1 | Elden Ring Race (Solo stream btw)

Let's kill the Tree Sentinel! Oh wait...In fantastic HoloEN fashion, Kronii's stream opens with a banger. Her PC has issues! It wouldn't be a Kronii stream without jobbing, would it? After getting settled into the game, Kronii jumped right into things and started relearning the game. It's been a couple weeks. Please Understand. A quick death is the first stop tonight, and it most certainly wasn't the last!

Kronii went on to mention how she had been taking things easy. A couple weeks ago she had a particularly bad day. Mentioning that it was heavy to talk about and that it left her shaken up. Whatever she had felt left her feeling like she needed some extra time for herself. I think we can all relate to that. Of course, Kronii has a more unique position, but I hope that we all are glad to have her back, safe and sound.

“Is it really animal abuse if they're already dead?” – Ouro Kronii

Returning to the game, her unmistakable giggles could be heard all throughout the night. With chat giving a little advice, Kronii keeping a level head, one would certainly believe she was ready to game. And honestly, just between us, Kronii was doing pretty well. She eventually decided to go through the world a bit and to gain the wolf summons as well as satiating her curiosity by bonking everyone's beloved Ranni. As the battles went on with the added wolves, little changed unfortunately. You could even start to pick up on Kronii starting to lose her cool a bit and the tilt start to creep in. Despite the constant deaths, Kronii took to roaming a bit more around the world for extra tools to kill the Tree Warden. Switching her summon to the jellyfish, Kronii returned determined to make progress on the encounter. The tables did begin to turn however! Kronii started hitting down to the half of the boss's health!

Soon after it seemed Kronii decided to take some frustration out on chat. Nothing but love and support from our beloved Warden of Time! “It seemed your childhood was full [Ahahaha] of support.” Really just hammering into chat, letting them know what was what. Unfortunately, the attempts after the teasing with chat, Kronii started to feel less hopeful about the outcome. Not that she was going to quit! She kept on for as long as she wanted, hoping for a time to beat IRyS. Hope however...is IRyS' domain and Eventually IRyS' time arrived and prompted Kronii to throw in the towel.

2 | Return of the Obra Dinn\(Also solo\)

Behold, the mystery of the Obra Dinn, and the missing color on Kronii's stream! The ultimate immersion stream! Our clever Time Warden opened the stream up to her stream matching the colors of the game to enhance everybody's experience tonight. If you dislike the color filter, you may dislike this stream. But you'll still watch for Kronii...won't you anon? Kronii was also gushing over her streamer expertise and happy that her stream overlay matched the game. Kronii did want to let everyone know that she has played this game before.

"I wish my taste in games weren't so based." —Ouro Kronii.

Taking the place of Ori tonight, permissions had unfortunately changed on her, but didn't seem to be too detrimental. Kronii was also experienced with the game, as she had previously mentioned. She quickly began surveying and scanning through the Obra Dinn, investigating around and trying to identify any possible culprits. Is this proof of her prowess as the Warden of Time?

As the number of victims increased, Kronii continually deduced the cause of deaths for fallen crew members and those responsible for the killings. The pocket watch that the main character uses is perhaps the very same that our friendly detective snatched from her. Is Kronii's familiarity with the device what lets her solve things so quickly in game? Or maybe she just remembers it! Kronii did take the time to investigate properly however to make decisions based on the environment around her. What was in the scene? How were others in the scene reacting? Was there any foul play involved? Things such as these had displayed Kronii's prowess and her huge brain. You may doubt that after a few of her dad jokes but rest assured, Kronii wouldn't rely on dad tier jokes to make chat laugh. Until the next one happened of course!

The killing slowly became more and more gruesome, thanks to the appearance of the giant squid! The monster easily stole the life of numerous crewmates. Some deaths that Kronii investigated came with their own bonus sounds! Each new death made more bone crushing noises, had blood curdling screams and dad jokes! Make sure you tip your Tako Eats drivers everyone!

"Now this may sound bad...but where do I find more bodies"

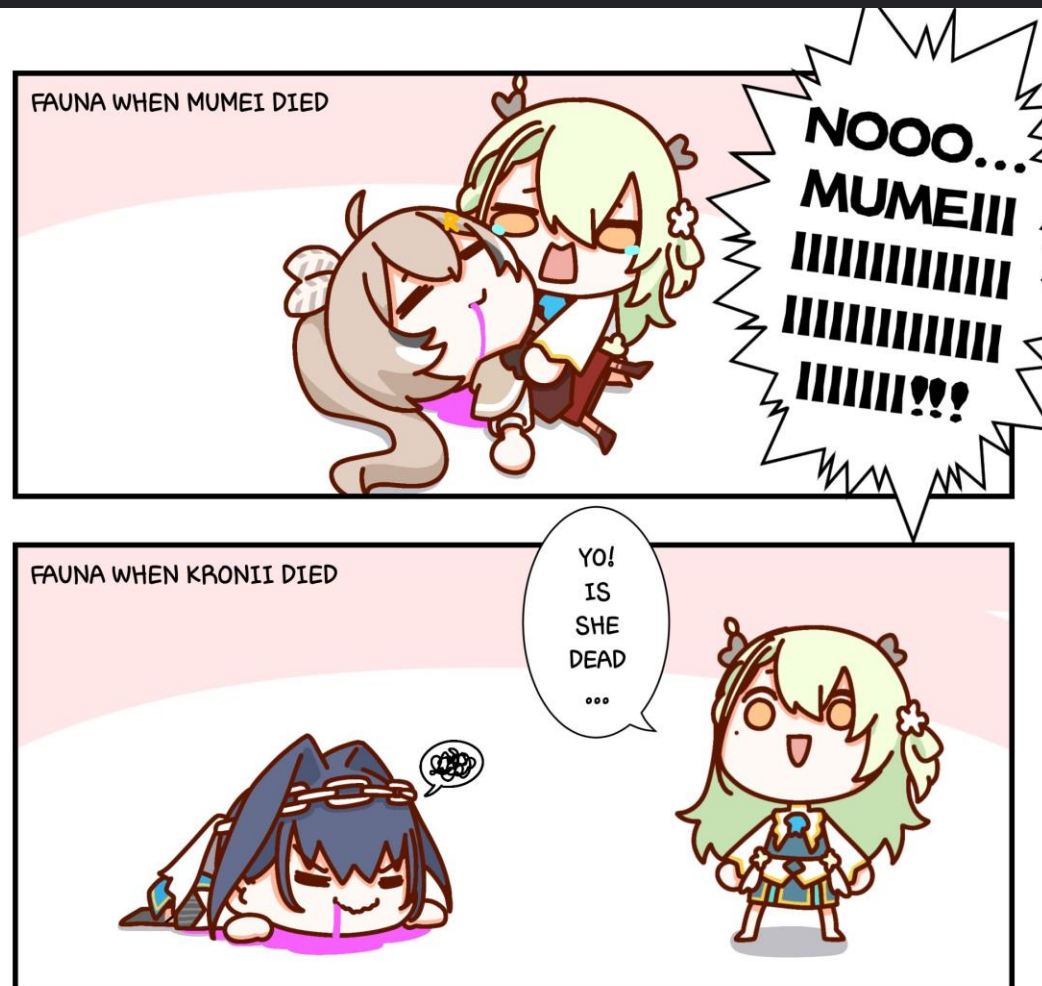

Plenty more bodies did she find, plenty more crimes did she solve. Kronii didn't job tonight tskr 🙏

3 | COLLAB: Devour

A stream. A collab stream. HoloEN girls. You know what that means. The Law of EN spares no one. The first victim of the night, the viewers. A 15-minute delay strikes, and eager members of each participant tonight wait patiently for tonight's stream. But what is time? Especially a few fleeting moments in the existence that is, Ouro Kronii...

After a few final hiccups, the stream opened with Nanashi Mumei, Gawr Gura, Ceres Fauna and the beautiful Ouro Kronii. As the laughs turned to screams, the atmosphere finally settled in. Kronii found herself in the first game with Mumei and the two tried to navigate the area together after splitting up from Fauna and Gura. Their discussion shifted from the horror of the atmosphere to the looks of their characters. Kronii seems to have a bit of knowledge when it comes to beauty. Microblading anyone?

Thank you to @hikigaya\_0926 for the Art!

@HIKIGAYA_0926-

Kronii moved herself into a proactive roll, trying to figure out how to solve the mystery of the map and avoid death. It quickly shifted back into てえてえ however as Kronii and Fauna took a moment to joke around on the lone bed in the prison. Then not even a moment later, Kronii and Mumei went back to complimenting each other's beauty. At the end of the exchange Kronii left Mumei some choice words. "I wanna to throw up."

Giggles quickly turned to panicked laughs as the sounds of a separate set of footsteps followed the group. Kronii took no time at all to jump into the only closet in the bar to hide, leaving the others to fend for themselves. As expected of our Time Warden, her smarts kept her safe and sound while the others had to run off.

"Oh hey you're alive! That's weird!" Kronii to a Gura who was left behind in the spooky saloon. Quick version of the next events are as follows Kronii gets mad at Mumei for being too jumpy, Mumei continues jumping since she's in her teenage rebellion phase. The gang starts singing Dora on their walk outside to calm their nerves. Run into a suspiciously-shaped sign, Kronii yells "amogus." They start doing group karaoke singing Vanilla Ice.

Mumei lets the feels hit her too hard for a moment. The baby cow hits different in the horror setting. Kronii and Gura press on, looking for the next thing to do on the map until they see a figure off in the distance. It shoots one of the team members and Gura and Kronii panic, opting to jump down the path they created. The two girls hid in silence until Mumei showed up with a very casual, "Oh hey guys." Eventually Fauna also found her way over, crawling after getting blasted. She gets healed and everyone groups up again.

The night continues as the girls get a clear objective to clear, burning 10 strange books. The night was decently kind to our dear Time Warden...until it wasn't. A few one-on-one encounters left Kronii within an inch of her life as the monster may have picked up on her speaking to the stream. It smashed its way into the closet she was hiding in and sent her straight to hell.

Unfortunately...hell had no room for Kronii, and she found her way back. Against her wishes, she was also healed by her friends and the night pressed on! GWAKS and laughs galore!

Make sure to stick around to the very end!

4 | Philosophy 101 With Prof. Kronii

In today's double header, Kronii spoils the Kronies with a member's stream. Kronii's very previous engagement was the Devour Collab stream. A fairly last-minute addition based on a little confusion of Kronii's end, but Kronii kept true to her schedule and did the member's stream, even if it was a little late.

With a new, extremely, comfy bgm. Some snacks to munch on, it was members time. Kronii gave us some talks and thoughts about things that she was doing behind the scenes. If you haven't joined membership, you should! What's wrong with you? Join up now and hang out with the cool Kronies...There aren't actually any but hey, Kronii is cool. Kronii is kakkoi! 😎

Kronii started with discussing news on why she had been absent a bit ago and wanted to ensure everybody that she is fine.

Kronii then went on to do some back and forth with chat. Asking some questions about things that require a bit of thinking. Life. It's pretty complicated. You spend your whole life figuring out how to fix it and then you die.

And if you wanted to find out everything else she talked about...JOINDA

Join Kronii's membership to watch this and many other videos in a closer, warmer, cozier atmosphere. If you only had $5 to spend for the rest of the month, why not Kronii?

5 | Fanfic Writer Showcase: Vamp

To any kronie who's been on infinity long enough, he'll need no introduction. Vampanon, or just Vamp, is one of the most popular NSFW writers in the general. He quickly carved a niche for himself with spicy fanfiction of a vampiric Warden of Time, with the reader as her consort. From then on, every fic was a hit - his writing gave kronies throughout the thread a penchant for Kronii "lending" her lover to other girls, the Warden having her dominance taken from her, and for Omega being taken down a peg - regardless of gender. For a time, most even believed his writing could "manifest" into reality, given Kronii's own consistency for giving the spotlight to there girls. That's our Warden!

Hello Kami! And hello fellow Kronies! Honestly, if someone told me I would end up writing so much smut a year ago, I would have laughed them off. I suppose I always had a knack for prose, but same can't be said for the motivation to put that talent to use. So before /∞/, I actually wrote very little. But I have to say that it has been a ton of fun so far! As well as a "learning experience", for lack of better term. I was not this heavily into thick bushes and heat-radiating women before I wrote about those topics. But I was into cuckqueans and femboys for a long time, so those two naturally saw much more extensive use in my fics, to a great success. And not gonna lie, I was a bit surprised when my fics got the traction they did. I guess I have a habit of underselling my own texts with the "its just some descriptions, anyone could do that" mindset. So thank you to all who read and enjoy my works, I wouldn't have written so many of them if you didn't. On the topic of fics, I would like to apologize for not writing as much in past couple of months. Winter is a rough season for me in general and I have unfortunately been dealing with both mood and health issues that prevented me from really working on anything for extended period of time. Normally that wouldn't be an issue, as I would just push out a smaller fic, but right now I am working on much larger project, preventing me from making those. And by larger, I mean larger than any fic I wrote so far. Think "Reine's Assistant", but stuffed with even more story and lewdness. I can't give an estimate as for when it will be done, but with warmer weather on the horizon, hopefully it won't take that long. So look forward for that! Hopefully it will be worth the time and stress invested. And for my closing words: Take you meds! AND KWONII VUW!!!!

6 | Collab: Ghost Exorcism Inc.

Sayonara wild hearts; tonight's stream with Kronii brought another surprise collab! Tonight, was a totally original, donut steel game, Ghost Exorcism Inc. Do you like listening to IRyS, Reine, Anya, Ollie, Fauna and Kronii? Do you like hearing them laugh, scream, yell and banter with each other? This stream has that and more. You may also recognize this as RED TEAM C from the sports festival. You may have an idea of their synergy now.

On their debut mission we get a cute TimeRyS interaction with Kronii teasing IRyS. Everyone began exploring and Phasmophobia at home™. Kronii was a very proficient flashlight user, using it to mess with the ghost and later on IRyS' ghost form. Oh yeah, Ollie and IRyS died. Anyways, Kronii started reading from the bible, trying to get some work done. With holy water in hand, she begins to chant hallelujah, which ironically, gets Anya killed. Reine dies not too long after, thanks Ewan McGr-Jesus Christ... Fauna and Kronii decide they don't want to live anymore either. Believe it or not, the mission ended in failure.

Mission 2: Mission Harder.

"Gaslighting, I like that." – Kureiji Ollie.

Like the first mission, all the girls were goofing off. Throughout the mission, there was much invoking of the lord.

The shepard failed to lead his followers to salvation yet again. The Bible ended up claiming the lives of 2 team members. The lord works in mysterious ways... Eventually the demon started walking upside down and on the walls. Kronii took a moment to get her #Spidermankiss with the monster before going back to laughing at it. This taunting would, however, come back to bite Kronii as the ghost claimed her life shortly afterwards. But all was well, as Kronii quickly became best friends with a teddy bear.

Mission 3: Mission with A Vengeance?

For their fourth, fifth, tenth (?) mission, the girls returned to [redacted]. Now armed with more experience, greater technique, and of course, the bible, the group nonchalantly strolled into the abandoned home and immediately began taunting the ghost. It seems like the gang did not learn from their previous lessons, however, as IRyS's fervent chanting of the bible led to Anya's immediate death, accompanied by Ollie's blood curling screams. In an eager attempt to re-establish the Bible's authority, Fauna took the mantle of pastor and began reciting the bible again. You can probably guess what the outcome was.

Unfortunately, despite their best efforts, the girls were unable to exorcise the demon. Another mission, another failure. But at least they had fun! And fun...fun never changes.

7 | さよなら Wild Hearts!

Kroniichiwa Wild Hearts, we* missed you! In an unusual but very welcome time slot, Kronii treats us to a stream while the sun is still up! If you are unfamiliar with the game, it's akin to a rhythm game. Kronii mentioned she was pretty into the OST, wink wink nudge nudge. She debuted the game with Gold level gameplay. Sasuga Time Warden. She also made to sure mention that she had Gold in all the levels. Huge gamer over here.

Kronii really wanted to be able to play this game because she really likes the music. The atmosphere was chill, a perfect fit for her. Although...a few of her gwaks came out at times. Her perfectionist nature definitely bubbled to the surface when she made mistakes, but she didn't want to redo things. The struggle was certainly there and at times Kronii was persuaded to go back and try for a better score. She however, wanted to emphasize later in the stream that she wasn't actually going to get all golds. She wanted to get through the entire game and that meant displaying a little bit of humanity and not being a perfectionist runner today.

The pain melted away however as Kronii encountered stages with songs she liked. We, for a few moments, would even be blessed by her own singing. Nice stream to be a Kronie. Not a bad one to throw on in the background either and just listen to. Just keep the gwaks and gasps in mind when around others.

The further Kronii got into the game, the more focused she became. Gamer mode returned. The clear time coming in at around 1 hour, she treated us to fun, chill experience. And no, nothing from the stream today will be on the test. *We didn't actually miss you

8 | The Pathless

Kronii jumps right into her final stream of the week. Excited and eager to try this new game out. The calm, mysterious nature of the game seems right up Kronii's alley. Getting into the gameplay, she seemed to be a natural right off the bat. Finding the controls work for her and adjusting little things to match her absolutely Perfect preferences. The world of the game and its story is not one that tells you, it shows you. Kronii would find herself exploring engaging with the environment to unravel its secrets.

Kronii wanted to reiterate for everyone today, that she was indeed a gamer. Her combat and puzzle solving skill was on point tonight. Oh, and her sass too. "I like four better" – Chatter talking about the golden number in video games. "Oh you know what, standard is 3. Too bad. Cry about it." – Time Warden. Don't tell Kronii what to do! Unless she asks, then give her a hand. Kronii, after meeting the world's antagonist, got to pet a birb. It was cute as heck. She affectionately named it Eagleronii. Her naming game is still on point. The birb became her partner and in game it actually functioned as a real partner that could interact with things in the world and help Kronii solve puzzles. Eagleronii also did incredibly adorable little hops to keep up with Kronii! Eagleronii stole a bit of the show her to be honest, but only because it was so adorable and Kronii also really liked being able to interact with them. "No wonder you're my sidekick, you're amazing."

The game opened up with new mechanics, allowing Kronii to fly for a bit with Eagleronii and the darkness phase of the world that was similar to the blood moons in Zelda BOTW. The difference here is that it separated Kronii and Eagleronii and made her hide from spooky monsters to reunite and bathe the world back in light. "You'll have to explain why you deserve it, a head pat. Then I'll think about it." "7 months of loyalty". Kronii was speechless for a moment, but didn't just give it up, she requires more than just that. Keep on your toes fellow Kronies, at least she thinks we're cute!
