Train a Hellhound

DOE DERRY vs. CHAD
Winner:CHAD
This was actually my hardest match to evaluate. Both of the entries are really funny and it shows how much you both enjoyed making them.
It´s very clear that both of you were pretty happy with your match up by the way you portrayed your opponent. There was enough CHAD being CHAD and DERRY being trippy in both entries.
I was going to abstain but I don´t like doing that so I choose CHAD for this one.
While DERRY´s entry is one hundred percent wholesome, CHAD´s has a bit of an edgy feeling to it by the way it portrays DERRY´s dawg totally passing out at the end. A shithead such as myself preffers edgy suff tbh.
Still, DERRY´s "You´re Satan, remember?" made me crack up.
Amazing work, both of you.

Highway to Hell

Winner: Locket
PUT PUT PUT PUT PUT... Both entries are great at what they do, really. I was tempted to vote for Natum for the ending, as he doesn´t just save Locket but gives her a chance to straight herself back on earth. MIAU MIAU I do want Locket to redeem herself at some point tbh. PUT PUT PUT PUT
But Locket´s does something very smart at the start. PUT PUT PUT PUT PUT When you read Locket´s entry and Natum says she´s an scummy cat with a 200 IQ plan but then the next page shows her totally wasted after partying and you say "lol this shitty cat can´t plan anything" but then when you read the whole comic and go back to that page, you discover that she planned everything. She was really a scummy cat with tons of resources and an evil plan, Natum was right. PUT PUT PUT PUT MIAU MIAU
I like my evil keikaku doori characters and I think we need charismatic villains so this one goes to the shitty cat. PUT PUT PUT PUT...

Escape

Winner:Junko
Skater Stick´s entry has got a great pacing and even better ending, he truly played Junko good. But Junko´s resonates with me because I´m a cringe weeb and honestly I´m intersted about what shes´s goig to tell to Blossom.. I don´t know if those pannels presenting the characters when they appear are a Kengan reference but they surely drove me to insanity. One thing to remark for Junko, you forgot to translate "Chikushooooo". The readers will get confused, they don´t understand Nihonjin!(Japanese language).

Fiddle Contest

Winner: Simments
The core of both entries is how to overcome the fact that they don´t know how to play the fiddle.
SHAE´s entry is legit good. They go to hell, have a great adventure, learn to accept their differences and learn to be better persons.
i can definitelly see the appeal of that. But I preffer Simmen´s darker story. Not only the whole thing about searching fiddle solos in internet was more creative, the darker ending that ends up tragically for SHAE but at the same time doesn´t make Simmens completely evil but highly questionable, he´s a survivor, not exactly a bad guy. That makes the entry more complex and more of my liking.

Collect the Souls

Winner: Gary
Gary´s was a roast, total roast but it was also hopeful thanks to the intervention of JC. Gary´s also features Janny more and it has got deep viking lore about Odin being buddies with Satan.
Janny´s was ok but I don´t think it´s enough to win against Gary, even with the butt stuff the end.

Snowball´s Chance

Winner: Abstain
Edward´s entry had a comfy feeling to it, very pleasing to read actually, even if it´s not my thing, I have to admit that you´ve got a good sense of rithm for slice of life. I like how he acted like a big bro for some random girl that wanted to bring Christmas to Hell in June because why the fuck not? Your style will hit like a truck once you gain more skill. Believe that.
Of course Mimi´s entry goes better with me. I preffer all that energy and madness. She´s got a very charming artstyle.
Still, I don´t think Mimi portrayed Hell in her entry so I don´t think it´s ok to give her my vote but I also don´t think she doesn´t deserve it. So this is a draw.

Demon Slaying

Winner: Bucket
I find Illwill coming back and having a plan interesting, but I preffer Dillboi´s more straightforward approach by going full Gatso but also being a bro to Illwill. Maybe it´s not like I exactly favour straightforward approaches, but he´s very good at straightforward aproaches and what works works. At least for this comic.
I am hyper for Anna´s return however, that Illwill is such a lucky guy. Sorry, Dillboy for so many references to past crabs, I´ll stop for good, but you´ll probably understand us as the tournament goes on. It´s very hard to not get attached to certain characters. Unless you are a purebreed Chad, of course.

Babysit the Antichrist

Winner: Zakal
Both played it pretty straight. It´s not like Rachel´s was bad or anything, but Zakal was simply better because it´s less common to see some manly parenting by a manly dad. There´s also a problem with the art skill difference, but there´s not much Rachel can do about it now. Such is life. I´m sure many readers will like Rachel´s more lovely approach.

Succubus Makeover

Winner:17ling
I don't know why but Maple´s was too hard to follow. It doesn´t seem to portray the main characters enough. I mostly understand that L.A. sucks aparently. The cat at the end was hot.
17ling´s sure was something. I understood what was happening and it portrayed both contestants propperly. It was as disturbing as you´d expected it to be. Congratulations.

Make a Devil Cry

Winner:Trixxy
Ocho´s was a really complete entry. He had time to fool around, fuck shit up and even fight. I can´t believe you made a Matrix reference. Those became outdated six months after the movie premiered, but it caught me out of guard so it worked for me in 2026. Really great work.
But I´m a shonentard and when I read a good battle sequence I say WHOAA. Trixxy´s had a real good battle and there´s not many here that can pull that off with such style and flow so I think she deserves a vote.

Wake the Beast

Winner: Clarity.
Both characters had mad chemistry in both entries, both of them capture their opponent´s personalities perfectly, Clarity the goofball and Jev the stoic and competent ranger. It´s obvious you had a lot of fun making your comics.
I don´t think one is over another thematically but I liked the beast on Clarity´s entry a lot more, really imponent desing. It looked like a Digimon. I love Digimon. Then there´s the art, Clarity has got a clear advantage here.

Hell´s Bells

Winner: Captain Cheddar
The Predator reference is a timeless classic but I didn´t like Kabloowie´s ending. The demons just became mean and killed Cheddar. Sad but not a good way. Just sad. Cheddar´s was consistently entertainig. It had platforming and I liked how they both ended happily in that amusement park.

Devil in Disguise

Winner: Cooler
I loved the romantic back and forth between the characters in Cooler´s entry. Actually loved every character interaction in Cooler´s entry. From Cooler trying to win over Clarity followed by CHAD and his godlike advice of playing the numbers game. That´s how you characterize a Chad outside of memes. That´s how you characterize a frien.
Clarity, Cooler and Chad have mad chemistry,
I hope you can Stick and Flower to the dynamic.
Well, I can´t just gloss over the whole entry but I loved it very much. You know your romantic stuff, dude.
Foxlove´s entry is normally the kind of entry I´d vote for, great art, cute girl being cute and foxxy,but Cooler has got a character arc, a very interesting one.

Gates of Hell

Winner:Stub
Bethany´s had a great start but I don´t know why she didn´t add more text. It became harder and harder to read the closer to the ending.
I also don´t know who were those shaddy figures. I just know that the little guy blowed up everything at the end or something.
It always get marveled by the artists that capture manga style so well, it looks inspired by Soul Eater but less Toony. I didn´t think I would ever care about your character at first but I started rooting for him instantly. Poor guy did everything right but Beth is such a sore looser.

Limbo

Winner:Abstain
I´m not an avid reader but I spend a lot of time on 4chan´s /qst/ so I know that you´re a good writer, Vaire. You really can create images with words and images with images or something. I like how you portrayed Limbo, the depressing situation of the shades and how they felt about their situation.

The best parts where the description of the flavorless of the food, it reminded me of Yaad´s kingdom in Dungeon Meshi. The banter with the Aristotle and his bros really sold me on the idea of them being good people trapped in an unfair punishment. The best part is how you got to propperly introduce the shitposte trololo flowre in a serious story about a devote forced to face the the most harsh and contradictory aspects of her faith.
The scene with the babies hit me hard even if I don´t know if that was Flower messing with her. Sad she couldn´t save the shades at the end.
The art was also great, but it looked blurry in the doc, but it´s legit good.
Now, I can´t vote for you because I think entries that are mostly text should be banned. I can´t tell you why without outing myself as asshole retard. That´s what I am but whatever.
Still, if you want to keep the format, I´ll keep reading you, but I´ll also keep abstaining me. I´d suggest you to change your format to traditional comic but you should probably see how the rest of the contestants react. It wouln´t be the first time that I think the opposite way of everyone else.
Also, you check 4chans /qst/ board. I know the site has a reputation but people there are different. That´s why a horndog like me doesn´t fit there, but I like to shill the place anyways.

Flowre, I´ve seen your video and I can surely say that YOU GOT HER GOOD LOLE, HER FACE AT THE END LMAO, SHE FELL FOR IT HAHAHAHAHAHAH GET CLOWNWD VAIRE LOLOLOL

----BENCHIES------

I´d like to do something cool with them since I have Migu spying them and I love forcing my literally who characters, but I don´t know if I will.
But I´ll read them later because I want to finish voting as fast as possible.
Voting is harder to me than drawing tbh.
I read Steel´s entry only, great shitpost video even if there was no horsie.