USA. Must have final total on November 3rd.
>
> ⓘ Learn how voting by mail is safe and secure
>
> 4:43 PM · Oct 26, 2020 · Twitter for iPhone

22:00 - 26 Oct 2020

@mentions

38. After Woods angrily quote-tweeted about Trump's warning label, Twitter staff – in a preview of what ended up happening after J6 – despaired of a reason for action, but resolved to "hit him hard on future vio."

> Tuesday, October 27th 2020 01.28.00 by ▬▬▬
>
> Considering the pv2 bug outs this weekend re: James Woods being so over the strike limit that our tools won't work on him, I'd suggest we action him for something worth the fiasco rather this screenshot, since we don't have a firm policy basis for action on his account.
>
> Tuesday, October 27th 2020 01.44.12 by ▬▬▬
>
> yep. are you fine letting this one lie▬▬▬? can hit him hard on future vio with firmer basis

39. Here a label is applied to Georgia Republican congresswoman Jody Hice for saying, "Say NO to big tech censorship!" and, "Mailed ballots are more prone to fraud than in-person balloting... It's just common sense."

40. Twitter teams went easy on Hice, only applying "soft intervention," with Roth worrying about a "wah wah censorship" optics backlash:

Monday, October 26th 2020 12.32.14 by ▮▮▮▮▮

devils advocate: The quoted tweet still shows up with the EDI and the actual content Rep Hice says is lower level ("more fraud with mail in ballots then in person" is much more of a legitimate statement even if scale is still minuscule"). I think I'd lean towards just putting a MIB soft intervention on this rather then the full EDI

Monday, October 26th 2020 12.32.29 by Yoel Roth

Agree.

Monday, October 26th 2020 12.32.38 by Patrick Conlon ▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮

Yep, I was just typing that haha

Monday, October 26th 2020 12.32.42 by Yoel Roth

I think going too far down the rabbit hole of labeling critical speech (i.e. critical of our handling of this case) is dangerous

Monday, October 26th 2020 12.32.49 by Yoel Roth

It becomes a self-reinforcing "wah wah censorship" cycle

Monday, October 26th 2020 12.33.34 by Patrick Conlon ▮▮▮▮▮▮

I'm currently responding to Judicial Watch's whining to Public Policy. I regret nothing, but am happy to iterate what rules they violated.

@mentions

41. Meanwhile, there are multiple instances of involving pro-Biden tweets warning Trump "may try to steal the election" that got surfaced, only to be approved by senior executives. This one, they decide, just "expresses concern that mailed ballots might not make it on time."

elijah daniel ✔
@elijahdaniel

this is so disgusting and terrifying. they're going to try to steal the election. you have one week, if you haven't voted yet - don't mail. drop it off or vote early. if you can't vote, make sure your family is (unless they're Trump supporters, just let them forget).
#VoteThemOut

ABC News ✔ @ABC · Oct 27, 2020
⊘ Official
BREAKING: Chief Justice John Roberts has administered the Judicial Oath to Amy Coney Barrett, who officially joins the Supreme Court. She replaced the late Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg. abcn.ws/3mrFeI9

Fred Schilling, Collection of the Supreme Court of the United States

11:42 AM · Oct 27, 2020

08:48:21
Hey team, can i get your opinion on this {https://twitter.com/elijahdaniel/status/1321114973037228033} | tweet ? This is an edge case with commentary & encouraging voters not to vote by mail. I believe we should label it

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.56.35 by Patrick Conlon
I think that I'd not bother with labeling this one. It's still encouraging people to vote, but expresses the concern that mailed ballots might not make it in time. Which seems fair this close to the election date. Still encouraging people to turn in their ballots in person or to vote in person.

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.56.59 by

Ok thank you patrick

@mentions

42. "THAT'S UNDERSTANDABLE": Even the hashtag #StealOurVotes – referencing a theory that a combo of Amy Coney Barrett and Trump will steal the election – is approved by Twitter brass, because it's "understandable" and a "reference to… a US Supreme Court decision."

Rick G. Rosner ✔
@dumbassgenius

Check with your local #USPS folks to see how slow the mail is. Also find out when mail-in ballots must arrive in your state.
But mostly, #VOTE ASAP!
Trump and his new #AmyConeyBarrett #SCOTUS will try to #StealOurVotes, so our numbers have to be huge!

Geoff Bennett ✔ @GeoffRBennett · Oct 27, 2020
US Postal Service on-time delivery times for First-Class Mail have dropped again — now nearly as bad as the worst period this summer. If you are voting absentee and haven't returned your ballot, experts say drop it off in person. Do not rely on #USPS delivery at this point.
08:56:19
Hi Team! can i get a second opinion for this {https://twitter.com/dumbassgenius/status/13211161372669 33763|tweet} please? I am leaning towards labeling it.
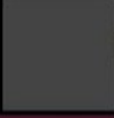

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.57.13 by Yoel Roth
Not seeing the violation here?

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.57.43 by Patrick Conlon
I wouldn't label. I think that it's encouraging people to vote, but to be realistic that a mailed ballot might not make it in time.
Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.58.46 by

perfect thanks yoelr and pconlon I was wondering about this part _*"Trump and his new #AmyConeyBarrett #SCOTUS will try to #StealOurVotes,"*_

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.58.48 by all good

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 09.00.26 by Patrick Conlon
Ah, that's understandable   believe that it's a reference to the a US Supreme Court decision on processing mail-in ballots that arrive after Election Day.

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 09.00.47 by

Thanks pconlon

@mentions

43. In this exchange, again unintentionally humorous, former Attorney General Eric Holder claimed the U.S. Postal Service was "deliberately crippled,"ostensibly by the Trump administration. He was initially hit with a generic warning label, but it was quickly taken off by Roth:

Eric Holder ✔
@EricHolder

It's too late to use the mails. Given Supreme Court rulings I urge everyone to now vote in person; early vote or use drop boxes. Protect your health but don't let the Court and the deliberately crippled Postal Service deprive you of your most precious civil right. Plan your vote.

10:17 AM · Oct 27, 2020

31.7K Retweets   4,499 Quote Tweets   74.7K Likes

Yoel Roth 08:56:38
Hey folks - can we reverse the label on this tweet: {https://twitter.com/EricHolder/status/1321093574193303553} Everything in it is factually accurate.

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 08.58.31 by
Working on reversing it now.

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 09.04.48 by yoelr i have removed the Moment label. I am still trying to remove the EDI

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 09.06.58 by removed

Tuesday, October 27th 2020 09.08.18 by Yoel Roth
Excellent - thank you!

@mentions

44. Later in November 2020, Roth asked if staff had a "debunk moment" on the "SCYTL/Smartmantic vote-counting" stories, which his DHS contacts told him were a combination of "about 47" conspiracy theories:

Yoel Roth 16:54:36

Hi there - me again - do we have a debunk moment on the SCYTL/Smartmatic vote counting conspiracies?

...

Wednesday, November 18th 2020 17.15.12 by Yoel Roth

DHS referred to it on a call today (sadly not public) as "a combination of about 47 different conspiracy theories" so hopefully there's stuff out there.

@mentions

45. On December 10th, as Trump was in the middle of firing off 25 tweets saying things like, "A coup is taking place in front of our eyes," Twitter executives announced a new "L3 deamplification" tool. This step meant a warning label now could also come with deamplification:
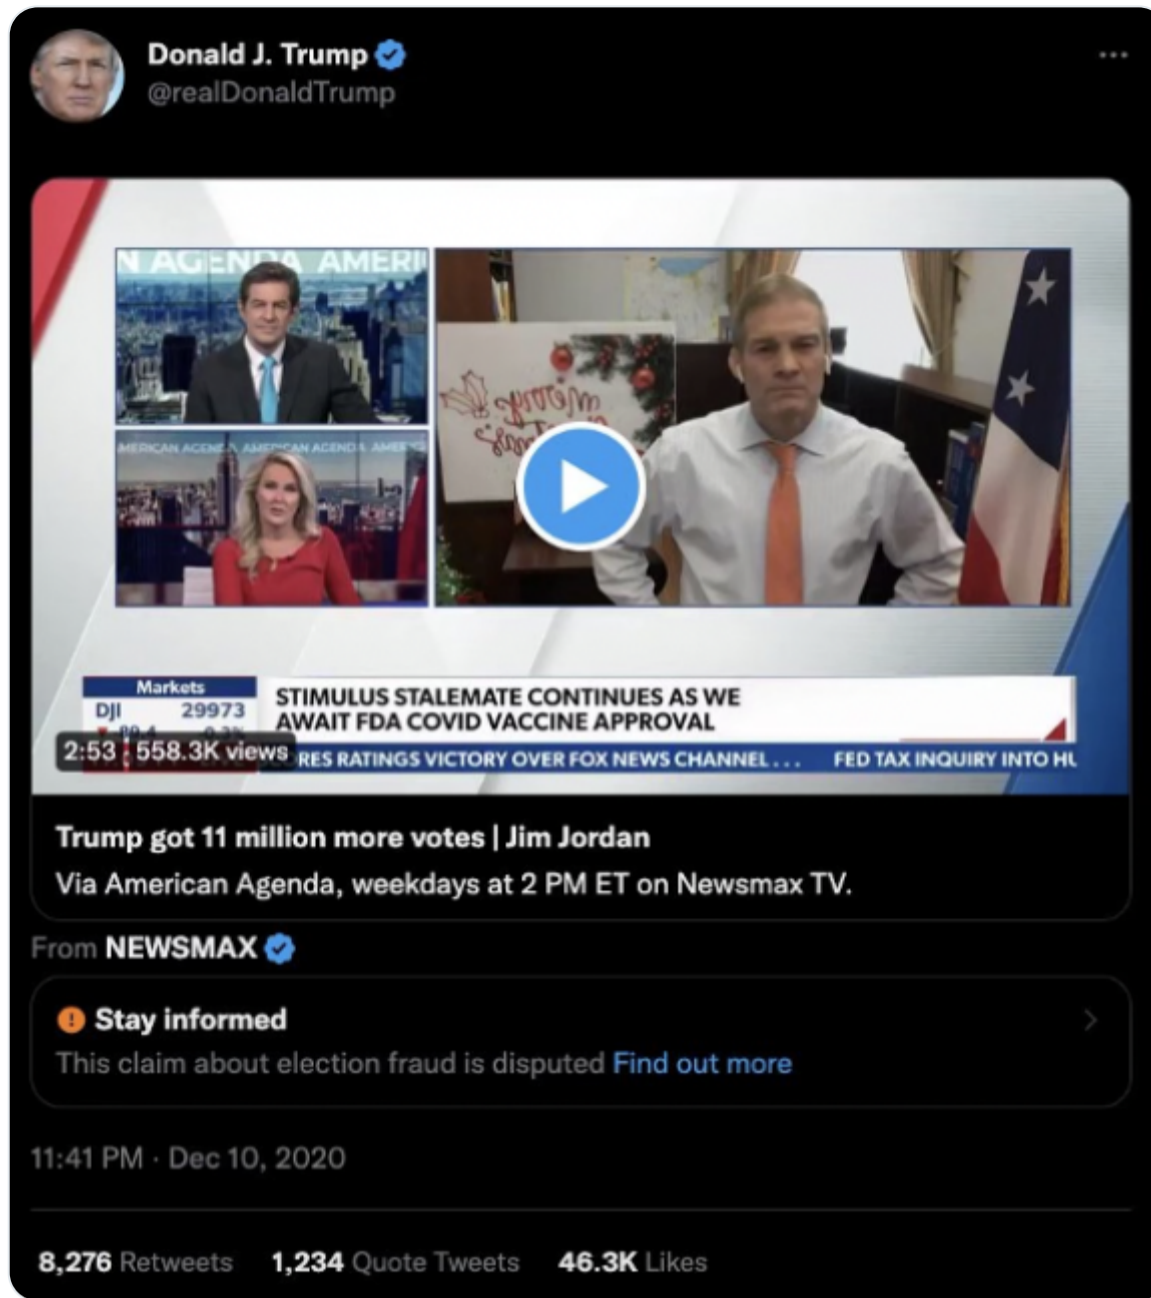

Patrick Conlon   20:54:47

[Update] Hello everyone, I wanted to give you an update on some of our enforcement options for Tweets containing the civic misinfo that we've seen. It's been decided that Tweets that we've manually reviewed and determined need a label will now be subject to L3 deamplification, further restricting the extent to which that Tweet can be shared. The current batch of Entity IDs will soon be used for automated labeling work, but I've created a new batch of Entity IDs for the labels that we've been using the most during the past couple of weeks. Labels that we've only rarely used or that have been deprecated already haven't gotten an L3 update. If there's a moment when we need the L3 version for one of those labels, please flag it to Matt Graydon (mgraydon) or myself. To find the new L3 Entity IDs, please look at the 'L3 - US 2020 - 11 December Update' tab in the Civic Integrity Entity IDs - strato spreadsheet.
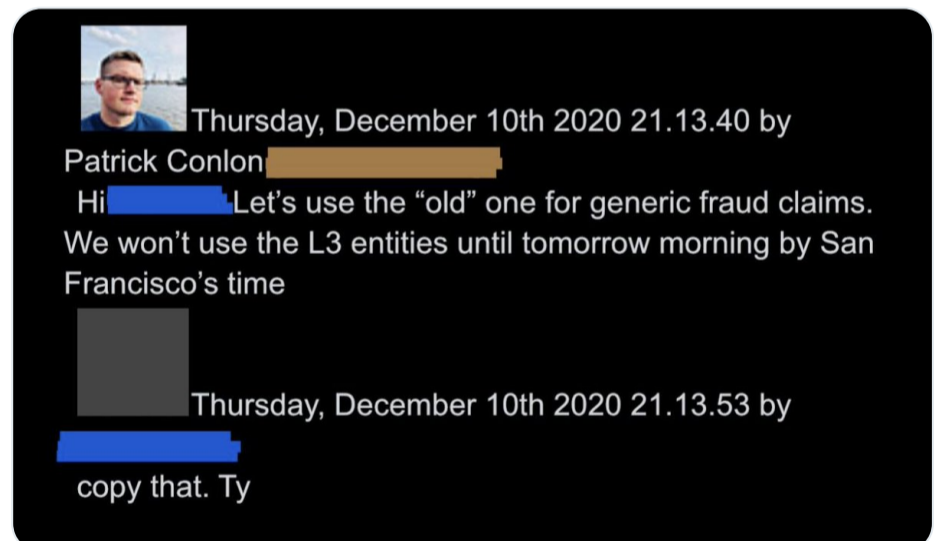

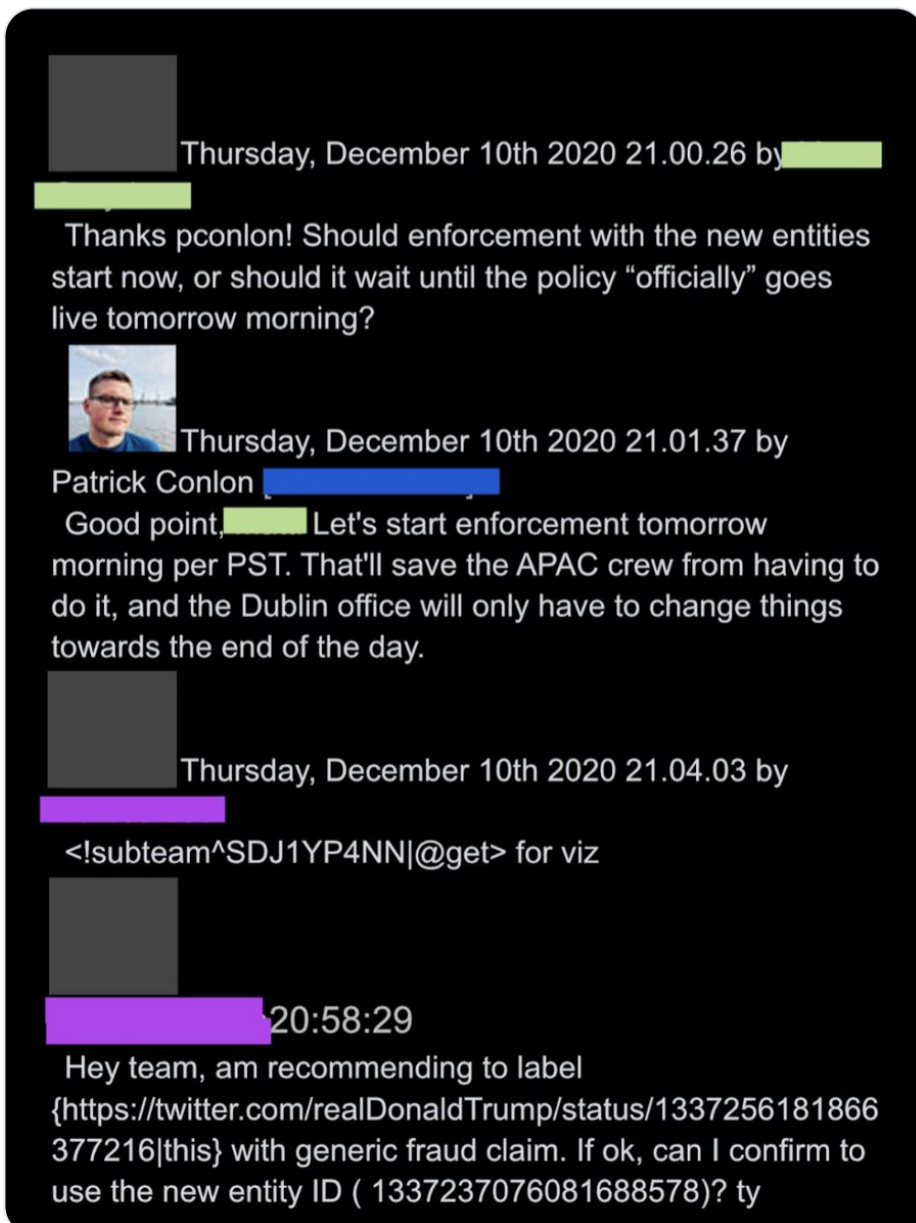

@mentions

46. Some executives wanted to use the new deamplification tool to silently limit Trump's reach more right away, beginning with the following tweet:

Donald J. Trump ✓
@realDonaldTrump

Markets
DJI 29973
STIMULUS STALEMATE CONTINUES AS WE AWAIT FDA COVID VACCINE APPROVAL
2:53 | 558.3K views   RES RATINGS VICTORY OVER FOX NEWS CHANNEL . . .   FED TAX INQUIRY INTO HU

Trump got 11 million more votes | Jim Jordan
Via American Agenda, weekdays at 2 PM ET on Newsmax TV.

From NEWSMAX ✓

⚠ Stay informed
This claim about election fraud is disputed Find out more   ⟩

11:41 PM · Dec 10, 2020

8,276 Retweets   1,234 Quote Tweets   46.3K Likes

@mentions

47. However, in the end, the team had to use older, less aggressive labeling tools at least for that day, until the "L3 entities" went live the following morning.

Thursday, December 10th 2020 21.00.26 by

Thanks pconlon! Should enforcement with the new entities start now, or should it wait until the policy "officially" goes live tomorrow morning?

Patrick Conlon
Thursday, December 10th 2020 21.01.37 by

Good point, _____ Let's start enforcement tomorrow morning per PST. That'll save the APAC crew from having to do it, and the Dublin office will only have to change things towards the end of the day.

Thursday, December 10th 2020 21.04.03 by

<!subteam^SDJ1YP4NN|@get> for viz

20:58:29

Hey team, am recommending to label {https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump/status/1337256181866377216|this} with generic fraud claim. If ok, can I confirm to use the new entity ID (1337237076081688578)? ty

Thursday, December 10th 2020 21.13.40 by Patrick Conlon

Hi _____ Let's use the "old" one for generic fraud claims. We won't use the L3 entities until tomorrow morning by San Francisco's time

Thursday, December 10th 2020 21.13.53 by

copy that. Ty

@mentions

48. The significance is that it shows that Twitter, in 2020 at least, was deploying a vast range of visible and invisible tools to rein in Trump's engagement, long before J6. The ban will come after other avenues are exhausted
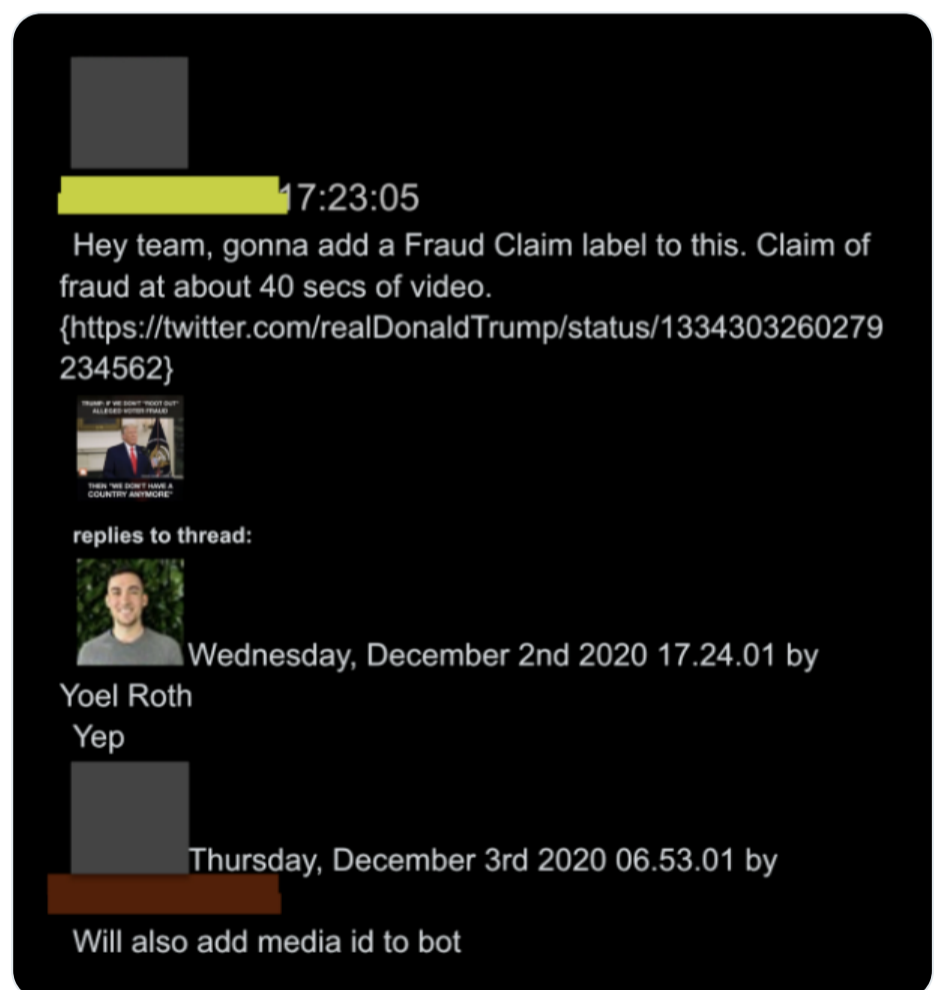

@mentions

49. In Twitter docs execs frequently refer to "bots," e.g. "let's put a bot on that." A bot is just any automated heuristic moderation rule. It can be anything: every time a person in Brazil uses "green" and "blob" in the same sentence, action might be taken.

@mentions

50. In this instance, it appears moderators added a bot for a Trump claim made on Breitbart. The bot ends up becoming an automated tool invisibly watching both Trump and, apparently, Breitbart ("will add media ID to bot"). Trump by J6 was quickly covered in bots.

@mentions

51. There is no way to follow the frenzied exchanges among Twitter personnel from between January 6thand 8th without knowing the basics of the company's vast lexicon of acronyms and Orwellian unwords.

@mentions

52. To "bounce" an account is to put it in timeout, usually for a 12-hour review/cool-off:

@mentions

53. "Interstitial," one of many nouns used as a verb in Twitterspeak ("denylist" is another), means placing a physical label atop a tweet, so it can't be seen.

@mentions

54. PII has multiple meanings, one being "Public Interest Interstitial," i.e. a covering label applied for "public interest" reasons. The post below also references "proactive V," i.e. proactive visibility filtering.

@mentions

55. This is all necessary background to J6. Before the riots, the company was engaged in an inherently insane/impossible project, trying to create an ever-expanding, ostensibly rational set of rules to regulate every conceivable speech situation that might arise between humans.

@mentions

This project was preposterous yet its leaders were unable to see this, having become infected with groupthink, coming to believe – sincerely – that it was Twitter's responsibility to control, as much as possible, what people could talk about, how often, and with whom.

@mentions

56. When panic first breaks out on J6 there's a fair share of WTF-type posts, mixed in with frantic calls for Twitter to start deploying its full arsenal of moderation tools. "What is the right remediation? Do we interstitial the video?" asks one employee, in despair:

@mentions

57. This "Freedom or Death" tweet from #StopTheSteal gadfly Mike Coudrey elicits heated reactions:

Mike Coudrey ✓
@MichaelCoudrey _

Follow along ⌄

Today is one of the most important days in our nation's history. We cannot allow a global Hegemony to take over this country through fraudulent means. What happens today determines the next 100 years of our country.
Freedom or death.

2.54 - January 6 2021

5 likes

💬   ⟲   ♡ 5

@mentions

58. Roth groans about Coudrey: "THIS asshole," but still seems determined to stick at least superficially to rules, itching to act "if" this "constitutes incitement."

Yoel Roth 12:45:14

THIS asshole:

{https://twitter.com/MichaelCoudrey/status/1346772108664315905}

12:45:34

oh god

Yoel Roth 12:45:53

He is on his last strike for 3 different policies

Yoel Roth 12:45:57

If this constitutes incitement, I will PS him

@mentions

59. At 2:39 p.m. PST, a comms official asked Roth to confirm or deny a story that they'd restricted Trump's ability to tweet. Roth says, "We have not."

14:39:33

Hi Yoel. Appreciate all your hard work today. We've heard from a reporter that they have a "trusted source" telling them we've restricted Trump's ability to Tweet

14:39:51

Sorry for this annoying request but wanted to chase it down with you before starting an email chain, etc.

Yoel Roth 14:45:39

We have not

@mentions

60. Minutes later, Roth executed the historic act of "bouncing" Trump, i.e. putting him in timeout. "I hope you... are appropriately CorpSec'd," says a colleague.

@mentions

This theme of Policy perhaps being stressed by queries from Communications executives – who themselves have to answer the public's questions – occasionally appears. Two days later, you see chatter about pulling Comms out of the loop:
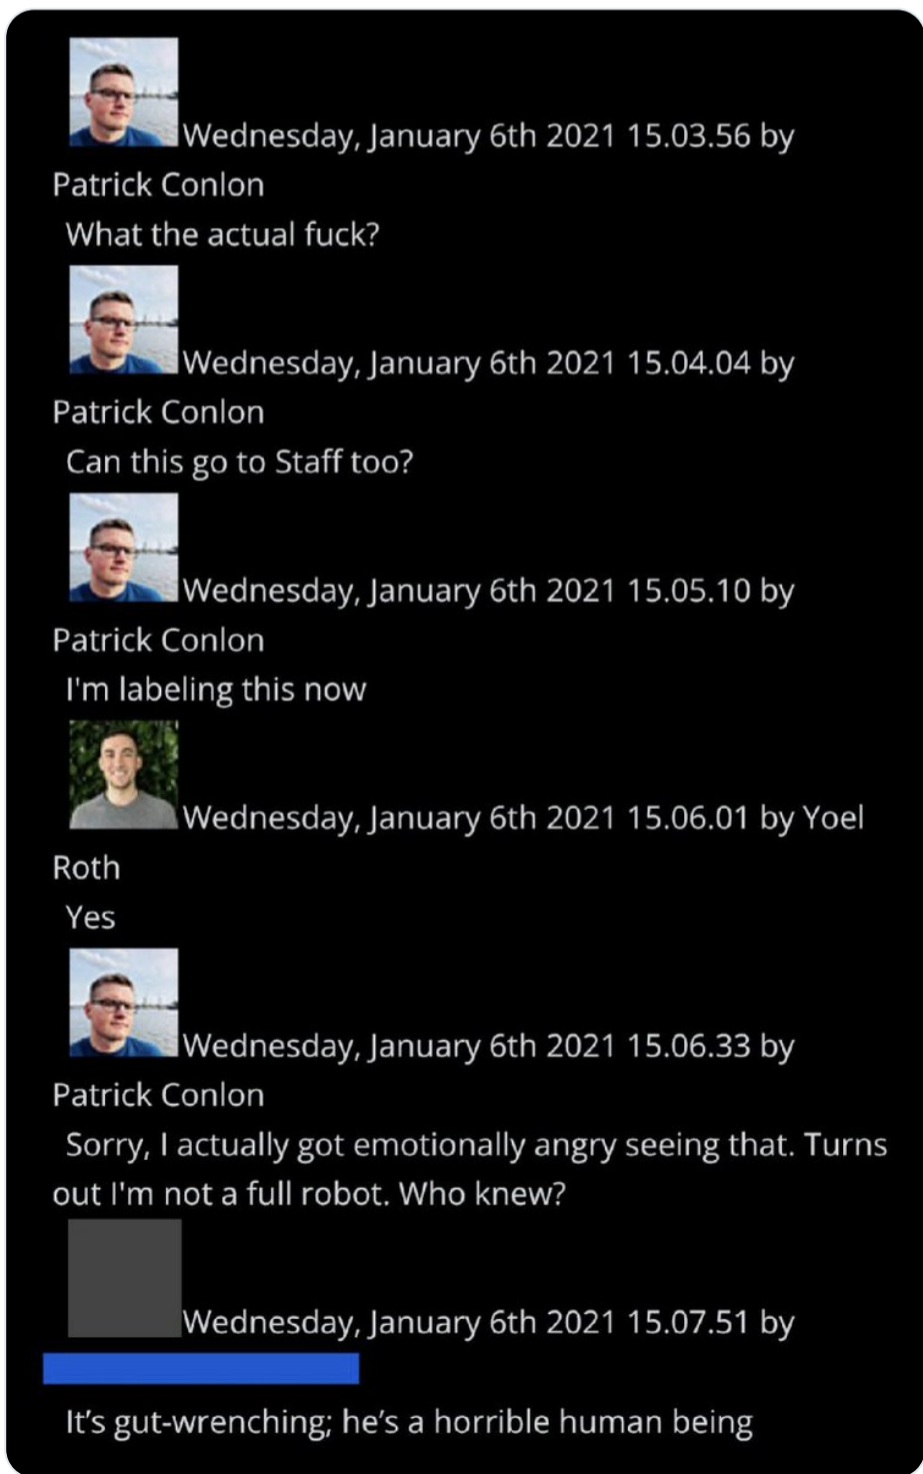

@mentions

61. The first company-wide email from Gadde on January 6th announced that 3 Trump tweets had been bounced, but more importantly signaled a determination to use legit "violations" as a guide for any possible permanent suspension:

Here's the email from Vijaya: ```Hi team, An update on actions we're taking as a result of what's happening in DC today. We have removed (bounced) 3 tweets from @realDonaldTrump on 6 January 2020 for making unfounded claims of voter fraud and election theft, which must be viewed in the context of violence in Washington DC today and reasonably can be expected to continue to incite and inspire violent acts around the country. We are requiring a 12-hour timeout following the removal of these tweets. We also have tweeted so there's transparency in our actions and making it clear that future violations of the Twitter Rules will result in permanent suspension. {https://twitter.com/TwitterSafety/status/1346970430062485 505} Thanks, Vijaya```
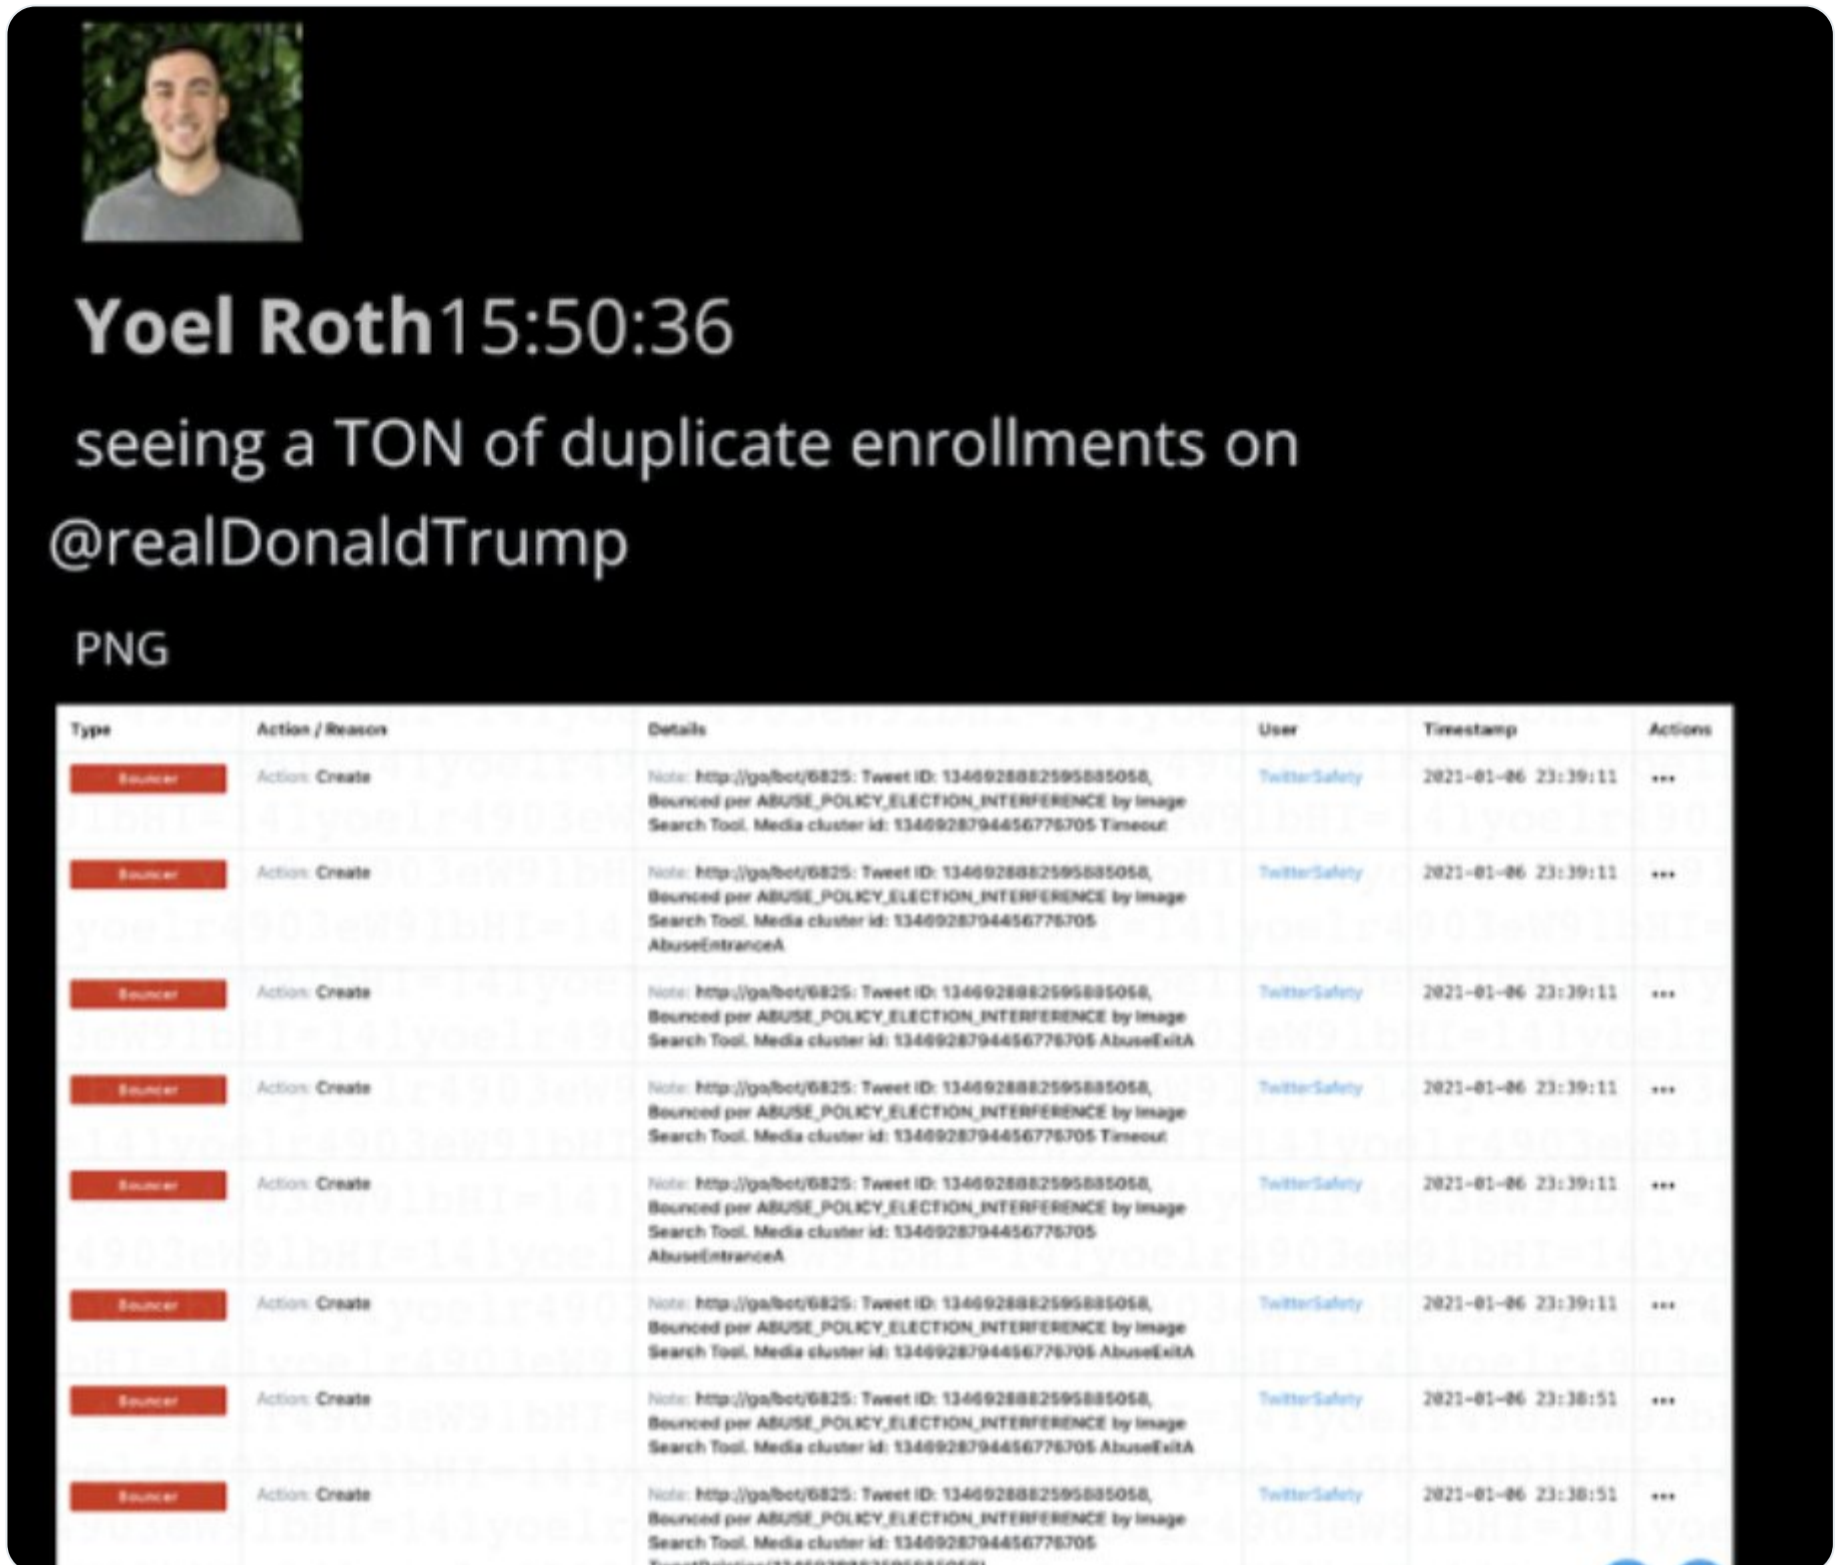

@mentions

62. "WHAT THE ACTUAL FUCK?" Safe to say Trump's "Go home with love & in peace" tweet mid-riot didn't go over well at Twitter HQ:

Donald J Trump
@realDonaldTrump _   consequences

These are the things and events that happen when a sacred landslide election victory is so unceremoniously & viciously stripped away from great patriots who have been badly & unfairly treated for so long. Go home with love & in peace. Remember this day forever!

15:01 - Jan 6, 2021

2 Likes

Q 1   ⇄   ♡ 2

Wednesday, January 6th 2021 15.03.56 by
Patrick Conlon
What the actual fuck?

Wednesday, January 6th 2021 15.04.04 by
Patrick Conlon
Can this go to Staff too?

Wednesday, January 6th 2021 15.05.10 by
Patrick Conlon
I'm labeling this now

Wednesday, January 6th 2021 15.06.01 by Yoel
Roth
Yes

Wednesday, January 6th 2021 15.06.33 by
Patrick Conlon
Sorry, I actually got emotionally angry seeing that. Turns out I'm not a full robot. Who knew?

Wednesday, January 6th 2021 15.07.51 by

It's gut-wrenching; he's a horrible human being

@mentions

63. A few last notes about January 6th. Roth at one point looked and found Trump had a slew of duplicate bot applications:

@mentions

64. By the end of the first day, the top execs are still trying to apply rules. By the next day, they will contemplate a major change in approach. Watch this weekend for the play-by-play of how all that went down.

@mentions

65. By January 8th, which will describe Sunday, Twitter will be receiving plaudits from "our partners" in Washington, and the sitting U.S. president will no longer be heard on the platform.

@mentions

66. Lastly, people on the left, right, and in between want to know what else is in the #TwitterFiles, from suppression/shadow-banning of leftists to lab-leak theorists, or amplification of military propaganda or conservative accounts. We know everyone has questions.

@mentions

67. And while we've stumbled on tidbits here and there about topics ranging from COVID to foreign policy, the reality is the data sets are enormous and we're still working through them.

More is coming. Good night, all.

• • •