

The Last Hope

Death waited eagerly to harvest his soul. Gerald was the last human being on the entire earth, the last hope of humanity. But hope for what exactly? As far as the universe saw, there was no such thing as humanity anymore. Gerald was just another animal in the bunch, a very rare one, but an animal nonetheless.

Gerald understood that too, and without feeling sorry, he grabbed a rock and stuck it at his head. The utopia had begun.
