

MILABS:

MILITARY MIND CONTROL
& ALIEN ABDUCTION

Dr. Helmut Lammer
& Marion Lammer

IllumiNet PRESS

Copyright © 1999 by Dr. Helmut and Marion Lammer
All rights reserved.

No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopy, recording, or any information storage and retrieval system now known or to be invented, without permission in writing from the publisher, except by a reviewer who wishes to quote brief passages in connection with a review written for inclusion in a magazine, newspaper or broadcast.

Library of Congress Cataloging in Publication Data

Lammer, Helmut.

MILABS! : military mind-control and alien abductions / Helmut Lammer, Marion Lammer.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references. (p.).

ISBN: 1-881532-18-6

1. Alien abduction.
2. Armed Forces--Miscellanea.
3. Brainwashing--Miscellanea. I. Lammer, Marion.

BF2050.L35 1999

001.942--dc21

99-14041

IllumiNet Press
P.O. Box 2808
Lilburn, GA 30048

Printed in the United States of America

Cover Art: Christopher Street: www.christopherstreet.org

Dedicated to the late Karla Turner Ph.D., an abductee and researcher who was one of the first who had the courage to go public with her evidence that covert human/military agencies are involved in monitoring, kidnapping and interrogation of alleged alien abductees.

Contents

"...I urge you to take another look in the "UFO Matrix of Belief" that I provided you last year. My mention of mind-control technology at the February 4 meeting was quite deliberate. Please be careful about this. There are reasons to believe that some government group has interwoven research about this technology with alleged UFO phenomena. If that is correct, you can expect to run into early resistance when inquiring about UFOs, not because of the UFO subject, but because that has been used to cloak research and applications of mind-control activity."

—Dr. C.B. Scott Jones

Addressing Dr. John Gibbons, the science advisor of President Bill Clinton, concerning the "Rockefeller UFO Initiative," February 17, 1994.

Contents

Foreword	9
Introduction	12
1. Documented History of Secret Mind and Behavior Control Experiments	18
2. A Possible Purpose of MILABS	28
3. Activity of Dark Unmarked Helicopters in Connection with Alien Abductions	31
4. Alleged Kidnappings of Alien Abductees by Covert Military/Intelligence Personnel	42
5. The Genetic Aspect of MILABS	70
6. Otherworldly Journeys and Military Underground Facilities	86
7. Creating an Imaginary Alien Abductee	91
8. Toward a Controlled Society: Terrestrial Implants and their Application to MILABS and Future Warfare	109
9. Military Interrogation Sessions with Alleged Alien Abductees	138
10. Guidelines for Future Research	161
Acknowledgements	163
Contacts	165
Author Biography	168

Foreword

Helmut and Marion Lammer have written an important book, a book that is at once fascinating and troubling. It is fascinating because the evidence and hypotheses the Lammers present represent a fresh and productive point of departure for what has become a very stale alien abduction debate in ufology; at the same time, their book is troubling, because it raises the issue of clandestine United States military involvement in the so-called alien abduction phenomenon.

In recent years, a number of abductees have come forward with anecdotal accounts of covert military involvement in purported alien abductions. The bizarre stories they tell involve the following elements: extra-judicial detention at the hands of secretive military units; involuntary sedation; narco-hypnosis; rude interrogations; implants; and intrusive medical examinations. Many abductees report being forcibly taken to underground installations. The experiences abductees undergo frequently cause physical, psychological and emotional trauma, and all manner of personal confusion and problems.

The Lammers are quite correct to label this apparent military behavior kidnapping. In everyday life, kidnapping is a serious crime, punishable by lengthy incarceration in the penitentiary. In theory, the military is supposed to protect the citizenry. But if clandestine elements of the United States military really are preying on abductees then there are very serious legal and ethical questions that we need to address. Everyone has a right to self-defense. If the United States military is indeed harming the citizens it has sworn to protect, then researchers and abductees need to determine a proper means of defense against what can only be described as criminal, military predation.

But why would the military kidnap and torment its own citizens? The Lammer's provide three hypotheses that are consistent with the available information:

1) Covert military and intelligence agencies are carrying out mind-control projects using abductees as their unfortunate victims. These covert agencies use the "alien" abduction phenomenon as a convenient cover that deflects detection and scrutiny of their nefarious activities.

2) Covert military agencies are carrying out clandestine biological and genetic engineering research. For unknown reasons they kidnap abductees and take them to underground facilities where bizarre biological experimentation is underway.

3) Finally, there appears to be a sort of clandestine military task force that somehow monitors alien abductees. This covert task force abducts people who it believes are alien abductees, and subjects them to interrogation in order to determine what they have may have been told by aliens.

None of the three hypotheses are pleasant. Yet, the files of ufologists and mind-control researchers provide ample evidence to support all three. We are confronted with a strange and unsavory reality. The sheer weight of the accumulating evidence suggests that covert units within the military are up to something extremely strange and secret, hidden behind a criminal veil of kidnapping and narco-hypnotically induced mental screens.

Somewhere in this tangled welter of stealthy abductions, secret underground bases, UFOs, aliens, covert mind-control projects, implants, clandestine biological experimentation and military black operations lies a very dark and occult agenda, the true nature of which remains unknown. The truth is that something, or someone, is scuttling around in the darkness at the margins of our everyday reality—and that something may not be nearly so "alien" as it wants us to believe that it is.

We owe a debt of gratitude to Helmut and Marion Lammer for the vision and courage to pull back the veil from this tangled web of shadowy intrigue and deception, so that we may begin to understand what lies behind it.

Richard Sauder, Ph.D.

Wheaton, Maryland USA

February 16, 1998

Dr. Richard Sauder is a financial and military researcher. He is the author of one of the most talked-about book of the past years. Dr. Sauder's bestselling book Underground Bases and Tunnels: What is the Government Trying to Hide? has done much to highlight the fantastic military subterranean world which lies beneath our planet. He is also the author of the book Kundalini Tales.

Introduction

MILABS

Military Kidnapping of Alien Abductees: A New Field in Alien Abduction Research Emerges

Alien abductions are a very strange and complex phenomenon. For skeptics, most journalists, and the public it is hard to believe that abductions by non-human beings have their basis in physical reality. Reports of alien beings entering bedrooms through walls and levitating abductees through closed windows into a waiting UFO are hard for the open-minded researcher to believe, too.

However, well-respected researchers have shown that the "core" of the alien abduction phenomenon cannot be explained as a "known" psychological phenomenon, hallucinations or mass delusions.¹

Recently some alien abductees have said that they have been kidnapped by military/intelligence personnel and taken to hospitals and/or military ground/underground research facilities. Not many of the popular books on the subject of alien abductions mention these experiences. Especially disconcerting are the facts that abductees recalled seeing military intelligence personnel together with alien beings working side by side in these secret research facilities. The presence of human military and/or civilian personnel inhabiting the same physical reality as the alien beings exceeds the mindsets of the skeptics and the open-minded researchers by several orders of magnitude.

The skeptics would rather believe that stories of aliens and military personnel in military underground facilities are fabrications designed to elicit attention from conspiracy believers, or perhaps hallucinations. Researchers in the field of mind-control suggest that these cases are evidence that most alien abductions are staged by the intelligence community as a cover-up for their illegal experiments.² The open minded researchers who fight for a reputation in abduction research ignore these stories, since they represent only a minor fraction of their files.³

Well-known alien abduction researcher Prof. David Jacobs wrote in his book The Threat that he believes the MILAB abductees mistake human-like alien hybrids dressed in military-like clothes and uniforms for U.S. military personnel.⁴ Further he believes that hybrids bring the abductees to abandoned military bases, or even to unused areas of active military bases. Therefore, Prof. Jacobs claims that there is no evidence that the U.S. government, or any foreign military is involved with abducting people. In the 1998 MUFON UFO Symposium Proceedings Dr. Jacobs wrote that most MILAB abductions take place with anonymous abductees. This statement is wrong, since one will find MILAB experiences in books and journals of many well-known alien abductees, but not in books of well-known alien abduction researchers, although they have such cases in their files.

Such claims of infiltrated military-like alien hybrids, however, have no scientific credibility and can be used by debunkers for ridiculing the whole alien abduction phenomenon.

If one reviews hypnosis transcripts of MILAB abductees and compares their recovered memories with the experiences of survivors of now known declassified government sponsored mind- or behavior-control experiments, one will find a strong indication that covert "human" military personnel are involved in the alien abduction phenomenon. Many researchers ignore or don't understand MILAB experiences because they are not familiar with competently investigated MILAB cases.

We believe that alien abduction cases where the abductee reports that he or she was abducted by the military (or humans) are very important for two reasons:

1.) If the UFO community has evidence that a covert military intelligence task force is involved in the alien abduction phenomenon, the public would then know that alien abduction experiences represent a matter of national security.

2.) The alleged military involvement in the abduction phenomenon could be evidence that black-ops units use abductees for mind-control and behavior-control experiments, as test-targets for microwave or mind-altering weapons, or that they monitor and kidnap abductees for information gathering purposes during an alleged alien abduction experience.

If one of these points is correct, we can expect to run into early resistance when proposing congressional hearings about UFOs. In October 1992, the Human Potential Foundation chaired by Senator Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, embarked with the help of billionaire Lawrence Rockefeller on a project to deliver to the Science Advisor of U.S. President Bill Clinton, Dr. John Gibbons, compelling evidence of the reality of UFO phenomena, in the hope of convincing the new administration to disclose U.S. government information on the subject of UFOs.⁵ Former intelligence agent and head of the Human Potential Foundation Dr. C. B. Scott Jones delivered to Dr. John Gibbons a summary of UFO belief systems, the so-called "UFO Matrix of Beliefs."

Recently, the White House released some letters and documents concerning the "Rockefeller UFO Initiative" to researcher Rick Coimbra via the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). In one letter Dr. C. B. Scott Jones mentioned that there are reasons to believe that some government group has interwoven research about mind-control technology with alleged UFO phenomena. He suggests that, if this is correct, Dr. John Gibbons can expect to run into early resistance when inquiring about UFOs, not because of the UFO subject, but because that subject has been used to cloak research and applications of mind-control activity.⁶

We believe that Dr. Scott Jones note and the evidence which comes from alien abductees who claim that they were also being kidnapped by military intelligence personnel will lead the open-minded researcher to three important questions.

1.) Is it possible that secret human experiments or covert operations are occurring in Western democracies?

2.) What is the human agenda which seems to be involved in the alien abduction phenomenon, and what is the purpose of MILABs: military abductions of alleged alien abductees?

3.) Is there a military interest in developing brain-implants, virtual-reality implants, holographic image projection, cloaking devices, mind-altering weapons and genetic research?

An interest in these technologies would support the hypothesis that such secret experiments could occur on humans and that these experiments are being hidden from the U.S. Congress and the public by placing the funding inside secret or "black projects."

To bring light into darkness we reviewed the relevant literature, contacted UFO and mind-control researchers and victims as well as MILAB abductees around the world and compared our findings with the comprehensive alien abduction study of Dr. Thomas Bullard,^{7, 8} the MUFON Transcription Project^{9, 10} and the MIT Abduction Proceedings¹ of August 1997. We published two comprehensive books in Europe, titled *Verdeckte Operationen*¹¹ (Covert Operations), and *Schwarze Forschungen*¹² (Black Research). Covert Operations deals with MILABs, but concentrates more on advanced mind-control technologies, biochips, military underground bases and exotic weapons. Schwarze Forschungen deals more with secret experiments, black projects and biological process control weapons. Readers of these books will understand that MILABS have something to do with these secret activities.

We believe that MILAB abductions may be the indication that a covert military intelligence task force operates at least in the U.S. and Canada and is involved in monitoring and kidnapping of alleged alien abductees. In the early 1980s, a lot of money, both legal and black budget, became available for top secret military projects like the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI). This task force and related projects may be financed by a portion of this money. It seems to us that they are interested in well-investigated alien abduction cases.

However, in this book we present our preliminary but important findings of our research in MILABS.

NOTES:

1. Prichard, David E., and Mack, John E. Alien Discussions: Proceedings of the Abduction Study Conference held at MIT, Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1994.
2. Cannon, Martin. "Mind-Control and the American Government," Lobster, No. 23, England, 1992.
3. Private communications with Prof. David Jacobs, 1996
4. Jacobs, David M. The Threat: The Secret Agenda: What the Aliens Really Want...And How They Plan to Get It, Simon and Schuster, New York, USA, 1988.
5. Victorian, Armen. "UFOs in the White House Pantry: The Rockefeller Initiative," Lobster, No. 33, Summer 1997.
6. Jones, Scott C. B. Letter to the Science Advisor of President Bill Clinton, Dr. John Gibbons, February 17, 1994.
7. Bullard, Thomas E. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 1: Comparative Study of Abduction Reports, Bloomington, IN (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, MD 20712 USA), 1987.
8. Bullard, E., Thomas. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 2: Catalogue of Cases, Bloomington, Indiana, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, MD 20712 USA), 1987.
9. Wright, R., Dan. "Commonalities and Disparities: Findings of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project," MUFON International UFO Symposium Proceedings, 1995.
10. Private communications with Dan Wright, head of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project, 1996.
11. Lammer, Helmut, and Lammer, Marion. Verdeckte Operationen: Militärische Verwicklungen in UFO-Entführungen (Covert Operations: Military Involvement in UFO Abductions/Mind-Control/Bio-Chips/Underground Bases/Exotic Weapons), Herbig (Thomas Wimmer Ring 11, D-80539 Munich), Munich, 1997.

12. Lammer, Helmut, and Lammer, Marion. Schwarze Forschungen: Geheime Versuche unter Ausschluss der Öffentlichkeit (Black Research), Herbig (Thomas Wimmer Ring 11, D-80539 Munich), Munich, 1999.

1

Documented History of Secret Mind and Behavior Control Experiments

"...Mind-control techniques and follow-ups into adulthood may have been used to intimidate particular research-subjects into not talking about their victimization in government research. For the past twenty-two years, I have specialized in treating victims and perpetrators of trauma, and their families. When word got out that I was appearing at this hearing, nearly forty therapists across the country contacted me to talk about clients who had reported being subjected to radiation and mind-control experiments. The consistency of peoples' stories about the purpose of the mind-control and pain induction techniques, such as electric shock, use of hallucinogens, sensory deprivation, hypnosis, dislocation of limbs and sexual abuse is remarkable..."

Psychotherapist Valerie Wolf

Testimony given to the Advisory Committee on Human Radiation Experiments, Washington, D.C., March 15, 1995.

"...Under current rule and Executive Order, it is possible to waive informed consent and Institutional Review Boards (IRB) review for classified research..."

Senator John Glenn

Congressional Record-Senate, January 22, 1997.

Everyone who refuses to believe that secret experiments and covert operations have been performed on people in the Western world, including children, should look at the documented history of military/intelligence radiation experiments as well as mind-and behavior-control projects which are now known to the public. In addition to the United States and Canada, the British press reported that even the Ministry of Defense (MoD) has carried out secret radiation experiments on humans during the past forty years.

In 1994, the United States government lifted the lid on secret experiments that had taken place with scant regard for the subjects—many of whom were disadvantaged people.¹ For about thirty years after World War II the Department of Defense (DoD), the CIA and various non-government research organizations, conducted medical research on thousands of citizens, often without their knowledge. This research was largely concerned with radiation exposure, nerve gas, LSD and various biological agents. Recently it was disclosed that radiation experiments were performed on more than 23,000 Americans in about 1,400 different projects during the thirty years following the war.²

The people on whom these experiments were conducted were soldiers, prisoners, people considered to be mentally defective (both children and adults), hospital patients with terminal illnesses and pregnant, disadvantaged women. Many of the scientists who conducted these experiments had immigrated under "black projects" such as "Project Paperclip" where the US War Department brought Nazi doctors, scientists and technicians from Germany and Austria,³ and Japanese bio-warfare specialists,⁴ to the U.S.A. to use their knowledge for U.S. intelligence and military projects.

The legacy of Project Paperclip is said to be the space program and the moon rockets, jet planes and other scientific achievements that were a product of postwar research in the USA. What most defenders fail to mention is that its legacy also includes horrific psychological experiments conducted on American soldiers at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, the American center for chemical warfare research. Eight former Nazi scientists worked at Edgewood between 1947 and 1966 developing and testing nerve gas and psychochemicals such as LSD.³

Edgewood was the first American research facility to test lethal agents on humans. The experiments began in 1922, when the Chemical Warfare Service created the Medical Research

Historical photograph of a Richland, WA, child participating in a project to measure radioactive radiation present in the body. This project took place at the Pacific Northwest Laboratory. (Department of Energy)

Division charged with providing a defense against chemical weapons. Since that time, thousands of military and civilian volunteers have been subjected to experiments with mustard and nerve gas, riot control agents, hallucinogenic drugs like LSD, BZ, PCP, mescaline and hundreds of other chemicals. Some of these experiments were conducted at Edgewood's medical research facilities, in isolated rooms with padded walls and furniture bolted to the floor. The fact that Paperclip scientists worked at Edgewood at various times between 1947 and 1966 has been kept secret.³

Dr. Ewen Cameron, to all appearances a respected scientist, led a CIA-funded laboratory at McGill University during the 1950s where patients were used as guinea pigs in brainwashing experiments. Some subjects were given electro-convulsive therapy (ECT) twice daily, while others were drugged and kept unconscious for weeks or months. They were injected with huge amounts of hallucinogens, and subjected to long-term sensory deprivation.⁵

A panel, appointed by the Clinton administration in 1994 to look into these matters, has so far documented four hundred government backed bio-medical experiments involving humans between 1944 and 1975. The purpose of these experiments may never be fully known. It is not certain when these experiments ceased, if at all, but we know they were still going on during the mid-seventies.²

Mind-control projects CHATTER, BLUEBIRD and ARTI-CHOKE were rolled over into MKULTRA, which ran from 1953 to 1963 and included 149 sub-projects. Later MKULTRA became MKSEARCH, which ran until 1973. The research in these projects involved hallucinogens, hypnosis, sensory deprivation, implants, and research in ESP and PSI-phenomena like telepathy, implanting thoughts, and remote-viewing.

MKULTRA-scientist Dr. Sidney Gottlieb was the head of the CIA's Technical Services Division (TSD) in late 1972, when his organization awarded Dr. Hal Puthoff his first PSI-research contract.⁶

The Canadian psychiatrist and specialist on trauma and dissociation, Dr. Colin Ross, presented a paper at the 9th Annual Western Clinical Conference on Trauma and Dissociation in Orange County, California, where he described evidence from released CIA-FOIA documents showing that the agency has conducted research since World War II on the creation of hypnoprogrammed individuals, so called "Manchurian Candidates" who don't know that they are spies or secret couriers.⁷

Dr. George Estabrooks worked with military intelligence during and after World War II. In 1971 he wrote in Science Digest magazine about the applications of hypnosis and its use in military intelligence.⁸ Dr. Estabrooks claimed that he created "hypnotic couriers." He put such a courier under deep hypnosis and gave him orally a vital message to be delivered to a certain military intelligence colonel directly on his arrival in another land. Outside of Dr. Estabrooks, the colonel was the only person who could hypnotize the courier by using a certain "signal phrase." When the courier awoke, he had no conscious memory of what happened in trance.

Dr. Estabrooks also worked on multiple personality patients. Since the 1920s, scientists have learned how to split certain complex individuals into multiple personalities. He wrote that he used this technique with a vulnerable marine lieutenant whom he called Jones. With the help of marine intelligence he split Jones personality into Jones A and Jones B. Jones A, once a normal marine, became completely different. He talked communist propaganda and meant it. Jones A was welcomed enthusiastically by communist cells.

The second personality, Jones B, was formerly present in the conscious marine. Under hypnosis, Jones had been carefully coached by suggestion. Jones B was the deeper personality, knew all the thoughts of Jones A, but was a loyal American. Dr. Estabrooks used Jones B, the loyal American, as a perfect pipeline into the Communist camp. Dr. Estabrooks claimed that there was no way for an enemy to expose agent Jones' dual personality.⁸

Dr. Colin Ross and research organizations like the New York based Advocacy Committee for Human Experimentation Survivors Mind Control (ACHES-MC) also came across survivors of horrific experiments involving electroshock, drugs, brain-implants, sensory deprivation and psychic driving; people who had been locked in cages, forced to sleep, and to endure sexual and ritual abuse for creating multiple personalities for military intelligence purposes.^{7,9} It seems that if a person was once selected, the victim was used repeatedly as a human lab animal throughout their lifetime, in one externally controlled and monitored experiment after another.

Valerie Wolf a psychotherapist who testified to the Advisory Committee on Human Radiation Experiments before the U.S. Congress, informed us that she had spoken to many survivors of alleged government mind-control experiments over the past two years.¹⁰ She and other therapists have records in their files of victims who report the use of people in costumes to appear to be the devil, or the use of movies and sounds to stimulate satanic practices, that had actually taken place in a laboratory. She believes that the purpose of mind-control research is to gain total control of a person for whatever future use the military or intelligence agency has for them.

Wolf found that the basic techniques used in mind-control are classical conditioning, post-hypnotic suggestions and hypnotic techniques, drugs, sensory

Drawing from a Canadian mind-control victim who served as a child guinea pig during the Cold War. Scientists implanted a device through her right nostril, behind the eyeball. Surges of electric current controlled her movements like a robot. (Lynne Moss-Sharman/ACHES-MC)

Drawing from a Canadian mind-control victim whose personality was split into alters during her childhood by using a helmet-like device in government experiments. (Lynne Moss-Sharman/ACHES-MC) deprivation, and distortion of reality. Electric shock is used both to create amnesia and as part of conditioning. She found cases where children who were already being abused and had formed an ability to dissociate and split their personalities were used by secret military intelligence units for spy-purposes, as claimed by Dr. Estabrooks. She reported that she had seen people from the 1950s through the 1990s, and that the progression of sophistica-

Drawing from a Canadian mind-control victim who was programmed on a mechanical chair. This chair went up and down, or turned around at the base. The foot pedals are hooked to electrical outlets and electrodes are placed on her genitals. A tiny guardian angel, which appears in her drawing, flutters nearby. (Lynne Moss-Sharman/ACHES-MC) tion in mind-control programming was very evident. She and her colleagues heard reports of spin-programming, tanks of water, strobe lights, coffin-like boxes, implantation and underground research facilities.¹⁰

In 1997, ACHES-MC delivered a video documentary to President Bill Clinton and Canadian Prime Minister Chretien. ACHES-MC requested a presidential hearing and the declassification of government records relating to alleged mind-control experiments, experiments that were conducted on unwitting children and adults and which were funded by the United States government from the 1940s onwards. This videotape contains testimony from children and adults, alleged survivors of federally funded mind-control experimentation, as well as testimony from various therapists, psychiatrists and psychologists.¹¹ These victims do not report alien or UFO contacts, but some MILAB experiences fit the pattern of abuse described by these alleged mind-control victims.

This short excursion into the history of secret experimentation on humans supports the MILAB hypothesis of covert operations against civilians, although solid underlying evidence is not easy to locate.

NOTES:

1. "Time to Come Clean on Radiation Tests." New Scientist, No. 2058, November 30, 1996.
2. Estling, Ralph. "Whatever Made Them Do It?" New Scientist, No. 1961, January 21, 1995.
3. Hunt, Linda. Secret Agenda, St. Martin's Press, New York, 1991.
4. Sheldon, Harris, H. Factories of Death: Japanese Biological Warfare, 1932-45, and the American Cover-Up, Routledge, London, 1994.
5. Concar, David. "Ethics Code Spells Disaster for Canadian Psychologists." New Scientist, No. 2059, December 7, 1996.
6. Schnabel, Jim. Remote Viewers: The Secret History of America's Psychic Spies, Dell Publishing, New York, 1997.
7. Ross, Colin. "The CIA and Military Mind-Control Research: Building the Manchurian Candidate." Paper presented at the 9th Annual Western Clinical Conference on Trauma and Dissociation in Orange County, California, April 18, 1996.

8. Estabrooks, George, H. "Hypnosis Comes of Age." Science Digest, April, 1971.
9. Chavoustie, Blanche (e-mail: C4ixxx@aol.com), and Lynne Moss-Sharman (lsharmann@microage-tb.com). Private communication. ACHES-MC, Box 108, Syosset, New York 11791, or 200 Cumberland St. N. #2, Thunder Bay, Ontario, Canada, <http://www.ACHES-MC.org>.
10. Private communication with psychotherapist Valerie Wolf, 1997.
11. ACHES-MC Memorial Day video to President Clinton/Prime Minister Chretien, <http://www.ACHES-MC.org>, May 26, 1997.

2

A Possible Purpose of MILABS

"...It's as if I'm in a psychiatric ward or a nursing home as opposed to a hospital...He is telling me I have to lie down in this box under restraints...I'm standing over the black box now. I'm looking down into it. It is about four feet wide and six feet long. It's metallic. I'm really angry. I don't want to be tied down! I hate it!...I'm looking down at it. I know I have no other choice. I have to lie down in it, and let them tie me down..."

MILAB abductee Katharina Wilson
September 17, 1988.

"...The abductee was drugged and her wrists were tied to her hips by plastic cords. She was then carried out of her home into a large truck or a smaller van, where they took her to a secret building. She was carried into the building and placed onto an examining table. Her feet were placed into stirrups, as are used for gynecological examinations. A female doctor conducted a gynecological exam. She searched for an embryo, but never found one..."

Dan Wright
MUFON Abduction Transcription Project, 1996.

"...Then we went into an office of some type...A man was sitting behind the desk. He was wearing solid green military type clothes but had no name or tag medals on it. He started asking me questions about what I felt about the aliens..."

MILAB abductee Lisa, 1996.

Since the publication of two articles concerning the MILAB situation on the internet and in the MUFON UFO Journal,^{1,2} we have received more information, primarily from North American researchers and abductees. Therefore, we believe the whole alien/human abduction scenario is more complex than we thought at first. It seems to us that there are indications that more than one human agenda, possibly three, may be involved in the currently unexplained alien abduction phenomenon. We have found evidence that each of these agendas probably has its own focal point involving alleged alien abductees.

It seems to us that one group may be interested in advanced mind-and behavior-control experiments. We found indications of sensory deprivation experiments, liquid breathing experiments, experiments on electromagnetic stimulation of the temporal lobes, brain research and implant research. These experiments are similar to the experiments reported by survivors of the MKULTRA mind-control programs carried out before the 1980s, and are probably flashbacks from these times.

A second group seems to be interested in biological or genetic research. Some MILAB abductees recall seeing humans in tubes filled with liquid, and genetically altered animals in cages during their alleged military/intelligence kidnappings inside military underground research facilities. It should be noted that alien abductees without alleged military contacts also remember similar scenarios inside UFOs or alleged alien crafts.

A third group seems to be a military task force, which has been operating since the 1980s. This group appears to be interested in the UFO/alien abduction phenomenon for information gathering purposes. This would be a logical consequence if an individual or a group of people with the "need to know" were to consider alien abduction experiences real. It seems to us that the leaders of this military task force believe that some alien abductions are real and that they have national security implications. If this is the case, it would be likely that the second and third group would work together, sharing their interest in genetic studies and their findings from alleged alien abductees.

Dan Wright, former head of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project presented the latest report of his research at the 1997 International UFO Symposium in Grand Rapids, Michigan. MUFON's effort to study and collect transcripts of hypnosis sessions carried out on alleged alien abductees was initiated by Wright in April 1992 at the Abduction Study Conference held at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). The preliminary results of the analysis of 906 transcripts, involving 254 separate cases, also indicates a strong interest by the U.S. government.³ Dan Wright's study led to five key elements in the alien abduction phenomenon. These key elements are:

1. A strong interest in human sexuality and reproduction.
2. A belief in an "alien connection" born in a realm ostensibly outside this conscious life.
3. A "mission" to perform at some point in the near future.
4. Geophysical and other dramatic changes to the Earth are shown to the abductees.
5. The U.S. government's involvement and/or acquiescence in alien abductions.

One can see from Dan Wright's analysis that he also came across MILAB cases and that he also believes that some government group is involved in the alien abduction phenomenon. In the following chapters we will present more details and cases that provide insights into a secret human agenda regarding alleged alien abductees.

NOTES:

1. Lammer, Helmut. "Preliminary Findings of Project MILAB: Evidence for Military Kidnappings of Alleged Alien Abductees." MUFON UFO Journal, No. 344, December 1996.
2. Lammer, Helmut. "More Findings of Project MILAB: Looking Behind the Alien/Military Abduction Agenda." MUFON UFO Journal, No. 355, November, 1997.
3. Wright, Dan. "Five Themes: Further Findings of the Abduction Transcription Project." MUFON UFO Journal, No. 353, September 1997.

3

Activity of Dark Unmarked Helicopters in Connection with Alien Abductions

"...These odd helicopters could be seen almost daily around our houses. They are so obvious about their flights it's almost comical. On occasions too numerous to even remember, they have hovered around my house, above my house, and above me for several minutes at a time, not trying to hide themselves or the fact that they are watching us. Even when I am outside and obviously watching back, it doesn't seem to bother them. They just sit there in midair, about sixty to ninety feet above the ground, whirling and watching. They are completely without identification and are always low enough so that I could easily see the pilot, if the windshield were clear glass. But the windshield is smoky black, with a finish that makes it impossible to see who's inside..."

Alien abductee Debby Jordan

Abducted!, 1994.

Our study indicates that MILAB abductees are generally harassed by dark unmarked helicopters around their houses. For getting an overview of the geographical area and a timeline of the abductee/helicopter connection we reviewed Dr. Thomas Bullard's comprehensive alien abduction study. Dr. Bullard compared 270 alien abduction cases worldwide which occurred between 1868 and 1984, while the majority of these cases occurred during the 1970s and early 1980s.^{1,2} In his study are 132 alleged alien abductions from the U.S., 51 from Europe, 66 from South America, 15 from Australia, eight from Canada and the remainder from various other countries.

We found only four abduction cases in Dr. Bullard's study where the abductees saw dark unmarked helicopters over or near their houses. Among these cases is the well investigated Betty Andreasson-Luca abduction.

It is important to note that the helicopter cases reported in Dr. Bullard's study occurred only in North America; three of them in the USA and one in Canada. Black helicopter researchers like Tom Adams and Jim Keith found that the mysterious helicopter activity dates back to the late 1960s and early 1970s, where they showed an interest in animal mutilations and alleged monitoring of Patriots and Militia members, but not alien abductees.³⁻⁶ However, well known UFO researcher Raymond E. Fowler reports mysterious helicopter activity in connection with a few UFO witnesses and places where UFO sightings occurred during the 1970s.⁷

Researchers David Clarke and Nigel Watson also researched sightings of strange helicopter activity in England during the 1970s. They came to the conclusion that the helicopter sightings in England had nothing to do with mysterious animal mutilations or alien abductions.⁸

We found that the mysterious helicopter activity in connection with alien abductions had a tendency to increase, from the 1980s up to the present. We contacted and questioned many researchers worldwide concerning the abduction/helicopter connection.

In 1996, Dan Wright had ten cases in the MUFON Transcription Project files where helicopters were seen flying in the area of the abductees' home within hours of an alleged alien abduction.^{9, 10} On average many abduction researchers in North America have about three helicopter cases in connection with alien abductions in their files.¹¹ It appears to us that this is a North American phenomenon, since none of the contacted researchers in Australia, Africa, Europe and South America have well-investigated abduction cases in connection with alleged helicopter activity.

Abductees like Betty Andreasson-Luca, and Debby Jordan, Kathy Mitchell, Whitley Strieber, Leah Haley, Katharina Wilson, Beth Collins and Anna Jamerson, Melinda Leslie and many more were harassed by these phantom helicopters.¹²⁻¹⁸

Kathy Mitchell for instance claims that mysterious dark unmarked helicopters, devoid of any identification, are common sights around her house, Debby Jordan's house and her parent's house.¹² Kathy Mitchell and Debby Jordan have photos of some of the black helicopters that have plagued their family over the years. Lisa (pseudonym), a MILAB abductee who is mentioned in Dr. Karla Turner's book Taken,¹⁹ has also photographed many dark unmarked helicopters near or over her house.

Evelyn (pseudonym) has had alien abduction experiences since her childhood. She has experienced missing time, over and over in her life. In three alien abduction scenarios involving Evelyn, dark unmarked helicopters were involved. In two of the abductions, the helicopters appeared singularly, after the abduction had taken place. Each time they flew close to her house for about an hour, just buzzing around. She informed us that she closed all of the blinds in her house both times, because she felt watched. The third helicopter encounter occurred before an abduction had taken place, and Evelyn recalled the following scenario:²⁰

"...The helicopter shone a brilliant, blinding blue light on my face and I thought: 'Here I go, get ready.' I then remember looking at the clock and an hour had passed by. I was really puzzled at the time, but in regression, I was abducted by the 'Greys' and taken aboard a huge, silent, black, triangular-shaped UFO. I still wonder to this day if the helicopter shape-shifted into an UFO, or if it appeared on its own, separate from the UFO. I can't remember all of the details..."

Since Evelyn recalls a MILAB experience it could be that the helicopter was involved at least in this particular abduction. Maybe the people who operated the helicopter used a color laser for illumination and target pointing. If one points such a laser system into a room or an area, the whole area is illuminated and the person targeted would be shocked.²¹

Amy (pseudonym), another woman who is mentioned in Dr. Turner's book, has managed to film some of these mysterious helicopters that appeared after an UFO sighting, and which was confirmed by independent witnesses.²² Her footage shows a double rotor, black helicopter that circled her house three times, so low that the windows rattled. The helicopter had a dull, flat, black color. A second dark helicopter with a glass cockpit and a metal frame tail was filmed by her 22 hours after a UFO sighting on June 17, 1997. She informed us that she had never seen a helicopter circle that area before. Sometimes the helicopter landed briefly, for about twenty minutes, before it flew southwest and began circling the same area again, landing briefly for another twenty minutes.

On June 25, Amy and her daughter saw a bright light illuminate the ground and half the sky to the north of their house as something has crashed or exploded in that area. They wondered what had happened and thought that it might have been a meteor crashing to earth. Within four to five minutes, a helicopter came from the southwest straight to the place where the mystery explosion had occurred and began circling the area at a low altitude, shining two searchlights on the ground. Amy filmed the scenario with her video camera. The helicopter circled and landed for about twenty minutes and suddenly flew off to the southwest. It returned later and started circling the area, searching the ground with two bright beams of light. Sometimes it landed and they could see the search beams shining over the area.

The helicopter again landed for about twenty minutes, then flew straight at Amy and her daughter shining beams of light down at them, then pulled up the beams and flew directly overhead. Amy called the local police departments, the FAA and the Sheriff's Department wondering if a plane had crashed near her house. They said they had heard nothing about the event and did not know who dispatched the helicopter.

Generally MILAB abductees are harassed by dark unmarked helicopters around their houses. Lisa (pseudonym) claimed that she experienced extensive secret military/intelligence encounters. Lisa reports the alleged involvement of military/intelligence personnel in her alien abduction experiences after dark unmarked helicopters began to appear. Some of them flew so low over her house that they shook the windows. This photo shows one of these helicopters over her house. (Lisa)

Photo of a mutilated animal whose front part and various body parts are missing without blood-traces. (Michael Strainic/MUFON-Canada)

Photo of a mysteriously mutilated Canadian cow. (Michael Strainic/MUFON-Canada)

Photographer Gary Coker managed to photograph strange shape-shifting moving lights over Skirum, Alabama, in February, 1993. At the time of these sightings, police and law enforcement officers investigated many mysterious animal mutilation cases, black helicopter and UFO sightings. (Gary Coker)

Some witnesses claim that these helicopters operate for the Federal Emergency Management (FEMA), since there are many sightings of them near FEMA facilities. Amy in fact lives near a large FEMA underground facility in the Denton area, in Texas. She informed us that there have been UFO sightings and abductions reported near this facility. Further, Dr. Karla Turner also claimed that her abductions happened in the Denton area. Since Amy and several other MILAB abductees have sent us photos and home video shots of these dark unmarked helicopters, we know that they are real.

It is therefore, not justified to suggest that these helicopters represent the black Cadillacs of the Men in Black (MIB) during the nineties,^{1,2} since MILAB abductees have photos of them and they were also seen by many witnesses, some of them law enforcement officers and police officers who have nothing to do with the UFO community.³⁻⁶

Former police officer Ted Oliphant III informed us that dark unmarked helicopters were seen near animal mutilation sites in Fyffe, Alabama before reports of strange unidentifiable lights in the sky.²³ When the unmarked dark helicopters were witnessed by local farmers and law enforcement officers, Albertville Police's Chief of Detectives Tommy Cole called in the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to investigate. Detective Cole had lost a cow to the mysterious mutilators and his wife had seen an unmarked dark helicopter over their pasture the day before they discovered their mutilated Black Angus steer.

A skeptical FAA investigator came to Albertville and Cole took him for a ride with his police car. After a while the FAA investigator couldn't believe his eyes as an unmarked helicopter flew near them. He pulled out a hand held radio and hailed the helicopter, who ignored demands that he identify himself. The FAA investigator reversed his skepticism and traced the helicopter to Maxwell Air Force Base in South Alabama. When he launched an inquiry at the base, he was immediately told to drop it and never talk about the incident again. Ted Oliphant is convinced that several different things are going on, including some real unexplained phenomenon and some simulated phenomenon.²³

Researcher, Virgilio Sanchez-Ocejo informed us that black unmarked helicopters showed an interest in a ranch near Hialeah Gardens, Florida after mutilated animals in connection with alleged "Chupacabra" sightings were found.²⁴ He shot two images of a black unmarked helicopter that flew very low over the ranch before it disappeared on the horizon.

It seems to be a fact that these dark unmarked helicopters operate for a secret military/intelligence task force, while the MIB-phenomenon seems to be of paranormal or other origin but related to the UFO-phenomenon, although they are not directly connected to MILABs. Let us summarize the helicopter topic in five points:

1. The helicopter mystery started during the late 1960s, early 1970s in connection with animal mutilations.

2. During those times the helicopters showed a minor interest in alien abductees.

3. The helicopters began to increase their interest in alien abductees during the 1980s up to the present, but were also reported near animal mutilation sites and other areas in North America.

4. At present, most North American alien abduction researchers have on average three helicopter cases in their files.

5. There were reports of phantom helicopter activity in England during the 1970s, but it seems to us that their interest in animal mutilations and alleged alien abductees is limited to the U.S. and Canada.

NOTES:

1. Bullard, E., Thomas. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 1: Comparative Study of Abduction Reports. Bloomington, Indiana, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, MD 20712 USA), 1987.
2. Bullard, E., Thomas. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 2: Catalogue of Cases. Bloomington, Indiana, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, USA), 1987.
3. Adams, Tom. Mystery Helicopters, Paris, Texas, 1993.

4. Keith, Jim. Black Helicopters over America: Strikeforce for the New World Order, IllumiNet Press, Lilburn, Georgia, 1994.
5. Keith, Jim. Black Helicopters II: The Endgame Strategy, IllumiNet Press, Lilburn, Georgia, 1997.
6. Howe, L., Moulton. Glimpses of Other Realities, Volume. 1: Facts and Eyewitnesses. Linda Moulton Howe Productions, P.O. Box 300, Jamison, Pennsylvania 18929-0300, 1993.
7. Private Communications with Raymond Fowler and several publications like: Casebook of a UFO Investigator. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, Prentice Hall Inc., 1981.
8. Clarke, David, and Watson, Nigel. Phantom Helicopters over Britain, FUFOR: P.O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, Maryland 20712, USA.
9. Wright, R., Dan. Commonalities and Disparities: Findings of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project. MUFON International UFO Symposium Proceedings, 1995.
10. Private communications with Dan Wright, head of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project, 1996.
11. Private communication with various alien abduction researchers, 1996, 1997.
12. Jordan, Debbie, and Mitchell, Kathy. Abducted!: The Story of the Intruders Continue, Carroll and Graf, New York, 1994.
13. Strieber, Whitley. Breakthrough: The Next Step, Harper Collins, New York, 1995.
14. Haley, A., Leah. Lost was the Key, Greenleaf Publications, P.O. Box 8152, Murfreesboro, TN 37133, USA, 1993.
15. Wilson, Katharina: The Alien Jigsaw. Puzzle Publishing, P.O. Box 230023, Portland, Oregon, 97281-0023, 1993.
16. Collins, Beth, and Jamerson, Anna. Connections-Solving our Alien Abduction Mystery, Wild Flower Press, Newberg, Oregon, 1996.
17. Fowler, Raymond. The Andreasson Affair Phase Two, Englewood Cliffs, New York, Prentice-Hall, 1982.
18. Private communication with Melinda Leslie and various other abductees, 1996, 1997, 1998.
19. Turner, Karla. Taken: Inside the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda, Kelt Works, Roland Arkansas, 1994.
20. Private communications with Evelyn, 1996.
21. Ireland, Robert. "Tactical Deployment of Laser Systems Into Low-Intensity Conflicts," Phillips Laboratory, Kirtland AFB, New Mexico, in: SPI-Proceedings, Vol. 2934, 70-74, 1996.
22. Private communications with Amy, 1996-1998.
23. Private communication with Ted Olifant III, (E-mail: alkahest@slip.net), 1996, 1998.
24. Sanchez-Ocejo, Virgilio. Miami Chupacabras, Pharaoh Production, P.O. Box 960771, Miami, FL 33296, USA, 1997.

4

Alleged Kidnappings of Alien Abductees by Covert Military/Intelligence Personnel

"...I was struggling with them as I was coming off the helicopter. I don't understand why they're taking me in there. I felt a sudden chill. It's cold. There's a man on each side of me holding my arms tightly. They're taking me into a building...I see men seated along the left side of a conference room table. The man in the blue uniform is standing to my right..."

MILAB abductee Leah Haley, 1993.

Most alien abductees report the involvement of military/intelligence personnel after the helicopters began to appear. The abduction experiences of Leah Haley, Katharina Wilson and others are full of MILAB encounters.^{1, 2} Katharina Wilson also has flashbacks of being in an unknown hospital room or terrestrial buildings, some of them underground.

Some of Katharina Wilson's experiences are comparable with mind or behavior-control experiments done by humans and not by alien beings. One instance is a traumatic flashback from her childhood where she remembers being in a hospital where she was forced into a big box. She described the childhood memories in her journal on September 17, 1988:²

"...It's as if I'm in a psychiatric ward or a nursing home as opposed to a hospital. I think I see Erik (her husband). He is dressed in white too. Somehow, I know I have to go inside a big box and be tied down. I'm feeling absolute dread over this.

Erik seems insensitive—He is telling me what to do—so unlike him—like he is telling me I have to lie down in this box under restraints. I'm angry.

"I am walking around. I'm going to a bathroom because I know I'm going to be tied down in this box for a long time. Just before I have to go into the box I ask him why I have to be tied down, I hate it! He replies, 'Because it will be good for you, you'll see. It will calm you down.'

"I'm standing over the black box now. I'm looking down into it. It is about four feet wide and six feet long. It's metallic. I'm really angry. I don't want to be tied town! I hate it! He is looking at me as though he finds my behavior amusing. I'm looking down at it. I know I have no other choice. I have to lie down in it, and let them tie me down. I know they will leave me in it alone. I'm thinking about a blonde, alien-looking male."

It seems that Katharina Wilson projected her husband Erik as a kind of screen memory over another man—perhaps a psychiatrist who worked for a secret Government agency.

In the late 1930s Harvard psychologist Burrhus Frederick Skinner discovered new principles of conditioning which allowed more complete control of an individual. Skinner developed a mind-control technique that he called "operant conditioning." His technique was based on the repetition of either a positive or a negative response to an action.^{3, 4}

The three most common techniques of modern behavior therapy are operant conditioning, aversion therapy, and desensitization.

1. Operant conditioning is the reinforcement of certain behavior by reward; mostly food, often accompanied by simultaneous sound or light stimulation.

2. Aversion therapy is a technique in which an undesirable response is inhibited by a painful or unpleasant reinforcement such as electric shock, noxious odors or other techniques which produce fear and avoidance.

3. Desensitization is the training of an individual to relax beyond his/her normal state. The person is then presented with images which evoke mild anxiety. First the images are mild and they are repeated until the person shows no anxiety. After this a stronger image is introduced and the process is repeated. Finally the person becomes desensitized to even the strongest image. This mind-control technique has been used to relieve people of phobic fears, anxieties, and in deprogramming of conditioned responses.

Dr. Skinner began experiments by building boxes in which animals were required to run mazes and press levers for receiving food rewards. By manipulating the way the reward was given he found that every action is determined by the environment, and that behavior is shaped and maintained by its consequences. After this finding, Dr. Skinner built a large box with a glass window on one side. The box was built for children, especially for his own daughter, Debbie.

The large "Skinner box" was soundproofed and carefully temperature controlled. He testified that crying and fussing by the child could be stopped by slightly lowering the temperature. Dr. Skinner's dream was the production of "socialized" children. The programming of his own daughter, however, was not so successful, Debbie Skinner committed suicide in her twenties.

Dr. Ewen Cameron received a grant from the CIA for sensory deprivation Research in 1957.⁵ The experiments consisted of putting a subject in a sealed environment like a small room or a large box and depriving him of all sensory input.

In 1955, ARTICHOKE scientist Dr. Morse Allen contracted Dr. Maitland Baldwin, who had done a gruesome experiment in which an Army volunteer had stayed in a "Skinner box" for about forty hours. Dr. Baldwin stopped the experiment after the soldier cried for more than an hour. Baldwin was convinced the isolation technique could break any human no matter how strong-willed.

Psychotherapists like Valerie Wolf also have reports in their files where governmental mind-control victims were forced in coffin like boxes⁶—the above mentioned "Skinner box." Their victims, however, describe no alien encounters.

Katharina Wilson described such a "Skinner box"-like container which was possibly used for behavior modification experiments on her. Wilson has recollections of at least fourteen abduction experiences where she saw either military personnel, men in business suits, or both.⁷

In one such case Katharina had reality-like dreams of being with her husband Erik inside a possible government underground facility.⁸ The lighting was dim, but bright enough for them to see. There were wide hallways, concrete block walls and neutral floors. They were standing in a hallway and saw three or four men escorting a being that looked like an alien. The men were of average height and build and were all wearing black jump suits. They were similar to what Special Weapons Attack Teams (SWAT) wear, but without any insignia or bullet proof vests.

She described that the alleged non-human being was wearing the same jump suit that his escorts were wearing. The alien was as tall as the men and it appeared to be a male. He had white skin and his head was shaped like that of a "Grey," but he was much taller and had more body mass. She described that he had large almond-shaped eyes, but only the right eye had a large black pupil. His left eye was white with a red spiraling mechanistic effect.

He appeared to be somewhat concerned that he would be detected. She believes they must have seen her and Erik looking at them, since suddenly they all became anxious.

Wilson believes that it could be possible that the alleged alien was not an alien at all, but rather a human dressed to appear like an alien. In other words, she believes this was probably a "staged" event.

Some abductees have traumatic flashbacks in which they see aliens and military personnel working side-by-side. Perhaps these abductees mix an alien abduction experience and a MILAB scenario, or the abductee underwent some kind of hallucinogenic hypnoprogramming by military psychiatrists. The aliens may be hypno-drug-induced screen memories or human actors with alien masks. (Jonesy)

Interestingly, psychotherapist Valerie Wolf investigated alleged ritual abuse cases where the victims report that their torturers used costumes to appear like the devil or a demon, or used movies and sounds to stimulate satanic practices, that actually took place in a research laboratory. She believes that if there are documented cases where researchers dress up like cartoon characters and satanic characters, they could also dress up in alien costumes.⁶

Michelle (pseudonym) had her first conscious memory of a typical alien abduction experience with non-human beings at the age of eight. She remembers classic alien abduction experiences with three to four-foot-tall "Grey" beings with large heads and almond-shaped eyes.

Her following experiences, however, have nothing to do with alien abductions. Since 1995, Michelle has had traumatic flashbacks, reality-like dreams and some consciously remembered MILAB events.^{9, 10} She began to remember a face of a reptilian creature, images of travelling in a military Jeep and soldiers with black berets. Interestingly she also recalls being submerged in some type of fluid, heavier than water. This flashback continued to hound her but she couldn't remember more details.

After these flashbacks Michelle found out that she had a missing time experience in 1970 near Montauk, New York. During this time she visited her aunt and her uncle's campsite at Ditch Plains in Montauk. Her uncle remembered that she was missing for about three hours. Her recollection of the early part of that day was quite clear but the later part had been vague and blurry.

Michelle decided to do hypnosis regression concerning the missing time experience. Her memory gaps were investigated by Dr. Kouguell a professional Ph.D. hypnotherapist and MUFON consultant, with the use of regressive hypnosis.

A hypnosis session done during September, 1995 revealed that Michelle and a boyfriend had a MILAB kidnapping experience near the campsite at Ditch Plains. She walked with her friend toward the east into the dunes, where they lay down. Suddenly they heard a loud buzzing sound like a car coming near them. She recalled under hypnosis the following story:

"...We should run away! I try to yell to my friend that we should get out of there. But I can't talk...I can't move! I'm scared...I want my mother...A man wearing a soldier's uniform is looking down at me, standing on my left. On the right is another soldier... Their leader is called Terry and is very tan, with dark hair and dark glasses..."

The soldiers carried both of them to the military Jeep and traveled north through the dunes.

"...We are in the back seat of a Jeep... There's a big hill up ahead. This is so weird! The hill is moving... just part of it. It looks like a door in the hill. It moves forward and then to my right. We drive in. There is another Jeep parked on my left. Two other men with the same uniform and black beret are inside..."

The soldiers drove both to a now closed underground complex near Montauk. After they were separated, Michelle was escorted inside the underground research facility where she had several frightening experiences.

"...This looks like a garage or something. We go through a door. It's bright in this hallway. We turn right. My friend is just ahead of me. At the next hallway, he keeps going straight with two guys, but we turn to the right and walk a few feet to an elevator door. He put a credit card-like thing in a slot next to the door. The slot is vertical and there are red and green lights above. The door opens... we go inside... but there are no buttons to push. We are going down... the door opens and it smells funny... like a basement with a cesspool overflow problem..."

Michelle (pseudonym) described being escorted by military personnel into a dark office-like room where she had a traumatic encounter with this non-human being. It is possible that she was drugged with an hallucinogenic drug and experienced a so-called "Polygenetic Experience," (mental transformations into reptiles and other animals) which were common reports during LSD experiments in the '60s. (Luis Vazquez)

After this detailed description of going underground, an unbelievable experience occurs. As we noted in the introduction, the presence of human military personnel inhabiting the same physical reality as non-human beings is unbelievable for skeptics and could easily be used to ridicule the whole MILAB scenario. Michelle described being escorted by military personnel into a dark office-like room where she had a traumatic encounter with a non-human being:

"...There is almost no furniture in it. There's something that looks like a padded table. They help me on it and lay me down. Now I am really cold... They leave the room. I can't seem to move anything but my eyes. Why am I here? I don't like this. Over to my left something moves. It's coming closer... I can see it better... Oh God! It's a monster!..."

At this point Michelle got so agitated that she almost jumped from the recliner in Dr. Kouguell's office. She got very emotional and couldn't stop shaking and crying. After Dr. Kouguell calmed her down she remembered the following:

"...What I see is a creature about 6-7 foot tall. His ears are large and pointed at the top. His eyes are bright yellow-gold and seem to glow. He has pointy teeth and a large wrinkle on his forehead and he has a tail!..."

After the description of the reptoid-like being she remembered how she was raped by this creature. We don't know what this traumatic experience means. We don't think, however, that the military worked with this reptoid creature. It could be possible that Michelle was drugged with an hallucinogen, raped by a human and projected the reptoid as a kind of screen memory, although she described the skin and other features of the creature quite realistically.

Long-time LSD researcher Dr. Stanislav Grof reported transpersonal experiences in LSD sessions in his book Realms of the Human Unconscious: Drug Induced Experiences of LSD Subjects.¹¹ One should note that Dr. Grof worked with large amounts of LSD during the sixties. Therefore, he probably got the drugs from the CIA or from a front organization that was interested in LSD research during this time.

He wrote that the strange alien worlds that LSD subjects discover and explore seem to have a reality of their own, although not in the range of our cosmos; they appear to exist in other dimensions or in universes coexistent with ours. The drugged individual can encounter "entities" who have bizarre physical forms.

Some LSD subjects had so-called "Polygenetic Experiences." In this type of experience the drug user has a quite realistic identification with animals on various levels of polygenetic development. At one point a female of Dr. Grof's LSD subjects had a sense of complete identification with a female of a species of large reptiles. While experiencing this in the session, she opened her eyes and looked at the therapist, who seemed transformed into a reptile, too. She was absolutely fascinated by scale-like facets that she visualized on the side of the head of the therapist.¹¹

Since many people have phobias about reptiles or snakes it would be logical that they would experience such beings if they were on a grueling LSD trip. From Dr. Grof's LSD experiments it should be clear that Michelle's reptoid/rape experience could have been drug induced, where she possibly saw a human transformed into a reptoid, like some of Dr. Grof's LSD test subjects.

Michelle recalled a group of five to six people, including one female, during a MILAB experience. All of them wore medical clothes consisting of white gowns and surgical masks as seen in the drawing. (Michelle)

After the rape, Michelle recalled that the creature went back to the dark side of the room. After a short time two soldiers came in the room, dressed her and escorted her to an examination room with machines, stainless steel equipment and a table covered in white. Michelle was placed on the table and strapped down. After a few minutes, which for her seemed like hours (also a symptom reported by users of hallucinogenic drugs), a group of five to six people, including one female, came into the room. All of them wore medical clothes consisting of white gowns, and surgical masks covered their faces.

"...They are very busy...I don't know why my head is turned on its side and taped to the table. I know this sounds strange, but a small portion of the area behind and above my right ear is shaved. My ear is pulled toward the front of my face and taped to it! Although I am immobilized and can't talk I am completely conscious!..."

Michelle remembers that someone was writing something on her skin behind the right ear. After an intravenous injection, she felt a prick in her arm and lost consciousness. She awoke with her boyfriend later on the beach. It could be that the medical staff implanted an electrode or a tiny bio-chip behind the right ear. Michelle informed us that about ten years ago, she developed what was thought to be an inflamed cyst behind her right ear. She went to a doctor and he had to lance it to drain and remove it. As he broke the skin, he examined a strange thing. He said it had the size and shape of a bullet.

After these regressions Michelle got more traumatic flashbacks that were also investigated with the help of hypnosis. The next hypnosis session revealed more traumatic flashbacks of being in an isolation tank. The following experience was investigated during an emotional hypnosis regression session. Michelle had never had this experience while under hypnosis before. She recalled being in a dark place, while she floated in something that felt slightly heavier than warm water.

Before this experience Michelle recalled being kidnapped from two men. She was brought to a dark van and to a secret research facility where she saw military personnel and men in white lab-coats. They escorted her into an examination room where they put her naked on a table. She had wires attached all over her body and she saw a doctor in a white lab-coat standing next to her. The next experience was uncovered via a deep trance regression which probed again into the isolation tank experience.

"...I am being in a dark place...being afraid...floating in something that felt slightly heavier than water...feeling warm...and smelling peppermint or spearmint....struggling, afraid of drowning...why do I have to be in this?...It scares me so much...I want to get out!...the liquid feels heavier than water...it's warm...I smell something minty...I can feel wires attached to me as I move my arms and legs slightly...on my chest and head too...I stretch out my fingers, trace the smooth surface...travelling upwards...in an 'arc' above me. Floating...gentle motion...blackness all around...are my eyes open?...or are they closed?...is this blackness I see only in my mind?..."

After this she experienced a kind of "otherworldly journey," a kind of artificially induced out-of-body experience, or she began to hallucinate. She saw a desert-like area, mountains, a large white building with tall pillars and steps on the top of a hill, and many colors too.

From this experience it seems clear to us that Michelle was kidnapped, drugged and used for a secret sensory deprivation experiment. Isolation tank experiments were invented by Dr. John Lilly in the 1950s.¹² Dr. Lilly tried to find out how he could isolate the brain and mind. He considered the effects of light and its stimulation of the eyes, touch and pressure and their stimulation of the skin and even deep-lying organs within the body. Dr. Lilly looked at temperature differences, the effects of clothing, the effects of gravitation, and the effects of heat and cold.

Dr. Lilly visualized a soundproof tank in which the body could be supported in water that would be maintained at the proper temperature in such a way as to maintain the generation of heat within the body. He found such a tank inside a soundproof chamber in an isolated building near the campus of the National Institute of Health. This tank was constructed during World War II for experiments by the Office of Naval Research on metabolism of underwater swimmers. This was the beginning of research on isolation which later included the use of hallucinogenic drugs like LSD.¹²

Dr. Lilly's test subjects frequently had similar hallucinations like Michelle during their isolation tank sessions. One male test subject reports for instance, in Dr. Lilly's book The Deep Self, that hallucinations are common in sensory isolation tanks.¹³

"...Dr. Lilly's sensory isolation tanks were reputed to produce hallucinations, safely. I have spent at least a dozen sessions, each of over two hours, in the tank. The experience was very pleasant and rewarding...hallucinations were experienced nearly every time thereafter. After some brief period after entering the tank, they would continue for hours...there were usual out-of-body, or out-of-the-right-time hallucinations. For example, in one case I could see my hands on my head as if I were standing in back, and when I moved my hands (actually in the water) I would see them move and the sky appeared between the fingers..."

A female test subject reported the following experience during an isolation tank session:¹³

"...I kept my eyes open all the time, looking up, and saw faces in grays, also massive eyeballs, pinecones, leopards, a black hole. There was a baronial hall, with archways in a wall hundreds of feet high and between two of the arches a stark white vagina as high as the wall..."

We think that Michelle's MILAB experience shows very well that she was used in such experiments without her knowledge. It should be noted that during the late 1950s and early 1960s Dr. Lilly also experimented with brain-implants. During this period, Dr. Lilly was contacted by covert intelligence services and researchers for the Department of Defense (DoD). Dr. Lilly wrote in his book The Scientist, that while he was at the National Institute of Health, the isolation tank experiments, like the brain-electrode experiments, became subject to the politics of the time.¹²

As the isolation tank research became known throughout government agencies, various individuals called him to find out about it. Dr. Lilly claims that among them were researchers working under the auspices of the army. Their interest was in the area of brainwashing of captured prisoners of war.

Dr. Lilly was asked if the isolation tank could be used to coerce a change in belief systems. The researchers wanted to use the isolation tanks and sensory deprivation experiments for brainwashing and other mind-control experiments. Dr. Lilly visualized situations in which this method would be used in such circumstances.

By careful control of the stimulation of isolated individuals, their belief systems could be changed in directions desired by the controlling persons. There is overwhelming evidence that floating enormously increases suggestibility. That means, whatever information a test subject receives while in the tank, whether in the form of suggestions made silently, as audio, or as visual information it is accepted fully.¹⁴

Dr. Lilly was convinced that the military/intelligence community would use his isolation technique for covert experiments.¹² Declassified CIA documents show that the intelligence agencies had great interest in isolation research and used hallucinogenic drugs for cover stories to ridicule or discredit individuals during secret operations. In one declassified MKULTRA document there is mention of documents in the ARTICHOKE files that show their interest in financing experiments and research in chemicals having psychogenic effects. Other documents note that they continue study in the field, and make the findings available on a strictly controlled need-to-know basis.

We believe that Michelle's experiences show that this was true and that there is evidence that she is a victim of such secret deprivation tank experiments.

Alleged mind-control victim Claudia Mullen testified on March 15, 1995 before the Advisory Committee on Human Radiation Experiments in Washington, D.C., that she had been used since 1954 in secret governmental mind-control experiments including the use of chemicals, radiation, drugs, hypnosis, electric shock, sleep deprivation, brainwashing, verbal, physical, emotional and sexual abuse, and similarly to Michelle, "taken in tubs of water for isolation" experiments.¹⁵

Delora's (pseudonym) father was a career Navy officer, in the supply corps. In 1957 he was stationed at an ammunition depot in Shoemaker, Arkansas. She lived there with her parents for about three years. Delora experienced traumatic flashbacks from her childhood, when she remembers being inside bunkers with her parents and other people.¹⁶ She believes that she saw "aliens" and humans performing medical procedures on them. She doesn't remember who the other people were, except her parents. Delora claimed that they lay on tables, with round bright lights and people in white lab coats over them. She knew from her parents that the Navy stored chemical and biological weapons in those bunkers. Interestingly, she also experienced flashbacks where she believes that she saw in the same Navy underground facility humans in gas or liquid filled "capsules."¹⁶

"...I saw steel doors of elevators leading to underground areas. I saw 'capsules' with people in them, in a suspended state, both vertical and horizontal, in gas and also in liquid. I recognized some of these people looked alike, like twins, but many more than just a few..."

Delora believes that the humans in the capsules were clones. It is more probable that the humans in the capsules were used for secret bio-warfare or chemical warfare experiments, since cloning technology was certainly not well developed during the 1960s. It is more likely that the supposed aliens who worked with human doctors were medical staff who covered their faces with surgical masks or wore bio-hazard clothes.

She had other traumatic flashbacks where she remembered some men in jumpsuits who stopped the car of her family on a remote road and escorted them into a circular flying craft. When they returned to their car, the men in the jumpsuits watched for it. After we questioned her concerning this particular abduction she was uncertain about the circular flying craft.

"...There was a bright light in the sky. I'm not certain about a circular craft. Could it have been a helicopter?"

It seems to us that Delora's family was used in secret biochemical experiments. If they were indeed abducted in a helicopter by men in jumpsuits, their case would not be singular. One should ask in this case if some agency has staged an alien abduction scenario with a helicopter. It is therefore very important for us to review early alien abduction cases from the 1960s concerning possible human involvement.

Dan Wright, head of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project, reviewed his records for tube or tank experiences of alleged alien abductees. He found several cases in his files during which the abductee saw a tube, but did not identify anything or anyone inside it.¹⁷ In four cases, however, abductees described large clear tubes and recalled either being placed inside them or seeing someone else inside. Two of these four abductees saw an alien creature in a tube. Dan Wright's files reveal three cases in which the abductee was in a tank filled with liquid and in two cases the victim was forced to breathe the liquid! None of the abductees who were placed in a tube or tank reported any unusual mindset such as hallucinations, out-of-body experiences or remote-viewing during their time in these containers. Two of seven tank cases exhibited military involvement, but not on the same night as the tube or tank episode occurred.

MILAB abductee Lisa (pseudonym) had tank experiences similar to the abductees in Dan Wright's study, but Lisa's memories are from conscious recollections. Lisa claimed that she was kidnapped and brought to a military underground facility where she saw naked humans floating in tubes. Lisa claims that she was forced by humans into some type of pool filled with a golden yellow bubbly fluid, while other humans looked at her. Lisa has traumatic recollections that her kidnappers tried to force her and other victims to breathe in the liquid.¹⁸

In two of Dan Wright's cases the abductee was forced to breathe the liquid, like Lisa. The hypnosis transcripts reveal that the liquid breathing experiences were traumatic for the abductees. Both abductees were totally immersed in the liquid and both reported that they could breathe the fluid.¹⁷

Abductee Kim Carlsberg also reported in her diary that she was forced by aliens into a large tank where she breathed the liquid. She felt that the water like liquid poured into her lungs. At that moment she described an out-of-body experience.¹⁹

If one reviews the available scientific literature about fluid breathing, one finds that the concept began in the mid-1960s, when Dr. J. Kylstra, a physiologist at the State University of New York at Buffalo realized that salt solutions could be saturated with oxygen at high pressures. Dr. Kylstra worked in a U.S. Navy compression chamber and performed experiments on mice. He was able to keep animals alive for up to 18 hours. However, because carbon dioxide was not removed quickly enough from the system, it rapidly built up to near toxic levels. This problem was obviously a stumbling block when it came to using his procedure on humans.²⁰

The next step in fluid breathing came in 1966, with Dr. Leland Clark's liquid-breathing mouse experiment.²¹ Dr. Clark developed a technique where a mouse survived over twenty hours breathing fluid at 18 degrees centigrade. All animals in the early studies suffered pulmonary damage, but that was due to toxic impurities of the fluorocarbon, chemical interaction of the fluorocarbon with the lung, or some undetermined effect. This pulmonary damage mystery as well as the problem of the elimination of carbon dioxide and the fact that the fluorocarbon tended to be retained by body tissues would have to be solved before the process could be attempted on human subjects.

During the following years, the technique of fluid breathing was refined and improved. Liquid ventilation tests of the early 1990s proved to be successful. Scientists kept dogs alive in a perfluorocarbon medium for about two hours. After removal the dogs were slightly hypoxic, but returned to normal life after a few days.²⁰

After these tests on animals the procedure was ready for human subjects. The medical community now has a treatment for respiratory distress syndrome, the leading cause of death in premature infants. In addition, we suspect that liquid breathing experiments on humans, would be extremely useful for military/navy/intelligence purposes such as submarine escape and under-sea oxygen support facilities.

Alleged alien abductees, such as Betty Andreasson have reported being placed inside a tube filled with liquid for the compensation of large gravity forces during UFO acceleration. One alien abductee in Dan Wright's files describes such an experience inside such a tank:¹⁷

"...Oh it's water in there? How I am going to breath? How am I going to breath it?...They're putting something in my nose and it's a tube and it's...Oh, I don't like this, it hurts. Now one of them touches me, touches my forehead, and that pain stops. And there's that tube in my nose and I'm breathing from it...Whoo, how did I get here? And I'm inside that pillar and that's, whoo, somehow they took my clothing...Inside that pillar and it's like water in there, and it's like being in a swimming pool, only I can see through the sides...it feels like we are moving. Where are we going? Whoo, that's fast. Feels like we are moving fast. Oh! And one's standing outside. He's telling me, 'That's why we had to put you in here, because we are moving too fast'...Acceleration. Something about gravity forces too much..."

Underwater masks for early sensory deprivation tank experiments. By careful control of the stimulation of isolated individuals, their belief systems could be changed as desired by the controlling persons. That means that whatever information a test subject received while in the tank, whether in the form of suggestions made silently or as audio or visual information, would be accepted fully. (Photo: collection of Dr. Helmut Lammer)

It is interesting to note that under hypnosis this abductee reported how the abductors put something in her nose before they put her in the tank. That means that this abductee was not forced to breathe the liquid. The aforementioned scenario recalls the early isolation tank experiments of Dr. John Lilly, where his test-subjects wore a face mask that provided air but cut off sight and sound. He developed and tested several underwater masks for his sensory deprivation experiments.¹²

Recent scientific studies of visual and photographic sightings of UFOs carrying out "impossible" high speed maneuvers by Dr. Bruce Maccabee would support such gravity force compensation tube experiences if the abductee was indeed in a real UFO.²² Dr. Bruce Maccabee stated in his article "Acceleration," that an UFO-naut or abductee inside a UFO accelerating at five hundred g's would be pushed by the walls of the craft with a force that would make him weigh almost 500 times his weight on Earth. The body of an abductee might be crushed at that acceleration, and the skin might be pulled off the bones, unless the human was suspended in a liquid and the lungs and other body cavities were filled with liquid!

On the other hand, experiences such as the earlier mentioned alleged acceleration connected tank experience would fit well with sensory deprivation experiments using hallucinogenic drugs. Therefore, future study in alien abduction research should also concentrate on the similarities between alleged survivors of secret governmental mind- and behavior-control experiments, and some alien abduction experiences.

In addition, recent hypnosis sessions performed on Michelle in July 1997 revealed that she may have been used in various mind-control experiments during her lifetime.²³

During a two hour session Michelle remembered being in a room with two or three men who were in charge of other men who were wearing lab coats. Before this, she was in some kind of examination room, where someone mounted something on her head.

"...There is something on my head...it looks like...tongs...it looks like tongs on my head. But it's, uh, my head. Like on either side of my head...and there's a...there's where it's attached to... it's silver..."

She described silver-colored tongs, pinching at her temples and inducing intense pain in her head. This experience is reminiscent of an experiment involving the stimulation of the temporal lobe region by the use of magnetic fields. Dr. Michael Persinger, a neuroscientist at Laurentian University of Sudbury, Ontario, demonstrated that one can artificially produce mystical experiences, out-of-body excursions and other psychic experiences by stimulating the temporal lobes with magnetic fields across the brain.

He discovered that such experiences are linked with excessive bursts of electrical activity in the temporal lobes.²⁴ A research target would have a helmet or a similar device placed on their head. An artificially generated magnetic field would mimic the firing patterns of neurons in the temporal lobes of the brain.

Electromagnetic fields, provided they are of the correct magnitude and frequency, can also act on the brain cells in the same way as many brain chemicals do, causing them to alter and grow in size and dendritic length. That means that electromagnetic fields of correct magnitude and frequency act as an energy influx upon a dissipative structure, setting up fluctuations that cause the brain to reorganize at a higher level of complexity and coherence, to grow and obtain better memory capabilities and enhancement in learning.²⁵ Such artificially-induced memory enhancements could be of interest in regards to alleged military interrogation sessions, where the interrogator questioned the abductee about their alien abduction experiences.

Researchers from the Advocacy Committee for Human Experimentation Survivors Mind Control (ACHES-MC) also came across survivors who remembered similar experiments with helmet-like devices.¹⁵ Michelle's case seems to support the hypothesis of many researchers that if a person was once selected, the victim is used repeatedly as a human lab animal in one externally controlled and monitored experiment after another.

One should note, however, that the earlier mentioned specific experiences have nothing to do with aliens, although we will show in another chapter that humans in business suits and white lab coats also interrogated her about her alleged alien abduction experiences. Michelle also sometimes finds bruises and puncture marks on her body, and has had other experiences with dark hooded cloaked beings.

Interestingly, her son Evan also seems to be involved in her MILAB experiences. At the age of eight he told her that the strangest and most frightening dream he ever had was when the "little doctors" took them outside on the stretchers!

The late Dr. Karla Turner investigated MILAB experiences of several women in her book Taken: Inside the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda.²⁵ Lisa (pseudonym) is one of those women who probably experienced extensive secret military/intelligence encounters.^{18, 26} Katharina Wilson had known her for about five years and established a contact between she and the authors.

Lisa reports the alleged involvement of military/intelligence personnel after the appearance of dark unmarked helicopters. Some of them have flown so low over her house that they shook the windows. Lisa photographed some of the helicopters. Interestingly, some of the photos were taken during extremely hazy or foggy weather conditions.

Lisa also photographed bruises and marks that were left behind after her experiences. Many times after her encounters she awoke with dark bruises on her body. After one alleged alien abduction she found brown circular marks that formed a triangle formation in the grass in her yard, and her dog suffers from a serious skin disease that her veterinarian can't identify. She also has a photo of her dog showing an unusual mark.

Lisa's alleged alien abduction experiences resemble the standard alien abduction scenarios that are published by most researchers. She claims that she has had experiences with: "Greys,"

"Reptoids," and other humanoid non-human beings. We will concentrate on some of her encounters that have nothing to do with aliens. Following is a note from her journal:^{18, 26}

"...I woke up and found myself on a medical table in a real white brick-walled room helping a black man, who looked like an orderly in a hospital, put a device on my left arm that looked like a blood pressure device. Then I looked over at a woman on another table who was dead or unconscious, with her mouth wide open. She looked between forty and fifty years old. The next thing I remember is, it seemed like I was being pushed through double metal doors. Then I go blank..."

The next day Lisa found nickel-sized bruises on the front of her left leg and said that the inside of her thighs were sore. During another MILAB experience on December 17, 1993, Lisa remembers lying on a table or a stretcher and being pushed down a hallway that was lit with bright lights. Someone was strapping her feet down with Velcro straps. After this, something was inserted in her left ear and she passed out. In 1994 she experienced a traumatic memory of being raped by men in green uniforms.

Other memories give an evidence that she was interrogated by military personnel in a military underground base. We will investigate the so-called "interrogation sessions" in a separate chapter. One disturbing thing about the events she describes are psychological and physiological effects. She is being treated for chronic back problems which are worsened by her abduction/kidnapping experiences. She often finds grass in her underwear, and leaves and mistletoe in her bed following such encounters. She and her family also report strange vans around their house as if someone were looking for something.

Another interesting experience happened to Debby Jordan, the main character in Budd Hopkin's bestselling book Intruders.²⁷ She reports, for instance, in a side note from her own book Abducted!,²⁸ that she was stunned by an alleged friend and brought to a kind of hospital where she was examined by a medical doctor, who removed an implant from her ear!

After the first MILAB article was published in the December 1996 issue of the MUFON UFO Journal, Victoria Alexander, the wife of former Los Alamos National Laboratories "nonlethal" weapons head LTC Dr. John Alexander, tried to ridicule MILABs by debunking Debby Jordan's experience in a letter to the editor.²⁹ She called MILABs the latest twist in abduction folklore and claimed that MILAB experiences are sexually repressed fantasies of lonely women. In the following issues of the MUFON UFO Journal some readers asked Mrs. Alexander what black helicopter harassment near the homes of MILAB abductees; similarities between terrestrial implant procedures and devices and the reports of alleged mind-control victims; and hypnosis transcripts containing detailed descriptions of human/military involvement has to do with sexually repressed fantasies of lonely women. Furthermore, some MILAB abductees are men and are married.

Debunked alien abductee Debby Jordan posted thereafter a short description of her memories concerning this particular experience on her internet page.³⁰ Debby Jordan wrote that she had experienced only this particular MILAB, with the exception of numerous black helicopter fly-bys she and her family had. She wrote that she was introduced to a man she calls Dan. He worked with a very good friend of hers at a General Motors plant in Indianapolis. This man pursued her relentlessly for a few months. Finally she gave in to his request to spend a weekend with him at his cabin some miles south of town. Debby Jordan began to like him.

He picked her up after work and they made a one-hour drive to his cabin. At Dan's cabin she was kidnapped and drugged. She felt a pinch in her arm and everything went black. As she woke up, she could feel being dragged by her arms, being held up and transported downwards by an elevator. After this she wrote:^{28, 30}

"...I seemed to be standing at the end of a long, brightly lit hall. There were several men standing around me. All of them wore orange jump suits and ballcaps. They were all about the same height and weight and all had short haircuts...They were all human and normal looking...and they dragged me down the hall. I tried to keep up with them but I felt drunk or something. I couldn't seem to make my legs work quite right."

She could see chrome handrails on the walls and lots of white tile. They followed a black line on the floor and passed several windows where the glass had tiny wires criss-crossed in it. She remembers also that two men in white lab coats joined the group. One of these men had a ruddy face, snow white hair, a bulbous nose and bright, piercing blue eyes. She recalls that one doctor had a very deep voice and spoke with a Southern drawl, perhaps from Texas.

After a long walk they approached a huge set of doors. The white-haired man put a card inside a slot on the wall next to the doors and they opened. After they entered the doors Debby recalled a very important incident:^{28, 30}

"...As we entered the room, I could see that there were actually many rooms within this room, each separated by glass walls and more wide swinging doors. I recognized some of the equipment to be medical equipment. Especially the examination table in the middle of each room. Some stuff, I didn't recognize at all. I could see my own reflection in the glass wall and I realized I was now wearing what looked like a huge paper gown, paper shoes and a paper bonnet. And I could see other people in those other rooms that were dressed just like me. While I was in the room, the two doctors took my blood, gave me shots, clipped my hair and nails, scraped stuff off my skin and from my tongue and throat..."

After the examination they took photos of her and the white-haired man in the lab coat said that he had discovered a little "bug" in her ear and that he would take it out. She watched as he picked up what looked like a long, thin set of tweezers and proceeded to shove it into her right ear. She couldn't do anything to stop him. When he pulled out the tweezers, he held them up close to her face so she could see what he had taken out of her. She saw a tiny bloody crusty mosquito-like device with wings and bent legs. After the implant removal the man in the lab coat said to her that she was not going to remember any of the procedure anyway.

The next thing she remembered she was lying in Dan's pit group in his living room. The next day Dan seemed nervous and prepared to go home. Debby was disoriented, confused and felt physically ill. At home, piece by piece, the memory of that night began to come back. She wrote of the encounter in her journal and told her family and close friends about the kidnapping. Budd Hopkins, who investigated her alien abductions during this time, convinced her not to call the FBI, since it would be useless. She was afraid she would be arrested for something she couldn't prove. Dan never returned to work and he didn't answer his phone or his pager. It seems to us that Dan was planted to be with Debby, or he was in the wrong place, at the wrong time with the wrong woman.

Many people with alleged alien abduction experiences describe such unwitting encounters with secret military/intelligence agencies. Beth Collins and Anna Jamerson included hypnosis transcripts of an abduction by human military people in their book *Connections*³¹ and Dr. Karla Turner investigated MILABs in her books, too.^{25, 32} MILAB abductee Melinda Leslie collected the reports of more than twenty well known alien abductees who also described MILAB experiences.³³

A worldwide survey by us revealed that most North American abduction researchers have on average two to five MILAB cases in their files. At present, it seems to us that there are no UFO related MILAB cases in Australia, South America, Africa, Europe, England or Ireland. By comparing typical UFO abduction scenarios as described in Dan Wright's MUFON Transcription Project with sixteen well documented MILAB abductees (Casey Turner, Melinda Leslie, Katharina Wilson, Leah Haley, Debby Jordan, Christa Tilton, Diane Johnson, Michelle, Brenda, Pamela, and Polly, Pat, Lisa, Beth, Angie, Amy (Casey and the six females with first names are pseudonyms and taken from Dr. Karla Turner's books),^{25, 32} we found some differences between abductions by alleged alien beings and military/intelligence personnel. MILABs involve the following elements:

Activity of dark unmarked helicopters, the appearance of strange vans or buses outside the houses of abductees, exposure to disorienting electromagnetic fields, drugging, transport with a helicopter, bus or truck to an unknown building or an underground military facility. Usually there are physical after effects, like grogginess and sometimes nausea after the kidnappings. There is also a difference when the abductors appear. In most alien abduction cases, the beings appear through a closed window, wall, or the abductee feels a strange presence in the room. Most abductees report that they are paralyzed from the mental power of the alien beings. At MILABs the abductee reports that the kidnappers give him or her a shot with a syringe. It is interesting that MILAB abductees report that they are examined from human doctors in "rectangular" rooms and not in "round" sterile rooms—as in descriptions of alien abductees.³⁴⁻³⁷ The described rooms, halls and furniture are similar to terrestrial hospital rooms, laboratories or research facilities, and have nothing to do with UFO furniture.

The examination is similar as to alien abductions: the MILAB victim is not mentally paralyzed, but tied to an examination table or a gynecological chair. Sometimes, the abductee gets a strong drink before an examination. This is perhaps a contrast-enhancing fluid or a kind of drug cocktail. Most MILAB abductees remember that they were interrogated concerning their alien abduction experiences by military personnel. The doctors or scientists are mostly dressed in white lab coats and show a primary interest in implants and/or gynecological examinations. In some MILAB cases a military doctor allegedly searched for implants and sometimes implanted the abductee with a military device. Therefore, surgeons seeking alleged alien implants should also be prepared that they may find military devices.

NOTES:

1. Haley, A., Leah. Lost was the Key, Greenleaf Publications, P.O. Box 8152, Murfreesboro, TN 37133, USA, 1993.
2. Wilson, Katharina. The Alien Jigsaw, Puzzle Publishing, P.O. Box 230023, Portland, Oregon, 97281-0023, USA, 1993.
3. Skinner, Frederick, B. Beyond Freedom and Dignity, Knopf, New York, 1971.
4. Bowart, Walter. Operation Mind-Control, Researchers Edition, Tucson Arizona, 1996.
5. Marks, John. The Search for the Manchurian Candidate, W.W. Norton, London, 1979, 1988.
6. Private communication with psychotherapist Valerie Wolf, 1997.
7. Wilson, Katharina. The Alien Jigsaw: Researcher Supplement, Puzzle Publishing, P.O. Box 230023, Portland, Oregon, 97281-0023, USA, 1993.
8. Wilson, Katharina. "Some of them are Military," Project Open Mind, <http://www.alienjigsaw.com>, 1996.
9. Michelle. Hypnosis transcript, 1996.
10. Michelle. Private communications, 1996-1998.
11. Grof, Stanislav. Realms of the Human Unconscious: Observations in LSD Research, The Viking Press, New York, 1967.
12. Lilly, John. The Scientist: A Metaphysical Autobiography, Ronin Publishing, Inc., Post Office Box 1035, Berkeley, California 94701, 1988/1997.
13. Lilly, John, C. The Deep Self, Simon and Schuster, New York, 1977.
14. Hutchinson, Michael. Mega Brain: New Tools and Techniques for Brain Growth and Mind Expansion, Ballantine Books, 1986.
15. Chavoustie, Blanche (e-mail: C4ixxx@aol.com), and Lynne Moss-Sharman (lsharman@microage-tb.com). Private communication, ACHES-MC, Box 108, Syosset, New York 11791, or 200 Cumberland St. N. #2, Thunder Bay, Ontario, Canada, <http://www.ACHES-MC.org>.
16. Private communications with Delora, 1996.
17. Private communications with Dan Wright, 1996, 1997.
18. Private communications with Lisa, 1996, 1997.
19. Carlsberg, Kim. Beyond My Wildest Dream, Bear and Company, Santa Fe, New Mexico, USA, 1995.
20. Science Web. "Fluid Breathing." Starry Messenger Communications, Feedback, 1996.
21. Clark, L. C., and Gollan, R. "Survival of Mammals Breathing Organic Liquids Equivalent with Oxygen at Atmospheric Pressure." Science 152, 1755-1756, 1966.
22. Maccabee, Bruce, S. "Acceleration," National Institute for Discovery Science (NIDS), 1997, and "MUFON 1996 UFO Symposium Proceedings," 183-217, Seguin, TX, 1996.
23. Michelle. Hypnosis regression session during July 1997.
24. Blackmore, Susan. "Alien Abduction: The Inside Story," New Scientist, No. 1952, 19. November, 1994.

25. Turner, Karla. Taken: Inside the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda, Kelt Works, Roland Arkansas, 1994.
26. Wilson, Katharina. Lisa, in: Project Open Mind, <http://www.alienjigsaw.com>, 1996.
27. Hopkins, Budd. Intruders: The Incredible Visitation at Copley Woods, New York, Random House, 1987.
28. Jordan, Debbie, and Mitchell, Kathy. Abducted!: The Story of the Intruders Continue, Carroll and Graf, New York, 1994.
29. Alexander, Victoria. "MILAB Misdemeanor?" MUFON UFO Journal, No. 346, February, 1997.
30. Jordan, Debbie. "Government Interference in my Life," March 9, 1997; <http://www.debshome.com/index.html>.
31. Collins, Beth, and Jamerson, Anna. Connections-Solving our Alien Abduction Mystery, Wild Flower Press, Newberg, Oregon, 1996.
32. Turner, Karla. Into the Fringe: A True Story of Alien Abduction, Berkley Books, New York, 1992.
33. Private communication with Melinda Leslie and various other abductees, 1996, 1997, 1998.
34. Prichard, E., David, and Mack, E., John. Alien Discussions: Proceedings of the Abduction Study Conference held at MIT, Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1994.
35. Bullard, E., Thomas. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 1: Comparative Study of Abduction Reports, Bloomington, Indiana, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, USA), 1987.
36. Bullard, E., Thomas. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 2: Catalogue of Cases, Bloomington, Indiana, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, USA), 1987.
37. Wright, R., Dan. Commonalities and Disparities: Findings of the MUFON Abduction Transcription Project, MUFON International UFO Symposium Proceedings, 1995.

5

The Genetic Aspect of MILABS

"Cloning and the reprogramming of DNA is the first serious step in becoming one with God."

Dr. Richard Seed
CNN, January 6, 1998

"...I'm standing in front of it, and the body in the cylinder is taller. And blonde hair, very blonde hair. The eyes are closed...I touch it. I touch the cylinder and it's almost like...It looks like it's glass, but it almost feels like it's plexiglass..."

MUFON Abduction Transcription Project, 1997

In reviewing the currently available MILAB data, we find that secret research in alleged mind or behavior-control experiments would not explain all MILAB experiences. There are also reports where human medical doctors or scientists, dressed in white lab coats show a primary interest in gynecological examinations.

Alien abductee Beth Collins included a hypnosis transcript of a kidnapping experience by uniformed humans in her book Connections.¹ She was stopped during a car ride by a roadblock, drugged, kidnapped and taken in a truck to a secret research facility. During the examination she experienced a gynecological examination by a female doctor.

There is one well-documented case in Dan Wright's MUFON Abduction Transcription Project files where human/military personnel kidnap a woman from her house and drive her to a secret place, where they showed an interest in gynecological examinations, too.² Apparently the woman has been taken several times since 1993 by men in military uniforms.

She was drugged and her wrists were tied to her hips with plastic cords. She was then carried out of her home into a large truck or a smaller van, where they took her to a secret building. She was carried into the building and placed onto an examining table. Her feet were placed into stirrups, of the sort used for gynecological examinations. A female doctor conducted a gynecological exam. She searched for an embryo, but never found one. The MILAB abductee remembered the officer in charge as an older man with silver hair who threatened and interrogated her. She lost consciousness at some time during the examination or on the trip back to her home. Interestingly, the military always kidnaps her on the same night or the night after an alleged alien abduction experience.

The officer in charge is always the same person, an older man with silver hair who threatens her: "We know where your parents live," or: "Do you want your children to be safe?" He has also repeatedly asked her: "What have they taught you?" He always says: "Well, we'll come back as many times as it takes until we find what we are looking for." Sometimes during the examination or on the trip back to her home, she loses consciousness.

This particular woman has said under hypnosis that, on several occasions since 1988, alleged alien beings took an ovum (egg) from her or impregnated her with an embryo. After the occasions when she believes an embryo was inserted, she skipped one or two ovulations, experienced nausea and noticed her breasts enlarging. These are the symptoms of early pregnancy. Interestingly these pregnancy symptoms disappeared within several weeks. She has also been introduced by non-human beings to babies on an alleged UFO and told that they were hers.

The secret military unit always abducts her on the same night or the next night after an alien abduction experience. This woman, together with her husband, observed strange vans near their home on three occasions. On one side of the van was a device that looked like a satellite dish. On many occasions they also observed dark unmarked helicopters that circled their home on the morning after an alien abduction experience.

The activity of this secret military unit, which seems to be interested in particular alien abductees, would be a logical consequence if their leaders believe that some alien abductions are real and they are seeking impregnated embryos. The gynecological interest in these female abductees, however, points in a direction which could lead to secret genetic experiments. It should be clear that secret military research projects are being conducted for biological and genetic warfare projects. If we speculate that the "core" of the alien abduction phenomenon is indeed real, the same people who are behind these projects would have an interest in alien biology, genetics and mind-control procedures.

Mind-control researcher John Marks reports in his book The Search for the Manchurian Candidate, that the CIA's Office of Research and Development (ORD) had similar advanced secret research projects to the MKULTRA program. He quoted a researcher who worked on a secret genetic ORD project during 1965:³

"...We looked at the manipulation of genes. We were interested in gene splintering. The rest of the world didn't ask until 1976 the type of questions we were facing in 1965...Everybody was afraid of building a super-soldier who would take orders without questioning, like the kamikaze pilot..."

Biological warfare researcher Dr. Leonard G. Horowitz found an interesting link between bio-warfare and genetic research in a 1979 book titled Virology, written by a task force of the National Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases (NIAID).⁴

Virology explained that during the late 1960s, researchers advanced a new theory of evolution. Some believed that evolution of species was primarily based on survival of the fittest.

Viruses were thought to play a more important role. Various researchers proposed that foreign DNA transmitted to plant and animal hosts by viruses caused organisms to evolve.⁵

This means that some researchers believed that viruses hold not only the key to vaccine development and disease prevention, but to human evolution as well. Many researchers claimed that through future research on viral evolution, a genetically-superior race of humans may be synthetically evolved. If this is true, further research in molecular paleontology of endogenous retroviruses could help to elucidate the processes of speciation.⁶

By examining all human blood types, which is currently done by the "Human Genome" project, one can determine varying susceptibilities to different diseases. One could develop a super-human race that is immune to mundane illnesses, and we may speculate that creating a genetically manipulated super-soldier, one who is immune to bio-warfare attacks, would be a dream for military leaders worldwide.

In a recent TV-special about future technologies on Germany's channel PRO7 featuring X-Files star Gillian Anderson, a NATO study was presented where the military invited a leading scientist in robotics to review the possibilities for creating "Cyborgs."⁷ This military study proposed the creation of human beings who have computers instead of brains! For creating such biological robots one would need brainless human clones. Dr. Manfred Clynes, who has studied cybernetics, suggested the concept of re-engineering humans to operate in space without spacesuits in a proposal to the U.S. space program. Dr. Clynes vision of cyborg astronauts includes fitting them with intravenous pumps and slow release drug systems to automatically sustain the astronaut.

During the broadcast another cyberneticist, Dr. Joe Rosen, revealed that NATO had inquired into his work and invited him to take part in a conference entitled "Robots and Biological Systems: Towards a New Bionics." There are rumors of a cybernetics project being conducted by the U.S. Air Force to modify human beings into superior creatures. Writer and researcher Martin Caidin claims that he has information proving that military service personnel acted as volunteers for procedures to turn them into cyborgs in early 1970. From this NATO study one can see that some military scientists have science-fiction-like visions in their minds.

1996 and 1997 were the years of the "clones." On a summer night in July 1996, a unique lamb was born in a shed at the Roslin Institute in Scotland. The lamb was a clone, born not out of the union of a sperm and an egg but out of adult genetic material from a sheep's udder. Bio-tech and genetic scientists celebrated this event as a scientific milestone equal to the splitting of the atom. The name of the sheep is "Dolly" and her birth was kept secret until February 1997 when the announcement made worldwide headlines.

Until Dolly was born, cloning was still the stuff of science fiction. Using Dr. Willmut's technique, human adults could theoretically now be cloned, too. Bio-tech companies would now use cloned animals for producing drugs for human use, to make our own body parts for transplantation, and would use cloned animals for lab-experiments.⁸ Some scientists who are working on bio-technology projects claim that cloning "brainless" humans for transplanting organs will be a reality in the future. Presently, ethical considerations go against such research projects.

Shortly after the announcement of Dolly, scientists in the U.S. reported that they had cloned monkeys from cloned embryos.⁹ Now we have sheep with human genes,¹⁰ frog clones¹¹ and more "Frankenstein" experiments like the birth of a monkey whose mother is a cow.¹²

However, what was not reported in most press releases was the fact that the Roslin researchers produced many abnormal sheep clones before Dolly. Many of the lambs in the clone experiments were born abnormally large. Most cloning experiments produced lambs that were nearly twice the size born naturally. Dr. Alan Coleman, the research director of PPL Thera-

Scientists produced these poor sibling rhesus monkeys from cloned embryos in the technology's closest application to a species related to humans. (APA)

peutics said that there is not yet enough information on the effects of transferring embryos from one sheep breed to another.¹³

On January 6, 1998, Dr. Richard Seed, a physicist from Chicago announced that "Cloning and the reprogramming of DNA is the first serious step in becoming one with God" and that he is ready to start experiments on cloning human beings for infertile couples.¹⁴ Dr. Seed, who has done fertility research, proposed setting up a clinic that would clone babies for would-be parents.

United States president Bill Clinton has proposed banning such research for five years, saying it is morally unacceptable. While this legislation is pending, Clinton has banned the use of all federal funds for such experiments.¹⁵ We believe that this ban is worthless since most "black projects" are done in the private sector.

Dr. Seed would use a technique which involves an unfertilized egg from a female, removing the nucleus, which contains most of the genetic information, and replacing it with the nucleus of an adult cell. Dr. Seed said that he will do his research in human cloning in other countries if the U.S. bans this kind of research in the near future. As we now knew from animal cloning projects, the first human clones would be very ill and genetically deformed.

Recently Japanese scientists reported that a goat fetus survived in an artificial womb for three weeks before its birth.¹⁶ The scientists who designed the womb say that it could help premature human babies to survive. Dr. Yoshinori Kuwabara of Juntendo University in Tokyo and his colleagues removed a goat fetus from its mother seventeen weeks into the pregnancy. They placed the fetus in a tank filled with liquid to simulate amniotic fluid. A machine pumped nutrients and oxygen into the animal's blood. Dr. Kuwabara also hopes artificial wombs could one day be used to help fetuses in the final stages of multiple pregnancies when the womb becomes too cramped.

Interestingly, alleged alien and MILAB abductees both describe seeing small tubes or incubators inside UFOs, as well as inside terrestrial underground research facilities. Most of the time the witnesses describe these infants as appearing very ill. Alien abductees and abductees with MILAB experiences suspect these infants may be "hybrids."

The earlier mentioned MILAB abductee of Dan Wright's MUFON Transcription Project files recalled such a tube experience but not on the same night as when the military kidnapped her. She observed several tubes with different bodies inside and was placed in front of a tube with a body of a tall blond human woman inside. She described the tube as a glass or plexiglass cylinder inside an alleged UFO.²

"I'm standing in front of it, and the body in the cylinder is taller. And blonde hair, very blonde hair. The eyes are closed...I touch it. I touch the cylinder and it's almost like...It looks like it's glass, but it almost feels like it's plexiglass. Um, and I look down at the floor on it. I don't know what that is...It's very human...Except taller... I'd say it was six foot something...There are a lot of cylinders...Different people..."

Another alien abductee under hypnosis described vertical columns about eighteen inches to two feet in diameter. Its glass sections were filled with a liquid. Inside she saw little creatures that resembled small fetal "Grey"-like beings floating in the fluid.²

It would be logical for someone who is interested in cloning aliens or humans to develop and use tube-like artificial wombs and incubators filled with nutrient fluid for breeding purposes. Incredibly, the experiences of some MILAB abductees suggest that such projects could be already going on behind the backs of the official medical research community. Therefore, it could be that secret research into artificial wombs and experiments on human fetuses is also taking place inside hidden "black projects."

Some alleged alien abductees report that they have seen small alien-like beings as well as adult humans in a state of suspended animation inside tube-like incubators. Some of these abductees claim that the humans looked altered, like hybrids. This would fit the hypothesis of genetic research done by the "Greys." But there are also cases where abductees report human doctors escorting them through underground laboratories where they have seen humans in clear tanks.¹⁷ MILAB abductee Christa Tilton described such an experience.¹⁸

In the 1960s, Dr. Robert Goodlin experimented with human embryos by keeping them alive in artificial womb-like steel containers. After some time he was forced to stop his experiments by the scientific community and the public. (GEO)

Alleged alien and MILAB abductees describe seeing small tubes or incubators inside UFOs, as well as inside terrestrial underground research facilities. Illustration of an abductee who remembered under hypnosis that she saw cloned humans in tubes. (Jonesy)

Dr. Yoshinori Kuwabara of Juntendo University in removed a goat fetus from its mother seventeen weeks into the pregnancy. They placed the fetus in a tank filled with liquid to simulate amniotic fluid. A machine pumped nutrients and oxygen into the animal's blood. Dr. Kuwabara hopes that artificial wombs will one day be used to help fetuses in the final stages of multiple pregnancies when the womb becomes too cramped. (APA)

Some alien and MIL-AB abductees describe under hypnosis vertical columns that resemble artificial wombs. Its glass sections are filled with liquid. Inside are little creatures that resemble small fetal "Grey"-like beings floating in the fluid. (Jonesy)

"...I did see what I thought were humans in clear tanks underground. The tanks were leaning about twenty five degrees backward until they touched the wall. The room was a regular room...like a laboratory. This was never viewed on a spacecraft. They seemed to be, like I said, in a state of suspended animation. There was a clear liquid filled totally in the tank casing...I believe these humans were being kept alive by some type of tubes behind their head..."

Christa Tilton is not alone in such an experience. There are other abductees who claim that they were taken to military underground facilities where they saw people in such glass or plastic tubes.¹⁷

Well-known researcher Linda Moulton Howe cited the interesting MILAB experience of abductee Jim Sparks in her new book Glimpses of Other Realities Vol. II. Sparks recalled that he was abducted and woke in a room that looked like the interior of a jet hanger. He saw armed military guards lined up with their backs facing the wall about every twenty feet. On the surface were two barrel-shaped transparent containers with a man and a woman inside. He then saw two men in white lab coats and an alien being.

Interestingly, Jim Sparks experienced how humans are turned into aliens and how they are turned back from aliens into humans. Since he claims that he felt drugged, it could be that the aliens were in reality humans using drug induced alien screens. The transport system resembles tube-like incubators, tanks or artificial wombs like the ones reported by other abductees.

Abductee Linda Porter claims that she saw several human-like beings kept in suspended animation in plexiglass type containers under U.S. government security in a military underground facility east of San Diego. She recalled that one of these humans had sandy-colored hair. She could see monitoring wires connected to the body, tubes for nutrients and waste removal and control panels. Again such descriptions resemble terrestrial laboratory devices and not advanced alien technology.

Katharina Wilson claims that she saw two women during a MILAB abduction in 1993, who she believes were clones of herself.¹⁹ Both clones lived in an underground facility and one of them was about eight months pregnant. Wilson had a conversation with a male abductee, who told her that he had seen what he believed to be human clones in a military underground research facility. He said they were all sleeping inside some kind of rectangular containers that were lined up in rows.

Diane (pseudonym) has had ongoing alien abduction experiences since her childhood. As she grew older she got flashbacks of human kidnappings where she was taken to military underground research facilities. She reports elevators, halls and gangways like many other MILAB abductees. She also reports that she was taken on a tour of a part of such a facility by a man in a white lab coat. He showed her animals and humans that had been biologically altered. She had other MILAB experiences where she reported being taken to an underground facility where she saw a number of nude children enclosed in glass chambers appearing to be asleep.^{20, 21}

Therapist Barbara Bartholic was a close colleague of the late Dr. Karla Turner. During a regression by Barbara Bartholic, a man named Fred related the following story during an alleged alien abduction:^{19, 22}

"...I feel like they are doing something to me with the animal. They are doing something with my blood, my sperm and my genes. They are injecting fluids into this animal...Then I remember seeing another type of animal running around. I can't remember what the animal looked like, but it was bizarre. Seems like the animal is part human and part animal..."

It is clear that alien abductees report experiences inside alleged UFOs that are similar to what some MILAB abductees report seeing inside military research facilities, although such cases are in the minority compared to "pure" alien abduction cases. Some of these MILAB abductees report rows containing several identical people, each one in its own tube. It is well known that there is usually a ten to twenty year lag between a laboratory development of a new technology and its applications at large. One can therefore only speculate whether someone has cloned "human Dollys" in secret. Again, it should be noted that the above mentioned abductees are not alone and that their cases represent a larger sample of individuals.

NOTES:

1. Collins, Beth, and Jamerson, Anna. Connections-Solving our Alien Abduction Mystery, Wild Flower Press, Newberg, Oregon, 1996.
2. Private communication with Dan Wright, 1996.
3. Marks, John. The Search for the Manchurian Candidate, W.W. Norton London, 1979, 1988.
4. Horowitz, Leonard, G. Emerging Viruses: Aids and Ebola-Nature, Accident or Intentional?, Tetrahedon, Inc., 1996.
5. Simpson, D.I.H. Marburg and Ebola Virus Infections: A Guide for Diagnosis, Management and Control, World Health Organization, Geneva No. 36, 5-28, 1977.
6. NAID Task Force: "The Evolution of Viruses," in: U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Virology: NAID Task Force Report, Vol. 2, Acute Viral Infections, Washington, D.C., NIH, 79-1832, 155-160, 1979.
7. "Future Fantastic," German TV Channel PRO7, January 18, 1998.
8. Kolota, Gina. "Dolly: Her True Story," London Sunday Times, October 19, 1997.
9. "Scientists Grow Monkeys from Cloned Embryos," CNN, March 2, 1997.
10. Report: "Cloned Sheep has Human Gene," CNN, July 24, 1997.
11. Connor, Steve, and Cadbury, Deborah. "Headless Frog Opens Way for Human Organ Factory," London Sunday Times, October 19, 1997.
12. Wettlauf der Forscher bei Klon-Technik: Kuh brachte ein Affenbaby zur Welt, Neue Kronen Zeitung, January 21, 1998.
13. Connor, Steve. "Bad news for Polly Cloners: Giant Lambs Put Future of Cloning in Doubt," London Sunday Times, July 27, 1997.
14. "U.S. Scientist Wants to Clone Humans," CNN, January 6, 1998.
15. "Clinton Bars Federal Funds for Human Cloning Research," CNN, March 4, 1997.
16. "Here's Looking at You Kid," (Brief Article About Artificial Womb Research). New Scientist, p. 25, No. 2092, 26. July, 1997.
17. Private communication with several MILAB abductees, 1996-1998.
18. Private communication with Christa Tilton, 1997.
19. Wilson, Katharina. "When Nightmares Come True: Human Cloning," <http://www.alienjigsaw.com>, 1997.
20. Hamilton III, William, F. Alien Magic: UFO Crashes-Abductions-Underground Bases, Global Communications, 1996.

21. Tulien, Thom. Video interview with MILAB abductee Diane, and private communication, 1997.
22. Turner, Karla. Into the Fringe, Berkley Publishing Group, 1993.

6

Otherworldly Journeys and Military Underground Facilities

"...This looks like a garage or something. We go through a door. It's bright in this hallway. We turn right. My friend is just ahead of me. At the next hallway, he keeps going straight with two guys, but we turn to the right and walk a few feet to an elevator door. He put a credit card-like thing in a slot next to the door. The slot is vertical and there are a red and a green light above. The door opens...we go inside...but there are no buttons to push. We are going down...the door opens and it smells funny...like a basement with a cesspool overflow problem..."

MILAB abductee Michelle
September, 1995

"...I can remember flying in a beautiful, golden ship and it went into a mountainside and flew under the ground, into a huge cavernous room, where to my surprise were human beings dressed in military uniforms, with machine guns slung behind their backs..."

MILAB abductee Evelyn
January, 1996

It is interesting to note that almost all MILAB/alien abductees claim that they were transported to secret military underground facilities. The research of Dr. Richard Sauder has shown that almost every federal agency or military institution has secret underground facilities with locations all over the U.S. Some of these facilities are so secret that there are only rumors about their existence.¹

Other countries also built huge underground complexes during the Cold War. A rural bungalow in Essex, England was the location the British government and military commanders would have run the country from had England been attacked by a nuclear strike. Behind the blast screens that protect the bungalow is the entrance to an amazing labyrinth of rooms built in a hillside, encased in ten foot thick reinforced concrete and 100 feet underground.²

Built in secrecy and under strict military security, the locals and contractors knew nothing of what was concealed in this hillside or how it would be used. More than 600 key personnel, including the prime minister, could live and organize all the facets of a nuclear war from this underground facility.

By reviewing the alien abduction study by Dr. Thomas Bullard we found that "Otherworldly Journeys" to strange underground places are common in alleged alien abductions. Dr. Bullard found a specific pattern in "Otherworldly Journeys."^{3, 4}

1. Preparation: The alien beings put the abductee into a protective environment for the trip.
2. Travel: Actual transit to the "Otherworld" occurs.
3. Underground: The abductee passes underground.
4. Landscape: The abductee sees the surface of the "Otherworld."
5. Museum: The tour of the "Otherworld" includes a stop at a museum or zoo.

Dr. Bullard's study includes ten alien abduction cases, where the abductee experienced an "Otherworldly Journey" in an underworld during their alien abductions. A typical "Otherworldly Journey" is Betty Andreasson's experience in 1950. She experienced how a UFO plunged into the sea and came out again, then entered huge crystalline caverns that broadened into a vast underworld. Less frequently the examination occurs on the "Otherworld." During an abduction experience in 1967, Betty Andreasson passed through a long dark tunnel like a mine shaft carved out of rock.

Abductee Gaynor Sunderland was sucked up through a tunnel in an apparent out-of-body experience, while another abductee, Sandy Larson saw the Earth in space through the end of a luminous tunnel on her way back to the Earth. The nature of the underworld in the "Otherworld" is made clear by the means of entry when the UFO flies inside a mountain. Brazilian UFO researcher Dr. Gilda Moura informed us that she investigated alien abduction cases where abductees report "Otherworldly Journeys" into underground caves in Brazil.⁵ Brazilian abductee Jose Antone da Silva claimed that troll-like beings abducted him to an "Otherworldly" underground prison consisting of stone.

However, these "Otherworldly Journeys" are not comparable to documented MILAB/underground kidnappings. Most "Otherworldly Journey" experiences have a mystical touch, while the MILAB underground experiences seem to be a manifestation in our reality. MILAB abductees describe elevators, hallways, generators, conference and medical rooms. Contrary to experiences during "Otherworldly Journeys," if a MILAB victim is kidnapped to an underground facility the abductors examined the victims there. Some abductees report Otherworldly Journeys and MILAB experiences separately.^{7, 8}

Beth (pseudonym), an abductee from Dr. Turner's book Taken: Inside the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda,⁷ described flashbacks that started with her seeing a small flying disc entering a well lit underground city. The craft flew on through a tunnel passage into an enormous cavern that contained several buildings. UFOs parked in various locations where alien beings worked side by side with human military personnel. In her next flashback, Beth flew through a body of water, into a tunnel and then emerged from a lake.

Evelyn (pseudonym), another MILAB abductee recalled the following:⁸

"...I can remember flying in a beautiful, golden ship and it went into a mountainside and flew under the ground, into a huge cavernous room, where to my surprise, were human beings, dressed in military uniforms, with machine guns slung behind their backs. I walked in a line with some other people and we passed through an 'energized gate' that somehow does something to your atoms. I remarked to my self: 'The military have some alien technology!'"

Such flashbacks should be investigated very carefully, since they could be a mixture of an "Otherworldly Journey" (entering a well-lit underground city or a mountain with a UFO or a golden ship) and a MILAB/underground experience (seeing military personnel), where hallucinogenic drugs could be involved.

It is also important to note that some abductees have flashbacks where they see aliens and military personnel together, but during hypnosis the abductee remembers only the military personnel.^{9, 10} Perhaps the abductee mixed an alien abduction experience and a MILAB scenario, or the abductee underwent some kind of hypnoprogramming by military psychiatrists during the kidnapping.

The military may use electronic mind-control procedures like Electronic Dissolution of Memory (EDM), which is accomplished by electronically jamming the brain, causing the neurotransmitter acetylcholine to create static that blocks out sight and sounds. After this mind-control procedure a MILAB victim would have no memory of what he/she saw or heard. The mind of the abductee would be blank.^{11, 12}

In the next chapter we will show how relatively easy it would be to create artificially induced alien abduction experiences as a cover-up for secret experiments.

NOTES:

1. Sauder, Richard. Underground Bases and Tunnels: What is the Government Trying to Hide?, Dracon Press, 1995.
2. Underground Nuclear Command Centre, Kevelton Hatch, Brentwood, Essex, CM 15 0LB, England.
3. Bullard, E., Thomas. UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 1: Comparative Study of Abduction Reports, Bloomington, Indiana, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, MD 20712 USA), 1987.

4. Bullard, E., Thomas: UFO-Abductions: The Measure of a Mystery. Volume 2: Catalogue of Cases. Bloomington, IN, (FUFOR: P. O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, MD 20712 USA), 1987.
5. Private communication with Dr. Gilda Maura, 1996.
6. Lammer, Helmut. "Preliminary Findings of Project MILAB: Evidence for Military Kidnappings of Alleged UFO Abductees." MUFON UFO Journal, Nr. 344, December 1996.
7. Turner, Karla. Taken: Inside the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda, Kelt Works, Roland Arkansas, 1994.
8. Private communications with Evelyn, 1996.
9. Haley, A., Leah. Lost was the Key. Greenleaf Publications, P.O. Box 8152, Murfreesboro, TN 37133, USA, 1993.
10. Hamilton, F., William III. Alien Magic: UFO Crashes-Abductions-Underground Bases, Global Communications, page: 104-106, 1996.
11. Cannon, Martin: "Mind-Control and the American Government," Lobster, No. 23, England, 1992.
12. Bowart, Walter. Operation Mind-Control, Researchers Edition, Tucson Arizona, 1996.

7

Creating an Imaginary Alien Abductee

"...They're...uh...humanoid, like. Two arms, two legs, head. But...they're not wearing any clothes. They don't need to. Uh...what color are they? Their skin is kind of like naugahyde. Sort of very solid. No wrinkles. They're...uh...smooth, everything is very smooth. Their eyes...let's see...uh they're large, and they are bright. Uh...kind of looks like they're looking at you. It's not like...when a human face looks at you and you know that they're feeling something. You can't see any expressions on their faces. Uh...let's see. I kind of get the feeling that they don't have any noses. And...very soft, round mouths...They don't have any noses..."

Dr. Alvin Lawson's Imaginary Abduction Study

Interestingly, most MILAB abductees report that they saw alien beings and human military personnel working side-by-side. A naive researcher or a dogmatic believer in the "alien working side-by-side with terrestrial military units" would believe such a scenario to be real. It is more probable that "someone" would like to make us believe that this is the case.¹ If the abductee underwent some kind of hypnoprogramming by military psychiatrists during the MILAB experience it should have been possible to create imaginary alien abductees.

Over the past decade, a research project was conducted at an Anaheim, California hospital by Dr. Alvin Lawson and physician W. C. McCall. Their research has led to a scientifically testable hypothesis in regard at least to some alien abduction experiences—the so called "Birth Memories Hypothesis."^{2,3}

The birth memory hypothesis asserts that most alien abduction experiences are a spontaneous involuntary fantasized sequence of images and events unconsciously based on the witness' own prenatal or birth memories. Interestingly, this was given little credence in the alien abduction research community and was mostly ridiculed by prominent ET-proponents. It should be noted that Dr. Alvin Lawson is not a UFO debunker and he believes that some UFOs are physically real anomalies.

In an attempt to objectively evaluate alien abductee claims, they induced imaginary abduction experiences in sixteen volunteers who had demonstrated no significant knowledge of UFOs. Although Dr. Lawson and Dr. McCall expected major dissimilarities between the imaginary recovered stories of the sixteen test subjects, an averaged comparison of data from four imaginary and four real abduction cases showed no substantive differences. Also, numerous patterns of images and events echoing well-established details from real alien abduction encounters emerged from the imaginary sessions.

All of the imaginary subjects described some images and incidents identical with or similar to those in published and unpublished alien abductions. These details ranged from "placental disc-like crafts" hovering overhead, small "fetal humanoids," "womb-like chambers" to uncommon "tunnel of light," "floating," and "bonding with an alien" images, to rare details of high strangeness such as projecting or retracting light beams with "cut-off" ends and "passing through solid walls."

Dr. Lawson published the complete study including statistics, graphs, tables and hypnosis transcripts of four imaginary abductees on his internet site.⁴ All four imaginary abductees entered a UFO by passing through its solid bottom, and none recalled a doorway.

They found that although the imagery and events in alien abduction reports resemble those in several psychological processes, they are especially similar to revived birth memory narratives such as those conducted with hallucinogenic drugs by LSD researcher Dr. Stanislaw Grof.⁵

Dr. Lawson believes that the content of abduction experiences is largely inherent in the mind's store of fantasies and "prenatal memories," and it does not originate in movies, TV, or reading alien abduction books. Such spontaneously remembered birth memories could indeed be responsible for many alien abduction experiences, although we believe his hypothesis can't explain "all" alien abduction experiences such as multiple abductions²² or abductions which were allegedly witnessed by other people.²⁴

Dr. Lawson's imaginary abductees reported also "tube" and "tunnel" scenarios. He claims that such scenarios have analogies to the vaginal tunnel. Dr. Lawson believes that the boarding of a UFO is often similar to birth memories. The abductee seems to be "reborn" inside the craft, in one part of a complex series of prenatal events. One of his imaginary abductees described such an event:⁴

"A long tube came out of the UFO, and it was about two feet above me... And this long cylinder-like tube came down. It was grey and...was like all colored lights inside of it...I seem to be floating for a second, and then I was inside..."

Real alien abductees have experiences that are often nearly identical. Therefore, a traumatic birth memory could contain similar events to real alien abductions. Such events include loss of control, bright lights, lifted by a tunnel of light (taken aboard through a tube or tunnel), image constants (geometric, battlements, starbursts...), birth imagery/events, a big room (relief after the pressure of vaginal birth), humming womb sounds, extreme tastes and odors (common in Dr. Grof's drug induced revived birth memories), physical and/or moral examination, umbilical pain, breathing problems, head and body pressure, paralysis (body, legs or sleep paralysis), cervical doorways, womblike rooms, body size change, life review, messages or bonding with an alien being, birth lab/room events, apocalyptic events (as occurred in Dr. Grof's drug induced revived vaginal birth memories), amnesia/time loss...⁴

Dr. Grof's subjects often described big rooms and huge high-domed circular halls after being injected with a psychoactive stimulant. The source of imaginary abduction experiences, Dr. Lawson maintains, is the collective emotional and sometimes traumatic memories of prenatal experiences. The experience begins in the womb, then proceeds to the birth-struggle, which ends with a bright new realm where there are other beings. In the new realm (the physical world outside the womb—the birth lab) are physical developmental and moral tests. Dr. Lawson believes that good-womb and bad-womb memories remain along with a variety of prenatal experiences that please or haunt the minds of some ordinary people.⁴

Dr. Grof describes six types of non-human beings in his revived birth memory study (human, fetal, animal, robot, exotic creature, apparitional). These types come close to reported alien beings. The alien beings reported in womb-like UFOs are like a "fetus" in its maternal womb—resembling "Grey"-like beings. This is the reason why people without knowledge of reported alien entities report similar beings to "real" abductees.

One test subject of Dr. Lawson's study saw two entity types on board the imaginary UFO. One being resembled a human with white clothes, while the second type of beings were reptiles, which are also common in "real" alien abduction experiences. Concerning the question of how many beings are in the room the imaginary abductee answered:

"...There are two behind me...It seems that he should look nice like the other one but he doesn't. He sort of has a scaly-like skin, and I don't like him very much...I am not very comfortable... when I start thinking that way, I look back at the bearded one, and I feel OK again...He must be the leader. The other...the other two...scaly ones...they don't...they just seem to be sort of non-existent or guard-type things or something..."

Interestingly, this imaginary abductee also reported reptoid non-human beings on board the imaginary UFO. He was frightened like most "real" alien abductees or Michelle as she encountered the reptoid. We think that one can see from Dr.

Three entity types as reported in "real" (above) and "imaginary" (below) alien close encounter experiences. The upper left humanoid being was witnessed by Judy Kendal during an abduction with her three sisters. The reptoid being in the middle was witnessed in 1979 by a man in Santa Fe. The floating translucent being at the upper right was encountered by Katharina Wilson. The humanoid, reptoid and translucent beings below were described by three "imaginary alien abductees" of Dr. Alvin Lawson's study. (Dr. Alvin Lawson/MUFON/Katharina Wilson/William Hamilton III-TAL)

Lawson's and Dr. McCall's imaginary alien abductee study that it would be easy for psychiatrists or psychologists who work for secret military/intelligence agencies to create alien abduction scenarios that appear similar to "real" abduction encounters.

Drug-induced hallucinations and related psychological processes have long been studied by researchers into hallucinogenic imagery. Most researchers in LSD and related drugs worked for military/intelligence mind-control projects like CHATTER, BLUEBIRD, ARTICHOKE, MKULTRA and MKSEARCH. During those days government researchers also secretly reviewed drug research done by independent psychologists.

Significantly, Dr. Stanislav Grof reported that on several occasions during the sessions, LSD subjects had reported contacts or encounters with UFOs and other types of extraterrestrial space ships.⁵

One of Dr. Grof's LSD test subjects was medicated after a session with Niamid, an antidepressant drug from the group of monoaminooxidase inhibitors. The researchers found that long premedication with Niamid enormously increased the resistance to LSD and made the person almost immune to its effects. Dr. Grof published a short paper about the effects of Niamid, which he considered theoretically interesting but marginal to his research efforts.

He was surprised that the publication aroused an unexpected response. Although the article was published in an obscure journal, within several weeks he received hundreds of requests for reprints from military research centers all over the world. This made Dr. Grof realize that the use of drugs like LSD was being seriously considered for other purposes than the intensification and acceleration of psychotherapy.⁵ Therefore, interested military/intelligence psychologists should be aware of the reported parallels between drug-induced hallucinations and alien abduction experiences since the 1960s!

Recently, Dr. Norman S. Dos and Dr. Gilda Moura published an interesting article in the Journal of Scientific Exploration about topographic brain mapping of alleged UFO experiencers in Brazil.⁶ A group of Brazilian subjects claiming experiences with UFOs involving contact or abduction with non-human beings were selected for topographic brain mapping. One selection criteria was the ability to enter into a self-reported, non-ordinary state of consciousness or trance that developed spontaneously after their abduction or contact experiences. The ability of the experiencers to enter into a trance developed after their reported contact with non-human beings and was not the fruit of years of intense meditation.

Interestingly they found unusual increases of beta brain wave activity (30 Hz) which may also be produced by ingestion of hallucinogenic drugs, such as LSD, mescaline or psilocybin, although none of their test subjects were using these substances at the time of testing.⁶ This important finding again shows a connection of hallucinogenic drug effects to alleged alien abduction experiences.

One should also ask if it's possible to remotely manipulate the beta brain wave activity of a human from a distance to simulate drug induced states. Electromagnetic (EMF) brain wave stimulation has been in development since MKULTRA and related mind-control research projects of the early 1950s, which included neurological research into radiation (non-ionizing EMF) and bio-electric research and development.⁷⁻⁹

Various military/intelligence agencies have shown a great interest in EMF research. According to researchers, informants and released documents, the National Security Agency (NSA) developed a technology to remotely monitor the evoked potential from EEG.⁸⁻¹⁰ The neuronal activity in the human brain creates a shifting electrical pattern that has a shifting magnetic flux. This magnetic flux puts out a constant frequency of 30-50 Hz, 5 milliwatt EMF-wave. Contained in the electromagnetic emission from the brain are spikes and patterns, so-called "evoked potentials."

Every thought, reaction, motor command, auditory event and visual image in the brain has a corresponding evoked potential or a set of evoked potentials. By stimulating these potentials one gets so-called Biological Process Control Weapons. The EMF-emission from the brain can also be decoded into current thoughts, images and sounds in a subject's brain.

A declassified MKULTRA document of subproject 119 dated August 17, 1960 shows that the CIA investigated technologies related to the recording, analysis and interpretation of bioelectric signals from the human organism and activation of human behavior by remote means. The MKULTRA staff was interested in bioelectric sensors as a source of significant electrical potential and methods of pick-up, recording, amplification and techniques of activation of the human organism by remote means.

One invention that the CIA had interest in is United States Patent 3,951,134 from April 20, 1976. This patent describes an apparatus and a method for remotely monitoring and altering brain waves. In this patent, the brain waves of a human are detected from a remote location. Electromagnetic signals of different frequencies are simultaneously transmitted to the brain of humans where the signals interfere with one another to yield a waveform that is modulated by brain waves.

The interference waveform, which is representative of the brain wave, is re-transmitted to a receiver where it is demodulated and amplified. The demodulated analyzed waveform can also be used to produce a signal that is transmitted back to the brain to effect a desired change in electrical activity and behavior.

Dr. Joseph Sharp and Allen Frey experimented with microwaves, trying to transmit spoken words directly into the audio cortex via pulsed microwaves. Dr. Frey's work in this field, dating back to the sixties, gave rise to the so-called "Frey Effect," which is commonly known as microwave hearing.^{11, 12} It is noteworthy that alleged alien abductees and mind-control victims report that they sometimes hear voices in their heads, although they are not schizophrenic.

United States Patent [19]

Stocklin

[11] Patent Number: 4,858,612

[45] Date of Patent: Aug. 22, 1989

[34] HEARING DEVICE

[76] Inventor: Philip L. Stocklin, P.O. Box 2111, Satellite Beach, Fla. 32937

[21] Appl. No.: 562,742

[22] Filed: Dec. 19, 1983

[51] Int. Cl.⁴ A61N 1/30

[52] U.S. Cl. 128/422; 178/419 S

[58] Field of Search 128/419 R, 419 S, 422,
128/653, 771, 732, 741, 746, 791, 804; 340/407

[56] References Cited

U.S. PATENT DOCUMENTS

3,490,458 1/1970 Allison 128/421
3,751,605 8/1973 Michelson 128/1 R
3,951,134 4/1976 Malach 128/131
4,428,377 1/1984 Zollner et al. 128/419 R

FOREIGN PATENT DOCUMENTS

893311 2/1972 Canada 128/422
2811120 9/1978 Fed. Rep. of Germany - 128/419 R
391196 1/1978 U.S.S.R. 128/419 R

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

Gerkin, G., "Electroencephalography & Clinical Neurophysiology", vol. 135, No. 6, Dec. 1973, pp. 652-653.
Frye et al., "Science", vol. 181, Jul. 27, 1973, pp. 356-358.

Bisc, William, "Low Power Radio-Frequency and Microwave Effects on Human Electroencephalogram and Behavior", Physiol. Chem. & Physics 10 (1978).

Primary Examiner—William E. Kamin
Attorney, Agent, or Firm—Wegner & Breitschneider

[57] ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for simulation of hearing in mammals by introduction of a plurality of microwaves into the region of the auditory cortex is shown and described. A microphone is used to transform sound signals into electrical signals which are in turn analyzed and processed to provide controls for generating a plurality of microwave signals at different frequencies. The multifrequency microwaves are then applied to the brain in the region of the auditory cortex. By this method sounds are perceived by the mammal which are representative of the original sound received by the microphone.

29 Claims, 7 Drawing Sheets

This U.S. patent describes a method and an apparatus for simulation of hearing in mammals by introduction of a plurality of microwaves into a region of the auditory cortex. (Harlan Girard) on the development of drugs such as Prozac during the late 1980s. Presently, however, scientists are studying brains of "normal" people determining chemicals that cause certain personality traits. Imminent breakthroughs in this area will lead to the possibility of made-to-order off-the-shelf personalities. Additionally, these new drugs should have no serious side effects and no addictive properties.¹⁶ Maj. Klaarer and Maj. Mitchell suggest that psychopharmacology has great application for nonlethal warfare and should be closely followed.¹⁵

The use of mind-altering drugs to influence the population of an enemy state is not a new idea. In 1949 Edgewood scientist Wilson L. Green seized upon the idea of "psychochemical warfare."¹⁷ Dr. Green listed 61 compounds, ranging from alcohol to mescaline, and speculated that if a small percentage of the enemy's troops or civilian population was exposed to those compounds they would suffer from symptoms of hysteria, panic, seizures and hallucinations.¹⁸

Serotonin is the chemical that LSD and other psychedelic drugs mimic in order to produce hallucinogenic effects.¹⁹ This means that one could use ELF-waves for increasing Serotonin levels in human brains and induce hallucinogenic LSD-like effects in test subjects.

British UFO researcher Albert Budden found indications that consistent alien types, which are independently reported across various populations, could be based on the re-occurring irradiation of the same combination of brain areas by similar types of electromagnetic radiation.²⁰ He claims that "Grey"-like beings could be neurological sensory models depicting the electrical stimulation of the visual cortex in a person who is exposed to electromagnetic radiation (kindling phenomenon). The visual areas at the back of the brain have been both sensitized and irradiated, and the figure is represented as having all features reduced, except for the eyes which are depicted as oversized at the expense of the rest of the body.

US News and World Report revealed that the American Radiobiology Research Institute in Bethesda also experimented with the above described technique during the early 1980s.¹³ Dr. Eldon Byrd was the a head of such an exotic electromagnetic weapons project. Dr. Byrd claimed that he and his colleagues had looked at electrical activity in the brain and how to influence it.

He used ELF (Extremely Low Frequency) waves for stimulating the brain for the release of the aforementioned behavior regulating chemicals. During these experiments, the test subjects would experience instant flu-like symptoms and nausea. Since the ELF field was extremely weak, the waves were undetectable and reversible. Dr. Byrd claimed that he had never tested any of his hardware in the field and his project, scheduled for four years, was closed down after two.

Because the technique worked, Byrd suspects that the program went "black." Other scientists told U.S. News and World Report similar tales of research on electromagnetic radiation turning top secret once successful results were achieved.¹³ There are clues that such work is continuing in "black projects," and it is possible that some MILAB abductees are being used as the guinea pigs for these futuristic research programs. Because these projects are secretive, they are not under congressional oversight and alleged alien abductees are easy to ridicule.

Further military interest in advanced EMF-research in covert operations can be found by reviewing a future military study called "New World Vistas." This study was a major undertaking for the USAF Scientific Advisory Board,²¹ was published in June 1996 and is a forecast of possible military developments over the next fifty years.

In this publication military scientists suggest that the development of electromagnetic energy sources, the output of which can be pulsed, shaped, and focused, affects the human brain/body in a fashion that will allow one to prevent voluntary muscular movements, control emotions and actions, produce sleep, transmit suggestions, interfere with both short-term and long-term memory, produce an experience set and delete an experience set.

The military scientists argue that the concept of imprinting a virtual reality experience set is highly speculative, but nonetheless highly exciting. If such a technology was developed in secret and exists today, the unexplainable vividness of some abduction accounts may be explained by the implantation of an experience set into the brain of an abductee.

The above mentioned topographic brain mapping study of Dr. Norman Don and Dr. Gilda Moura shows that their investigated Brazilian alien abductees had high amplitude brain wave activity over 30 Hz during their trance period.⁶ Interestingly stimulation of the beta region of the frequency spectrum above 25 Hz can be applied to the visual cortex, creating images in the brain and bypassing the eyes.

We don't claim however, that the Brazilian abductees were remotely mind-controlled during the tests, but one can see a connection on unexplained alien abduction experiences and modern EMF research.

If there is indeed a connection between drug induced revived birth memories, (as Dr. Lawson's study suggests) and alleged alien abduction experiences, then it would be possible to create remotely induced alien abduction experiences via external beta brain wave stimulation in a frequency range around 30 Hz.

We urge all alien abduction researchers to take a serious look at the research of Dr. Alvin Lawson, since many alien abduction cases probably have a connection to spontaneously remembered traumatic birth memory experiences. But we are also aware that there are abduction cases which could not be explained with this hypothesis. Such cases are so-called multiple abduction cases^{22, 23} or cases where independent witnesses claim to be involved in the alien abduction scenario,^{24, 25} if they are not hoaxed or staged.

Dr. Lawson's imaginary alien abductee study and the connection to Dr. Grof's drug induced revived birth memories and LSD-experiments should provide an understanding of how easy it is to create imaginary alien abduction experiences on people who have had no "real" alien/UFO experience, even if the hypnotherapist doesn't ask leading questions. These results are very important for MILAB cases and cases where alleged alien abductees claim that they have seen human military personnel and non-human beings working side by side in secret military research facilities.

It appears also that some experiences of alien abductees and mind-control victims may be explained by an advanced virtual-reality-technology. The late Dr. Karla Turner called these experiences "Virtual-Reality-Scenarios" (VRS).^{26, 27}

One VRS-scenario was witnessed by three people in Florida. Two witnesses saw how their female friend was surrounded by a huge, blue glowing sphere of light.²⁸ She didn't seem to be in any distress as she carried on a conversation with someone the others couldn't see. She spoke until the blue light suddenly disappeared, and at that point she was finally free of the paralysis that had kept her in the bed.

After that she woke up and said that the experience started with the sound of a helicopter low over the house. Looking up from her bed, she could see through the ceiling and roof, as if they had disappeared, to where the odd helicopter was hovering just above the house. She described two entities in the craft, whom she said also appeared at the foot of the bed before the blue light vanished. One being was tall, with greenish skin, an egg-shaped head and slanted eyes. The other being was shorter and had a blue-black color. The other witnesses saw nothing of these creatures, nor did they hear a helicopter at the time. For the experiencer, however, the event was completely "real."

If there exists a VRS-technology that could be used remotely, it would be difficult to distinguish between real and imaginary alien encounters. It should be noted that there are alleged mind-control victims who claim that someone implants pictures in their brain.²⁹ In the next chapter we will show that it is possible to implant electronically pictures and memories into the brain of the abductee if someone has been implanted with an intracerebral device—this would be a third method for artificially creating alien abduction experiences.

NOTES:

1. Lammer, Helmut. "More Findings of Project MILAB: Looking Behind the Alien/Military Abduction Agenda." MUFON UFO Journal, No. 355, November 1997.
2. Lawson, Alvin, H. "The Birth Memory Hypothesis: A Testable Theory for UFO Abduction Reports," (E-mail: alaw@pipeline.com), 1989.
3. Private communication with Dr. Alvin Lawson, 1998.
4. Lawson, Alvin, H. The Alvin Lawson Corner, <http://www.geocities.com/Area51/Vault/6521>, 1998.
5. Grof, Stanislav. Realms of the Human Unconscious: Observations in LSD Research, The Viking Press, New York, 1967.
6. Don, Norman, S. "Topographic Brain Mapping of UFO Experiencers," Journal of Scientific Exploration, Vol. 11, No. 4, 435-455, 1997.
7. Marks, John. The Search for the Manchurian Candidate, W.W. Norton, London, 1979, 1988.
8. Akwei, John, St. Clair. "Covert Operations of the U.S. National Security Agency," NEXUS, Vol. 3, No. 3, April-Mai, 1996.
9. Victorian, Armen. "The Military use of Electromagnetic Microwave and Mind-Control Technology," Lobster, No. 34, 1997.
10. Ord, John, W. (Maj. General), Rapmund, Garrison (Brig. General), Bloom, John (Capt.). TERP-Memorandum, Aerospace Medical Division of Air Force Systems Command, U.S. Army Medical Research and Development Command, Naval Medical Research and Development Command, 21 July, 1980.
11. Frey, Allen H. "Human Auditory System Response to Modulated Electromagnetic Energy," J. Appl. Physiol. 17, 689-692, 1962.
12. Guyatt, David. "Some Aspects of Anti-Personnel Electromagnetic Weapons," Earthpulse Flashpoints, Nr. 2, Earthpulse Press, P.O. Box 201393, Anchorage, AK, 99520, USA, 1996.
13. Pasternak, Douglas. "The Pentagon's Quest for Nonlethal Arms is Amazing. But is it Smart?" U.S. News and World Report, July 7, 1997.
14. Blake, Tracy Ann. Prozac: Panacea or Pandora?, Cassia Publications, P.O. Box 1044P, West Jordan, UT 84084, USA.
15. Klaarer (Maj.), Jonathan, W. and Mitchell (Maj.), Ronald, S. "Nonlethal Technology and Airpower: A Winning Combination for Strategic Paralysis," Air Chronicles, USAF, 1994.

16. Begley, Sharon. "One Pill Makes you Larger, One Pill Makes you Small....," Newsweek, February 7, 1994.
17. Hund, Linda. Secret Agenda. St. Martin's Press, New York, 1991.
18. Greene, Wislon, L. "Psychochemical Warfare, A New Concept of War," Army Chemical Center report, August, 1949.
19. Hutchinson, Michael. Mega Brain: New Tools and Techniques for Brain Growth and Mind Expansion, Ballantine Books, 1986.
20. Budden, Albert. "Allergies and Aliens: The Visitation Experience an Environmental Health Issue," Discovery Times Press, England, 1995.
21. New World Vistas: Air and Space Power for the 21st Century. USAF Scientific Advisory Board, June, 1996.
22. Carpenter, John. "Investigations and Correlating Simultaneous Abductions," in: Alien Discussions, Proceedings of the Abduction Study Conference held at MIT, Cambridge, MA, North Cambridge Press, 1994.
23. Fowler, Raymond. The Allagash Abductions: Undeniable Evidence of Alien Intervention, Wild Flower Press, Tigard, Oregon, 1993.
24. Hopkins, Budd. Witnessed: The True Story of the Brooklyn Bridge UFO Abductions, Pocket Books, New York, 1996.
25. Walton, Travis. Fire in the Sky: The Walton Experience, Marlowe and Company, New York, 1996.
26. Turner, Karla. Into the Fringe: A True Story of Alien Abduction, Berkley Books, New York, 1992.
27. Turner, Karla. Taken: Inside the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda, Kelt Works, Roland Arkansas, 1994.
28. Turner, Karla. "Expanding the Parameters of the Alien-Human Abduction Agenda," MUFON Symposium Proceedings, Austin Texas, USA, July 8-10, 1994.
29. Private communication with several alleged mind-control victims, 1996-1998.

8

Toward a Controlled Society: Terrestrial Implants and their Application to MILABS and Future Warfare

"...Second, research into the functions of the brain must be encouraged and accelerated. This is a new area for both the medical community and the military. The research effort must focus on the capacity and interface within the brain and how information is processed in going from raw input to final decision..."

"...Third, social and cultural biases to a brain implanted decision tool must be overcome. The 'Cyber Situation' is designed to assist, not to control each decision maker. [History shows that this is not the case.] To fully exploit growing technology, cumbersome hardware and software requirements must be reduced to the simplicity and seamlessness of a chip implant. With that technology in hand, the 'Cyber Situation' can become a reality..."

Information Operations: A New War Fighting Capability

A research paper presented to Air Force 2025, August, 1996.

Some MILAB abductees report that their kidnappers showed an interest in implants. In some MILAB cases a military doctor is said to have searched for implants and sometimes implanted the abductee with a military device. Therefore, it is important to offer an overview of terrestrial implant research, technology and its applications for covert operations like MILABs.

Implanted electrodes were being used on unwitting persons as early as fifty years ago. Swedish researchers have evidence in x-rays of operations that took place at Karolinska Hospital in 1946 and Sachska Children Hospital in 1948, both facilities located in Stockholm.¹ The mother of one such victim claimed that she heard her son Bengt's screams from the lab-room during an unscheduled visit. As she rushed in she saw a surgical team and nurses, who ushered her out, although she witnessed how they were driving a large amount of electrodes through the base of her son's still soft skull. Bengt has suffered for over 48 years from these medical experiments, he has spent several years of his life in a psychiatric unit.

During the late '50s and early '60s, neuro-scientist Dr. Jose Delgado invented the stimoceiver, an electrode capable of receiving and transmitting electronic signals via FM radio waves. Such a device, implanted in the brain via the sinus cavities, will act as a powerful stimulant when activated by FM radio waves. One can speculate that the stimoceiver has since been modified to receive stimulation from microwave pulses and is capable of wielding a great degree of control over the implanted victim's response mechanisms.²

Implant technology was developed after World War II. Both superpowers, the U.S. and the Soviet Union researched intracerebral mind-control, electronic stimulation of the brain (ESB), biological radio communication and bio-telemetry for mind-and behavior-control during the Cold War. By means of a two-way radio communication technology called telemetry, an electromagnetic wave can broadcast to a receiver/transmitter located under the skull or in the brain. This signal then records the brain activity and relays it to a computer for analysis, by which all aspects of the subjects life can be monitored.

"Gruppen," the Swedish organization opposing illegal human mind-control experiments and similar organizations like the U.S. based "Freedom of Thought Foundation" have collected large amounts of evidence showing that various military/intelligence agencies are probably engaged in secret implantation projects.^{1, 3, 4, 5} These organizations are in contact with many

X-ray of a monkey's brain that was monitored via bio-telemetry in the research satellite Biosatellite III in the early 1970s. The x-ray shows the electrodes in the deep brain structures, midbrain reticular formation, centrum medianum, hippocampus and amygdala; the cortical screws were positioned over the motor and visual areas. In the posterior area is a larger electrode. Many scientific stations monitored Biosatellite III. The primary monitoring stations were Rosman, Fort Myers, Quito, Lima and Santiago. (Photo collection: Gruppen) victims all over the world who believe they have been implanted and experience strange mental anomalies, but have nothing to do with the UFO/alien abduction community.

One well documented case of the implantation of unknown electronic devices is the case of Robert Naeslund. Naeslund is now one of the driving forces behind "Gruppen."^{1, 4, 6} He was implanted with a bio-telemetric device at Soeder Hospital in Sweden in 1967. For the years following the brain implantation

P. A. LINDSTROM, M.D.
1695 CALLE DELICADA
LA JOLLA, CA 92037
(714) 270-1350

Mr. Robert Naeslund

Dear Mr. Naeslund:

In response to your most recent letter regarding the roentgen films I can only confirm that some foreign objects, most likely brain transmitters, have been implanted at the base of your frontal brain and in the skull.

The risk of such implantations is considerable and the risk of chronic infections and meningitis when the implantation has been made through the nose or the sinuses are real issues.

In my opinion, there is no excuse for such implantations if the patient has not been fully informed about the procedures, the purposes, the risks, the method of anesthesia, etc, and then gives a clear written consent.

I fully agree with Lincoln Lawrence, who in his book on page 27 wrote: "There are two particularly dreadful procedures which have been developed. Those working and playing with them secretly call them R.H.I.C. and E.D.O.M.--Radio-Hypnotic Intracerebral Control and Electronic Dissolution of Memory."

Many years ago I had some discussions with Delgado. He asked me to apply my ultrasonic technique for his particular purpose of altering patient's behavior but I declined because we had entirely different aims and approaches. However, I found Delgado to be an intelligent but somewhat strange man.

Best wishes!

P. A. Lindstrom, M.D.

PAL/mjt

Letter from Dr. Lindstrom to Swedish implant victim Robert Naeslund concerning his brain implants. Dr. Lindstrom reviewed the x-rays and believes that they show some form of brain transmitters. (Robert Naeslund)

UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL
University of California
Medical Center, San Diego

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Recently I reviewed a skull film marked: NASLUND, ROBERT and dated 26-11, 1981. That film shows a couple of unusual foreign bodies at the base of the skull, possibly some form of brain transmitters.

However, I have not examined or talked to this patient and do not know the pertinent history.

San Diego, CA
October 6, 1983

Ingmar Wickbom, M.D.
Professor of Radiology
U.C.S.D.

Professor Ingmar Wickbom reviewed Robert Naeslund's x-ray's and confirms that they show two unusual foreign bodies at the base of the skull, which he believes are possibly some form of brain transmitters. (Robert Naeslund) he was actually unaware that anything had happened. He experienced the effects of a weak radio signal of unidentifiable origin inside his head. After a few years he discovered that something had happened to him during the operation.

On March 10, 1972, Robert Naeslund had an altercation with the Swedish police. While in police custody Naeslund was apparently put to sleep without his consent, and when he awoke a few hours later his life was changed. The first thing he was aware of was a strange radio signal in his head. The electromagnetic waves that penetrated his head had detrimental effects on his memory functions, habits and behavior.

Peter Lindstrom, a professor at the University of California, and the first doctor to support his claims, wrote in a letter to him:

"In response to your most recent letter regarding the roentgen films I can only confirm that some foreign objects, most likely brain transmitters have been implanted at the base of your frontal brain and in the skull...I fully agree with Lincoln Lawrence who wrote in his book Were We Controlled?: 'There are two particularly dreadful procedures which have been developed. Those working and playing with them secretly call them R.H.I.C. and E.D.O.M. - Radio-Hypnotic Intracerebral Control and Dissolution of Memory.'"

Robert Naeslund describes in his report: "It was on my first occasion with the police, March 10, 1972, that I was put to sleep without my consent, and when I awoke a few hours later, it was to whole new circumstances. The first thing I was aware of was a deeply disturbing radio signal in my head. As one can see from x-ray pictures, this transmitter had been inserted through my left nostril. Dr. Lindstrom's reference in his second letter to the process as 'electronic dissolution of the memory' is a fitting description of what was an obvious change of my memory functions because of the intensive radiation."

On a trip to Athens, Greece in the summer of 1977, Naeslund took the opportunity to have x-ray examinations. A radiologist was able to identify two foreign objects in the extension of the nasal passages, adjoined to the frontal lobe of the brain. Back in Sweden, however, Naeslund got no help. Therefore, he traveled back to Athens in February 1978 and met the radiologist who helped him to contact a surgeon who was prepared to operate and remove the foreign objects.

This x-ray shows three implanted foreign objects in the head of alleged mind-control victim Robert Naeslund. One implant has been completely embedded in the frontal lobe. Naeslund claims that he got these implants on different occasions during the 1970s in Stockholm, Sweden while he was under arrest. (Robert Naeslund)

Alleged British mind-control victim N'Tumba has x-rays in his possession that were reviewed by medical experts in Stockholm, Sweden. The doctors confirmed that a transmitter has been implanted in his left nostril. Furthermore one can see that electrodes placed in the occipital lobe are blocking the bloodflow behind their delimitation where the oxygen depletion is caused, as well as in his frontal brain just above the implanted transmitter. Moreover, Mr. N'Tumba has obviously been anaesthetised without his knowledge so that this implantation could be performed. (Gruppen)

Q: Have any professional papers or documents been written on this subject?

A: Some few have been written but all pertinent material is apparently classified and kept in [redacted] laboratory in [redacted] and cannot be obtained by unauthorized sources. B/6

Q: Have you given any thought as to how the techniques could be brought to bear on unwilling or unwitting subjects?

A: That, of course, is the important question. It is possible to figure some cover story to place a subject in an isolation chamber or possibly a "knock-out" chemical could be placed in the subject's food or drink and he could then be placed in isolation. It must be remembered you cannot use a straight-jacket or any type of physically confining device on a subject in isolation. This would defeat the technique. Possibly as you suggested, hypnosis might be a means to induce a subject into the isolation chamber.

Q: Briefly describe how total isolation is achieved?

A: Total isolation is, in very general terms, the removal of all sensory impulses from an individual by blocking physically from without his sensory apparatus, hence, the following are required:

- 1) Completely dark area.
- 2) No sound (good soundproofing).
- 3) Confinement of subject's movements--a fairly small padded box or cylinder.
- 4) Communication both ways through carefully controlled channels.
- 5) Blotting out sense of feel by padding all around him as in 3) above or by placing heavy gloves on subject's hands.

Special Comments

1). Documents held in ACHES-MC files very clearly reflect that the [redacted] is intensely interested in and is financing experiments on research in chemicals having psycho-genic effects. We also know that the [redacted] is either financed or in some way controlled [redacted] work in isolation -- certainly papers on this work are reported as classified and unavailable. It is also known that B/6 B/6

TSS has developed, and has under continuing study, a number of procedures for influencing and predicting human behavior by chemical and psychological means. These techniques have both defensive applications (such as defense against interrogation and effects of isolation) and offensive applications (use of psychochemicals to control or discredit an individual). They also may be useful in agent evaluation and in other ways.

b. Limitations

Much of this work involves pioneering in little-understood aspects of psychology. Testing of certain techniques on humans is difficult and, in some cases, impossible.

c. Objectives

Continue study in the field and make the findings available on a strictly-controlled, need-to-know basis.

10. [redacted]

a. [redacted]

(1) [redacted]

(2) [redacted]

b. [redacted]

c. [redacted]

(1) [redacted]

(2) [redacted]

A declassified MKULTRA mind control document showing that CIA-scientists discussed secret isolation research on unwilling or unwitting victims. They suggest that one can use knock-out chemicals or hallucinogens with psycho-genic effects, hypnosis, or place a victim in a small padded box or cylinder. (ACHES-MC)

Declassified CIA MKULTRA document showing the use of psychochemicals to control or discredit an individual. Interestingly, they discuss studies that are based on a strictly controlled, need-to-know basis in the field. (ACHES-MC)

DRAFT
17 August 1960

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD

SUBJECT: MKULTRA, Subproject 119

1. The purpose of this subproject is to provide funds for a study conducted by [redacted] to make a critical review of the literature and scientific developments related to the recording, analysis and interpretation of bioelectric signals from the human organism, and activation of human behavior by remote means. When initiated this study was being done on a consultant basis by [redacted]. The reason for converting this into a Subproject is to provide more flexibility in the disbursement of funds for various kinds of assistance and equipment needed.

2. As indicated in the attached proposal this study is to provide an annotated bibliography and an interpretive survey of work being done in psychophysiological research and instrumentation. The survey encompasses five main areas:

- Bioelectric sensors: sources of significant electrical potential and methods of pick-up.
- Recording: amplification, electronic tape and other multi-channel recording.
- Analysis: autocorrelators, spectrum analyzers, etc. and coordination with automatic data processing equipment.
- Standardization of data for correlation with biochemical, physiological and behavioral indices.
- Techniques of activation of the human organism by remote electronic means.

MKULTRA Subproject 119 was probably the basic project for biological process control weapons. The interest in this project resembles the effects described today by alleged unwitting victims of electromagnetic weapons. (ACHES-MC)

94-14

22 November 1961

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Project MKULTRA, Subproject No. 94

File: Brain
Telecontrol
MK DELTA

1. The purpose of this subproject is to provide a continuation of activities in selected species of animals. Miniaturized stimulating electrode implants in specific brain center areas will be utilized.

2. Initial biological work on techniques and brain locations essential to providing conditioning and control of animals has been completed. The feasibility of remote control of activities in several species of animals has been demonstrated. The present investigations are directed toward improvement of techniques and will provide a precise mapping of the useful brain centers in selected species. The ultimate objective of this research is to provide an understanding of the mechanisms involved in the directional control of animals and to provide practical systems suitable for [redacted] application.

much better
in sailor's uniform. [redacted]
18 Oct '60 [redacted] [redacted] different from [redacted] [redacted]
[redacted] [redacted]

A declassified CIA MKULTRA Subproject No. 94, dated November 22, 1961, shows that this Subproject dealt with miniaturized stimulating electrode brain implants. After having succeeded in remote conditioning and animal control, there was interest in expanding this area of research to human subjects. (ACHES-MC)

Finally, a Dr. Gregorius removed four devices that were implanted in Naeslund's head. Naeslund has photographs that show the opened frontal bone in which a foreign object can be clearly seen lying completely free from the rest of the cranium. The doctor trepanned an area adjoined to the right nasal root on a level with the eyebrow. Naeslund's life improved measurably after the removal of some of his several brain-implants which had been transmitting electromagnetic waves through his brain.

Robert Naeslund has several statements from medical doctors who have seen his x-rays and testify that he was implanted, probably with Radio-Hypnotic-Intracerebral-Control (RHIC) implants. With such technology one can probably induce a hypnotic trance and deliver suggestions to a victim. Post hypnotic suggestions could be triggered at will by radio transmission, received via a miniaturized radio receiver implanted in the brain of the victim.

For the removal of another foreign object he traveled in 1987 to Djakarta, Indonesia. As he was wheeled into the operation lab professor Hendayo, a neurosurgeon informed him that he was unable to go through with the operation, which had been scheduled a week previously. He told Naeslund that he would like to postpone the operation, explaining that he could not reveal details as to why the operation could not be performed at that time. But after a short discussion Hendayo changed his mind, and Naeslund was wheeled into the operating room. Naeslund tells a gruesome story:^{4,6}

"...The moment I enter the room, I can see two plain clothed men waiting for me. They grab me by the arms, and before I can protest they inject me with something and I lose consciousness...When I came round, it is right in the middle of the operation and I can feel a sharp pain in my head. My arms and legs have been strapped down and the doctor is holding my head while one of the two men is wielding an object similar to a branding iron once used to mark animals. The instrument has also been heated and he pushes it down into my opened head. I scream in agony before I lose consciousness once more. Eighteen hours passed before I woke up..."

Naeslund took the x-ray to the x-ray department. The x-ray shows a mushroom shaped object, resembling a so-called peg-electrode, lying in what looks like a tissue-crater. This crater is the wound the secret agents made in Naeslund's head when they opened his frontal bone and implanted the object. In a written report, a Stockholm hospital estimated the size of this area to be 0.5 cm deep and 2 cm in diameter. Robert Naeslund is currently seeking help, since the implant still resides in his head.

John Lambros, who is currently serving a life sentence in Leavenworth for drug smuggling, claims that he was implanted by Brazilian police while he was in their custody. He was rescued from Brazil after thirteen months of daily mental abuse. The Federal Police utilized the known grid room technique with bio-medical implants. Mr. Lambros has undergone an x-ray examination, and one can see in his x-rays a cluster of radiopaque foreign objects.^{8,9}

In the frontal lobes, there are large dark spots which could have been caused by oxygen deficiency. Reduced oxygen balance is a normal consequence of radiowave penetration of biological tissue through dehydration effects of the electromagnetic energies. Oxygen deficiency can also cause a change in physiological conditions and has a detrimental effect on health.⁹

Mr. Lambros has three independent radiological reports that verify the existence of implants, inserted illegally. Alleged British implant victim N'Tumba described similar effects than Mr. Lambros:¹

"...Concerning the brain implant in my head, it has been performing without my knowledge or consent...What's very outrageous is that I am sharing all my vision, thought images, hearing...etc. with people around me as the security services are engaging in a large scale propaganda drive to smear my character, background, behavior, emotions and motives...I have

Alien or secret agent? Alien abductees have reported since the 1960s how alien beings implanted them by placing small objects up their nose through the nasal passage and sinus cavity. An important fact is that the transnasal approach of implants is in common use in neurosurgery. Alleged mind-control victims describe the same procedure. (James)

The arrow points to a foreign object which was implanted (probably via the nostril) of Mrs. Janine Jones. Mrs. Jones has medical statements which confirm this. Her symptoms match the descriptions of the effects of biological process control weapons. (photo: Janine Jones)

This x-ray shows implants in the cavities near the cochleas of both ears of Mrs. Janine Jones. Mrs. Jones parents were Norma and Reginald Paul Phillips, the latter a prominent politician and Chief Justice of Western Samoa. She was adopted after the implant surgery 1949. Her natural and adopted parents had backgrounds in the military. Upon her birth at Lower Hutt Hospital, she was taken unwashed, wrapped in cloth, straight into an operating room where she was put on a life-support system, and illegally psychosurgery was performed via stereotaxic methods of drilling into her skull. The incisions left scars that remain to date. (Photo: Janine Jones)

B -

94-14

PROPOSAL

It is proposed to conduct investigations as directed by the sponsor of the action of localized neurological and physiological stimulants on the balance mechanisms in mammals and bird. The sponsor will have full control of species of animals to be utilized together with methods and procedures to be followed in the researches, Special investigations and evaluations will be conducted toward the application of selected elements of these techniques to man.

Pilot experiments will be performed under field conditions to permit the critical evaluation of methods and procedures. The parameters of effectiveness and the action of potential interfering phenomena will be determined.

The following budget is required to carry out the program outlined above for one year.

A declassified research proposal for MKULTRA Subproject No. 94 from the early 1960s shows that the CIA was interested in expanding implant studies to humans. It is interesting that they mention pilot experiments which will be performed under field conditions. One can speculate if these pilot experiments used alleged alien abductions as a cover. (ACHES-MC) no privacy at all...I am not a spy, I am not a criminal, I am not a terrorist. Being an innocent victim of MI5... My persecution started in June 1988..."

Mr. N'Tumba has x-rays in his possession that were reviewed by medical experts in Stockholm, Sweden. The doctors confirmed that a transmitter has been implanted in his left nostril. Furthermore, one can see that electrodes placed in the occipital lobe are blocking the blood flow causing oxygen depletion. This is seen as well in his frontal brain just above the implanted transmitter. Moreover, Mr. N'Tumba has obviously been anesthetized without his knowledge, or this implantation could not have been performed.^{1, 10}

What is clear is that the exploitation of human beings in secret experiments by mind-control has given rise to a new mentality amongst those involved. The following story shows that the same abuse and implantation of radio-transmitters in humans takes place in New Zealand, England, Scandinavia, the U.S., and many other countries of the industrialized world.

Mrs. Janine Jones had just graduated from Massey University in Palmerston North. As a sociologist, she had a bright future ahead of her. This was until everything changed, as she explained in a letter to the Prime Minister James Bolger, in 1996.

"I am writing to you for help. I ask that your intervention in this matter be an imperative. For the past 17 months now, I have been targeted by some form of technology which has done considerable personal damage to me...Evidence gathered from research has shown that military agencies, in particular, the Intelligence Service has the capacity to use and does access this mind-bending technology which can maim and ultimately destroy people."

Mrs. Jones has very good evidence to back her case, since Dr. Richard Thompson from England has analyzed her x-rays and given a statement as follows:

"Lateral projection shows a foreign object implanted in the frontal lobe directly adjacent to the nasal passages. This object is most probably a radio-transmitter...interference in blood circulation is spreading over large areas of the brain, concentrated in the frontal lobes, and in particular around the foreign object. It is highly likely that this blood-flow impairment is the result of the radio-frequency emanating from the transmitter. This, in turn, causes a depletion in oxygen levels and reduced nutrient supply to these areas of the brain, where changes in neurological activity are inevitable."

Interestingly, UFO-abductees have been reporting since the 1960s that alien beings were implanting them by placing small objects up their nose through the nasal passage and sinus cavity. An important fact is that transnasal implantation is in common use in neurosurgery!¹¹⁻¹⁴

A secret agency, interested in tracking and monitoring physiologic information about an alien abductee during an alleged alien abduction experience would also use bio-medical-telemetry. Bio-medical-telemetry is defined as a special area of bio-medical instrumentation that permits transmission of physiologic information from an often inaccessible location to a remote monitoring site.¹⁵ The transmitting unit can be implanted within the subject's body. Animals have been monitored with bio-telemetry for about thirty years. By using telemetric systems as a method of monitoring alien abductees, the military could obtain physiological data, such information on respiration, muscle tension and the presence of adrenaline in the bloodstream.

Recently, the Austrian TV program ORF2 reported in the scientific magazine Modern Times that medical researchers sponsored by the German government developed a brain-implant for monitoring people for heart attack prevention or other medical purposes.¹⁶ The bio-telemetric brain implant is the size of a rice grain (0.8 x 2 mm). It was reported that this 21 million dollar "civilian" research project was given a top priority by the German science ministry. The whole report was propaganda for the "medical" use of brain-implants.

Medical doctors were quoted who had envisioned that in the near future "everybody" would be implanted with such a device. They claimed that three hundred thousand people per year suffering from heart attacks in Germany alone could be protected with this bio-telemetric monitoring technique. Sadly, nobody reported the negative aspects of this technology. If the visions of some doctors and governments come true, that everybody will be implanted and monitored with such devices, then George Orwell's 1984 would look old-fashioned.

Cognitive manifestations and activity such as thoughts and visual impressions or emotions, and behavior and psychological reactions would continually be registered, making it possible for secret military/intelligence agencies, medical scientists and the government to observe an implanted individual in a deeper and more comprehensive way than the person himself could. Through analysis and manipulation by the computer, it is even possible for changes in an individual's physical and mental status to be effected. The potential of intracerebral remote control is limited only by the imagination of the researcher.

National security experts like Dr. Steven Metz and Dr. James Kievit predicted in their report "The Revolution in Military Affairs and Conflict Short of War" for the U.S. Army War College, that in the near future every American at risk could be equipped with an electronic individual position locator device (IPLD).¹⁷ They suggested that such a device could be permanently implanted under the skin, with automatic remote activation upon departure from the U.S. while passing through a security screening system at the airport, for example.

Some abductees like Amy (pseudonym) have recollections that non-human beings implanted them with small devices through their ears. (Amy)

The correction system in the U.S. is supervising over five million offenders.¹⁸ Since the number is rising fast so are the direct and indirect costs. To improve supervision and reduce cost of parole and probation, first generation home arrest systems were introduced in 1987. Second generation wide area continuous electronic monitoring systems, designed to monitor the offender at all times and locations, are now in development. In the near future second generation systems will operate over a wide geographical area, even the entire country or the whole globe if the telephone/handy-infrastructure and GPS or LEO satellites for tracking applications are used.

The San Francisco Examiner reported on November 27, 1997, that law enforcement in four states would like to use the Pentagon's Global Positioning Satellites (GPS) to monitor subjects.¹⁹ Correction officials will use this technology to track movements of violent felons and sex offenders released to the community. Through the GPS technology authorities can know instantly if a parolee has left home or has entered a restricted area such as a school, a bank, or the neighborhood of a former victim.

Recently the tracking firm "Eagle Eye" has received a contract from the U.S. Department of Defense's Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) to develop miniature receivers for tracking parolees and missing children, by using a frequency range of the "Low Earth Orbit" (LEO) satellites.²⁰ "Eagle Eye" founder Matthew Schor will use target markets such as state agencies that track convicted criminals on parole, as well as consumer market niches such as the tracking of Alzheimer patients and missing children. The "Eagle Eye" system could be equipped to send an alarm to a monitoring station when parolees remove their tracking devices. Moreover it would give correction officers the ability to monitor parolees on a constant and instantaneous basis.

X-ray of alleged mind-control victim Jay Kats. Arrow points to a foreign object which was allegedly implanted in Kats' head during a tonsil operation at Stanford Hospital on March 11, 1982. For more information concerning his case look at his Website: <http://www.jps.net/edwardj>. (Jay Kats)

U.S. president Bill Clinton announced on December 16, 1997 that the Commerce Department's Advanced Technology program will sponsor a series of private-sector competitions for 82 million U.S. dollars in new grants to foster innovations like cleaner energy sources that reduce greenhouse gases, low-cost methods of producing life-saving drugs and radio-transmitting ID card's that can help to locate lost children.²¹ There are many indications from the earlier mentioned secret research projects that third or fourth generation wide-area monitoring systems would use tiny implants like the proposed IPLD devices.

To date, more than three million animals worldwide have been successfully implanted with an implantable transponder manufactured by Destron-Fearing.²² The implantable transponder is a passive radio-frequency identification tag, designed to work in conjunction with a compatible radio-frequency ID reading system. The transponder is activated by a low-frequency radio signal, then it transmits the ID code to the reading system. The smallest transponder is about the size of an uncooked grain of rice. The transponders tiny electronic circuit is energized by a low-power radio beam sent by a compatible reading device.

A similar implant for humans was developed by Dr. Daniel Man in the U.S. Dr. Man has since 1989 held a U.S. patent for a homing device that can be implanted in humans.²³ Before Dr. Man's device becomes available for use in humans, it will have to be approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Since the Clinton administration supports the development of radio transmitting ID devices for locating lost children, one can assume that Dr. Man's bio-chip will be approved soon.

Dr. Man ostensibly developed the implant for solving the missing children problem. The device is slightly larger than the Destron implant, but Dr. Man's implant cannot simply be injected with a special syringe. Instead, a small surgical incision must be made for the implantation. It is important to note that Dr. Man claims that the best location for his implant is behind the ear. MILAB abductees like Debby Jordan and Leah Haley have reported that doctors removed implants from their ear! During a hypnosis session Leah Healy reported the following scenario:²⁴

"...There's some kind of black machine over my head. I think they're giving x-rays with it...They are people!...I keep expecting to see the alien creatures, but they're people. Humans. That man is wearing a white lab coat...There's a sheet over me...It looks like a hospital room...I am on a hospital bed, like an operating table. There is another operating table to my left and a bluish-green curtain, but it's open. There's medical equipment in here...I see only men, but I can't see them clearly because I've been sedated or something. I don't know where I am. I don't know how I got here. I don't know who these people are. They are standing against the wall...Three. One of them is wearing a white labcoat. I can't see his pants; I am lying down..."

"I think the man in the khaki uniform is the man who told me I hadn't seen the spaceship...I am not sure but I think it's the same man...I feel drugged...My right ear is hurting badly...The man in the khaki uniform asks the guy in the lab coat, 'Did you get it okay?' The man in the labcoat says: 'No problem'...Then the man in the labcoat says: 'Yeah, I have got it right here.' He reaches over to the other table and picks it up. ...It's a syringe, a needle...They have got my arms strapped down! I can't move! I don't want him to give me a shot, but I can't move...It's going in my arm. It stings. I call them dirty names..."

One can see from this under hypnotically recovered memory of a MILAB experience that the doctor in the white lab coat probably removed an implant from Leah Haley's right ear after she was x-rayed.

Dr. Man's device is powered by a small battery, which can be routinely charged with a device that is held outside the body near the location of the implant. Authorities would use three satellites or specially equipped helicopters if they wanted to locate or monitor a person. By using triangulation to follow the signal of the implant, satellites or helicopters would pinpoint the implant's exact location.

Interestingly, the predictions of several national security experts and the trends in civilian medical and tracking research resemble the plans of Dr. Joseph A. Meyer, a computer specialist of the National Security Agency (NSA). In the 1970s, Dr. Meyer proposed attaching transponders to Americans arrested for a crime, or even persons suspected of a crime.²⁵

Such systems, however, will lead to a completely controlled police state-like society where everybody is monitored and controlled, and freedom will be dictated by a powerful elite.

A recent paper published for the Air Force, looking ahead to its technological needs in the year 2025,²⁶ has the title "Information Operations: A New War-Fighting Capability." In this paper, the authors also writes about a brain-implemented cyber situation.²⁷ The authors propose implanted microscopic brain chips to perform two functions. First, the bio-chip connects the implanted individual to a constellation of integrated or smart satellites (IIC) in low earth orbit, creating an interface between the implanted person and the information resources. The implant relays the processed information from the IIC to the user. Second, the bio-chip creates a computer-generated mental visualization based upon the user's request. The visualization encompasses the individual and allows the user to place himself into a selected "battlespace." In addition, a wide range of lethal or nonlethal weapons would be linked to the IIC, allowing special authorized implanted users (super-cyber-soldiers) to directly employ these weapons.

This means that a soldier would be capable of viewing the normal world plus an overlay of information identifying and describing specific objects in his field of view. He would now be able to evaluate the threat those targets represented and order a variety of weapon systems to engage and destroy the targets from a distance.

The military study concludes that cyber-soldiers should converse with computers. They write that the missing piece is a better way to format and transmit information from the digital computer processor in the computer chip to the analog human processor in the brain. A solution to this problem would be the development of a nerve chip. It is an electronic interface for individual nerve cells to communicate with a computer. This human-machine linkage will enhance the human capability in many ways. Artificial eyes can convert video to nerve signals.

By using the same technique it would be possible to superimpose computer generated information in front of one's field of view. This technology could be used to enable individuals to achieve an ultimate virtual reality trip.²⁷

The California Institute of Technology has developed an energy efficient computer chip which emulates the analog thinking of the human brain. It is specifically modeled on the construction of the cerebral cortex. In the future, this chip could provide the baseline for a brain implant hooked to all sensory segments of the brain, not just the eye.

It is also interesting that the brain implants used for the propagated cyber-situation will disintegrate if the implanted soldier is captured or killed by the enemy. The chip disintegrates and cannot be extracted by the enemy for reverse engineering.²⁷

Further, when faced with events of espionage and defections of friendly users to the enemy side, the IIC satellites would have the capability to deactivate and disintegrate the offender's implanted chips.²⁷ Interestingly, disintegrated implants were sometimes reported after their removal by people claiming to be abducted by aliens.

We can see from such military studies that secret research in human-brain-machine and virtual-reality-implant research is already underway. Some of the references in this paper refer to military research institutes and are classified for the public. Since the authors write that implanting devices in human beings raises ethical and public relation issues today, we should ask who the guinea pigs are in these futuristic research projects? Interestingly, they suggest that concerns about implanting things in the human organism may be founded on today's thinking; in 2025 the notion may not be as alarming.

Again, it seems that we are moving to a "monitored" and "implanted" society! Everybody who is in the possession of the IIC/brain-implant technology would be a "Big Brother" who could watch over the whole globe.

Another interesting paper concerning "Information Warfare" is classified and only individuals with appropriate security clearances can obtain a copy from the Defense Technical Information Center in Ft. Belvoir, Virginia.²⁸ However, one can read in the abstract that this paper explores holographic image projection, cloaking devices and multi-spectral camouflage which will provide enhanced military deception capability. The most promising technology is the creation of synthetic environments that an adversary thinks are real!

They write further that research for PSYWAR operations is done to influence a target by using holographic image projection with messages conveying the desired effect. We should again ask: Who are the adversaries and test targets for these research projects?

Recently, the British science magazine New Scientist revealed that the U.S. military is developing a thick smoke that obscures the future battlefield for all but it's own forces. DARPA developed the smoke to block visible and short wavelength infrared but to remain transparent to longer wavelengths. The smoke itself will have to absorb or scatter radiation selectively in the visible and short wavelength infrared, and the smoke generator will have to be lightweight enough to be carried by one person.²⁹

This short excursion into the "white" and "black" world of terrestrial implant research shows that the technology for monitoring alleged alien abductees has been here for a long time. Therefore, claims by MILAB abductees and mind-control victims that military doctors implanted them with tiny bio-chips may not be fantasies.

In the next chapter we will show that some alien abductees were interrogated on military bases concerning their experiences on board an alleged UFO and more interestingly about the supposed UFO-technology and abduction related parapsychological phenomena which the interrogators thought the abductees witnessed.

NOTES:

1. Lindquist, Lennart, Taylor, Evamarie, Naeslund Robert. "Cybergods." Gruppen, Stockholm, Sweden, 1996.
2. Delgado, Jose, M. R. Physical Control of the Mind: Towards a Psychocivilized Society, Harper and Row, New York, Evaston and London, 1969.
3. Private communications with various mind-control victims and research organizations like Ed Light's Mind-Control Forum, <http://www.mk.net/~mcf>, 1996-1998.
4. Private communications with Robert Naeslund, 1996-1998.
5. Lammer, Helmut, and Lammer, Marion. Verdeckte Operationen: Militaerische Verwicklungen in UFO-Entfuehrungen (Covert Operations: Military Involvement in UFO Abductions/mind-control/Bio-Chips/Underground Bases/Exotic Weapons). Herbig (Thomas Wimmer Ring 11, D-80539 Munich), Munich, 1997.
6. Private communication with Robert Naeslund and: Naeslund, Robert. Letter to Prime Minister Carl Bildt, Stockholm, November 19, 1992.
7. Van der Gaag, Nikki. "No hiding place," The New Internationalist, No. 298, January/February, 1998.
8. Information concerning John Lambros: <http://members.aol.com/BrazilByct>.
9. Sutton, Anthony, C. "Congress Asleep at the Switch Again," Phoenix Letter, August, 1995.
10. International Network Against Mind-Control, Box 136, 11479 Stockholm, Sweden, 1992.
11. Hardy, J. "Transssphenoidal Hypophysectomy." Neurosurgery, Vol. 34, page 582-594, 1971.
12. Griffith, H. B., et al. "A Direct Transnasal Approach to the Penoid Sinus." Technical Note, J. Neurosurgery, Vol. 66, page 920-924, 1987.
13. Rabadan, A., et al. "Transmaxillary, Transnasal Approach to the Anterior Clivus: A Microsurgical Anatomical Model." Neurosurgery, 30(4), page 473-482, 1992.
14. Rosenfeld, J. V. "Transnasal Stereotactic Biopsy of a Clivus Tumor." J. Neurosurgery, Vol. 76(5), page 878-879, 1992.
15. Jutter, C., Dean, Wen, H. Ko., Spear, M., Thomas, Mackay, Stuart. "Bio-medical Telemetry." Engineering in Medicine and Biology Magazine, March, 1983.

16. Bochdansky, Alexander. "Ein Chip im Kopf schlaegt Alarm," Modern Times, ORF2, January 9, 1998.
17. Metz, Steven, and Kievit, James. "The Revolution in Military Affairs and Conflict Short of War." Strategic Studies Institute, US Army War College, Juli 1994.
18. Hoshen, Joseph, Drake, George, Spencer, Debra. "Wide Area Continuous Offender Monitoring," SPIE Proceedings, Vo. 2938, 166-177, 1996.
19. Leinknecht, William. "Global Positioning Technology can Monitor Criminals 24 hrs a Day," The San Francisco Examiner, November 27, 1997.
20. Sauders, Renee. "Tracking Firm Anticipates Link to LEO Systems," Space News, August 26-September 1, 1996.
21. Clinton, Bill. The White House Briefing Room: Remarks by the President at 1997 Medals of Science and Technology Awards Ceremony, December 16, 1997.
22. "Electronic ID in Horses." Electronic ID, Inc., 131 East Exchange Avenue, Suite 116, Fort Worth, Texas 76106, USA.
23. Laugesen, Wayne. "Satan's Leash: The Specter of Biometric Identification." Encounter Chronicles, Issue 17, September 1996.
24. Haley, Leah A. Lost was the Key, Greenleaf Publications, P.O. Box 8152, Murfreesboro, TN 37133, USA, 1993.
25. Bowart, H., Walter. Operation Mind-Control: Our Secret Government's War Against its Own People, Dell Publishing Company, New York, 1978.
26. "Air Force 2025: 2025 Support Office Air University, Air Education and Training Command." Developed by the Air University Press Educational Services Directorate, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, August, 1996.
27. Osborne, William, B. (LTC), Bethel, Scott, A. (Maj), Chew, Nolen, R. (Maj), Nostrand, Philip, M. (Maj), Whitehead, YuLin, G. (Maj). "Informations Operations: A New War Fighting Capability." A Research Paper presented to Air Force 2025, August 1996.
28. "Information Strike/Knowledge Warfare: Shattering the Information-War Paradigm: Air Force 2025: 2025 Support Office Air University, Air Education and Training Command." Developed by the Air University Press Educational Services Directorate, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, August, 1996.
29. Mullins, Justin. "The Vanishing Point: When Soldiers Disappear Before your Very Eyes..." New Scientist, Vol. 156, No. 2111, December, 1997.

9

Military Interrogation Sessions with Alleged Alien Abductees

"...What have they asked you? Tell me about their technology? Tell me about the drive system, the drive mechanism? You tell me about what they told you to do! What did they tell you? What did they ask you to do? Tell me, tell me, tell me... You know you are not theirs, you are ours!..."

MILAB abductee Melinda Leslie
November, 1993.

As we wrote above, most MILAB abductees with or without hypnosis claim that they were interrogated by military personnel, men in business suits, or men in white lab coats sometime during their experience. Brenda (pseudonym) a Canadian alien abductee who was also taken to a military base during one of her encounters remembers the following:¹

"...I was in front of a military hangar. I recall being met by two men in white lab coats. I was led through a door where I saw a large room. As I was taken down the hall, to my left on the wall was a large sign that read 'Cold City in the Future.' As I proceeded down the hall with these two men I saw a large UFO-like craft but I could not focus. Then I was taken to a room within a room where I was interrogated by two more men in white lab coats. These two men were not young men; they must have been in their fifties or so. One man stood behind me while the other stood in front. I was shoved against the wall while they talked to me.

"I remember standing there scared to death and I asked them if they were going to kill me. I recall one of them saying, 'We could, but we won't.' It was then that they pushed me forward while the one stood behind me. I noticed one guy held a bottle of what I saw to be chloroform, it was written on the bottle. Then the other had a cloth. One of the men stood behind me while the other guy put the stuff on the cloth. They placed this cloth over my mouth and that's the last thing I recall until I woke up in my room at home. The first thing I noticed was I could not see very well. My room was very hazy and my eyes were blurry. I was not feeling well at this time. I had a very bad headache and an upset stomach. I could smell chloroform in my nose and was sick for most of that day."

Brenda is scheduled to do a hypnosis session concerning this MILAB experience, and it will be interesting to know what the men in the white lab coats asked her during the interrogation session. Interestingly she remembers being escorted in what she calls "a room within a room." Debby Jordan also remembered "that she saw many rooms within a room, each separated by glass walls and more wide swinging doors."²

The military hangar and the strange looking UFO-like craft give evidence that Brenda was taken to a secret military/aerospace facility. The craft may not have been must an alien UFO, but it could also be that she saw an advanced disc-shaped UFO-like drone, such as the discs that are currently being developed at Lockheed's Hellendale underground research facility or another U.S. black budget aerospace facility, near Palmdale in Southern California.

MILAB abductee and researcher Melinda Leslie has experienced alien and military abductions since 1993. One of those kidnappings occurred at an aerospace facility in Southern California near Lancaster, where she had an alien abduction experience with friends. After some weeks they independently had flashbacks where they saw a man in a Navy uniform monitoring their examination which was done by non-human beings. They remember also that they had headphone-like devices on their head.³

In November 1993 Melinda remembered that she was kidnapped, drugged and taken by two men in camouflage to a military facility where she also saw a strange triangle-shaped craft in a large hangar. In the meantime, Melinda Leslie has done extensive hypnosis regression concerning this event.⁴ She recalls being on a stretcher in a large hangar as a helicopter pilot asked her what the hell she was doing there. At that moment a man in a naval officer uniform and two men in white lab-coats appeared and rebuked the pilot.

This important event shows that not all military personnel on this base had the "need to know" concerning MILABs. After this confrontation the men in the lab coats and the military man took her to an interrogation room. She described in detail how they walked through halls with video cameras on the walls and metal doors. Inside this room was a table and chairs. Melinda was forced to sit on a chair and one man in a lab coat gave her a shot in the arm and a strange drink. After this she felt 'high.' She was very frightened as she felt one of the men grasp her on the cheeks. A man in a white lab coat stood behind her and a spotlight shone on her chair.

A red-haired military officer asked her questions concerning her alleged alien experiences. Strangely, it appeared that he wanted information about UFO technology. He asked her:⁴

"...What have they asked you? Tell me about their technology? Tell me about the drive system, the drive mechanism? You tell me about what they told you to do! What did they tell you? What did they ask you to do? Tell me, tell me, tell me. You know you are not theirs, you are ours!..."

This strange interrogation session was very traumatic for her since she couldn't answer the questions. She cannot recall answering the questions. The hypno-therapist calmed her as she began weeping and crying. After the interrogation she was brainwashed by the same person:⁴

Most MILAB abductees recall that they were interrogated by military personnel concerning their alleged alien abduction experiences. (Jonesy)

"..You couldn't tell me now even if you wanted. You can't talk right now. You couldn't tell it even if you tried. We fixed that. Don't try! You won't remember any of this, we fixed it!...you won't remember this! It's a bad dream. We are taking care of that. You will not remember. This is a bad dream. You were never here...I don't exist... None of this is happen..."

Melinda Leslie tried to resist the brainwashing procedure although she was drugged. Historic cases of mind-control experiments document similar procedures to Melinda Leslie's interrogation.

Master Sergeant James Stanley was used in a psychochemical warfare experiment in Fort Knox, Kentucky in February 1958. Stanley remembered sitting across a table from a white-coated doctor with two glasses of clear liquid between them. The man in the lab coat said to him: "Here, have a drink. It's

Photo sequence where one can see a strange disc like object on a pylon, moving up from Lockheed's Hellendale underground research facility. (Photo: collection of Dr. Richard Sauder)

Photo of Lockheed's Hellendale underground research facility. The underground entrance can be seen in the foreground. (Photo: collection of Dr. Richard Sauder)

F-117 Stealth Fighter during a radar reflectivity test on a huge pylon at Lockheed's Hellendale underground base. (Photo: collection of Dr. Helmut Lammer)

Close-up view of an UFO-like disc shaped object during a radar reflectivity test at Lockheed's Hellendale underground research facility. Note that the disc is on a similar pylon to the F-117 Stealth Fighter seen more than ten years before. MILAB abductees who believe that they saw alien craft during their kidnappings may have seen in reality advanced disc-shaped UFO-like drones. (Photo collection of Dr. Richard Sauder) only water, nothing more than what I drink." A little bit later, Stanley thought he had gone insane. His head was filled with terrifying visions and his body seemed to tumble through time and space.

He unwittingly participated in LSD-brainwashing experiments. After a third experiment Stanley's memory was wiped out and he vaguely remembered telling the doctor that he was standing by a river.⁵ It is now known from the Edgewood experiments that the CIA and military intelligence thought psychochemicals could be used as a Cold War weapon to control the mind of an individual being interrogated.⁶ This short excursion to the Edgewood/LSD brainwashing experiments of the fifties show that similar psychochemicals are also probably used in MILAB interrogation sessions.

After the interrogation Melinda Leslie was escorted by military personnel through hallways and doors back to the hangar where she saw large dark unmarked helicopters. Leslie also saw an advanced triangle-shaped UFO-like craft, and one can speculate that she was taken to a base similar to Brenda. It should be noted, however, that she remembered many more details of the base than we presented here.

Abductee Leah Haley also recalled under hypnosis being taken by a helicopter to a military base where she was interrogated concerning her alleged alien abduction experiences:^{7,8}

"...I was struggling with them as I was coming off the helicopter. I don't understand why they're taking me in there. I felt a sudden chill. It's cold. There's a man on each side of me holding my arms tightly. They're taking me into a building...I see men seated along the left side of a conference room table. The man in the blue uniform is standing to my right. A man decorated with military pins is standing at the opposite end of the table...Somebody is giving me a shot in the right arm. It feels like a tetanus shot...The guys in the uniform are still holding me tightly...They look like military people...Real short hair...They don't look familiar...They force me into a chair...I am just feeling dizzy.

"...The man from the helicopter said: 'Here she is. She's a cocky little bitch.' Then somebody of the other side of the room said, 'Well we'll just take care of that!'...Somebody came up from behind me and put a jacket around my shoulders..."

Abductee Leah Haley recalled a similar brain washing scenario to Melinda Leslie. She also has no memory what they asked her before.

"...There's a man talking to me. He is telling me I haven't seen anything. He is not very nice. I don't see him because I am so dizzy. I'm leaning my head over. First he was on the other side of the room, but now he comes close to me and sort of props himself up against the table. He said, 'You didn't see a spaceship. Do you understand? You didn't see a spaceship'...They are angry... 'It's none of your damned business...You hadn't seen anything...You don't know anything...' There is a lady with a blue uniform in the room. She brought in a tape recorder. She laid it on the end of the table at the other end of the room..."

The husband of the late Dr. Karla Turner, Casey Turner also recalled an abduction where he was drugged, taken to a military underground facility and interrogated by a military officer. Inside the underground area he saw large manmade storage tanks, with a building constructed into the side of the tunnel or a big cavern. Casey Turner was escorted by men with spongy boots through doors into a waiting area, where he saw lots of people. Casey Turner believes that they interrogated the drugged people, who were in the waiting area, too. Under hypnosis he remembered the following:⁹

"...They are all sitting there, sort of in a daze, like they've been drugged. Just waiting for somebody to come and take them away...I keep getting the feeling that there's a military officer who's real angry...Real impatient...I don't have a face to connect with it, but there's a military officer that I'm not cooperating with...Yeah, I am not cooperating and they're real perplexed...I'm not cooperating with them...I'm not in the state of mind they want me to be in...I get the feeling they want to know, maybe they're trying to find out what it is we know...I see a military dress uniform...Green military dress uniform...I can tell gray hair, clean shaven, real quiet shoes..."

"I'm escorted by the guard out of the room. We turn left, we turn right and go for some distance. There are doors, they aren't paneled, just steel doors...Now I'm in a small room where I see only three pieces of furniture, just a metal chair, straight-backed, and I'm sitting in the chair. And a desk, plain military-type with nothing on top. With an officer standing behind it. He's got a chair, but he's not sitting in it. The guard stands outside and shuts the door. It's just me and this officer guy. Like he's in charge. And I don't like him, so I won't answer his questions...I'm fighting, I'm rebelling...I can hear him yelling... 'Tell me, Tell me...' That's all I can remember..."

As we mentioned in chapter 4, MILAB abductee Michelle also had traumatic flashbacks of a conference room with humans dressed in business suits and lab coats. The military encounters mentioned earlier probably have nothing to do with her alien abduction experiences, although they conform to former and present mind-control projects. Michelle's interrogation was recovered with the help of a hypnosis regression session on August 4, 1997. She concentrated on being in the big room surrounded by people in business suits, some in white gowns and remembered the following:¹⁰

"...There's...a woman in a white lab coat. Her name is Sue Rhodes [Transcriber assigned spelling to name of Rhodes]. They sometimes call her Dr. Rhodes. There was a drink. It tastes terrible. I am in a room now. It's like, um, it's got no windows. There're machines...In that room...The room with the machines and the...It's not very light. I cannot move my arms...There is a pressure in my head... There is some...A lot of flashing...flashing light...My eyes hurt. It looks like I am in a dentist chair. I'm...they leave me alone with the lights...The light hurt my eyes. Then it stops hurting..."

After this the hypnotherapist Dr. Kouguell asked her to focus on the original flashback about the people around her, some with business suits, some with white gowns. She recalled:

"...There were coats. Lab coats. Lab coats and light gowns...They wanted answers. They wanted answers from me...They asked me: 'Where do they come from?...Where do they come from?'...And I answered: 'They come from us.' They are asking questions about the 'ETs'...The 'Greys'... They were asking question about the 'ETs'...I could tell them about the 'Greys;' but I wasn't allowed to tell them about the other..."

Michelle remembered that she had been in a terrestrial facility and not in a spacecraft or UFO. She thought that they wanted a lot more answers from her. She also saw two other people, one other abductee whom she knows, that were questioned by the men in the white lab coats. She got the feeling that the ones in the lab coats seemed more concerned with them than the men in the business suits. She believes now that this was not the first time that she was interrogated by the same people. She recalled especially the female doctor called Dr. Rhodes. After the hypnosis session Michelle informed us that three things still baffled her:¹¹

1. The fact that she could talk to them about the "Greys" but not the "others." She still has no idea who the "others" are.

2. That she answered the question "Who are they?" with the response "They are us." However, Michelle doesn't believe that this is true.

3. She recalled "Ruth" (the other abductee) again. She looked different...younger. She contacted Ruth after the session and described how she appeared in the memory. She described her hairstyle, which was different from the way she wears it now, the earrings she was wearing and the makeup she had on. According to Ruth, Michelle described her exactly as she looked twenty years ago at the time, although she has known Ruth for three years. Ruth has no conscious memory concerning the above mentioned interrogation session with Michelle.

After exchanging information concerning military interrogation sessions, Dan Wright wrote to us with the following:

"The experiences recalled by several of your MILAB subjects bear striking resemblance to those separately recalled by persons in the Abduction Transcription Project. Examples:

1. A hangar with UFO-like craft(s);
2. One or more cubical-like rooms within a very large underground room or cavern;
3. Military officers with name tags and other identifiers removed from their uniforms;
4. Use of drugs to elicit responses from abductees;
5. Berating the subject to relate what he/she was told or shown by aliens;
6. Brainwashing the subject to believe afterward that the interrogation did not happen.

The comparison between our study and that of Dan Wright is very important since it shows a pattern in the MILAB mystery.

If one investigates these so-called military interrogation sessions, it appears that these abductees are some kind of "hypnotic couriers" or programmed agents like the one which Dr. George Estabrook created.¹² Perhaps the military split the personality of some abductees with known mind-control techniques like sensory deprivation, spin-programming, flashlights, electric shocks, rape...in order to create "Manchurian Candidates" for information gathering purposes during alien abduction experiences.

One may speculate that an abductee was split into personality A and personality B. Personality A was once a normal citizen with alien abduction experiences. Under hypnosis, the abductee and especially personality B were carefully prepared for spying during an alien abduction experience. Personality B the prepared military spy, the deeper personality, knew all the thoughts of personality A, the normal abductee.

A military psychiatrist could hypnotize the whole person, in order to get in touch with personality B, the artificially created military spy. The military would have perfect access into the information about the alien abduction scenario. Personality B would be more watchful, with an enhanced memory not so frightened as personality A. Since the military gave the abductees strange drinks and shots before the interrogation they probably used drugs to obtain easier access to personality B.

When personality A was questioned the abductee would have no conscious memory of what happened during the interrogation session, since the civilian hypnotist would not know how person B could be triggered. Therefore, civilian researchers would have no way to access the information that the military would get from personality B.

Another indication that the above mentioned scenario takes place is the fact that the interrogated abductee often can't remember what he/she answers the interrogator. Mostly they remember only some of the questions, but not the answers. Melinda Leslie found this experience very frustrating. If MILAB abductees are programmed to spy for the military, the victim switches from personality B to personality A and understands only some of the questions the interrogator asks them. As a consequence, they would have memory gaps.

MILAB abductee Lisa, mentioned earlier in chapter 4, was also interrogated by her military kidnappers.^{13, 14} On one August night in 1993, Lisa had an alien encounter followed the next night by a military kidnapping. The first night Lisa had what she called a reality-like dream of travelling in a spaceship with a "Grey" alien. The being was "telepathically" instructing her how to maneuver around objects. The "Grey" told her that the craft could sense objects and maneuver around them. The following night Lisa had a flashback of what she experienced:^{13, 14}

"...I was being interrogated by the military and pushed around. I was on the ground with my hands on the back of my head, with a gun pushing and holding me down. Men in green military clothes were asking me questions, while men in black military clothes were standing in the background by the military vehicles. They kept saying over and over, to give them the knowledge, and they said at any cost... 'do you understand? At any cost!...'"

After this Lisa's memory ended. She wrote in her journal that she couldn't figure out what it was the military men wanted to know. On December 17, she remembered lying on a stretcher and being pushed down a hallway that was lit with bright lights. Something was inserted into her left ear and she passed out. She also remembered men wearing business suits. One of these men called her by her maiden name. After some time she got more flashbacks of what occurred during this encounter:^{13, 14}

"...All of a sudden I'm surrounded by military men in black clothes and some military men dressed in green. Lisa was forced to walk very quickly across the grounds of a compound or an installation...The soldiers were rude to me...I told them to stop pushing on me. I was very irritated by them. Then we went into an office of some type...A man was sitting behind the desk. He was wearing solid green military type clothes but had no name or tag medals on it. He started asking me questions about what I felt about the aliens. It seemed like he was wondering how to get the public prepared. I told him that a lot of the public was already aware and some would never accept it..."

During another military interrogation she met the same man as before. He told her that she was the key to understanding.

"...He was saying it's in my head and it had to be unlocked and that I belong to the government. Also, men in green military clothes were standing beside me with guns and I thought there were some men in black uniforms behind me. I remember standing up and then being made to sit in an old wooden chair in a concrete-floored room. He wore green military clothes and kept tapping me with his fingers on the front and sides of my head, like he was frustrated with me..."

Again the sentence: "It's in your head and it had to be unlocked" points to a hypnoprogrammed "courier." Katharina Wilson reviewed more pages of Lisa's journal and indeed found some evidence that Lisa was/is used as a kind of secret agent. She found code-words like Top Shelf, Top Hat, Sir Lancelot, JANUS and the Latin American name Ortega. Lisa noted also the name of a military underground base in Langley, Virginia.¹⁴ Langley, Virginia is where the CIA has their main base. Katharina Wilson checked the names and found a Langley Air Force Base in Hampton, Virginia. Adjoined to the base is a government research lab and research facility, the so-called NASA-Langley Research Center.

MILAB abductee Katharina Wilson informed us that she experienced distinctly clear military memories during the last week of December, 1996. In this flashback she also saw other military personnel who appeared to be in the Air Force. She noted in her journal:¹⁵

"...There were a few of us who weren't in uniform yet because we were 'new recruits.' There was a large group of us and we were being addressed by a small group of command personnel. We were all in some type of auditorium. As I stood with everyone, I realized very few of us in the large group were professional soldiers. We seemed to be civilians who were just 'drafted.' We all had to be inspected or greeted by the smaller command group. I remember saluting them and hoping I did the salute justice. I felt I was being scrutinized by them and I wanted to do a good job, be a good soldier..."

On March 1, 1997 while in her bed she heard a sound of rotor blades beating and whisking in her left ear. She listened to the helicopter sound for what seemed like two or three long minutes. Probably after this, she recalled being in some military barracks where she saw a young soldier in a blue or gray uniform and female soldiers in black uniforms:

"...Now I'm walking up some steps to another place in the barracks. I see two or three female soldiers wearing black, somewhat fitted uniforms. There are no insignia anywhere on their uniforms. I feel that one day I, too, will be wearing one of those. There's a couple of other women and myself, but we're not in uniform. We must be new or something. We're walking up some steps. I fall...damn!...I've broken the skin on my knees and they're bleeding...I sit down on some bleachers inside a large room with several other women soldiers and a few instructors... We are being spoken to, but I can't remember what is being said. There's a lot of 'order' here: rules and regulations and a hell of a lot to learn. I'm really tired of it all, but I still have so much to do..."

Katharina Wilson informed us that she believes that if this "military training" actually occurred it did not occur that night, since she did not have any scrapes or blood on her knees. It would have happened sometime in the past. If true, such flashbacks indicate that the abductee is trained or programmed for secret tasks by the military.

Interestingly, she again recalled a military memory segment in the second week of November, 1997. She doesn't know why these memories are occurring. The following recalled memory is from her journal:¹⁵

"...I was in a military type school. A young woman was showing me my dorm room that I used when I was there. We stood in the room together while she told me this was my room. I told her I didn't remember this - I didn't remember any of it and I was very confused. It seems inconceivable that I couldn't remember living there and studying there. I remember looking at a plain white concrete wall and at the top, parallel to the ceiling was a rectangular shaped window about 1-1/2 feet tall and five feet long or wide. It was above my head near the ceiling so I couldn't see out of it, but I could tell it was sunny outside.

"Next I remember sitting at a table in a large open place. It was kind of like a hallway or a space in between two large rooms. I got the feeling I was in or near a gymnasium. I had a bag, like a duffel bag, and I was taking things out of it - my things. I took one white V-neck sweater out; then three gray V-neck sweaters, and then a wine colored sweater.

"They were regulation USAF sweaters - at least, they were what I was permitted to wear since I didn't have a uniform yet. I also took out a two-inch thick, white hardcover manual. It was heavy and I knew it was a USAF manual. Everything - every regulation the Air Force had was in that manual. Then I found the computer paper. This was what was important. I had to take this test (it was on computer paper or something similar to it). I felt rushed and felt that it was very important that I complete the test.

"While I was filling out portions of the test, a woman came by the table and said: 'Watch your Thirty.' Somehow I thought that was the number that designated a person's hair - or rather the length of their hair. I kind of reached up to my hair and pushed it behind my shoulders and thought: 'Oh, my hair is too long - they don't like females to have long hair.' I thought about getting it cut, but my mind went back to the test.

"I remember thinking that I wouldn't have enough time this time around to complete the test... then the thought hit me: I had joined the Air Force. I was in. The last thought I had was, I'm in the Air Force...of all the military services I could have joined, I chose the Air Force...My heart weighed very heavy because of the commitment I had made. I was a little nervous about what my future held."

If one speculates that Katharina Wilson had a "Manchurian Candidate"-like programming in her past Katharina A would have a "missing time" experience if Katharina B is activated, since she wouldn't know what personality B is doing. Katharina B was probably trained on a military base for a secret mission. After some time Katharina A could experience flashbacks from Katharina B's memories. The military could defend Katharina B's memories by alien related screen memories and it may be significant that Katharina A experienced mostly alien related flashbacks.

The scenario above is just a speculation but there are many indications that something similar is going on with some MILAB abductees.

Abductee Kim Carlsberg claims that she grew up in the Midwest in a typical dysfunctional family.¹⁶ Her father had problems with alcohol and her mother had problems with her father. Kim's father locked her and her brother in a bedroom when he fought with her mother. It was pure hell for the children to hear their mother's shrieks. Carlsberg hid in a corner, covered her ears and pushed her consciousness as far away as possible from those ugly confrontations. She retreated inside and escaped the screams and the pain. While waiting for her parents to end their confrontation, she heard a "voice" who told her that the parents and many other people in the world were not innately bad, but that they lacked knowledge. Inner "voices" are a kind of mental self defense and common in MPD patients. During her later studies in psychology she found out that she had dissociated during those difficult days.

On August 30, 1992 Carlsberg had a conscious abduction experience where she was probably taken to a military underground facility. She recalls that she was standing at a kind of ticket booth in front of a structure built into a mountainside. She lost consciousness as she stepped through the entrance. After she returned to awareness she remembered a lobby where many humans were milling around, and an examination.¹⁶

Sometime later she was sitting in a large auditorium filled with many people. A man, center stage, seemed to be answering questions. Carlsberg yelled out to him that she wanted to know why she was here, but he was too far away to hear her. She remembers that a young black woman, in casual military garb, glided up the aisle toward her and said: "You are being prepared for something!"

Their cases are similar to cases from the files of hypnotherapist Valerie Wolf, who found indications that children who were abused and formed an ability to dissociate and split their personalities were used by secret military/intelligence units for spy-purposes.¹⁷

Among MILAB abductees we found symptoms that were found in people who switch into another personality, shortly before or after the transformation.¹⁸ These symptoms are:

1. A severe headache;
2. Eye pressure;

3. Pressure inside the head;
4. Stiff neck and tense muscles;
5. Blurry vision;
6. Glassy eyes;
7. Dizziness or lightheadedness;
8. Ringing in ears;
9. Eyes become very sensitive to light;
10. Chills;
11. Feeling physically different;
12. Feeling more childlike;
13. A rapid mood swing;
14. Thoughts, feelings, and emotions change;
15. Things look different;
16. You don't feel real.
17. Your mannerisms change;
18. Can't think clearly;
19. Thoughts get louder;
20. Opposing conversations in your head (voices).

Interestingly most MILAB abductees reported many of these symptoms after an abduction experience. Brenda experienced 14 symptoms, some of them very intensive. Katharina Wilson experienced 12 symptoms before or after an alleged alien abduction experience, and fifteen symptoms after or before a MILAB experience. Michelle experienced 17 symptoms reported usually in multiple personality patients. Other MILAB abductees from our review reported symptoms in the same numbers.¹⁹ These results probably show a connection between MILABs, alien abductions and multiple personality disorder (MPD).

More research must be done before we would definitively know what is really going on. Several mind-control research organizations and researchers have collected a large amounts of evidence that the postwar experiments that are now known to the public are only the tip of the iceberg.

Dr. Corydon Hammond gave an interesting talk about "Hypnosis in MPD: Ritual Abuse," at the Fourth Annual Eastern Regional Conference on Abuse and Multiple Personality, 1992 in Virginia.²⁰ Dr. Hammond reported that he and other therapists had come across some cases where the abused victim claimed that he/she were programmed by secret military/intelligence agencies in military hospitals. In the programming the victims would be put naked on a gurney. They would have an IV in one hand or arm. There were wires attached to their head to monitor electroencephalograph (EEG) patterns. Some victims described pulsed flashing red, white or blue lights. The victims are probably drugged with Demerol or other drugs. Dr. Hammond believes that military psychiatrists need no longer than 25 minutes to program a person.

Some of Dr. Hammond's patients described a pain in one ear, mostly the right ear. They heard weird disorienting sounds in that ear and saw photic stimulation from a pulsing light designed to entrain the brain with a particular brainwave pattern. After a certain period the victim was in the right brainwave state and they would begin the programming.

Many MILAB abductees like Michelle described IV's, drugs, and pulsing lights, causing us to believe that they received programming during MILAB kidnappings.

It is difficult to say why MILAB abductees are being conditioned or programmed. By carefully investigation of these interrogation sessions one is led to ask two questions:

1. Are MILAB abductees military programmed "Manchurian Candidates" who spy for a secret military task force in alleged alien crafts? Are they so called "Trojan Horses" inside "real" UFOs during an alien abduction experience?

or:

2. Is their alien abduction experience a synthetically programmed screen memory for hiding secret spy or military missions?

One thing seems certain: This covert military task force appears to be interested in the UFO/alien abduction phenomenon for information gathering purposes by using bio-telemetric implants, tracking devices and mind-controlled "hypnotic couriers."

Another reason for military interest in abductees could be the so called PSI-factor. Most alien abductees claim that they communicated via telepathy and that they have enhanced PSI-capabilities after their encounters with alleged aliens.

Former KGB Major General Oleg Kalugian claimed in 1992 in an ABC interview that Russian scientists have been very successful in developing psychic warfare devices. One area of research was the exploration of the alleged parapsychological capabilities of some people to stimulate psychotronic devices. General Kalugian revealed in 1990 that Yuri Andropov head of the KGB from 1967 to 1982, issued private orders to push psychic warfare. Experts estimated the funding from the military/industrial commission and the KGB to be about 500 million rubles.²¹

Retired LTC Dr. John Alexander gave an overview of Russian psychotronic research in the December 1980 issue of Military Review. He wrote that the use of telepathic hypnosis holds great potential for military applications. If an agency has a person who had developed such a capability, then agents who are deeply planted with no conscious knowledge of their programming could be created. These persons would not be aware that thoughts had been implanted from an external source. He or she would believe that the thoughts were original.²²

Other paranormal phenomena like psychokinesis, precognition, controlled out-of-body, remote-viewing and the study of ELF waves for large scale behavior modification on humans were also mentioned. In November 1996, the CIA and DIA made public their 24 years of covert support for PSI-programs on "remote-viewing." Since those projects were funded with about twenty million dollars, there is reason to believe that there were other programs concerned with parapsychology not yet disclosed. Some believe that work in these areas continues despite the Government agencies' public denial.

If a branch of the U.S. military shows an interest in the development of PSI-related weapons, one can speculate that they may have an interest in alleged alien abductees too. They could investigate and test alleged alien abductees if they believe that these individuals have indeed developed better psychic capabilities than average people.

Detailed research in the history of MILAB abductees should lead to an answer to question number two. If we find that the parents or relatives of the victim had early connections to the military/intelligence community, that they were adopted or worked early on sensitive government positions, we should find some evidence of childhood mind-control programming.

We believe that there are also indications that some MILAB experiences demonstrate that there is at least one covertly operating secret military task force whose leaders believe some alien abductions are real. They also seem to be interested in obtaining as much information from alleged alien abductees as they can. It should also be noted that the above mentioned MILAB abductees are not alone and that their cases are only examples from a much larger pool of victims.

NOTES:

1. Private communication with Brenda, 1997, 1998.
2. Jordan, Debbie, and Mitchell, Kathy. Abducted!: The Story of the Intruders Continue. Carroll and Graf, New York, 1994.
3. Leslie, Melinda. Video-Tape: "If Not Then Why All This, Military Involvement as Evidence for the Reality of UFO Abductions," 1997.
4. Leslie, Melinda. Private communication and hypnosis transcripts concerning a military interrogation session, 1997, 1998.
5. Hunt, Linda. Interview with Master Sergeant James Stanley, 1990.
6. Hunt, Linda. Secret Agenda. St. Martin's Press, New York, 1991.
7. Haley, Leah, A. Lost was the Key. Greenleaf Publications, P.O. Box 8152, Murfreesboro, TN 37133, USA, 1993.
8. Private communication with Leah Haley, 1996, 1997.
9. Turner, Karla. Into the Fringe: A True Story of Alien Abduction, Berkley Books, New York, 1992.
10. Hypnosis transcript, Michelle, August 4, 1997.
11. Private communication with Michelle, 1997, 1998.
12. Estabrooks, George, H. "Hypnosis Comes of Age." Science Digest, April, 1971.
13. Wilson, Katharina. Lisa, in: Project Open Mind, <http://www.alienjigsaw.com>, 1996.
14. Private communication with Lisa, 1996-1997.

15. Private communication with Katharina Wilson, 1997, 1998.
16. Carlsberg, Kim. Beyond My Wildest Dream, Bear and Company, Santa Fe, New Mexico, USA, 1995.
17. Private communication with psychotherapist Valerie Wolf, 1997.
18. Putnam, F. W. Diagnosis and Treatment of Multiple Personality Disorder, Guilford, New York, 1989.
19. Private communication with several MILAB abductees, 1998.
20. Hammond, Corydon, D. "Hypnosis in Ritual Abuse," presented at the Fourth Annual Eastern Regional Conference on Abuse and Multiple personality at the Radisson Plaza Hotel, Mark Center, Alexandria, Virginia, June 25, 1992.
21. Oslander, Sheila, and Schroeder, Lynn. Psychic Discoveries, Marlow and Company, New York, 1970, 1997.
22. Alexander (LTC), John, B. "The New Mental Battlefield: Beam Me Up Spock," Military Review, Vol. LX, No. 12, December 1980.

10

Guidelines for Future Research

Our research shows that some of the information we are getting from MILAB abductees may be cover stories, induced by hypnoprogramming processes of military psychiatrists. If humans are indeed involved in the alien abduction phenomenon we should be able to find externally verifiable evidence. We agree with the late Dr. Karla Turner and with Melinda Leslie that MILAB abductees or researchers should collect this verifiable evidence.¹ These forms of evidence are:

"Bruises, traces of a rape, physical symptoms, telephone interruption, mail tampering, agents taking photos, followed in car, break in-photos or documents missing, direct confrontations, eyewitnesses, helicopter fly-bys, lab test results of drug-ging, being watched and followed, harassment, the detection of body penetrating EM-waves, matching underground facilities as proof of where one is taken."

The following events are hard to verify:

"Human personnel-intimidation and interrogations, secret underground research facilities, horror chamber experiences, story supported by alleged government insiders, aliens and humans working together, medical procedures, physical abuse, correlation between abduction accounts of these stories."

We hope that it is obvious that there is a connection between hallucinogenic drugs like LSD, probable ELF wave induced hallucinogenic experiences, drug induced revived traumatic birth memories and alien abduction experiences. More research into these connections should be done. Since many MILAB abductees remembered that they saw other abductees during their military related experience it should be possible to verify such encounters independently.

If one speculates that the "core" of the alien abduction phenomenon is indeed real, the same people who are behind these covert projects would have an interest in UFO-technology, alien-biology, alien-genetics, alien-PSI-related topics and advanced mind-control procedures. But one thing seems sure, this covert task force or the people who are behind these kidnappings use advanced mind-control technology that has nothing to do with alien abductions.

Since their research appears to be hidden behind deep "black projects," only certain people with the "need to know" would really know what's going on. This is also the main problem for organizations who push for congressional hearings concerning such experiments on humans, secret genetic research and the presented evidence of military interest in the alien abduction phenomenon. Such projects are Unacknowledged Special Access Programs (USAPs) like the Manhattan Project and the Stealth Projects, therefore most of the elected politicians do not know that this kind of research is being conducted.

NOTES:

1. Leslie, Melinda. "UFO Abductions and the Military," lecture notes, 1997.

Acknowledgements

Shari Adamiak, (CSETI); Amy; George Andrews; Walter Andrus Jr., (MUFON); Brian Bard, Dave Bader; Barbara Bartholic; Keith Basterfield, (MUFON-Australia); Graham Birdsall, (UFO-Magazine UK); Ron Bonds; Walter Bowart, (Freedom of Thought Foundation); Dr. Richard Boylan; Glenn Campbell; Brenda, (MILAB-abductee); Martin Cannon; John Carpenter; Dr. Aphrodite Clamar; Blanche Chavoustie, (ACHES-MC); Darlene, (MILAB-abductee); Padrick J. Delaney (IUFOFRA); Delora, (MILAB-abductee); Ann Druffel; Evelyn, (MILAB-abductee); Mr. American Experiment; Raymond Fowler; Harlan Girard, (International Committee Against Offensive Microwave Weapons); Dr. Steven Greer, (CSETI); David Guyatt; Leah Haley, (MILAB-abductee); Norio Hayakawa, (Civilian Intelligence Network); Cindia Hind, (MUFON-Africa); Richard Hall, (FUFOR); William Hamilton III; Dr. James Harder; Linda Moulton Howe; Prof. David Jacobs; Debby Jordan (MILAB-abductee) Rick Jones, (Illustrator); Dr. William E. Jones; Kathy Kasten; Edward, Klaudia and Jay Kats; Martti Koski; John Gregory Lambros; Prof. Alvin Lawson, (Birth Memory Study); Melinda Leslie (MILAB-abductee); Ed Light, (Mind-Control Forum); Michael Lindemann; Lisa (MILAB-abductee), Philip and Susan Mantle, (BUFORA); Glanis Mackay, (MUFON-Australia); Michelle (MILAB-abductee); Lynne Moss-Sharman, (ACHES-MC); Dr. Gilda Moura, (Brazilian abduction researcher); Robert Naeslund, (GRUPPEN); Ted Olifant III; Jeffrey Orren; Patty, (MILAB-abductee); Virgilio Sanchez-Ocejo, (MIAMI UFO Center); Dr. Richard Sauder; Derrel and Doris Sims; Barbara Spellerberg; Dr. Leo Sprinkle; Cory Sine, (AUFORA); Michael Strainic (MUFON-Canada); Di.-Ing. Willibald Stumptner; the late Dr. Karla Turner; Dr. Jacques

Vallee; Armen Victorian; Katharina and Erik Wilson, (MILAB-abductees); Sam Wright, (LAPIS); Dan Wright, head of MUFONs Abduction Transcription Project; LtC Alan Yu; and various MILAB abductees and researchers who wish to remain anonymous for their help in this project.

Information Concerning Illustrations:

Jones, Rick (Jonesy): Cartoons & Illustration for Printed Media, 38 ODO Road, Dover, Kent CT17 0DP, England

Vazquez, Luis: Illustrations and Art Work, <http://pages.prodigy.net/palo-mal.html>

Victims and researchers who are interested in this study or have important information can contact the authors at the following address: Dr. Helmut Lammer Postfach 76 A-8600 Bruck/Mur Austria

Contacts

Information concerning UFOs:

British UFO Research Association (BUFORA: UFO-Times): 1 Woodhall Drive, Batley, West Yorkshire, WF17 7SW, England.

UFO Historical Review: P.O. Box 176, Stoneham, MA 02180, USA

Center for the Study of Extraterrestrial Intelligence (CSETI): CSETI, P.O. Box 587, Englewood CO 80151, USA, <http://www.cseti.org>

Center for UFO Studies (CUFOS: International UFO Reporter): 2547 West Peterson Avenue, Chicago, IL 60659, USA

Fund For UFO Research (FUFOR): P.O. Box 277, Mount Rainer, MD 20712, USA, <http://www.fufor.org>

Mutual UFO Network (MUFON: Mufon UFO Journal): 103 Oldtowne Road, Seguin, Texas 78155-4099, USA, <http://mufon.com>

Mutual UFO Network-Central European Section (MUFON-CES): Bahnhofstr. 51, D-83620 Feldkirchen-Westerham, Germany

Quest International (UFO Magazine UK): Lloyds Band Chambers, West Street Ilkley, LS29 9DW, West Yorkshire, England, <http://www.ufomag.co.uk>

UFO Reality: P.O. Box 1998, Glastonbury, Somerset, BA6 9FE, England

Flying Saucer Review: FSR Publications Ltd., P.O. Box 162, High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, HP13 5DZ, England

UFO-BC/MUFON Canada: <http://www.renaisssoft.com/ufobc/>

Wilson, Katharina: Puzzle Publishing, P.O. Box 230023, Portland, OR 97281-0023, USA, <http://www.alienjigsaw.com>.

National Institute for Discovery Science (NIDS): <http://www.accessnv.com/nids/>

Society for Scientific Exploration (SSE: Journal of Scientific Exploration): P.O. Box 5848, Stanford, CA 94309-5848, USA, <http://www.jse.com>.

Information Concerning Mind-Control:

Advocacy Committee for Human Experimentation Survivors-Mind-Control (ACHES-MC): P.O. Box 108, Syosset N.Y. 11791, USA, <http://www.aches-mc.org>

Gruppen: P.O. Box 136, 114 79 Stockholm, Sweden.

Freedom of Thought Foundation: P.O. Box 35072, Tucson, AZ 85740-5072, USA

International Committee for the Convention Against Offensive Microwave Weapons: P.O. Box 58700, Philadelphia, PA 19102-8700, USA

Human Rights Watch: c/o Mr. William Arkin, 1522 K St, NW 910 Washington, DC 20005-1202, USA, or: 485 Fifth Ave., New York, NY, 10017-6104, USA (E-mail: hrwnya@hrw.org)

Mind-Control Forum: <http://www.mk.net/~mcf>

Electronic Weapons: <http://www.netaccess.on.ca/~raven1>

BoycotBrazil (Information concerning John Gregory Lambros): <http://members.aol.com/BrazilByct>

Bader, Dave: <http://home.ienet.com/~apex/govt/>

Kats family; Ed & Jay Kats: <http://www.jps.net/edwardj>

Cybergods: A comprehensive collection of scientific papers about bio-telemetry, mind-control and electric stimulation of the brain, via Gruppen: P.O. Box 136, 11479 Stockholm, Sweden

Lobster (Conspiracy Magazine): 214 Westbourne Avenue, Hull, HU5 3JB, England

People in UFO Research:

<http://www.ufomind.com/ufo/people/>

Information Concerning the Birth Memory Hypothesis:

<http://www.geocities.com/Area51/Vault/6521>

Future Military Research and Projects:

Federation of American Scientists (FAS): <http://www.fas.org>

Air Force 2025: <http://www.fas.org/spp/military/docops/usaf/2025>

Biography

Dr. Lammer has a Ph.D. in geophysics and works at the Austrian Space Research Institute as a planetary scientist on various space projects. He has published many scientific papers in prestigious scientific journals such as the Journal of Geophysical Research, Geophysical Research Letters, and Planetary and Space Science. Dr. Lammer is a member of the European Geophysical Society (EGS) and the New York Academy of Sciences.

In his free time, Dr. Lammer researches UFO and related phenomena, and has written several articles and three books related to the topic, which are translated in many European countries and Japan. He is the Austrian representative for the Mutual UFO Network (MUFON) and an associate member of the Society for Scientific Exploration (SSE).

Marion Lammer studies law at the University of Graz, Austria, has a longtime interest in Fortean phenomena and helped her husband in his MILAB related research.

Other books by Dr. Lammer:

UFO Geheimhaltung (UFO Secrecy), Herbig Munich, 1995.

UFO Nahbegegnungen (UFO Close Encounters), Herbig Munich, 1996.

Verdeckte Operationen (Covert Operations), Herbig Munich, 1997.

For information concerning these books contact:

Mrs. Frauke Hoppen
Herbig Publishing House
Thomas Wimmer Ring 11,
D-80539 Munich, Germany.