

The Clock and Dial

Edition VI: Deuteronomy
July 24th 2022

EDITION VI

1 Copecraft: Ender Dragon

2 Sana Tower: Minecraft

3 ?!!??

4 Fire Emblem Warriors: Three Hopes

5 EN/ID/JP Among Us

6 Clips of the Week!

7 Last Call

1 | Cope Minecraft: Ender Dragon

With the experience and bonds of a whole year, Council and IRyS come together for their final, full sized Minecraft collab stream. Council technically being the final Holo group to tackle the Ender Dragon, Past all the dead air of old. From “Flower” to the “Senpai Tax” to Amelia’s hyper-rail and everything in between. The road to the dragon lay full of jokes, goofs and gags. Constant back and forth between IRyS and Kronii, top tier banter if I may add, provided hearty laughs between all the girls and certainly for the audience as well. Chaos ensued as TimeRyS shined, Fauna took a more vocal role in leading the girls, Sana, Mumei and Bae all laughing and helped delve the stream further into chaos. I would like to specifically highlight TimeRyS talking over Fauna’s fight prep, with Kronii asking IRyS to strip for her...she really needed to confirm IRyS still had the sports fes outfit on!

It would be fair to say, the fight went by fairly quick. Led by a pro, there was no way Cope would fail. However, the 55 minutes of prep definitely felt like the bulk of the stream, compared to the 5-minute fight.

To top things off, in true council fashion, everything devolves into chaos. BaeRyS devolved into a fight after Kronii shot a few too many arrows at IRyS. IRyS needed a path for her aggression...

Alas, every trip must return home. Not without a final dash of chaos. A race home between all the girls ensued, the goal, Fauna’s house. Kronii boasting that she was coming in second, before somehow ending up 4th overall. The universe truly conspired against us...But hey, a great performance by all the girls and consider sticking around to the end...Maybe some secret endings are floating around...

“Are you ready my soldiers?” Fauna’s rallying cry to her fellow girls. Only being slightly interrupted by Bae suddenly getting attacked by endermen, the preparations are completed by Nature’s very own. That their potential would be sufficient.

Sasuga warden, it wouldn’t be normal if Kronii had fully listened to all instructions as she realizes her shots on the dragon were fruitless and the key was to attack the crystals surrounding the area. After establishing once more, the rules of the fight, Momma Nature somehow tardwrangles everyone enough to put them all on the same page. In a slightly unsurprising result, Bae is claimed as the first victim, getting totally bodied by the dragon as her agonized cries enter everyone's ears.

2 | Sana Tower

In Kronii's back to back Minecraft appearances, she is joined by the Speaker of Space, Sana and the magnificent moon herself, Moona, from HoloID. Moona's famous last visit helping bring Kronii into the modern world, would this time be no less impressive as all three reach for the stars to finish Sana Tower. An ingenious plan of Moona's also showed up within the tower, a ladder that would take them up to the top, much quicker than the staircase. Kronii and Sana were in shock and awe at the brilliance of the design, the genius of ID.

After gathering the copious amounts of glass to fully build the tower, all three started building up, up and up. So far upwards, they hit the build height limit and things were smooth sailing...mostly...a silly fall from Sana blessing listener's ears as the ~~excuses~~ reasons for falling came out.

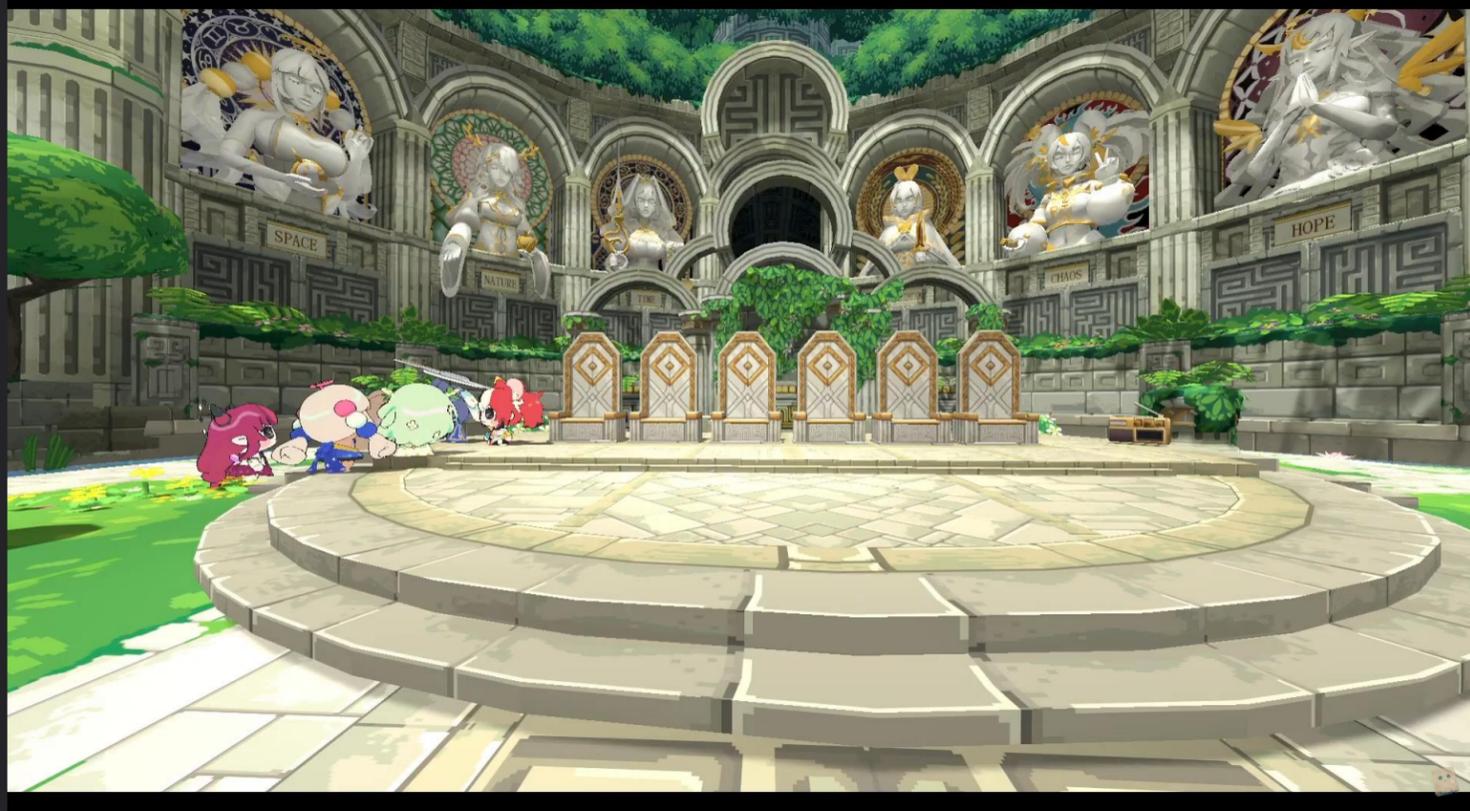

“BA BA BAH? I WAS TRYING TO FLY! IT DIDN'T WORK!” Kronii's elytra attempt ended with a faceplant against the Earth. The laughs aimed at Kronii would soon after find themselves aimed at Sana after she gives the elytra a try. Sana found herself also very intimate with the crust of the Earth, even space herself was no match for gravity...

“I wanna do that again!” “I don't wanna do that again.” Elytra attempt #2. I'm certain everyone here can guess which quote belongs to which Council member. A special guest appearance by Kaela also happened, and Sana, in true Kronie fashion, took to gaslighting both Kronii and Moona into believing she calls Kaela, Koala. When approached further on the matter, Sana said, “Are you making fun of my accent?” And for the rest of the evening, a most cozy experience for all. Oh the ID server tour...yeah they're pretty advanced, stick around for it!

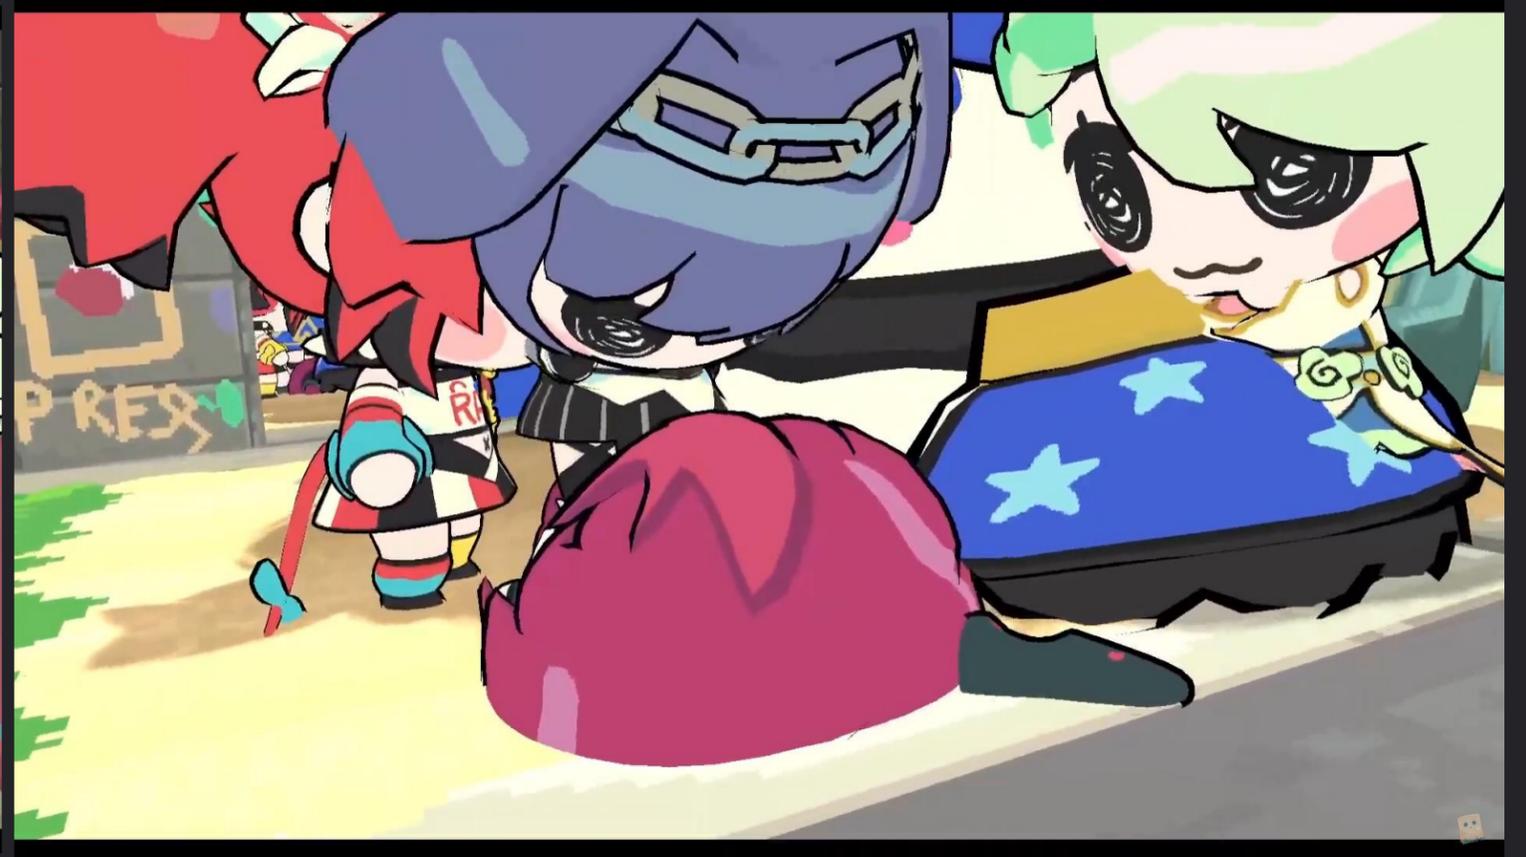

In today's latest council meeting, something very serious has occurred up in the "North." Santa has been murdered by someone and the accused in question, IRyS! And I guess that's bad. After giving IRyS a harsh punishment of having to read chat, the #beegsmolls adventures begins as everyone leaves the meeting room and heads out to the courtyard and the rest of the Council world. Full of sights and experiences, the Council playground was pretty different from its Myth counterpart. Although the room's of the Council girls were still under construction, the Council server boasted much more space for gathering which means more areas to play and goof off in. Additionally they also have their own stage to sing underneath the stars!

"You're never alone."

4 | Fire Emblem!

Wouldn't be an EN stream without scuff right? Kuronichwahhh~ After a little fiddling with the screen, getting it to fit just right into her overlay, the game begins. Play on normal, with newer FE rules(casual) and the quick and efficient play style, we finally get some FE content on Kronii's channel! Although I myself have yet to complete Three Houses, I, and many others may be spoiling their experience watching this stream.

Right off the bat Kronii gets into the game and notices her OC's choker...considering yesterday's collab with copious amounts of teasing other girls...I wonder if that's indicative of anything...

Three Fates however boasting a significant change in the traditional FE gameplay style, being that, it's a musou. You either love these types of games or hate them.

And so Kronii began on her journey, playing as Kronii. And Kronii would need to go through the area and defeat the villain, Kronii. "Stupid sexy Kronii!" The battle against Kronii ensued and Kronii make quick, simple work of Kronii. And after Kronii lost the fight, the power of anime stepped in and save Kronii from Kronii. And the power overflowed so within her veins that she became Super Kronii and then the tables turned on Kronii. Super Kronii started beating up Kronii and Kronii took it personally so they started fighting again.

Kronii's face beamed with joy at the sight of her boi, the leader of the Golden Deer himself, Claude von Riegan. The appearance of the familiar faces from Three Houses introduce themselves fairly early on, similar to how Three Houses starts. And similar fangirling would occur when she gained control of Claude.

Suffice to say if you don't look like Claude or Dimitri, you...well...anyways...In Kronii's quest for vengeance against Gerald's band of mercenaries, a poll was put up for the assumed house that she would support. Golden Deer at 40%, Black Eagle at 41% and Blue Lion at 19%. Despite whatever was going on in the story and in chat, Kronii scoured the campgrounds for Claude, seeking to speak with him and only him. Shortly thereafter, looking for Edelgard and Dimitri. But Kronii didn't only speak to the big reps, she visited all the other classmates at the camp, checking out their stats and giving random thoughts on the vast cast. Kronii tended to linger on certain members...all girls. What did she mean by this...the constant fangirling over girls like Petra and turning to jelly every time Claude appeared on screen? And in the end, Kronii chose her beloved Golden Deer, and the game begins. Man, she really likes Claude...

5 | HOLO JP/ID/EN AMOGUS!

Wouldn't be an EN stream without scuff right? Well there's scuff and then there's whatever the hell happened to Kronii during the collab. Not pointing fingers at anybody or anything but, Canada does have a track record for ISP related issues...Getting past that however, you were in for a treat with the vast amount of noise from sleepy Kronii. Not only sleepy Kronii but tons of kuso Japanese. Main culprits being Calli and IRyS and of course our Warden. I know you guys LOVE Calli's Texas Ranger accent, it is here plentiful! You could also get tons of glimpses at Lui's hips, as long as you don't vote for her...

The rules as explained by Ollie, the organizer, were as such. There were four rounds. In the first round, players must speak in Japanese. The second round, players must speak English. The third round was a free for all. And in the final the game would be played as a game of Hide and Seek!

Right off the bat, Kronii is murdered by Anya. Kronii didn't seem too disturbed by it however, still trying to establish what was even going on in the game. Kronii, Zeta and IRyS all finding themselves stuck in the purgatory chat for dying, "speaking" Japanese. Sikusu people, doushite watashi no intaneto so kuso, very okoteru, very nemusugiru. Thanksmasu. Soon, Ollie and Iofi would join the three and continue the kuso Japanese joke, and the imposters take a win after voting off friend...

The second round Kronii forgot to unmute herself...leaving the other members giving her a small heads up. Unfortunately she would find the real issue with things was her internet itself, which must be frustrating as there's really not a lot she could do about it. Also that blue watering can was a really tough boss...good thing Kronii is big brained!

Lui's eigo reps were also paying dividends, she could carry a conversation related to the game well on her own. It was pretty impressive of her to do so much in English.

Over the course of the third game Kronii would yet run into more net issues, wondering at times how the stream was even still up and how she was connected to the game. And for a brief moment, the bots would even find their way to Kronii's chat, filling it up with nonsense. It feels a bit odd to see someone other than Kronies ruin chat...

Round 4 was full of screams and cries of joy as IRyS was the one "seeking" and running around the map killing everyone else. Revenge came swift for Kronii however, as the next game, she would be the killer. "Minna doko desu ka?" "Koko desu." Although she didn't win, she caught a few girls off guard, making them yelp in terror of her impossibly perfect moves.

CLIPS OF THE WEEK

 Kronii Doesn't Know

@USTEL\_YJ

 TimeRyS Returns

@Nameronii

 Kronii high fives Sana

@AquaticLettuce

 Kronii wants.. what now?

@King In Yellow

 Kronii Boogeys Down!

@Zenya 3D

 TimeRyS daki...

@Nameronii

Convention Appearances!

Kronii will be appearing as a panel guest for AniRevo in Vancouver, from July 28 to 31st! She will also be appearing at Crunchyroll Expo in California, details are up now. Con goes this year getting more treats, unless you went to Anime Expo.

YES IM STILL MAD ABOUT THIS

LMAOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

Sananara

As you've most likely heard by now, our Speaker of Space, our cheerful, delightful cinnamon roll Sana will be graduating on July 31st. Sana is a council member that Kronii has stated to speak to quite often off stream and all the girls are keeping her as much company as she can have until that day. Where ever Sana goes, she's still a council member!

Nameronii Interview

We had the privilege of interviewing Nameronii to gain insight on their writing style. Link here! We are also out of writers to interview...if someone wants to come forward...or not it's cool.

Our Staff

Lead Writer and Editor

Kami

Creative Director

Kami

Art, Design, & Editing

The Artist

Other /infinity/ Resources

Fic Archive

Fanart

Kronii Links

Youtube

Twitter

Birthday Merch \(legacy\)