Introduction

The purpose of this document is to demonstrate that:

1. Aleksandr Dugin is a satanic freak and almost certainly a fed (GRU/KGB agent).
2. The main nationalist coalition in the West, consisting of the Alt-Right, New Right, and Identitarian Movement, has direct links to Aleksandr Dugin, and thus "Russian" foreign intelligence (which works on behalf of the same rootless globalist oligarchs as western intelligence agencies).

Who is Aleksandr Dugin?

Aleksandr Gelyevich Dugin is a Russian political strategist with ties to some of the most powerful people in Russia: various oligarchs, billionaires, Kremlinites, military men, and even Putin himself. This includes people such as Sergey Naryshkin (Director of the Foreign Intelligence Service), Igor Rodionov (Defence Minister), and Gennadiy Seleznyov (Chairman of the State Duma). Dugin's father was a colonel-general of Russia's Main Intelligence Directorate (GRU), which is essentially the Russian military's KGB; a foreign-intelligence agency. GRU was originally established in the USSR by Leon Trotsky's deputy. Due to the fact that Dugin's father was an extremely high ranking glow-in-the-dark, Dugin was born into spookdom; the number of influential KGB agents that Dugin has collaborated with is too long to list here (see: <http://archive.vn/iOvCT>).

There are a few common misconceptions about Dugin in the West, largely propagated by the lying mainstream media, but also by clueless (or subversive?) nationalists. These include claims that Dugin is...

- A Fascist.
- Nationalistic.
- Anti-imperialist.
- Anti-Liberal.
- Pro-Christian (specifically Orthodox).
- Traditionalist (capital-T Traditionalism of René Guenon and Julius Evola).
- Somehow beneficial to White nationalists within the West.

These claims are not just "slightly untrue" or an "easy mistake to make," they're quite literally a polar inversion of the truth. All of the above can generally be debunked in under ten minutes via a quick web search, or by reading Dugin's own words.

Contrary to the fact that every media establishment in the West labels Dugin a "Fascist," he is 100%, unequivocally ANTIFA. He was an early member of the Communist 'National Bolshevik' (NazBol) party and assisted in the party's organization. He adores Lenin, Stalin, etc.

In addition to being a Bolshevik, Dugin is wholesale anti-White (having openly advocated for "white genocide") and a deranged Satanist, obsessed with Chaos Magic, Kabbalah, and Jewish Eschatology, among other things. He's also promoted cannibalism numerous times.

All things considered, he is the last person that "Pro-White" and "Anti-Semitic," "White Nationalists" would be associating with. Yet, he is connected to almost every single major, influential Alt-Right and Identitarian figure. Why? Your guess is as good as mine, but it may have something to do with this quote from his book 'Foundations of Geopolitics:'

- Russia should use its special services within the borders of the United States to fuel instability and separatism, for instance, provoke "Afro-American racists". Russia should "introduce geopolitical disorder into

There is simply far too much incriminating evidence against Dugin to include it all, but the pages below contain a few select examples. The anti-White quotes, which are probably the most relevant, can be found on page 6,

3 "Occult Metaphysical War"

Eschatology still informs Dugin's imagination. In the early 1990s he realised that we lived in the end times, and ten years later he discovered a source of misfortune; it appeared that the American neoconservatives ('neocons') were consciously driving humanity to the "Kingdom of Antichrist" (Dugin 2005: 434–455).

While viewing world history in an apocalyptic way, Dugin reveals there an everlasting antagonist "occult metaphysical war" between Christianity and Judaism (Dugin 1997b: 229–230). He discovers in the Kabbalah Book of Zohar of the thirteenth century, a plot aimed not only at the Christians but at all peoples throughout the world as though the Jews were preparing a "ritual genocide" for them.¹¹ Allegedly, this has to happen before the Kingdom of the Messiah would come into being. Dugin is searching for the omens of the end times and reveals them in the restoration of the State of Israel. According to his calculations, the Messiah had to arrive in 1990. It was Dugin who brought to Russia a rumour that the 'ninth red cow' had been born in March 1997, after which the tenth one had to appear, which would be used for a sacrifice for the Messiah. Allegedly, the Jews would be permitted to enter the Temple Mount after that (Dugin 1997c).¹² Dugin's predictions failed to come into fruition in the 1990s. Yet, he is not embarrassed and once again claims that we live in the end times, and expects an arrival of the Antichrist (Dugin 2018).

¹¹ In fact, Dugin represented a fragment of the Roman Catholic priest I. Pranaitis' accusatory talk at the "Beilis trial" of 1911–13 when the Jew was falsely accused of ritual murder.
¹² This information arrived from the Jewish fundamentalists who talked of the preparations for a restoration of the Third Temple in Jerusalem. See Wright (1998). For that issue also, see Ariel (2002).

The chaos star is Dugin's official emblem. It's also found on the Tarot deck of Aleister Crowley, of whom Dugin is a huge fan. Dugin claims to be a "Christian;" research Sabbatean-Frankism.

with drugs and sex magic. Later, Dugin took his interest in the occult to a new level. In the early 1990s, he became editor of the Eurasian magazine Elementy. The front cover of the magazine's second issue featured a portrait of Baphomet, the goat god who is also the symbol of the US-based Church of Satan. Dugin frequently wrote about the occult within the pages of In 1995, during an unsuccessful attempt to get elected to parliament, Dugin took part in a pre-election concert – described as a "black mass" by participants – in memory of the British occultist Aleister Crowley, notorious for his sex "magic". During the performance, Dugin's supporters read aloud from Crowley's Book of the Law ("Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the Law"). Dugin is also reported to have met with figures from the Ordo Templi Orientis, a worldwide occult organisation that once boasted Crowley among its ranks. so – after all, Dugin also has a well-known interest in Chaos Magic, the post-modern,

It's also said, that Putin at least was a member of the Royal Arc Lodge, which actually has no typical signs of freemasonry on its celebrating coats, there's this picture where Putin together with George W. Bush and a Chinese functioner together walk on a lawn, smiling happily. Do you want to tell me about this development, give me insights? Did Putin perhaps step out of the lodge because of better influence by Prof. Dugin and friends?

BN: There is one very inspired author, whose concepts correspond to the theme of geopolitical conspiracy, "The great war of continents", about which wrote Dugin – Jean Parvulesco. It is a kind of geopolitical mysticism. For him it is a new Eurasian empire, Empire of the End Times, for which the right person is, according to Parvulesco, Vladimir Vladimirovich Putin. For Parvulesco, "Putin is the direct emanation of the secret revolutionary groups of the Armed Forces of the Soviet Union". For Putin there's almost a sacred role. He is a true messiah of the new empire. Parvulesco claims that Putin was prepared for its mission for years. It makes its appearance in a moment of dramatic change. At this point, it is barely discernible, considered Parvulesco, but it will soon become apparent.

Below is some evidence of Dugin's anti-Whiteness. It's important to note that Dugin uses the words White/West/European/Liberal interchangeably, and that his views on race have not changed since the 1990s; he continues to publish anti-White tirades to this day.

• Dugin via Der Spiegel, Every Westerner is a Racist, 2014, <http://archive.vn/aLiEt>
"Every westerner is a racist... Western civilization is a racist, ethnocentric civilization... the civilizations of the West and the East are very different. The eastern one is superior in that it fights against the racism of the western one. [...] The ethnocentrism of Western Europe is a constant. You don't have to be surprised about the concentration camps. [...] All European philosophers are racists."

• Dugin, About the absolute of neo-Eurasism and the phased development of the Eurasian movement, 2001

"White racism – except for its extremely peripheral and non-indicative branches – is a completely disgusting thing, it's Atlantist and the root of many great geopolitical catastrophes. The notorious unity of the "white race" is as stupid as the concept of a "united Christian world". This is the most harmful Atlantist propaganda. Africans = Eurasians."

• Dugin, The Magic Disillusion Of A Nationalist Intellectual, 1995
<http://archive.vn/0rq2f>
"What comes to the myth of "the solidarity of the white race", it is a complete utopia that leads not only to the Holocaust of the Jews, but also to a genocide of the Slavs. The remains of the Third Reich are a basis for this miserable, contradictory and [c]ompletely false conception."

• Dugin, Fundamental Racism Of The West, 2013 <http://archive.vn/WjXfl>
"It is necessary to discard this racist model of the division of different societies (both biological racism and cultural), to affirm that civilizations are different, and that the criterion of Western civilization is not universal. [...] we first need to develop a theory of a multipolar world, a theory of the equality of civilizations, and in the most brutal way to overthrow the West-centric racism"

White civilization; their cultural values, false, dehumanizing model of the world, built by them – did not pay off. Everything goes to the beginning of the anti-white pogroms on a planetary scale. Russia saved only by the fact that we are not pure white. Predatory multinational corporations, oppression and suppression of all others, MTV, gays and lesbians – this is the fruit of white civilization, from which it is necessary to get rid of. So I am for reds, yellows, greens, blacks – but not for whites."

Dugin's words often echo the sentiments of historic globalists, such as the ex-Prime Minister of Israel, who stated that the USSR (Eurasia) will act as the 'word police' for the future world government ('United Nations'), or Kalergi, who founded the EU on behalf of the Rothschilds.

Pan-European political activist [edit] <http://archive.is/xX0hp>

Coudenhove-Kalergi is recognized as the founder of the first popular movement for a united Europe.

According to his autobiography, at the beginning of 1924 his friend Baron Louis de Rothschild introduced him to Max Warburg who offered to finance his movement for the next three years by giving him 60,000 gold marks. Warburg remained sincerely interested in the movement for the remainder of his life and served as an intermediate for Coudenhove-Kalergi with influential Americans such as banker Paul Warburg and financier Bernard Baruch. In April 1924, Coudenhove-Kalergi founded the journal PanEuropa (1924–1938) of which he was editor and principal author. The next year he started publishing his main work, the Kampf um PanEuropa (The fight for PanEuropa, 1925–1928, three volumes). In 1926, the first Congress of the Pan-European Union was held in Vienna and the 2,000 delegates elected Coudenhove-Kalergi as president of the Central Council, a position he held until his death in 1972.

His original vision was for a world divided into only five states: a United States of Europe that would link

In his book Praktischer Idealismus (Practical Idealism), written in 1925, he describes the future of Jews in Europe and of European racial composition with the following words:^[45]

The man of the future will be of mixed race. Today's races and classes will gradually disappear owing to the vanishing of space, time, and prejudice. The Eurasian-Negroid race of the future, similar in its appearance to the Ancient Egyptians, will replace the diversity of peoples with a diversity of individuals. [...]

What is 'Duginism'?

Duginism is, in short, Neo-Eurasianist Third Worldism.

When you strip back Dugin's many layers of psychobabble, his ideology is simply a revival of Bolshevism and the USSR (Russian imperialism), merged with later Western Marxist theories on [the deconstruction of] race and gender, and so on. He combines all of that with "the planet must unite in the hatred of Whites" style Third Worldism, which he poorly disguises as "anti-Liberalism." You could say that Duginism is simply 'Bolshevism 2.0.'

His ideology is laid out mainly via two related, but very distinct works, which are key to understanding Dugin's political theories and strategies. 'The Foundations of Geopolitics: The Geopolitical Future of Russia' ('FoG,' 1997) and 'The Fourth Political Theory' ('4PT,' 2009).

Foundations of Geopolitics is by far Dugin's most important work. Dugin himself describes it as an "indispensable guide for all those who make decisions in the most important spheres of Russian political life – for politicians, entrepreneurs, economists, bankers, diplomats, analysts, political scientists, and so on."

In FoG, Dugin outlines his 'Neo-Eurasianist' geopolitical strategy, which includes a multitude of instructions on how to subvert, manipulate, and conquer various countries in order to create a Eurasianist empire. He describes his ideology as "the battle for the world rule of Russians," stating that "the maximum task is the 'Finlandization' of all of Europe."

Dugin has referred to Stalin as a 'Eurasianist elder brother:' "Stalin was not a separate individuality, but a collective person, an Elder Brother, a manifestation of Eurasianism in its communist variant." (<http://archive.vn/IP9Se> pg. 140). In a 2012 interview, Dugin said: "I've been struggling with this for 25 years [...] wanting to unite Soviet and Russian patriots [...] We are on the side of Stalin and the Soviet Union" (<http://archive.vn/oCN7s>).

In 2014, Dugin published an article titled 'Horizons of our Revolution. From Crimea to Lisbon' via his 4PT website (<http://archive.vn/xAmTj>), in which he stated: "We aren't going to limit ourselves by annexing Crimea. That for sure. [...] our revolution will not stop in Western Ukraine. It must go further in Europe. [...] It is the goal of full Eurasianism – Europe from Lisbon to Vladivostok. Great Eurasian Continental Empire. And we will build it. This means European Revolution will be Eurasian Revolution. This is our last horizon.”

One day after Putin came to power in 2000, Dugin embraced his glowie heritage and published an article stating that the KGB should be “the backbone of the Eurasian Renaissance.” (<http://archive.vn/jljgv>).

As Dugin said, the book is highly influential among Russian elites, including the military, who used it as a textbook in their Academy of the General Staff. It was co-drafted by Colonel-General Leonid Ivashov, head of the International Department of the Russian Ministry of Defence. After writing FoG, Dugin was hired as a guest lecturer by the military, to explain his geopolitical Neo-Eurasianist theory to Russian officers and the likes. Seleznyov, a former Russian State Duma speaker and a buddy of Dugin, urged that FoG should be incorporated into the Russian school curriculum.

The most important thing about FoG is that it is, essentially, straight-to-the-point and completely “mask-off.” He declares his Neo-Eurasianist agenda openly (a summary of F.o.G is featured below). Fourth Political Theory, on the other hand, couldn’t be more different. You may have seen 4PT being praised by various nationalists in the West, as it has been heavily marketed to Westerners by organizations such as Arktos Media (which publishes and translates Dugin’s work for Western consumption), as well as other “New Right” or “Alt-Right” influencers.

4PT is not designed for Russian consumption, but to be read by hapless Western nationalists. Dugin’s aim with 4PT is to ideologically subvert nationalists in the West, making them more malleable and likely to assist (passively or actively) him in achieving the political goals he laid out in Foundations of Geopolitics. 4PT is overflowing with psychobabble, verbose gobbledygook, and complete bastardizations of various historic right-wing thinkers — particularly notable is the manner in which Dugin mutated and inverted the Traditionalist School of thought. For an idea of the sort of nonsense included in the book, chapter 13, “Gender in the Fourth Political Theory,” is devoted to arguing in favor of a-sexual transgenderism. Behind the shoddy and transparent mask of phony “Traditionalism,” nothing separates Dugin’s Fourth Political Theory from the extant ideology of the New World Order that he claims to oppose.

In summary

FoG is Dugin’s political strategy document, in which he outlines highly detailed plans on how to create a Eurasian empire by subverting foreign nations, it was written for Eurasianists, to benefit Eurasianists. 4PT is an implementation of FoG’s political strategy, in that 4PT is a subversive book written for Westerners and disseminated in the West, to channel Western nationalism towards Eurasianist ends.

In brief

FoG = Mask Off = Duginism-For-Me (For Eurasianists) = Influential among elites of Russia.

Foundations of Geopolitics summary

Much of the content of FoG aligns with the agendas promoted by the Alt-Right & Identitarians, many of whom either have direct links to Dugin or are closely acquainted with those who do.

In Europe:

- Germany should be offered the de facto political dominance over most Protestant and Catholic states located within Central and Eastern Europe. Kaliningrad oblast could be given back to Germany. The book uses the term "Moscow–Berlin axis".^[9]
- France should be encouraged to form a bloc with Germany, as they both have a "firm anti-Atlanticist tradition".^[9]
- The United Kingdom, merely described as an "extraterritorial floating base of the U.S.", should be cut off from Europe.^[9]
- Finland should be absorbed into Russia. Southern Finland will be combined with the Republic of Karelia and northern Finland will be "donated to Murmansk Oblast".^[9]
- Estonia should be given to Germany's sphere of influence.^[9]
- Latvia and Lithuania should be given a "special status" in the Eurasian–Russian sphere.^[9]
- Poland should be granted a "special status" in the Eurasian sphere.^[9]
- Romania, North Macedonia, Serbia, "Serbian Bosnia" and Greece – "Orthodox collectivist East" – will unite with "Moscow the Third Rome" and reject the "rational-individualistic West".^[9]
- Ukraine should be annexed by Russia because "Ukraine as a state has no geopolitical meaning, no particular cultural import or universal significance, no geographic uniqueness, no ethnic exclusiveness, its certain territorial ambitions represents an enormous danger for all of Eurasia and, without resolving the Ukrainian problem, it is in general senseless to speak about continental politics". Ukraine should not be allowed to remain independent, unless it is cordon sanitaire, which would be inadmissible.^[9]

In the Middle East and Central Asia:

- The book stresses the "continental Russian–Islamic alliance" which lies "at the foundation of anti-Atlanticist strategy". The alliance is based on the "traditional character of Russian and Islamic civilization".
- Iran is a key ally. The book uses the term "Moscow–Tehran axis".^[9]
- Armenia has a special role: It will serve as a "strategic base," and it is necessary to create "the [subsidiary] axis Moscow–Yerevan–Teheran". Armenians "are an Aryan people ... [like] the Iranians and the Kurds".^[9]
- Azerbaijan could be "split up" or given to Iran.^[9]
- Georgia should be dismembered. Abkhazia and "United Ossetia" (which includes Georgia's South Ossetia) will be incorporated into Russia. Georgia's independent policies are unacceptable.^[9]
- Russia needs to create "geopolitical shocks" within Turkey. These can be achieved by employing Kurds, Armenians and other minorities.^[9]
- The book regards the Caucasus as a Russian territory, including "the eastern and northern shores of the Caspian (the territories of Kazakhstan and Turkmenistan)" and Central Asia (mentioning Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan and Tajikistan).^[9]

In East and Southeast Asia:

- China, which represents a danger to Russia, "must, to the maximum degree possible, be dismantled". Dugin suggests that Russia start by taking Tibet–Xinjiang–Mongolia–Manchuria as a security belt.^[1] Russia should offer China help "in a southern direction – Indochina (except Vietnam), the Philippines, Indonesia, Australia" as geopolitical compensation.^[9]
- Russia should manipulate Japanese politics by offering the Kuril Islands to Japan and provoking anti-Americanism.^[9]
- Mongolia should be absorbed into Eurasia–Russia.^[9]

The book emphasizes that Russia must spread anti-Americanism everywhere: "the main 'scapegoat' will be precisely the U.S."

In the United States:

- Russia should use its special services within the borders of the United States to fuel instability and separatism, for instance, provoke "Afro-American racists". Russia should "introduce geopolitical disorder into internal American activity, encouraging all kinds of separatism and ethnic, social and racial conflicts, actively supporting all dissident movements – extremist, racist, and sectarian groups, thus destabilizing internal political processes in the U.S." It would also make sense simultaneously to support isolationist tendencies in American politics".^[9]

The Eurasian Project could be expanded to South and Central America.^[9]

It is significant that the book, Against Liberalism,^[9] by the renowned French intellectual Alain de Benoist, which has also been published in Russian by Amphora, has a subtitle: Towards the Fourth Political Theory. Undoubtedly, many things can be said on this theme by representatives of both the old Left and the old Right and, most likely, even by liberals themselves, who are conceptualising qualitative changes to their own political platform, even while politics is disappearing.

Concerning the "identitarians," I have never uttered the name of Faye in all of my writing — he is not bad, but also not good. I consider Alain de Benoist to be brilliant — simply the best. Those "identitarians" who view the positive attitude toward Islam or Turks as a negative aspect of the Fourth Political Theory do so, I believe, partly due to the manipulation of globalist forces who seek to divide those revolutionary forces which are capable of challenging the liberal-capitalist Atlanticist hegemony.

of the French New Right In The Year 2000

Alain de Benoist and Charles Champetier

AV: You have some personal familiarity with Aleksandr Dugin. Could you comment on the significances in your view of his political and cultural agenda, and on his books, notably The Fourth Political Theory? What do you think about his notions of Eurasia and of a Eurasian imperium? Do you think he should be taken seriously?

ADB: I made the acquaintance of Aleksandr Dugin in 1990, and I have been meeting him many times ever since, in Russia, France, and elsewhere. I consider him a man of impressive culture and especially a man of original personal thought. Neo-Eurasianism, of which he became the theorist, is an heir to the prestigious current of Eurasianism

More recently, he put forward the idea of the “fourth political theory,” which I find particularly interesting.

Under the influence of the historian and geographer Lev Gumiliev, he developed a theory of geopolitics of great importance, which has by now many followers in the Russian political and military circles,

It seems to me that we have to take very seriously the notion of “Eurasia”

For reference: Hitler was a capitaist, he did not believe in "nationalizing everything" (aka communism) >

HITLER'S DEFINITION OF SOCIALISM

"A Socialist is one who serves the common good without giving up his individuality or personality or the product of his personal efficiency. Our adopted term 'Socialist' has nothing to do with Marxian Socialism. Marxism is anti-property; true socialism is not. Marxism places no value on the individual, or individual effort, or efficiency; true Socialism values the individual and encourages him in individual efficiency, at the same time holding that his interests as an individual must be in consonance with those of the community. All great inventions, discoveries, achievements were first the product of an individual brain. It is charged against me that I am against property, that I am an atheist. Both charges are false."

- Adolf Hitler, December 28, 1938
